Ceremonies Open Federal Savings and Loan Monday

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS FEDERAL Savings and Loan is moving into its new home at 25 E. Campbell st. The two-story structure of Williamsburg colonial architecture was designed by Walter Kroeber, A.I.A., and has an exterior of stone and red brick. Grand opening celebration starts Monday.

The long-awaited opening of Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan association's handsome new Williamsburg colonial building will be marked by traditional ribbon-cutting ceremonies Monday at 8:30 a.m.

Northwest suburban civic officials and business leaders will attend the ribbon cutting. Also present will be executives of the Federal Home Loan bank.

DURING A five-week grand opening celebration, the savings and loan association will give away $2,000 in prizes and gifts to visitors.

In addition, 16-piece sets of tableware will be premiums to those who open or add to accounts in the amount of $100 or more.

Official congratulations to board Chairman Charles E. Wilson, President Paul E. Collins, and directors and employees of the fast-growing federal savings institution will be extended by Arlington Heights Village President Edward G. Carlisle.

John E. Stipp, president of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Chicago, will offer the felicitations of the parent federal organization of which Arlington Heights Federal Savings is a member.

OPENING OF the new association building represents the culmination of two years of planning by directors and employees, according to Collins.

With current assets of $11 million and more than 7,000 savers, the Association has outgrown its 11 N. State rd. quarters, where it began operations less than six years ago.

"The new building has been designed to serve the association's needs for many years to come," Collins said this week.

He pointed out that the entire second floor, now complete except for furnishings, will be ready for service when needed. Further expansion is possible by second-floor additions to the wings. Necessary steps for this eventuality have been provided for in present construction, Collins noted.

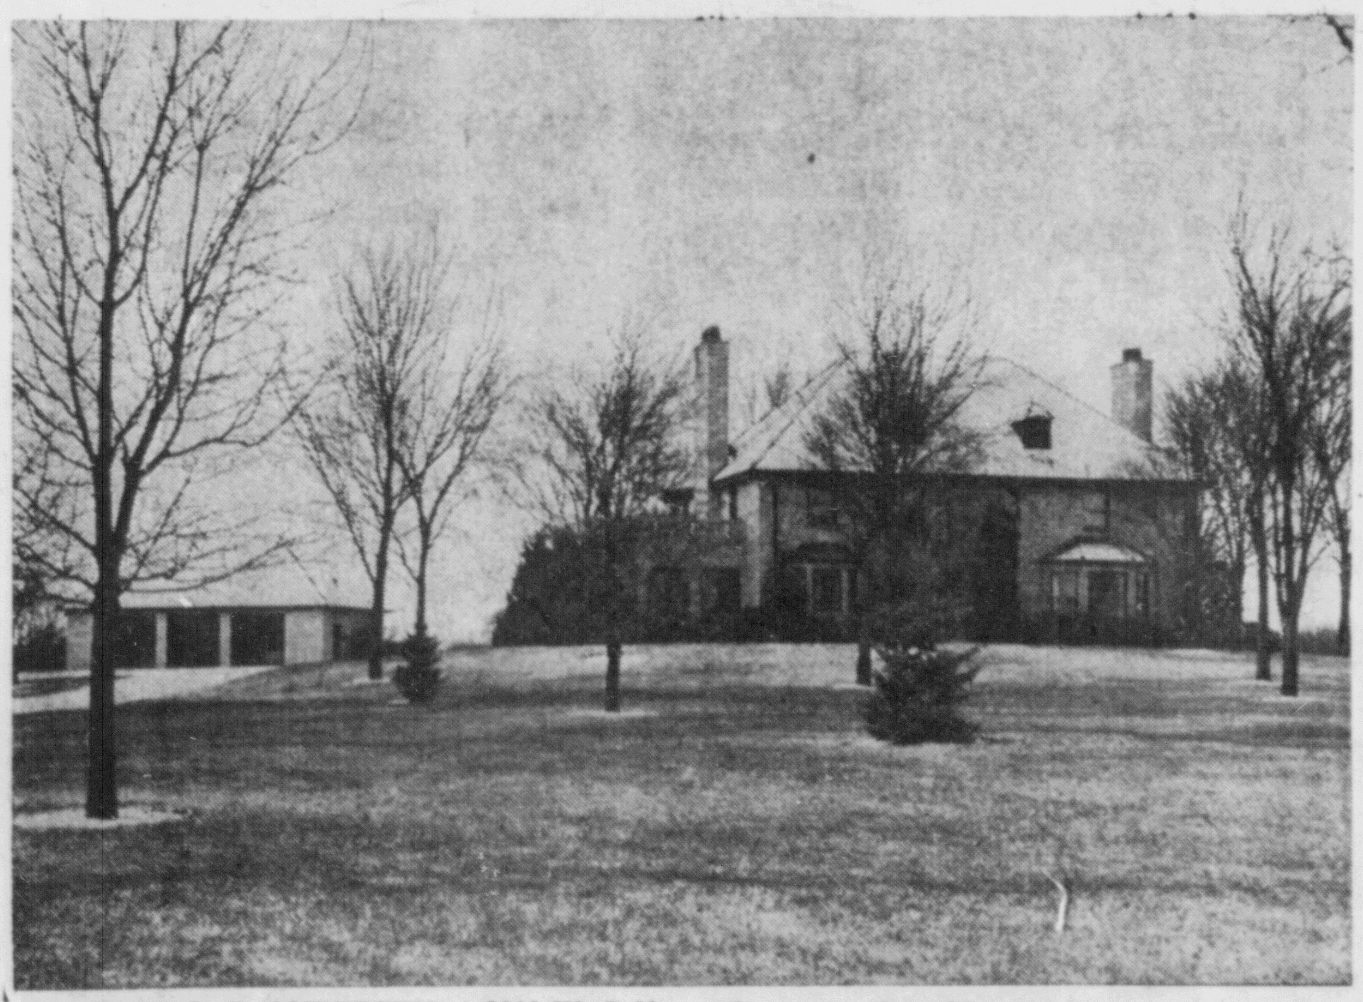
THE NEW building's decorative appeal is matched by its efficient arrangement for conduct of daily business.

Features include a new safe deposit vault with push-button control of its seven-ton door; drive-up window with sheltered driveway; night depository for after-hours transactions; lower-level community room (not yet completed) with kitchen for use by community organizations.

Architect for the building was Walter Kroeber, AIA, Arlington Heights. General contractors were O and O Construction company.

Members of the federal savings board of directors include, in addition to Collins and Wilson, Irving T. Rinker, Carl G. Klehm, Alvin A. Popp, and Virgil K. Horath, all of Arlington Heights; Donald F. Morton, Mt. Prospect; and Arthur J. Schaefer, Park Ridge.

Country Home Ransacked In Daring Daylight Raid



HOME OF L. B. ANDERSEN at 2010 W. Golf rd. which was looted of $9,800 worth of clothing, jewelry, and furnishings last Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. Andersen went out for 85 minutes to visit her daughter.

Cook county sheriff's police were working Monday on a slim lead in a daring $9,800 daylight burglary last Wednesday in the home of Wheeling Realtor L. B. Andersen at 2010 W. Golf rd., southwest of Arlington Hts.

An automobile, spotted by an unidentified motorist driving east on Golf rd. near State rd. loaded with loose clothing at about the time of the crime was the only lead in the case.

The thieves, who entered the home after Mrs. Andersen left at 1:05 p.m. to visit her daughter in Arlington Heights, left no fingerprints or other identifying marks. Investigators could not determine how they gained entry.

MRS. ANDERSEN called the police when she returned at 2:30 p.m. and found the contents of a buffet in the dining room strewn across the floor, and a kitchen radio missing.

When the police arrived they found the house completely looted. Closets were emptied, drawers were opened and their contents dumped on the floor.

"They looked through everything," Mrs. Andersen said. "And there are so many things they took that can't be replaced."

A 70-year-old pair of earrings that belonged to her mother, and an old coin collection of her father's were among the missing items, she said.

THE LOOT ALSO included: a set of Royal Danish sterling silverware, $225 in cash, a set of binoculars, two cameras, assorted pieces of men's and women's jewelry, a black leather bag, a cash box, 24 men's suits, shoes, shirts, neckties, cuff links, hangers, a jewel box, a 21-inch television set, and two radios.

The thieves took only men's clothing, according to Mrs. Andersen. The goods were insured.

County police said Monday they thought the burglary looked like a professional or inside job.

Mass water tests

The Water Resources Division of the U.S. Geological Survey last year tested over 60,000 samples of water from streams, lakes, springs and wells to determine chemical content.

$3 Million Sewer Program Is Studied

U. S. Aid To Finance Survey

A sewer relief program, to cost up to $3 million, is under consideration by the village board.

Trustees took the first step Tuesday night when they approved an application to the federal housing and home finance agency for a "letter of credit" to have preliminary plans drawn up for the mammoth project.

Arlington Heights residents will recall the disastrous floods of 18 months ago when hundreds of homes were hit with backing waters from sanitary-drainage sewers. Scores of enraged citizenry, whose basements were flooded, stormed into Village hall demanding action. The danger of a recurrence of like proportions is unlikely since dredging and widening operations on Weller creek, the village's natural drainage route, have been completed, one trustee said. The new sanitary-storm sewers would eliminate it completely, he continued.

THE HOUSING AND home finance agency, upon approval of a community's application, will grant an interest-free advance for preliminary planning of sanitary sewers. Upon approval by the voters of the plans and the expense of construction, the community must repay the advance. If, however, voters reject the proposal, the federal agency would absorb the engineering costs.

The HHFA advance to the village is expected to run as high as $60,000. This figure was advance by Trustee Robert H. Bukowski, who estimated that preliminary plans run about 2 per cent of engineering fees. Total fees are usually 5 per cent of the total construction costs, he said.

JUST WHEN the next step — the preliminary planning — will be done is not certain. The board will have to await federal approval. When the okay comes through, and after plans are drawn up, Arlington Heights voters will have a more accurate idea of the total cost of the project. The $3 million figure is a maximum estimate; the minimum guess is $500,000 less. Bukowski said the estimate includes all fees and interest on bonds.

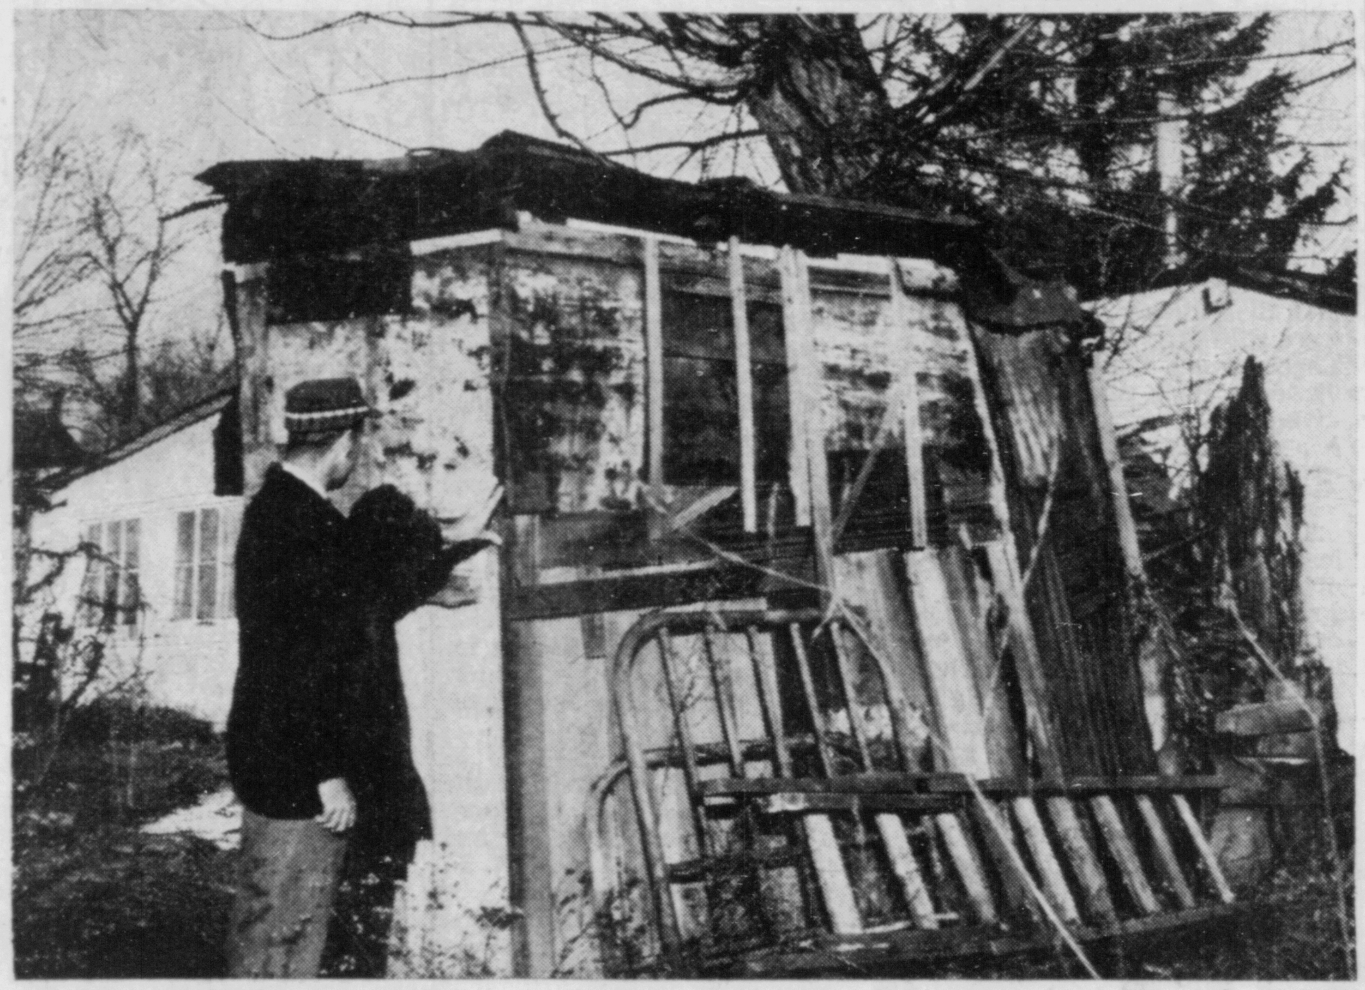
Arlington voters will then decide the issue in a referendum.

In another action, the board voted to approve a request by the Illinois Bell Telephone company for the construction of a 6,561-square-foot addition to the company's building at 106 W. Eastman.

Arlington Heights Has 323 Newcomers

The Welcome Service of the Arlington Heights chamber of commerce reported this week that 100 new families moved to the village during November, raising the population by 323.

New arrivals in Arlington Heights for the first 11 months of 1958 were 2,813 among 756 families. This is a 12 per cent increase in the village's population over 1957.



FRED HAMMER, village building inspector, checks over shack at 1026 S. Vail, Arlington Heights. Property is set for imminent razing by the village as a violation of existing building codes. Property was purchased by John Riegert of Chicago last summer, and is one of 13 pieces of property under condemnation by the village.

Announce Yule Season Postal Hours

The Arlington Heights post office announced new hours for the Christmas period this week.

From December 8 through 22, the department will be open week days from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Two Saturdays, Dec. 13 and 20, the hours will be 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., and two Sundays, Dec. 14 and Dec. 23, hours will be 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

On December 23 and 24, the post office will be open 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., and 8:30 to noon, respectively.

Postmaster Virginia F. Dodge suggested that residents keep a schedule of office hours near their calendars.

GRACIOUS SUBURBAN LIVING this is not, says Arlington Heights Building Inspector Fred Hammer in his inspection of property at 1026 S. Vail. Three shacks at this address are under condemnation by village.

Fall Rubbish Pickup to Be On Southside

Regardless of that snow you shoveled and the zero blasts you felt, it's still the season of fall in Arlington Heights.

On village hall's schedule the next few days is the annual "fall rubbish pickup" for people living south of the tracks. Fall and the rubbish gatherers visited the north side a few days ago.

RUBBISH WILL be picked up on S. Dunton and all streets east of Dunton to the village limits December 8 and 9. S. Vail and all streets west of Vail to the village limits will be visited December 10 and 11.

The rubbish gatherers are crews working for the Laseke Disposal service, which has a contract with the village to pick up garbage. The spring and fall rubbish pickups cost the village an extra $1,000.

Further details can be obtained by calling Laseke, village officials said.

Ask New Church Near Hospital

The church extension board of the Chicago Presbytery has been urged to organize a new Presbyterian church in the Arlington Heights area.

It would be located in the vicinity of the new Northwest Community Hospital on Central rd. and would serve Rolling Meadows, Plum Grove and Arlington Heights.

The First Presbyterian church of Arlington Heights made the recommendation to the Chicago Presbytery after a thorough study of growth in the community.

The recommendation urged that the site now given priority for a Plum Grove-Rolling Meadows church be dropped and those plans be combined with new ones for a church in the vicinity of the hospital.

THE CHURCH extension board, and not the Arlington Heights Presbyterian church, makes the decisions as to where new churches will be started but does accept recommendations from existing churches.

Rev. Paul L. Stumpf, of the First Presbyterian church in Arlington Heights, said that if the Presbytery acts favorably on the recommendation, it would take two to five years for the new church to become an actuality.

Rev. Stumpf emphasized that under no condition is the action to be interpreted as a split or division of the present congregation. No members will be required to move their membership, he added.

Police Veteran Plans Retirement

Arlington Heights Police Chief L. W. Calderwood this week announced the retirement of Lt. Elmer C. Karstens, a police officer with the department for 22 years.

Karstens, who lives with his wife, Hilda, at 440 S. Evergreen, retired from the force December 1. He had been a patrolman until 1947 when he was promoted to sergeant, and two years later, in 1949, he was made lieutenant.

LT. KARSTENS

Karstens, who was born in Arlington Heights in 1901, recalled his most memorable feat while with the department. In the spring of 1940, he singlehanded captured four youths who had been on a robbing spree from their home in Dublin, Ga., to the Chicago area. Karstens disarmed them, removing 11 guns from thir auto, and took them into the station. There, officers found a wide variety of loot in the youths' car, and held them for extradition to Georgia.

THE KARSTENS have two sons: David, a sophomore at Michigan State, and Don, in training as an artist with a large Chicago photography house.

While retiring from the police department, the lieutenant is not actually retiring from work. He has already accepted a position with the security division of the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan association.

Busy Hospitals

More than 23,000,000 Americans will enter hospitals during the next 12 months, according to statistics released by the American Hospital association.

The Editor's Column

By STUART R. PADDOCK

We have heard the past week expressions on the "unneighborly" experiences of some of the newer residents.

"We have not found the welcome that we expected when we left our Chicago flat," said one. "I think my neighbors consider I am an interloper."

"I made the mistake of expecting my new neighbors to call me in for coffee," said another, "the way they did when our family lived in a small town."

We have heard a third say that she had not even found a welcome in a church she visited.

We do not know the answer, but as a start we suggest: Inviting your neighbors in for coffee tomorrow morning?

Do not put all the blame upon the older residents. Perhaps your neighbors are also newcomers, and the blame may be partly yours.

We do not know how much the various municipalities depend on their share of the sales tax for budgetary expenses, but the interpretation of those amounts reveals the amount of business transacted in the stores upon which the purchasers pay sales taxes.

The retail sales in Mt. Prospect last August were $25 dollars short of being one million. The village has received a check from the state of Illinois for $4,855.78 as its share.

Incidentally, Mt. Prospect and Palatine are almost identical in amount of sales. Arlington Heights did 2½ times more business last August than the other two municipalities. Arlington received $12,742 as its share of the August sales tax.

This amount, nearly $150,000 a year, is not just hay for any municipality.

The opening of Arlington Heights Federal Savings & Loan ney building next Monday reflects the confidence of its officers in the future of the community.

The size of the deposits in that institution reflects that justification.

There will be many "oh's" and "ah's" expressed next Monday by those who attend their open house. The building and furnishings are almost the last word.

Theo. F. Studtmann, Wheeling township assessor, has no FBI to ferret out the identity of the "Disillusioned Suburbanite" who wrote a letter to a Chicago paper about "Tax-Evading Home Owners," who are not being taxed for land improvements.

The writer could have secured quick action and the taxing bodies additional funds if the assessor had been tipped off on the location of the tax cheating owner.

Studtmann does his best to get all improved property on the tax books, but it is the county assessor's office which supposedly has deputies on the job who use a fine tooth comb in their efforts to get every home and every building upon the tax books.

If the writer really wants to correct an error, we suggest that he step to a phone, call either Mr. Studtmann, CL 3-4118, or the editor of this paper. (Name not required).

The county does not hesitate to bill home owners for back or evaded taxes. We question the authenticity of the published letter. We have full confidence in Mr. Studtmann.

What do Americans really know about inflation? A group of administrators of the agricultural department of the Japanese government visiting Arlington Heights this week were asked the position of the Japanese yen, today and yesterday.

The visitors said, "Before inflation hit our country the American dollar would buy 2½ yen; today it will buy 360 yen."

The American dollar may be only worth 50 cents or less today in the minds of Americans, but compared with the yen, it is still worth saving.

Holiday Travelers Attest: 'Home Is Where Heart Is'

Thanksgiving for some local families meant being together for the first time in recent years as sons rejoined them after completing army duty; for others it was the first Thanksgiving apart as children remained at college campuses too far from home for a weekend trip. Since home is where the heart is, , however, everyone was really "home" for the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Huntley of Eldora, Iowa came here last Tuesday to spend Thanksgiving and the rest of the week with their son and his family, the Lyle Huntleys, 421 N. Wilshire.

Laurie Riley, a freshman at Kansas university, flew home Tuesday night from Lawrence, Kan. to complete the Earl Riley family gathering around the holiday table set for 12. Sharing Thanksgiving day with the family at 738 S. Mitchell was the son of family friends, Tom Gore of Menlo Park, Cal., who also attends Kansas university and accompanied Laurie on her flight home. They returned to Lawrence by plane Sunday night.

WITH CLASSES resuming Friday Norma Beisler couldn't come home for Thanksgiving from Cornell college in Mt. Vernon, Iowa, so the rest of the family came to her. A day on the town and a festive holiday dinner in Cedar Rapids will content the Victor Beisler family until the Christmas vacation when they'll all be together at 125 N. Waterman.

Mr. and Mrs. Carson Scoggins, 717 S. Walnut were part of a family gathering in Rockford on the holiday when they were among the guests of a nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ditto. Back at home Friday they welcomed Mr. Scoggins' sister and brother-in-law, the Marion Wallings of St. Johns, Mich., for an overnight visit.

Seventeen Guilfoils spent Thanksgiving together at the Jack Guilfoil home, 801 S. Chestnut.

For the first time in three years the W. H. Froembgen family was all together around the Thanksgiving table. In recent months one son, Bill, completed his army duty after two years in Germany and another son, Jim, returned from California with his wife and baby after completing a hitch with the coast guard. This year Bill, at Loyola university, Jim, working for his doctorate at Bloomington, Ind., and Dick, a junior at Notre Dame, were all able to share the holiday with their parents at 823 N. Vail.

Mr. and Mrs. Froembgen returned Sunday before the holiday from a 4-week trip to the New England states and then down the coast to Florida where they vacationed for two weeks before beginning the homeward trip.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Cooke of New Philadelphia, Ohio, left Monday after spending the holiday week here with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bliss, 1307 E. Eastman ave.

MR. AND MRS. SAM Clark Jr. and the children, 608 S. Walnut, were with Mrs. Clark's family for Thanksgiving dinner in the home of her parents, the C. E. Bobenmyers in Peoria. They were joined by Mrs. Clark's grandmother, Mrs. S. R. Hobson of Dunkirk, Ind.

The George Peaks, former local residents now living in Indianapolis, were in this area to spend the holiday with relatives and they enjoyed a reunion Saturday night with former Arlington Heights neighbors and friends. The W. M. Brines, 642 S. Vail, were hosts to the group welcoming the Peaks back to the old neighborhood.

Fifteen couples enjoyed predance cocktails Saturday night at the Robert Stewart home, 745 S. Mitchell.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Webster, 5 W. Olive, returned Thanksgiving evening from their annual deer hunting trip in Michigan that this year was as carefree and relaxing for the deer as it was for the Websters. The Websters enjoyed two weeks at a gun club in Newberry and then, leaving the deer census just as they found it, went on to spend Thanksgiving week with the senior Websters in Hastings where Pat visited while her parents hunted.

MR. AND MRS. Fred Utterback, 116 S. Pine, returned Saturday night after a 3-week vacation in California and Colorado. Two weeks were spent in Pasadena with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Talmy. They visited last week and spent Thanksgiving with their other daughter and her family, the D. D. Bensons in Loveland, Colo.

Eileen Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Brown, was 12 years old Thanksgiving day, making the family celebration and holiday-birthday dinner for nine twice as much fun. The Browns have recently moved into the new home at 107 S. Dwyer.

Barbara Dill spent the holiday weekend at home with her parents, the Walter Dills, 526 S. Evergreen, arriving here Thanksgiving eve from Mt. Carroll where she attends Shimer college. Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Dill were guests of former Arlington Heights residents, the Yngvar Brynilldsens, at the Holly Ball, annual benefit dance for the Chicago Maternity center, held this year at the Edgewater Golf club.

THANKSGIVING guests at the Newell Crocketts, 802 S. Chestnut, were Mrs. Crockett's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Ames of Fort Madison, Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. John Angus, who recently moved to 101 S. Fernandez from New Hartford, Conn., returned home early this week from a combined business and pleasure trip to Connecticut. Mrs. Angus' aunt, Mrs. Walter McCuen of Boston, Mass., is here for an extended visit and stayed with the children, welcoming her cousin, Mrs. Frank Booth of Ann Arbor, Mich. for the Thanksgiving week. While Mrs. Booth, Mrs. McCuen and the children enjoyed the holiday together here, Mr. and Mrs. Angus spent Thanksgiving with friends and relatives in the east.

THE JAMES YATES family, 903 N. Vail, spent the holiday weekend in Wisconsin, joining a family get-together at the home of Mrs. Yates' brother and family, the Howard Zachariasens in Wauwatosa for Thanksgiving. They spent the rest of the weekend with Mrs. Yates' parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Zachariasen in nearby Elm Grove, Wis., returning home Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. eGorge Smith and children, 812 N. Belmont, spent the holiday in Knoxsville, Iowa, where they joined a gathering of Mrs. Smith's family at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Good. Sunday they were part of a holiday family reunion of 50 members of Dr. Smith's family at the home of his uncle, Dr. Phillip McGuire in Lincolnwood.

The Melvin Coobs family, 1145 N. Mitchell, spent the weekend in Freeport at a post-Thanksgiving celebration at the home of Mrs. Coobs' parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wamsley.

Mr. and Mrs. James Drake and the children, 820 N. Dunton, returned Saturday from Springfield where they enjoyed the holiday with the senior Drakes.

DON RATEIKE'S sixth birthday was Tuesday and far from getting lost in the holiday hubbub it was in fact celebrated twice. Don entertained eight School friends at a birthday party Sunday afternoon in the home of his parents, the Leonard Rateikes, 717 N. Evergreen Tuesday night he was man of the hour at a family supper party for 20 in his home where his grandparents, the senior Rateikes of Mt. Prospect and Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Stoeckel of Arlington Heights, joined everyone in extending congratulations.

The Melvin Kurtz family, complete with Kent who arrived Wednesday from Southern Illinois university in Carbondale, spent the holiday with the boys' grandmother, Mrs. Martin Kurtz in Davis, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Swanson of Hastings, Neb., left here Saturday after spending the holiday week with their son and family, the Weir Swansons, 901 S. Highland.

THE LEONARD Faases of Mt. Prospect spent the holiday with Mrs. Faase's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kolze, 1021 N. Rand rd. Friday the Kolzes joined a family gathering of 25 relatives in the Barrington home of Mrs. Kolze's sister and family, the Fred Koeppens, to congratulate Mrs. Koeppen on her birthday.

Relying on the oft-proven theory that a spur-of-the-moment party is just as successful as a much-planned one, Priscilla Burgess began inviting friends to an impromptu holiday party Thanksgiving evening. Eighteen theory-testers arrived promptly and enthusiastically at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Burgess, 517 S. Evergreen, and the experiment was a success.

Most of the guests were home from college for the holiday and were reuniting for the first time since the beginning of their college careers took them in different directions. The hostess returned Sunday to William Woods college in Fulton, Mo. with a lovely theory that her professors will probably never ask her to prove, but she has it just in case.

LAST WEDNESDAY as Connie Raasch left Northfield, Minn., where she attends Carleton college, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Raasch, 941 N. Mitchell, left Arlington Heights. They met in Colo, Iowa at the home of Mrs. Raasch's father and stepmother, Dr. and Mrs. S. B. Goodenow for a happy Thanksgiving together.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis J. Brown, 509 S. Chestnut, returned here the Sunday before Thanksgiving after a 3-week trip to the south and east that combined business and pleasure. After a business stop in Tuscaloosa, Ala. they went on to vacation briefly at the Golden Isles in Georgia, then continued on to Florida and up the eastern coast, ending their tour in New York City.

One of the Golden Isles the Browns visited was Jekyll island where surviving victims of the recent Georgia mine disaster are recuperating from their experiences and enjoying a vacation. At another of the island group, St. Simon island, the Browns enjoyed a brief stay at the King and Prince hotel where Mrs. Brown entertained at a bridge party for eight.

THE DAY BEFORE Thanksgiving has become a traditionally hectic but happy time for Mrs. E. J. Dresmal who meets her two children as they arrive from college and a sister coming from Cleveland to join the family for the holiday. Arlene is at Monmouth college and rode as far as Aurora with a campus friend, Jim came in from Champaign, where he attends the University of Illinois and their aunt, Miss Mary McClurg arrived at the afternoon at Midway airport.

Pre-Thanksgiving Sunday dinner guests at the Dale Hausers, 404 W. Oakton, were Harry Howard of Evanston, K. W. Williamson of Chicago and the Ed Mears family of Arlington Heights. The main course was pheasant, the abundant result of a successful hunting trip in Iowa.

The Hausers spent the Armistice day weekend visiting relatives and friends in Des Moines and Mr. Hauser, with his father-in-law, C. E. Plottner, of Gowrie, greeted the opening of the season in fields just outside Gowrie.

MR. AND MRS. Robert Wright, 301 N. Derbyshire lane, shared Thanksgiving day with friends from Mt. Prospect, the Walter Hanshaws who spent the holiday at the Wright home.

The Howard Stiefenhoefers, 926 S. Vail, joined a Thanksgiving family gathering at the home of Mr. Stiefenhoefer's sister and brother-in-law, the Fred Bests of Elgin.

Sylvia Cordes, attending Washington university at St. Louis spent the holiday weekend at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Cordes, 610 S. Dunton. Sylvia was recently elected to the dormitory council as representative of McMillan hall.

Friends and neighbors extend their sympathy to Robert Bliss, 1307 E. Eastman, on the death of his mother, Mrs. Stella Bliss, 75, of Uhrichsville, Ohio. Mrs. Bliss died November 12 at the Mary Haven convalescent home in Wilmette.

23 Skidoo! Teen 'Hics' Recall Prohibition Days

News travels slowly in Keeneyville.

Twenty-five years ago this week, the federal government repealed the Volstead act, and thereby brought to an end the era of bathtub brew and witch hazel champagne.

But the news travels slowly in Keeneyville, a north Du Page county community. This week, two 15-year-old boys were apprehended by "revenoors" in much the same manner as were the bootleggers of the Roaring Twenties.

Monday, federal agents, accompanied by Roselle and state police, swooped down on a home at 6N163 Wheaton rd. and seized a 50-gallon keg of homemade wine, the boys' handiwork.

PERHAPS THEY haven't heard that home stills went out of style with raccoon skin coats and "twenty-three skidoo."

At any rate, when questioned by treasury agents, the boys said they acquired their brewing skill from books. The keg, destroyed by the investigators, was charcoal-lined. "A step used to hasten and improve the fermentation," explained an agent.

When questioned about his drinking habits, one of the boys replied, "I don't drink beer or liquor, just my own stuff."

And his "own stuff," he said contained apples, oranges, sugar, and "a few raisins."

ROSELLE POLICE initiated the investigation in mid-November when an unmarked jug-type bottle of liquor was found in a car involved in an accident. Alcohol tax men were called in on the matter.

The sample of "home brew" taken from the car was found to contain 33 per cent alcohol, and, according to treasury agents, came from the Keeneyville youths' still.

The boys are charged with manufacturing intoxicating wine without a license. Two of the parents of the boys are charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. All concerned are at liberty under bonds of $1,000 each.

A hearing is scheduled January 13 before Justice of the Peace Kenneth Winters in his Bloomingdale township court. (B-8

Coffee Bitter? Here's Reason

Often the reason freshly made coffee tastes bitter and is extra strong and dark colored is because of iron dissolved in water, according to the Electronic Water Purifier institute, Lombard, Ill.

Iron combines with the tannins in coffee to cause the trouble, researchers say.

An iron-remover, or a water softening appliance which will remove both suspended and soluble iron is the solution to the problem, and also will reduce coffee amounts needed by 25 per cent, the institute said.

The institute conducts continuing research on water conditioners, and evaluates new developments connected with water problems. (B8

Japanese Farm Officials Study Farm Operations Here

VISITORS FROM JAPAN at the Bartels farm, Roselle, viewing beef cattle. At the right are Kenneth Bartels and Carl Mees, farm advisor. This was first stop of the Cook co. farm tour.

Carl F. Mees and the Cook County Farm Bureau organization were hosts Tuesday to six agricultural administrators from Japan. Their visit was part of a two-month tour they are making in the United States under the auspices of the International Cooperation Administration and the U. S. Agricultural department.

They are a keen group of men, very much interested in what they are learning about farming and kindred activites in this country.

The Cook County Farm Bureau is the largest in the nation. Naturally, the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture directed the visitors from a similar department in Japan to our farm bureau, the only one visited by them in the tour of the United States.

PLACES VISITED under the direction of Mees and the purpose of the visits were:

Kenneth Bartels farm, Roselle, where they viewed beef cattle production and mechanical handling of hog production and feeding.

Rolling Acres Farm, Elgin. Mrs. Gertrude McNaught, owner, dairy cattle production, including raising of show cattle and the production of golden and Guernsey milk. They also viewed at the same farm egg production, including candling and grading of eggs.

In the afternoon, they visited Lake Cook Farm Supply co. at Schaumburg, where they got an insight in handling and sale of all farm commodities.

At the Chas. Klehm & Sons nursery they learned the fine points in the production and sale of nursery stock and ornamental shrubs.

AT WEILAND Greenhouse near Aptakisic, they received information on growing and sale of flowers.

Members of the Agricultural Development Team from Japan are:

Shigeto Kawano, (Leader), Professor of Agricultural Economics, the University of Tokyo.

Toshio Nagamata, Chief of Agriculture and Forestry Div. Fukui Prefectural Government.

Taneaki Otabe, Chief of General Affairs Section, Agriculture Forestry and Fisheries Finance Corp. Tokyo.

Hirayasu Yamamoto, Managing Director, National Federation of Forestry Cooperatives, Tokyo.

Bunji Ihara, Secretary, Chief of Resources Sec., Agricultural Land Bureau, Ministry of Agriculture & Forestry, Tokyo.

Yoshimi Nagai, interpreter, and H. V. Geib, U. S. Dept. Agriculture, accompanied the visitors on the tour of this country.

Places previously visited are Knoxville, Tenn., Hugo, Okla., Oklahoma City, Oklahoma State University at Stillwater, Edcouch, Tex., Mississippi State College, Georgia State University, Columbus, S. C., Washington, D. C.

After leaving the Chicago area they will go to Ephrata, Wash., then California and Polytechnical College at San Luis Obispo, Calif. (B8

Perkins Picks Spotted Deer For December

The spotted fallow deer has been selected by R. Marlin Perkins, director of the Chicago park district's Lincoln Park zoo, as December Animal of the Month. This is not Santa's reindeer but he is a relative of Dancer, Prancer, Donner and Blitzen.

The spotted fallow deer is of medium size, about three feet at the shoulder, and weighs up to 175 pounds. It has a brownish red fur with white spots. It comes from the Mediterranean regions of Europe and Asia where it is a grazing animal. In Lincoln Park zoo, the herd of 13 deer is fed alfalfa and a special animal food. This animal is skittish and easily frightened.

The majority of the herd were born in the zoo; the last three arrived in June, 1958.

The December Animal of the Month may be seen in the pen on the hill near the buffalo barn. Lincoln Park zoo is open daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and admission is free. (B8

Columbus Boys Choir Wins Praise for Concert Here

THE COLUMBUS BOYCHOIR, under direction of Donald Bryant, presented the first Community Concert of the current season last Sunday in Arlington high school.

by JOHN SCHAFF

The Columbus Boys' Choir, in the first community concert of the current season Sunday night, raised the standards of musical performance higher than they have been for professional performances in this area for quite awhile.

In fact, the top rung of the ladder was reached some years ago by the late William Kapell in a monumental piano recital on the very same stage where these 26 boys and a superb musician rededicated the hall to great music in its purest form.

When artists reach the prime of life and attain near perfection it is worthy of great commendation, but when such a performance is staged by boys ranging in ages from 8-13 the wells of approbation run bone dry.

THESE LADS were trained to produce a head tone of such purity that most sopranos of the first rank would give a right arm to possess it. Perfect relaxation and open throats were universal, and along with superb diction made their performance a model for school choruses and church choirs to work toward.

Every pair of eyes was fixed on the director all night long because the business at hand was centered on a master musician, one Donald Bryant, who was their beloved teacher and conductor. What a joy to hear voice tones produced without forcing; to see perfect discipline coupled with a desires to put heart and soul into a performance. And after the performance, did they have fun; mischief was aglint in the eye of many a tousled head.

THE HONORABLE Mr. Bryant was also a scintillating Chopin player and his program embraced three etudes and a Mendelssohn Scherzo that were played with a musicianship excelling many solo artists that have appeared on this same stage.

Musical literature for Boys' Choir is not too abundant outside of the liturgical field which gave room for some skillful arrangements on the lighter side. Yet definitely not on the lighter side was the performance of Menotti's "Amahl and the Night Visitors," which was this community's good fortune to hear on the first Sunday in Advent. To most of us this work has become a television tradition. The boys' choir brought the work into stark reality. Given on a simple stage, appropriately costumed and expertly lighted by an Arlington high school student, Alfred Jutzi, this simple Christmas story was brought to the minds and hearts of such an intent audience of old and young alike that many a tear rolled down many a cheek before Amahl, in the person of Cyrus Hall, had trudged off in the wake of the three Kings to present his crutch at the manger in Bethlehem.

This group will tape a Christmas program to be given during the holiday season on a major television network—in fact the boys will be in their own homes at this time and be able to "see themselves as others see them." (B8

Bill of Rights Day Set for December 15

Stating that the concept of freedom of all citizens as enshrined in the Bill of Rights "distinguishes us from the tyranny of totalitarian governments," Gov. William G. Stratton has proclaimed Monday, Dec. 15, as Bill of Rights Day in Illinois.

The observance of the 167th anniversary of the ratification of the first 10 amendments to the U. S. Constitution (Bill of Rights) is being sponsored by a Bill of Rights Day committee under the auspices of the American Civil Liberties union.

"The guarantees contained in the Bill of Rights protect the civil liberties and personal freedom of all Americans," Stratton's proclamation said.

"It is our right duty to strive toward the application of these freedoms for our neighbors as well as for ourselves in our daily lives.

"I do hereby proclaim Dec. 15, 1958, as Bill of Rights Day and urge all citizens to observe that day." (B8

State Welfare Director Praises 'Living Monument'

"Here is opportunity for the more fortunate to provide opportunity for the less fortunate, through a parent-and-community-supported non-profit agency dedicated to the proposition that all children have an inalienable right to the help they need to develop their capacity for self-help."

With these words Dr. Otto L. Bettag, director of the Illinois Public Welfare, helped to dedicate Northwest Suburban Aid for Retarded vocational training and shelter center at 31 Grace, Park Ridge.

DR. BETTAG termed the center "a living monument . . . particularly impressive and significant because it is the product of private, voluntary effort which will continue, day after day, to make possible the important services which must be rendered day after day."

Raymond Till of Mt. Prospect, president of the Northwest Suburban Aid for the Retarded, presided at the ceremonies which marked the completion of determined efforts to rehabilitate the former American Legion home as a center for vocational training of the retarded in Park Ridge, Des Plaines, Mt. Prospect, Arlington Heights and other neighboring communities.

THE SHELTER program conducted at 31 Grace for retarded persons at the adult level is pointed toward the achievement by each individual trainee of social, cultural and economic development within the individual's capacities. Training includes work in weaving, basketry and leather and experience in such tasks as assembling, envelope stuffing, stamping and other mailing services. Remedial speech, dramatic art, dancing and other instruction is offered.

Northwest community residents who wish to aid this work may apply for active membership at $10 per year, friend membership at $3 per year or make other donations addressed to Northwest Suburban Aid for the Retarded, 31 Grace, Park Ridge, Ill.

Join the Force And Get Married

By BILL DILLINGHAM

Ladies, join the police force and get married!

This is becoming a common slogan of advice for girls in England. It has been discovered that the English policewomen get more proposals than the beauty contest winners.

This is because of three important points: (1) She appears in uniform, and men generally find this attractive; (2) She is exposed to having many thousands of people see her; (3) A man has an ideal excuse for properly meeting her by asking for directions.

EACH YEAR the British police lose about one-third of their female cops to matrimony. Each year, therefore, plenty of places in the force are vacant for new applicants who want to get married.

The job of policing an area in England is not as dangerous as it frequently is in other countries. This means that the little ladies are not risking their lives for the sake of the law, order or a husband.

Britain has its large crime problem like most other lands, but a policeman doesn't have to "shoot it out" with criminals. Guns are not carried by the British hobbies, therefore burglars and thieves usually don't carry them either. It is a mutual agreement. Carrying a gun, English criminals understand, only invites accidental killing and the gallows. One relies on brawn and quick legs. For this reason England has so few murder cases among its common criminals.

WITHIN THIS frame, then, the policewoman occupies a place as a judo artist. She is given a highly practical course before being posted to the job. She is taught how to detain a man (which might later come in handy in matrimonial search) and how to defend herself (possibly useful after she gets married). Aggressive judo is rarely applied. She is supposed to hang onto her criminal like a bulldog, keeping herself from being beaten to a pulp, until help arrives.

Such violent incidents, however, are rare. Even the criminal in England is a gentleman and would hesitate to strike a lady with whom he was wrestling. (B8

Approve Lowering Of 6 Mains Here

The lowering of six water mains in Weller Creek—presently being dredged along its 2.7 mile course through Mt. Prospect between Arlington Heights and Des Plaines—was authorized Thursday by the Metropolitan Sanitary District.

Involved are the water mains crossing at Hi-Lusi, See Gwun, and We-Go Trail which, at the time of their installation, were below the creek level. The mains are now exposed.

THE BRAUTIGAM company, which earlier was awarded a $208,860 contract to dredge the creek, was authorized to lower the mains at a cost not to exceed $10,000.

The dredging contract was awarded last April. Three phases of the project include:

1. Cleaning out all of the Weller Creek bed in Mt. Prospect.
2. Connecting the sanitary district's interceptor sewer system with Arlington Heights sewers the district acquired earlier.
3. Cleaning out the 2,800 feet of sewers the district took over in Arlington Heights.

UNDER TERMS of a settlement worked out last year with Arlington Heights, the district agreed to pay for this work and also gave the village $350,000 for its sewers and flowage rights. In return, Arlington Heights dropped its lawsuit to get out of the district.

Dredging Weller Creek in Mt. Prospect is necessary to clear blockage conditions so the sanitary district system will work properly.

The creek is being dredged to restore the width at its bottom to 12 feet. Depth of the creek varies from 10 to 15 feet. At the top of its banks, the creek is more than 50 feet wide at some points. B8

Along the Camp Fire Trail

by Dorothy Schomburg CLearbrook 3-7017

'America the Beautiful'

Through the Golden Jubilee project, "The World Around Her," Camp Fire Girls all over the nation will participate in projects which will help to beautify and generally make more pleasant to live in, communities large and small. This Thanksgiving-to-Christmas season when the people of this God-given land unite in giving thanks for the beauty of nature which surrounds them, attention will be focused on our greatest human resource — our children—and their many thought-inspired activities.

As Val Bjornson, treasurer of the state of Minnesota, stated in an address he made at the annual meeting of the Minneapolis Council of Camp Fire Girls, "There is one thing that makes America unique. As a nation, we are not a single ethnic group inhabiting a limited area. Ours is a great sprawling country, populated by people who came voluntarily from every land and clime. Our distinctive characteristic among nations is the very rich diversity of our nationality backgrounds. Our American heritage is rich indeed in variety. Bound by common ideals transcending other barriers, we strive toward unity, but we don't care to attain it at the price of uniformity.

"THAT'S WHY the "Meet the People" project has had such genuine meaning to all Americans who have heard about it. The product of diversity as to backgrounds ourselves, we should, above all other people, be able to appreciate variety in language, in culture and in traditions. Learning more about folks from other lands, cultivating ties of individual friendship across political boundaries, we broaden our own horizons intellectually. We make at least some small contribution to the cause of world understanding at the same time. The Camp Fire Girls emphasis on cultivating friendship within the small circle of their own group and then reaching toward larger groups and more diverse peoples, is one way which helps further neighborliness the world over."

Mount Prospect

When the Chicago Area council of Camp Fire Girls selected the new nation of Ghana as the country to which to send its "Meet the People" photographic story, no one knew that Dr. Kwame Nkrumah, prime minister of Ghana, was going to visit Chicago.

His visit was to the Camp Fire Girls of the Chicago area a wonderful climax to their study of Ghana. As representatives of the council, six girls from the Mt. Prospect district attended a reception given for Dr. Nkrumah. This Camp Fire Girls group was chosen for the honor because of its especially fine work on the "Meet the People" project. In addition, three girls from this same district were interviewed about their study of Ghana on the educational TV channel in Chicago by Mr. Carter Davidson, director of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS have begun to come to Camp Fire Girls national headquarters of the arrival of photographic stories at their overseas destinations. The first letter to reach New York came from E. A. McEwen, secretary of the Girl Guides Association of Nigeria. From Lagos he writes, "Our girls will find these photographs very useful and interesting . . . again I thank you very much indeed."

The second letter came from Dr. J. De V. Heese, chief secretary of Die Voortrekkers (a youth organization) in Stellenbosch, Union of South Africa. He says, "We find the photos very interesting and are greatly impressed by the whole project . . . perhaps some of your girls and our girls would like to correspond with one another."

THE PRETTY Blue Birds went on a tour of O'Hare airport November 11. They were guided by a sales representative of United Airlines and went through a new United DC-6. They were able to observe the take off and landing of both a heliocopter and a jet airplane, and went up to the observation tower to see the other planes landing and taking off. Each of the girls was made an honorary junior stewardess, and received her wings.

At the group's last meeting, the girls made Thanksgiving favors, and are presently practicing Christmas carols for a group concert at the Presbyterian church.

Arlington Heights

Cutting the 41st anniversary cake with the help of Susan Stoll, member of the Tohekohani Camp Fire Girls, was Captain Kent Pray, commanding officer of Arlington Heights Nike base. The 41st anniversary of the Army's air defense was commemorated recently with public tours held at various sites throughout the Chicago-Gary air defense. Arlington Heights Camp Fire Girls helped the army celebrate the occasion by baking and distributing cupcakes to the personnel of the Arlington nike site.

Minnetonka Blue Birds toured the Ark Pet shop in Arlington Heights November 12. The girls saw many tropical fish, some white mice, guinea pigs and hampsters. It was a most enjoyable tour and no doubt many a parent has been talked into getting a pet by these anxious little Blue Birds. A stop-over at the ice cream parlor finished off a perfect day.

THE NOVEMBER 18 meeting of the Lelataki Camp Fire Girls was a party for the group's sponsors, Mrs. R. A. Belcher, Mrs. Donald Knutsen, Mrs. Robert Nicol and Mrs. Frank Zizlavsky. The girls sang "Soldier, Soldier" and "Pow Wow." "Symbol Bingo" and "Fruit Basket Upset" were the games played by the girls and their guests. Brownies, punch, candy, nut bread and coffee was prepared and served by the 13 Camp Fire Girls and their guardians, Mrs. John Flodin and Mrs. J. A. Nelson.

Linda Vetter, day camp representative for the Elukocita Camp Fire Girls, gave a complete report of the November 19 girl-planning meeting held at Mrs. Irvin Harris's home. It was learned that Camp Welasi would be held four days this summer, June 15-18. A new song, learned at the November 13 meeting, was practiced to complete Wood Gatherers rank requirement 9. After refreshments were served by Karen Wulff and Suzanne Loffquist, a game of pies was played. Hostesses for the previous meeting were Phyllis Christie and Barbara Johnson.

THE 5 p.m. PERFORMANCE of Village Theatre's "Rumpelstiltskin" was quite a success financially, because the Arlington Heights district of Camp Fire Girls sponsored the play and socially, because it brought together 686 Blue Birds, Camp Fire Girls and their friends for the third annual theatre party. Camp Fire Girls joined Village Theatre Members' off-spring in passing out handbills at various shopping centers throughout the Arlington area announcing the children's production on the two preceding Saturdays, November 15 and 22.

AT THEIR November 25 meeting, Wayakita Camp Fire Girls made Christmas corsages for female patients at the Elgin State hospital. The corsages will decorate boxes of needed notions for the inmates of the hospital, the gifts to be distributed at a Christmas party by members of the Arlington Heights Woman's club. Lynne Schomburg, day camp representative, reported on the November 19 girl-planning meeting. Irene Craig was hostess for the day.

Merry Blue Birds, meeting November 25 at their leader's home, made Thanksgiving centerpieces

Books May Save Moms' Tempers

Wet, blustery winter days often try the patience of parents with small children underfoot. Books at the Arlington Heights Public library, however, can help mothers save their time and tempers, according to Librarian Edith Lindsey.

"Suggestions for a wide range of constructive and attention-holding activities for youngsters are available in books at the library," she said.

One of the most helpful guides for mothers is "101 Things for Little Folks to Do." by Lillie and Arthur Horth. The authors outline a wide range of practical ideas, including suggestions for paper projects, finger painting, things to make, games and make-believe play.

Still other play suggestions for the child who "doesn't know what to do next" are available in various craft and hobby books, including Herman and Nina Schneider's "Science Fun with Milk Cartons;" Lillian Johnson's "Papier-Mache," and Arthur Zaidenberg's "How to Draw Wild Animals."

Dozens of play ideas for parents of small children can also be found in such books as; "Complete Book of Children's Play," by Ruth Hartley and "Have Fun with Your Children" by Frances Horwich.

Game books are also available in abundance. "Fun for One or Two," by Bernice Carlson, includes directions for guessing games and puzzles, for games to play as you travel, and for collections of various kinds. Scout leaders will find Sylvia Cassell's "Back Yark Games and Activities" especially good for Brownies, cubs, and boy and girl scouts. "The Family Fun Book" by Helen and Larry Eisenberg, includes a section on rainy day and sickroom fun. "Best Singing Games," by Edgar Bley, contains more than fifty folk and nursery songs with directions for acting them out. The family that enjoys singing together will be especially delighted with this book.

An older child who has an interest in mathematics will be fascinated with Aaron Bakst's "Mathematical Puzzles and Pastimes."

Additional material on specialized subjects, such as puppetry, doll-making, paper craft and many other activities may be found at the library. (A

Select Delegates For School Caucus

Plans are being made for the selection of delegates to make up the nominating committee for the selection of candidates to fill the vacancies on the Arlington Heights board of education, school district 25.

"This nominating committee is for the purpose of making intelligent nominations of candidates to be submitted to the voters to fill the two vacancies on the school board at the April 1959 election," said Chairman W. G. Inman, 513 N. Douglas.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS organizations which have previously had delegates on the nominating committee are the PTA, Women's club, chamber of commerce, Lions club, Kiwanis club, Nurses club, Merle Guild Post 208, American Association of University women, and property owners associations in various sections of the village.

All organizations not previously represented are urged to select two delegates and to inform the chairman of the committee so that the delegates can be notified of the first meeting. This meeting has been tentatively set for January 12, 1959, according to Mrs. Nat T. Burfeind, 1130 N. Harvard, vice-chairman. (AF

'You Can Count On Her'

North Arlington

Intermediate Girl Scout Troop 315 celebrated its fourth birthday Monday night at St. Peter Activity building. Fifteen of the present 18 girls in the troop have been together the entire four years and the remaining three for three years under the continuous leadership of Mrs. Carl Klehm, Mrs. Fred W. Gieseke Jr. and Mrs. Joseph Kovalik.

The girls also held their Court of Awards. All of the girls in the troop received their Personal Health badge under the guidance of Mrs. Paul G. Michaels and eleven of the girls received their Pen Pal badge having corresponded with girls from Denmark and having studied the country and its customs during the past year under the guidance of Mrs. Norman Runge.

OTHER BADGES received were: Athlete, Adventurer, Campcraft, Childcare, Cyclist, Cooking, Cat and Dog, Homemaker, Housekeeper, Musician, Seamstress, Swimmer and Sports.

During the program the girls told the assembled parents and guests what they had liked best about camping at Camp Hickory Hill and at Camp Pine, and sang songs they had learned there. They formed a living birthday cake each holding a lighted candle while their parents and guests sang Happy Birthday to them. After the retiring of colors and singing of Taps the girls served their guests cupcakes which they had made and decorated themselves.

THE GIRLS of troop 315 are working on their First Class rank in Girl Scouting. The meaning of the badge program was explained by Mrs. Joseph Kovalik and parents were given the badge standards set up by the program committee of Girl Scout council of Northwest Cook county to help them assist their daughters. It was pointed out that proficiency badges show that one is prepared to use what she has learned to serve others as well as herself. The goal in proficiency badge work is quality rather than quantity.

The mothers in the troop committee of troop 315 are Mrs. Morris Davis, Mrs. Martin Freeman, Mrs. Wilbert Kastning and Mrs. Norman Runge with Mrs. Joseph Kovalik as chairman. All of these women have acted as badge consultants and actively participated in the troop's program during the year.

HANDSOME shell ash trays, elegant candles and sparkling Christmas ornaments filled recreation fieldhouse November 20 when Mrs. Ralph Van Petten conducted a handcraft workshop for leaders and adult volunteers. Mrs. Van Petten demonstrated crafts suitable for scouts of every age and used materials that ranged from delicate gold lace to discarded light bulbs.

A former teacher of creative gifts and decorations, Mrs. Van Petten is now a troop leader and neighborhood chairman for Prospect Heights.

Sixty leaders and committee members attended the workshop, which was sponsored by both the northeast and northwest neighborhoods.

South Arlington

Brownie Troop 78 with leader Mrs. Howard Devall and co-leader Mrs. Robert Altergott, and Brownie troop 8 with leader, Mrs. Kenneth Swanson, went on a guided tour of the Lutheran's Children home, Addison, Saturday November 22. The idea of the trip was to teach the children thankfulness. Mrs. Swanson's troop brought fruit and Mrs. Devall's troop brought assorted gifts to the home.

South Mt. Prospect

Intermediate troop 499, under the leadership of Mrs. Alex Montgomery, enjoyed a hobo party and progressive dinner planned last month by the troop mothers. Sixteen scouts met at the leader's home for a salad, and from there enjoyed a hobo hike to the home of Mrs. John St. Claire. Following a "scary" initiation, a pot luck course was served in the recreation room. The girls entertained with hobo stories during the dinner. Trick and treating was played along the route to Mrs. Orville Williams where dessert was served and the evening was completed with games.

Mrs. Montgomery's troop recently planted King Alfred daffodils at the Mount Prospect library as its service project.

Rolling Meadows

A new Brownie troop invested its leader, Mrs. John Little, November 5 and concluded the ceremony with a party featuring games and refreshment. Mrs. Little and co-leader, Mrs. Robert Winsell, invested the new Brownies.

They are:G Sharon Ulreick; Deborah Balek; Peggy Darwick; Susan Deleshe; Linda Liszewski; Ellyn Placek; Bonnie Buckholz; Deborah Little; Cathie Winsell; Patsy Terrell, Linda Ervin; Janice Booth; Christine McEvilly, Trina Urban; Dean Vasil and Vicky Seelye. (B8

The unit will include incinerator, refrigerator, range, metal cabinets, hardwood floors, wall tile in bath and powder rooms, gas heat, provisions for air conditioning, finished recreation room and private parking.

The exteriors will be face brick, either red or yellow. The unit will have 1,170 square feet of living space.

Over 5,000 farmers in the United States are members of the National Flying Farmers association, with chapters in 37 states and Canada.

Members of the association, formed in Oklahoma in 1945, use their planes for crop dusting, seeding, hunting predatory animals, hauling produce to market and a variety of other activities.

Members, who must have at least 51 per cent of their capital in farming, or receive a like income from that industry, represent 11 million acres.

The average age of members is 42, although the plaque, given annually to the oldest member at the association's convention, has never gone to anyone under 70.

How Public School System Has Met Demands of 'New Suburbia'

Postwar Growth Pushes Arlington Taxes Skyward

(This is the second in a series of special articles on the village of Arlington Heights by Ted Smart, news editor of the Herald. This article like the ones to come, will trace the physical, cultural, and economic development of the community.)

by TED SMART

Sixty-six hundred students, pupils of Arlington Heights public and parochial grade schools, attend classes daily — more school-age youngsters than theer were villagers only 10 years ago.

In 1948, the village had a population of about 6,500, and a public grade school enrollment of 767. Today, the population has climbed to 24,000 and, exclusive of enrollment in the three parochial schools in Arlington Heights, pupils in grade school district 25 number 3,700.

More pupils mean more schools and teachers, and this in turn means more taxes, something residents have been willing to supply since the phenomenal growth began.

In 1938, there was one school in the district—South school, with six rooms. That year North school was built, and these two schools served the district for almost 10 years. In 1947, South school was increased by a kindergarten, four classrooms, two offices, a cafeteria, auditorium, and gymnasium.

IN 1950, the south wing of South junior high was added, and a four-room addition to North school was built. In 1952, Dryden school was built, and in 1953, six rooms of Ridge and seven rooms of Park were added to existing facilities.

The following year, seven rooms were added to Ridge school, and 11 to Park. In 1956 and 1957, Miner school, South school's administration building, and Westgate school were constructed. During 1957 and 1958, Windsor school was built, and five rooms were added to Ridge school.

Less than three weeks ago, voters in district 25 approved a $650,000 bond issue for the construction of 12-room additions to both Windsor and Westgate schools, a multi-purpose room in each, and a multi-purpose room at Park school. Construction bids on this work will be in the first part of January, and the additions are expected to be ready by next fall.

BUT WHAT about the fall after next, and the one after that?

A recent study by Jack R. Childress, of Northwestern university's school of education, projected enrollment growth to the summer of 1965. Based on the period 1953-1955, Childress envisions a grade school enrollment of 5,376 less than eight years from now. Ultimately, considering the land available for home construction within the school district, a maximum enrollment of over 8,000 is foreseen, with approximately 212 classrooms needed. The district has 96 academic and kindergarten rooms presently, and with the 27 rooms approved in the recent referendum, the total available space for September, 1959, will be 123 rooms.

The 89 additional rooms forecast by the Childress report would cost Arlington Heights taxpayers almost $2 million, by 1958 prices, and this does not include the purchase price of land.

Personnel, too, will increase. The district currently employs 216 persons, of which 158 are certificated. The number of certificated employees for each 1,000 students is 38 in Arlington Heights, as compared with a high of 57.6 and a low of 29.9 among 42 elementary school districts in the Chicago area.

TEACHERS' SALARIES are by far the greatest expense to a school system. District 25 spends almost 65 per cent of its income on teacher salaries that range from $4,200 for a beginning teacher with a bachelor's degree and no experience, to $6,325 for a teacher with a doctorate and 15 years experience. These salaries compare closely with those paid by other area school districts, and yet one school principal in Arlington Heights said recently:

"Our pay schedule is nothing to be ashamed of for beginning teachers. It's the upper bracket that needs improvement."

There is not enough incentive for a capable person to stay in the school system when he or she can look forward to a maximum of just over $6,000 after a lifetime of service and study, he said.

THIS IS A PROBLEM that confronts schools across the country, but rising costs of construction, maintenance, and administration have kept salaries low in top brackets.

In the face of mounting costs, the taxpayers of district 25 have responded to each new crisis, voting in eight construction bond issues and an increase in the educational fund in the past 12 years. They have been rewarded by what has become one of the finest school systems in the state.

But they have paid for it with one of the highest tax rates per home owner in the state. From a tax rate of $5.136 for each $100 of assessed valuation, taxpayers shell out $3.4568 for both elementary and high schools, or over two-thirds of all real estate taxes.

Alarmed property owners ask: When will it end?

FORTUNATELY, the assessed valuation of the district has kept pace with the population boom. District 25 has about $21,500 of taxable wealth per child, while the median amount for districts in Cook county is $22,794. Four years ago, the total assessed valuation of the district was $39,027,000, while the estimate for 1959 is expected to reach $82 million. The tax rate, therefore, need not go up and probably will drop a little as present bond issues are retired.

But bringing about an overall reduction in taxes may not be possible unless one of several eventualities occur:

—Consolidation witr another school district or with the high school district;

—Increased aid from the state (Illinois is one of the lowest-ranking states in aid to schools);

—A constitutional amendment allows for a state income tax; or —Taxable industry is encouraged to settle in the area.

Three of these possibilities look slight. The constitution provides for a 5 per cent bonding limit on a district's assessed valuation, and combining a high school and elementary school district would cut this bonding power in half.

Schools have been trying to get more state aid for years without much success.

THE INFLEXIBILITY of amending the state constitution makes the likelihood of an income tax extremely unlikely.

Relief, then, as most educators agree, can come most readily by encouraging the location of industry within the taxing jurisdiction of the school district, something a good many residents wish to avoid.

Arlington Heights will remain a community of homes as long as residents are able to pay.

Watch the Want Ads for Bargains

What does modern electric heating have to offer the new home buyer?

If you are buying or building a new home, these facts will explain why the most luxurious heat of all is well worth a few extra dollars a month

Q. Is electric heating clean?
A. It's just as clean as electric light! You see, it uses no fuel—there's nothing to burn, no open flames. And with nothing burning, there's no smoke or soot to create dirt.

Q. Does it make any noise?
A. Radiant Electric Heating is absolutely silent. There are no moving parts, nothing running. No furnace noise.

Q. How about comfort control?
A. Radiant Electric Heating doesn't compromise on comfort. Separate thermostats in each room let you choose the exact degree of heat you need. You can keep the bathroom at 80°, while the living room is 72°, and the bedrooms are set for perfect sleeping comfort at an even 65°.

Q. Is electric heating complicated to operate?
A. It's as easy as tuning your radio. All you do is set the thermostats to the temperature you want. Radiant Electric Heating does the rest, automatically.

Q. How does it feel?
A. It's a deep-down penetrating warmth that feels just like the sun! You see, Radiant Electric Heating warms objects in the room directly.

Q. What does it look like?
A. Radiant Electric Heating is available in various forms. It can be a compact baseboard installed along the base of exterior walls and painted to match the room. It can be embedded in the floor or ceiling (only the wall thermostat is visible). Or it can consist of radiant glass panels, installed in the walls.

Q. How much do I pay for a Radiant Electric Heating System?
A. In the majority of cases, a Radiant Electric Heating system will cost less to install than conventional flame-type systems. Of course, insulation and storm doors and windows are a necessary part of any Electrically Heated Home (Commonwealth Edison does not recommend electric heating for a home without them). But you need no chimney, no hot water pipes or radiators, no furnace, no fuel storage space. And Radiant Electric Heating takes no usable floor space.

Q. How about upkeep?
A. With modern Radiant Electric Heating there are no moving parts, nothing to get out of order. Nothing to adjust, nothing to clean. As a result, the upkeep is just a fraction of what you'd pay to keep a conventional heating system in operation.

Q. Want air conditioning, too?
A. If you want both electric heating and air conditioning in one unit, you'll want the wonderful new Heat Pump that both heats and cools electrically. With this all-electric air conditioning system, the air in your home is warmed or cooled to the exact temperature you select, filtered clean, gently and quietly circulated to every room. The Heat Pump is a compact unit that can be installed in the basement or crawl space to deliver fully conditioned air through ductwork to every room in your home. And just as with Radiant Electric Heating, there are no flames, no fumes—nothing to disturb your absolute peace of mind!

Q. What happens if the electricity goes off?
A. If the electricity ever did go off, the electric heating would go off, too. But so would most other kinds of automatic heating. Most fuel-type heating systems depend upon electricity for operation.

Q. Is it safe?
A. It's fully as safe as the electric light you're reading this by. With electric heating in your home you'll enjoy a wonderful new peace of mind. There's nothing to escape, drip, leak, smell or boil over.

Q. What's this I hear about a special electric heating rate?
A. Recently, Commonwealth Edison and Public Service Company put into effect a new electric heating rate that cuts the cost of heating with electricity about 30%. This new rate, together with new developments in heating equipment and better standards of home insulation, puts electric heating well within the means of most new home buyers. As a result, new electric heating has been specified for more than 900 homes and apartments.

Q. How much does it cost to operate?
A. Operating costs of electric heating obviously will vary according to the size and type of home and family living habits. Commonwealth Edison and Public Service Company, or your home builder, will be glad to provide electric heating estimates based on the specifications of the home you plan to build or buy.

Q. Where can I learn more about electric heating?
A. You can get more information by phoning your nearest Commonwealth Edison or Public Service Company office. Or you can see new Electrically Heated Homes now being featured by progressive builders in the Chicago area.

Remember, electric heating is available now! There's no waiting list and no permits are needed! So if a new home is on the horizon for you, look into the modern miracle of electric heating. After all, doesn't it make sense to get the advanced heating in your new home that you've always hoped would be available someday?

Yule Lighting Contest Opens

The Arlington Heights Jaycees announced this week that the initial response to their Christmas Lighting Contest is much greater than they anticipated. Entries for the contest that begins December 22, and ends December 27, indicate that all portions of the Arlington Heights area will be represented.

The contest is being promoted to spread the spirit of Christmas by means of decoration by light, to beautify the city, and to foster a friendlier community spirit, Tom McAuliffe, Jaycees' spokesman, said.

McAULIFFE, who is contest chairman, said the winner will be chosen on the basis of originality, ingenuity, lighting technique, and artistic merit, and not on how much money is spent on the display. A few lights placed to create a new or unusual effect will have as good a chance to win as the most ornate display.

In order to participate and to become eligible for one of the many prizes, it is necessary that an entry blank be filled out and mailed to the Arlington Heights Jaycees, box 1, Arlington Heights, Ill. Entry blanks may be obtained at stores displaying posters.

RULES OF THE contest are:

—Contest open to residents of Arlington Heights, including the adjoining subdivisions.

—Deadline for entries is December 20, 1958.

—Displays should be lighted from 6:30 p.m. to 11 p.m., December 22 through December 27.

Local winner eligible for entry in National contest, with additional cash awards available.

For convenience, an "official" entry blank is printed below.

A Message From George Harris

WOULD YOU LIKE TO HAVE A HAPPIER AND HEALTHIER CHRISTMAS?

Then, please permit us to offer some advice. December is usually a month when most people over-exert themselves. Everyone is busy shopping for gifts and all the other preparations for the Yule Tide and the New Year to come.

DECEMBER WEATHER IS OFTEN TREACHEROUS.

When your over-tired body is exposed to its frequent temperature changes, coughs, colds and sometimes more serious sickness can occur. This can spoil your Christmas pleasures.

GIVE YOUR BODY AN IMPORTANT CHRISTMAS GIFT NOW.

Visit your physician for a check-up to make certain you are in a healthy condition. You probably are, but it will be a good Christmas gift to know it for sure. If not, then he will prescribe the proper medication that will enable you to enjoy life more. Don't let any preventable illness spoil your Christmas.

WE SINCERELY WISH YOU A MERRY CHRISTMAS AND HAPPY NEW YEAR.

We appreciate your choosing us to be "Your Pharmacist." We will always do anything we possibly can to help you enjoy continuous good health.

No Fire Hazards; Inspect Schools

The Arlington Heights fire department has been flooded with telephone calls following the disastrous fire at a Chicago school.

Worried parents inquired anxiously into safety precautions at eight public and three parochial elementary schools in the village. Is there a possibility of such a tragedy occurring here? they asked.

Fire Chief Harvey Caruthers reported, "There are no hazardous conditions to our knowledge," but, he said, the department plans a thorough inspection of all school buildings in the fire district next week.

CARUTHERS, who was chief of the fire prevention and inspection bureaus for nine years in Moline, Ill., said the department has had a limited number of firemen available for inspection duty in the past, but that inspections had been made for all types of buildings since the first of the year.

A fire prevention code was adopted by the village February 7, 1956, said the chief, and he emphasized the department's intention to enforce it. (AF

Local Minister Featured In 'Time'

An Elk Grove minister was dubbed by Time magazine this week as "one of Protestantism's bright young men."

He is Dr. Martin E. Marty, 30-year-old pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Holy Spirit in Elk Grove Village and an associate editor of the nondenominational Christian Century magazine.

The minister recently completed a six-installment series on religion in America, described by Time as "a perceptive young man's view of what he seems to regard as grey-flannel faith."

The series, entitled "The New Shape of American Religion," will be expanded and published as a book by Harper's this spring.

IN HIS ARTICLES, Marty said the U. S. is experiencing "post-Protestant times." The particularism that once typified American church life has given way to what he calls "religion-in-general." The 20th century has acted "as a sort of cosmic Slenderella to polish the edges and smooth the roughness of religious particularity." Puritanism once dominated the U. S. attitude to religion, but "God is now offered in packaged, post-Calvinist, highly marketable forms. He is expected to baptize what is 'expedient' for men, to concur with man's reason and will."

Much of the inspiration for Marty's controversial articles came from his field of studies at University of Chicago, where he earned his Ph.D degree in American religious and intellectual history.

He received his Bachelor of Divinity degree from Concordia Seminary in 1952 and a Master in Systematic Theology from Chicago Lutheran Seminary in 1954.

IN ADDITION to duties at Christian Century and his suburban parish, Dr. Marty is contributing editor for The Cresset and American Lutheran magazines. In January, he will become a contributing editor for Paddock Publications, Inc., writing a regular column of comment on the editorial page of the 13 suburban newspapers.

The pastor is married and the father of three sons. (B8

Voters' League to Hear Chicago Investment Banker

John Nuveen, a Chicago investment banker and an Eisenhower administration expert on foreign aid and trade, will speak next week in Arlington Heights.

He will appear at a program sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Arlington Heights to be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Pioneer Park fieldhouse.

Nuveen, who heads the John Nuveen and co. investment firm in Chicago, is a member of the Commerce department's world trade advisory committee. He also is chairman of the national advisory committee in the CARE program and has long been a member of the YMCA's international board.

HIS SPEECH in Arlington Heights will center on the foreign aid program, which is a controversial issue not only in Washington but in the world.

Mrs. Paul Green, chairman of the League's Foreign Trade and Aid Committee, said:

"We are fortunate in obtaining Mr. Nuveen as our speaker and will welcome anyone who wishes to attend. A social period will follow the speech at which time there will be an opportunity to speak with Mr. Nuveen."

Nuveen has been active in government, civic and religious affairs for many years.

He is a trustee of the University of Chicago, and a member of the Baptist Theological Union (University of Chicago).

IN 1948 he headed the Economic Cooperation administration (ECA) to Greece and held the rank of U.S. minister. From 1949 to 1950 he served in a similar capacity with the ECA mission to Belgium and Luxembourg. From 1954 to 1956 he was a consultant on foreign investment to the assistant Secretary of Commerce for international affairs.

JOHN NUVEEN

Refreshments will be served after the Tuesday meeting by a group headed by Mrs. John Kuranz.

Methodist Women to Hear Christmas Story thru Artists

Women of the First Methodist church, Arlington Heights, will set aside next Tuesday afternoon to capture the spirit of this Holy season when the Christmas story will be told through artists' masterpieces and the carollers' singing following a 12:45 p.m. luncheon.

"Each With His Own Brush" will be the subject of a collection of paintings chosen to represent the best in art and related to the Christmas season. This phase of the program will be described by Mrs. Robert Higgins, program chairman.

THE CHORALIERS, a select vocal group of 13 students from Arlington high school, will sing a program of Christmas music. Miss Marjorie Beu is director of this ensemble.

Leading the devotions will be Mrs. Clarence Craig. Decorations emphasizing the art and music of Christmas are being planned by Mrs. Robert Westlake and Mrs. John Evans.

Mrs. George Lynch, Mrs. Todd Fouty and Mrs. Earle Strehlow are in charge of luncheon arrangements. Mrs. Lynch, CL 3-4460, is accepting reservations.

States' spending up

State and local governments will have spent $42 billion by the end of 1958, Nation's Business reports. This is twice as much as the 1950 total.

The average distribution for each $100 spent by state governments is: $31 for education, $28 for highways, $13 for public welfare, $9 for health and hospitals, and $19 for miscellaneous other accounts.

Soloists, Chorus Feature High School Presentation

Four special soloists, a chorus of more than 800 voices, and a 60-piece orchestra will present Handel's Messiah at the Arlington high school auditorium Sunday at 3 p.m.

The mammoth undertaking has been in rehearsal for several weeks.

Directed by Fred C. Schmoyer of the Arlington high school, the production will feature the talented voices of Marjorie Beu, contralto; Richard C. Knoll, tenor; Alice Riley, soprano, and Raymond Sharp, bass.

THE CHORUS WILL BE composed of 650 students from the Arlington and Prospect high schools and 150 adults from the Arlington area. In addition, members of nine church choirs and the Town and Country Chorus will sing with the chorus.

The high school orchestra has been augmented with adult musicians and with strings from York High School.

Assisting as accompanists will be Martin Dahlberg, organist; and Charles D. Jenks, pianist. Dahlberg teaches piano and organ at the Prospect high school. Jenks is the organist for the Arlington Heights Methodist church and teaches piano at Evanston high school. Schmoyer is director of music at Arlington high school.

The contralto, Miss Beu, is a graduate of the American Conservatory of Music in Chicago and at present is studying for her doctorate in music education at Indiana university.

She has appeared as a soloist in many musical productions in the Midwest. She sang solo roles with the Elgin Choral Union in The Blessed Damosel and the Messiah, and has been a soloist with the Green Lake Summer Festival chorus. Miss Beu also has appeared in solo roles with choruses in Joliet, Maywood and Chicago.

RICHARD C. Knoll is a professional who has sung lead roles in many operas, has appeared on radio and TV and has appeared with the Denver and Indianapolis symphonies. He operates a voice studio in Arlington Heights.

Miss Riley, soprano, was chosen "Singer Of The Year" in 1957 in national competition with the National Assn. of Teachers of Singing. She also was chosen best woman singer in the 1954 Chicagoland Music Festival. She has been a soloist with the Swedish Glee Club in Grant Park concerts. She has made many oratorio appearances throughout the country.

Raymond Sharp, baritone, has been in concert work for eight years. He studied at Columbia University and the Julliard School of Music. Holiday Traffic Safety Campaign Is Planned Here

A new approach to holiday traffic safety will be put to a test throughout Illinois during the coming holiday season.

Preceding the dangerous Christmas holiday by 10 days, it will be "Traffic Condition Yellow."

This special safety alert, designed to caution drivers of the extreme hazards involved in driving during the Christmas season, will go into effect Monday, Dec. 15 and will last until 6 p.m. Jan. 24.

Officials of the Illinois division of traffic safety, sponsors of the plan, feel much can be gained by emphasizing safe holiday driving before the holiday actually begins.

NEWSPAPERS, radio and television stations throughout Illinois will cooperate in the program by stressing the importance of safe, sober and alert driving.

Robert A. Campbell, state coordinator of traffic safety, appealed to all motorists to be especially cautious while driving before and during the holiday.

He said "every motorist must realize that the heavy volume of holiday traffic and the usual winter driving hazards combine to make driving at this time of year especially dangerous."

Illinois traffic accidents claimed the lives of 206 persons last December, when the Christmas holiday was only three days in length. This year, the holiday will last four days and six hours.

STATISTICS SHOW speeding and driving after drinking are two of the main factors in traffic accidents during the Christmas season," Campbell said.

He urged every driver to avoid both driving after drinking and driving too fast for conditions. "Normal holiday traffic hazards are multiplied tremendously by drinking and speeding," Campbell said.

He asked all motorists to participate in the Traffic Condition Yellow program by observing all traffic regulations and by making driving "a full time job."

The Yellow Alert will be followed immediately by the four-day "Traffic Condition Red" program, which goes into effect at 6 p.m., Dec. 24.

The Red Alert will signal all police authorities in the State to start their stepped-up enforcement program. (B8

IN APPRECIATION for their service to the Northwest Suburban Aid for the Retarded, Rev. Walter Spangler and Dr. Orvis Jordan, Park Ridge clergymen, were presented with plaques when the new Center in Park Ridge was dedicated November 23. Making the presentations were Raymond W. Till of Mount Prospect, president of the association, and Robert Zander, organizing president. Rev. Spangler is pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran church and Dr. Jordan is pastor emeritus of Park Ridge Community church and organizing minister for the Disciples of Christ church, Arlington Heights.

Scout Official To New Post

Wesley Parker, 2410 Wing, Rolling Meadows, Blackhawk district scout executive, has been selected to serve the Northwest Suburban council as director of education and camping and activities according to Frank B. Newton, scout executive of the council.

Parker will officially take over the reins of the new assignment January 1, 1959. He has been active in the past few weeks getting acquainted with his new responsibilities. This position was recently created by the Northwest Suburban council executive board to further develop and coordinate on a council level the areas of camping, activities, advancement, health and safety, leadership training, and organization and extension.

A graduate of the LaPorte City (Iowa) secondary schools and a member of the armed forces in World War II. Parker attended the University of Iowa, receiving his bachelor's degree in 1948. He served three years as principal of the Sycamore (Ill.) junior high school, meanwhile receiving a Master of Arts degree from the State University of Iowa in 1949.

In 1952, Parker joined the staff of the Twin Lakes council, Boy Scouts of America, in Oshkosh, Wis. After serving on that staff for more than three years, he joined the Northwest Suburban council and was assigned the Blackhawk district in early 1956. During this period of time the Blackhawk district has jumped from 1,320 to more than 2,200 in boy membership. It has also doubled in the number of scout units that are available to serve boys of the area. (B8

Xmas Art Is Shown

An exhibition of art work by four area artists will be on display at the Schneller Furniture store, Arlington Market, through the Christmas holidays, Joseph Schneller, proprietor, announced this week.

The exhibitors, William Foust, George Fredin, Edward Fischer, and Will Gallagher, are teachers at Arlington and Prospect high schools, and are all graduates of the Chicago Art institute.

The four artists expressed hope that the exhibit would stimulate more interest in the art center now under consideration for Arlington Heights by a group of local artists and the Arlington Art guild.

FROM RIDGE PARK

The Roy L. Palmers, 820 N. Yale, are back from a 3-week visit to Hallandale, Fla. Staying at a motel with a pool right at their front door, they were able to enjoy swimming and even got in some deep sea fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. William Rudy, 822 N. Princeton, and Dr. and Mrs. Frank Psota wound up the opera season in grand style last Saturday night. They began with dinner at Trader Vic's and then went to the opera house for a performance of "Aida."

Thanksgiving dinner at the W. J. Hefferen home, 811 N. Kennicott, was a family affair. Their son, Clinton, his wife and children, Jimmy, Joanie and Janice, were there as well as Mr. Hefferen's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Horcher. The Horchers brought Sgt. Kenneth Horcher with them. Stationed at Santa Ana air base in California, Sgt. Horcher is on furlough and visited the Andrew Horchers during the holiday week. Mr. and Mrs. James Hopkins, Judy and Sharon and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Oldenburg of Mt. Prospect completed the pary.

SATURDAY NIGHT the Kennicott ave. folks gave a bon voyage party for the Robert Haddens, who are moving December 10. The party was a complete surprise to the Haddens, as they had gone to the movies and Joe Pecoraro had to go in and get them out to come to the party. A buffet supper was waiting for them at the Pecoraro home. Couples wishing them well were the Gene Kings, Philip Roshegers, J. F. Urbans, H. A. Braunsreuters, James Patersons, Bob Engelkings, Richard Stevens, George Topps, Vivian Hadden's sisters and their husbands, the Wally Sommerfields and the Bob Erbers.

As a going away present, the group gave them money toward a camera which they will be needing when they leave for Europe. Leaving from O'Hare field, they will fly to London, stopping off at Detroit, Montreal and Glasgow. In London, they will contact Doris Paterson's parents, who live only an hour's ride from there. Christmas day will be spent in Paris and New Year's eve in Monte Carlo. Nice and Monaco are stopping off places before they go to Rome, Capri, Pompii and Naples. January 12 they board a boat at Naples for a 3-day cruise through the Mediterranean and on across the Atlantic to New York.

Thanksgiving had a double significance for the Edwin F. Bakowskis, 716 N. Kennicott. It was also Dorothy's birthday. She was 9 and the family went into Chicago to celebrate at the home of Mrs. Bakowski's father. Besides her sisters and brother, Trudy, Angeline and Arthur, Mrs. Lottie Bakowski and Jennie joined them for dinner.

When Meredith Astley, 830 N. Princeton, goes to Mexico soon, it will be as the guest of the Simmons company. He has just won a sales contest sponsored by Simmons and will join 16 other salesmen for a 10-day trip to Mexico City and Acapulco. This is the second time he has topped the other salesmen in his district, having won a tri to Hawaii in 1953.

THESE ARE BUSY and exciting days for Joan Tews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Tews, 935 N. Kennicott. Mr. Kurtz, a former school principal in Bloomington, Ill., has retired and he and Mrs. Kurtz made the Harris home their first stop before they begin traveling. Margaret's paternal grandparent is Ben Harris of Flint, Mich.

Things were buzzing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Morgan, 1010 N. Harvard, over the holiday. Their daughter, Cathy, her husband and 5-month-old son, Stephen, came in from Salt Lake City, Utah, dividing their time between her parents and his, who live in Rockford. The Gruners picked this time to come so that they could be with Cathy's brother, Wakefield, a student at Ohio State university. They also enjoyed being with Arthur, who goes to Arlington high. The Morgans have also had Kenneth N. Goldie of Canada visiting in their home for 8 weeks. Mr. Goldie has returned to Canada to renew his visa, but has enjoyed the States so much that he plans to come back and make his home in this area.

'Toys for Tots' Campaign

Once again, preparations are being made to make it a Merry Christmas for thousands of needy children in the Chicagoland area.

All of Chicagoland's marine reserve units are doing their part with the help of the Shell Oil company, which is again making available their service stations as collection points.

The marines are happy to play the role of Santa Claus, as they collect and prepare the toys for distribution on their off-duty time. Many of the toys, will be repaired or repainted by members of the marine reserve units and the Marine Corps league of Park Ridge, so that they will be suitable for use.

IT IS URGED that all those who wish to donate toys do so as soon as possible to allow the necessary time for sorting, repairing, and delivery prior to Christmas. If wrapped toys are donated, it should be noted on the wrapping as to whether it is for a boy or girl and for what age group.

The drive officially started December 1, and will be concluded on the 19th, giving the Marines four days to complete their toy deliveries to needy children.

Chicagoland marine reserve units are out to exceed last year's collection of approximately 262,000 toys. A total of 15,000 toys was collected in the northwest area alone.

Northwest area members of the marine air reserve training detachment and the marine air reserve squadrons at the naval air station, Glenview, have volunteered their time to collect, sort, repair, and deliver the toys in time for Christmas.

For further information and pick up of toys, contact Sgt. James R. Smallridge, naval air station, Glenview, Ill. Phone GL 4-1000, Ext. 422.

Open House At New Pure Oil Station

An "open house" for the public will be held December 4-6 at the completely modern and rebuilt Pure Oil service station, 4 N. Plum Grove rd., Palatine, managed by John Rahn. Gifts for the children and prizes will be given away during the open house.

The remodeled station features six new gas pumps, indoor facilities for five cars and has a staff of six employees. Hours are 7 a.m. to 10 p.m., Monday through Saturday, and 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sunday.

IN ADDITION to a wide selection of motoring products and accessories, John Rahn's Pure Oil service offers repair service, lubrication, simonizing, brake work, electronic wheel balancing, car washing and road service. They carry a full line of tires and batteries.

The new station replaces one which had formerly occupied the location for 32 years. The old building was torn down, additional land was bought and a completely modern and larger service station has just been completed.

Rahn replaced Adolph Kunze, who managed the old station for 22 years. Kunze retired because of ill health.

Church to Lay Cornerstone For New School Addition

The cornerstone for the new $125,000 Christian education and fellowship unit of the Saint John United Church of Christ, Evergreen and St. James sts., Arlington Heights, will be laid on Sunday, Dec. 7 at 3 p.m., according to a church spokesman.

Dr. William L. Rest, president of the North Illinois Synod of the United Church of Christ will speak at the ceremony.

THE BUILDING, featuring 11 classrooms and fellowship facilities, was designed by William M. Cooley and associates, of Park Ridge. Cooley's firm has designed more than 100 contemporary religious buildings.

The ceremony will be under the direction of the Revs. Armin Limper and Robert Clark. The ministers, both on the staff of Elmhurst college, are serving as interim religious leaders until the congregation is able to hire a full-time pastor.

Other participants in the ceremony will include arthitect Cooley and his partner, Edward M. Borre, Myron Kuhlman, building committee chairman, and general contractor, A. Kopecky and sons.

THE PROGRAM will be held in the church's present sanctuary at 310 N. Evergreen. The congregation will then proceed outdoors to the building site, where the various church organizations will take part in placing items such as a Bible and church history in the cornerstone.

The building is of fireproof construction, with face brick used on the exterior and interior walls. Other construction features include aluminum sash, colored glass, laminated beams, acoustical tile, and radiant heat throughout.

Measuring 57 by 107 feet, the building's 11 classrooms will have a Sunday school enrollment capacity of 350.

THE 40 BY 64 foot fellowship hall will serve 250 people for dinner and 400 for assembly. When divided, this area can be converted to form four large classrooms.

The English basement is encircled by continuous large windows on both sides of the building. Six classrooms, with built-in cabinet work and recessed formica-topped sinks will be located on this level.

The site also includes ample off-street parking facilities.

THIS BUILDING is the first project in a three-stage master re-development plan executed for the congregation by Cooley. It includes an eventual new church accommodating 600 worshippers, in addition to social rooms, parlors, an administrative area, and additional classrooms.

The 56 year-old congregation, formed by a handful of worshippers in 1902, now has 480 contributing members and a Sunday school enrollment of 200 pupils. A staff of 35 will serve the church's new Christian education facilities.

Forgotten Main To Be Rerouted

A 31-year-old village "skeleton" was uncovered Tuesday night, not in some musty municipal closet, but under five feet of earth at Euclid and the railroad tracks.

The "skeleton," a figurative one, took the form of a land grab—or rather an easement grab—by some forgotten village fathers. An attorney, representing the Exchange National Bank of Chicago as trustee, addressed the village board.

"Gentlemen," he said, "after a lengthy period, my client's property was rezoned to permit multi-unit construction, and after considerable expense in engineering studies and architects' fees, we discovered a 10-inch water main running right through the property.

"Gentlemen," he continued, "we cannot go through with construction, and expenses are mounting every day. Time is an important factor."

THE ATTORNEY, Chester Mitchell, said his client was willing to grant an easement on the edge of the property, and asked the board to expedite removal of the illegal water main from its present site.

"We do not seek damages," he emphasized, "but please move it."

An undercover search of village records by Manager L. A. Hanson, disclosed the pipe had been laid in 1927, and that there had been no easement granted by the owner for the main that runs 300 feet across the property from north to south.

Hanson estimated the rerouting of the water main would cost around $3,000, and the board, confronted with the illegal land steal and with no way out, agreed to request bids immediately.

Australian Rotarian To Speak

Brian Wiseman, a 23-year-old lawyer from Australia, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Arlington Heights Rotary club today, Dec. 4, at Gunnell's Restaurant.

Wiseman is studying at the graduate school of Northwestern university on a scholarship provided by Districts 642 and 644, of Rotary International. These districts are located in the northern part of Illinois.

MR. WISEMAN

A native of Wollongong, New South Wales, 50 miles south of Sydney, he was nominated by the Wollongong Rotary club and selected by the local district governor for the scholarship.

He attended elementary school and preparatory school in Wollongong and took his law degree at the University of Sidney. He has joined his father's law firm.

At Northwestern, where he will study for the next year, he plans to earn a master of arts degree in political science, and will give special emphasis to law and to politics.

He came to the United States by ship, visiting New Zealand and the Fiji islands enroute. After landing at Vancouver, B.C., he purchased an automobile and toured the western states.

After he completes his study in the United States, Wiseman plans to return to Australia to resume his law practice. In New South Wales, he explained recently, lawyers are either barristers or solicitors, and it is in the latter branch of the law that he proposes to engage.

Village Theatre To Entertain St. Pete Moms

Village Theatre, Inc., will present the comedy "Just What They Wanted" for the Mothers' club of St. Peter Lutheran school, Arlington Heights, December 12 at 8 p.m. Husbands are invited and there will be a $1 gift exchange for everyone with Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus on hand to distribute the gifts.

Remap Incorporation Laws, Attorneys Urge

Revision of "antiquated" incorporation and annexation laws for cities and villages to prevent modern-day abuses was recommended to the Northeastern Illinois Metropolitan Area Local Governmental Services Commission in a recent report.

Louis Ancel and Jack M. Siegel, veteran attorneys for several suburban municipalities, declared in their 21-page report that "the time is ripe for an extensive and thoughtful reappraisal of much of our organic law" in this field. Changes made in 1941 have since been made inadequate by urban growth, they found.

The Commission, headed by Rep. Jaul J. Randolph, in a meeting at the Hotel Sherman, asked the two lawyers to draw proposed bills to be reviewed by the commission, particularly on two items: that all annexations be processed through County court except wholly-bounded, school district or muncipally-owned, territory and contiguous highways, and that the county board be made a party in any proceedings for territory covered by a county plan.

THE LAWYERS' report recommended that annexations:

(1) Be restricted to contiguous territory.

(2) Be processed through court except in the cases cited above, either on a petition by property owners or municipal ordinance, with their burden to prove in the public hearing before the court that (a) the annexation is compatible with proper development of the municipality as indicated by its master plan (b) it will be able to furnish the needed services, and (c) the annexation is "in the best interest of the municipality, the annexed territory, and the surrounding area."

(3) Be effective 60 days after the court order unless the municipality by two-thirds votes rejects it, in which case no part of the same territory may be annexed by that municipality for two years.

AT PRESENT, the report pointed out, no court procedure is necessary if all the owners and electors of contiguous territory petition for annexation, and in other cases the hearing pertains only to legality of the petition or annexing ordinance, without taking into account planning considerations or the ability of the municipality to service the territory.

"We are all familiar with the recent fiascos of 'strip' and highway annexations attempting to circumvent the requirements of contiguity, but which happily the courts have striken down," said the report. "Nevertheless, there will continue to be races between municipalities to annex desirable areas with occasional competition between them in offering concessions to property owners in matters of zoning or improvements which may in fact be detrimental to the community and surrounding area.

"We believe it is possible to develop legislative standards to be applied by an impartial third party to determine whether or not a particular annexation is in fact in the public interest."

UNDER THE present law, the report pointed out, the filing of an annexation petition "freezes" an area as to incorporation or annexation with another municipality:

"Frequently petitions of doubtful validity are filed merely to prevent incorporation or thwart other municipalities from annexation. Such petitions may lay on file for months or years without action, in the meantime acting as effective barriers to other action.

Incorporation of new municipalities, under a basic law changed since 1872, "in recent years have been occasionally perverted and abused in an effort to avoid county building and zoning regulations and prevent annexation by neighbors," the report said.

"The temptation still exists for some builders to get around (new) county zoning regulations by incorporating 'jerry-built' subdivisions as municipalities. These would not meet the standards for annexation to older communities or even the county standards for unincorporated areas.

"We believe these are no justification for incorporations which leave in their wake skeleton municipalities without an adequate tax base and unable to provide services. These merely thwart proper municipal development through annexation and waste taxpayers' dollars through inefficient services and duplication of efforts which might more effectively and economically be carried on by a larger annexing municipality.

"All of us recognize the desire and attraction of running our own communities, but our present laws have carried the possibility of incorporation to the brink of ab. urdity and bid fair to make a mockery of municipal organization."

THE REPORT recommended the following changes in these laws:

(1) A minimum population of 2,500 (including 2,000 in immobile homes) required to incorporate a city, and 1,000, including 750 in immobile homes, for a village, instead of 1,000 and 100 respectively.

(2) At least 200 petitioners for a city instead of the present 50 required, and 100 for a village instead of 35.

(3) No city to be incorporated within one mile of another without the latter's consent, as now applies to villages only.

To follow up and backstop the powers given by a 1957 amendment to counties in zoning, the report recommends the following amendments:

(1) A clear statement that territory subdivided within 1½ miles of more than one municipality, must meet the planning requirements of each, or in case of a conflict, the stricter.

(2) Elimination of the requirement of proximity to a municipality of 5,000,000 for certain planning powers, making them uniform through the state.

(3) Right for municipalities to require dedication of 10 per cent of a subdivision for public purposes.

(4) Municipal plans may include areas outside suitable for annexation, and these shall be admissible in evidence at hearings on annexation.

(5) Plans should include a limit on lot sizes within 1½ miles of the city limits.

(6) All governmental bodies within this area and the city should submit their plans for public improvements to the municipal plan commission for review and recommendation.

CONSIDERATION should be given to allowing neighboring municipalities to file a formal protest to a particular rezoning proposal, as is done by the county now, the report said.

To avoid double taxation, the report urged provision of a means of disconnection from a fire protection district of property also included in a municipality, on petition of 50 per cent of the electors and property owners, if it will not isolate any remaining part of the district and the municipality is willing to furnish protection.

Police Offer Tips On Winter Driving

Arlington Heights Police Chief L. W. Calderwood was reminded by last week's light snowfall to offer a few pointers to motorists on the art of safe winter driving.

"After all, it will get worse later on and many people have the idea that accidents which occur when roads are slippery are caused entirely by the ice or snow," Chief Calderwood said. "But this is not the case at all: slippery roads do contribute to the factors which cause accidents, but most often, it's the driver's inability to cope with hazardous conditions that leads to an accident," the chief said. He offered several suggestions for a successful approach to the problem of dangerous snow-ice driving conditions:

A MOTORIST'S judgment and coordination are basic qualifications for sizing up a potential danger and acting to avoid it. For example, one situation may call for slowing down and steering around it, or coming to a complete stop.

An important factor in safe winter driving is the prompt, sure response of the vehicle itself. A turn of the steering wheel should result instantly in the desired change in the direction of the vehicle's movement. A touch of the brake pedal must reduce the speed of the vehicle or bring it to a complete stop, with no related loss of control, particularly on slippery road surfaces.

A factor which becomes increasingly important during hazardous winter driving is traction—the ability of the wheels to grip the road in order to get the vehicle moving, to slow or stop it, and to keep it moving in the desired direction. "Without good traction, a driver's judgment and coordination, and the steering wheel and brakes of his car mean very little. This is particularly true when he is traveling on ice or snow," Calderwood said.

"Poor traction is a most common cause of accidents during the winter months," he said. "The National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards has conducted tests on winter road surfaces with all types of commonly used equipment, which revealed the facts about stop-and-go ability. Pertinent findings follow: Some snow tires help with 51 per cent better pulling tractor on loosely packed snow, but sometimes this is not enough when snow is deep or where hills are fairly steep. In such cases reinforced tire chains may be needed. Tests show they help with 313 per cent better traction than regular tires on snow, and are four times as good on ice.

"STOPPING ability research proved that a car traveling 20 miles an hour, and equipped with regular tires, could be stopped in 21 feet on dry pavement, but a distance of 60 feet or more was required to stop the same car on loosely packed snow and nearly 200 feet on glare ice."

Hundreds of tests conducted by the committee have shown that snow tires will need about 174 feet on glare ice and 52 feet on snow to stop a car. Reinforced tire chains cut the braking distance on ice to 77 feet, and to 38 feet on snow. All tests were made at speeds of 20 miles per hour.

"These facts speak for themselves," commented the chiew. "Drivers who have good judgment will use it to equip their vehicles for maximum safety early in the season." He advised that extra caution and reduced speeds are still basic necessities for safe winter driving. (A

Q. Is there any diplomatic way to curb a friend who persistently interrupts in the middle of one of your sentences to relate another story?

A. Self-control is needed here. Of course, on occasion, you have a perfect right to say, "Please, may I finish what I was saying?"

Q. My fiance has suggested that I ask his sister to serve as my maid-of-honor at our wedding. Am I required to do this?

A. Certainly not. You choose your sister, if you have one; otherwise, your best friend. If your fiance's sister happens to be your best friend, all well and good. Otherwise, you could ask her to serve as a bridesmaid.

Q. Is it really improper for a bride to take part in her wedding rehearsal?

A. This is not a question of propriety, but rather of custom or superstition. It has become customary for some good friend to take the bride's role in the rehearsal proceedings, while the bride sits on the sidelines and directs.

Christmas Musicals

"The Miracle of the Madonna," a musical play, will be presented at the Thursday, Dec. 11, meeting of Miner PTA at 7:30 p.m. under the direction of Mrs. Hazel Peterson. Choral groups of approximately 100 singers, 12 members of the dramatic class, and the Miner junior high orchestra, directed by Melvin Kasen, will combine for this new play which was published only last year.

The story of a typically modern family including four lively children is told in four acts. Their problems and elations are laced with delightful Christmas music, some new and some old. Children and parents are invited at this early hour.

SOUTH JUNIOR high children will share a pre-holiday with their parents Tuesday, Dec. 9, at 7:30 p.m. "A Christmas Carol Pageant" by Diller and Page is being directed by faculty members, Mrs. Ruth Raasch and Louis Rubidoux. About 125 seventh and eighth grade students will be soloists and chorus members.

What Parents Think

What Parents think 10 X Ital ......

Parties should end at 10 p.m. for the seventh graders and at 10:30 for eighth graders, decided their parents at Miner junior high last Tuesday. Parents must take and pickup their children for all activities as well as supervise them. Dating is undesirable at this age level. Allowances, bedtime hours, television habits were discussed in lively buzz sessions. Tabulated results will be distributed soon, giving both parents and students an idea of the suggested social behavior for the junior high student.

Education as a Ship

A ship leaving two paths in its wake was compared with education by Dr. Edward H. Stullken at South junior high last week. One path leads to technological, scientific, and material advances that have been made; the other path leads to sociological, cultural, and spiritual progress, which actually has not kept pace with the former. Since democracy is best defended by what is put in the minds and hearts of children, sociological thinking should not lag behind; our youth must be taught respect for social, spiritual, and cultural rules.

Dr. Stullken is founder and principal of Montfiore Special Schools, which is made up of six separate schools for socially maladjusted boys and girls including special schools in the Cook County Jail for youth awaiting trial or serving terms.

Differences in 5 Areas

Five areas in which children differ were pointed out by Dr. Arthur Oestreich at Westgate school. Physical differences are most easily seen and understood. Mental, emotional, social and spiritual development often are unrecognized or not viewed as objectively by parents.

An exchange of information between parent and teacher is desirable to note ways in which a child differs from others. Various testing methods are available. Parents can depend upon the teacher to work with the individual differences within the class providing the class is small enough and there is adequ free time. (A

Boat Overturns; Duck Hunters OK

Three duck hunters — two from Prospect Heights and one from Arlington Heights—were rescued from the icy waters of the Illinois river after their boat overturned last Sunday.

The three had clung to the side of their boat for 10 minutes when another boatload of hunters spotted them. Waves from a passing barge overturned the boat.

Rescued were William Kaunzinger, 33, of 206 S. School lane, and Ted Balbier, 206 Chester lane, both of Prospect Heights, and Marvin Harris, 58, of 527 N. Mitchell, Arlington Heights.

THE RESCUERS, all Chicagoans, were Roland Schmitz, 36, of 651 Barry; Chester Soral, 32, of 3345 Monticello, and Henry Uszler, 33, of 3337½ Richmond.

They were cruising down the river near Hennepin, 90 miles southwest of Chicago, when they spotted the overturned boat. As they pulled alongside Soral, who is a policeman in Chicago, recognized Kaunzinger as an old friend he had not seen in five years.

The Chicago group helped Harris into their boat, then started pushing the capsized craft toward shore. But their outboard motor quit and they finished the 40-foot trip to shore with paddles.

Once ashore, a fire was built to warm at water victims while help was summoned. (ACM

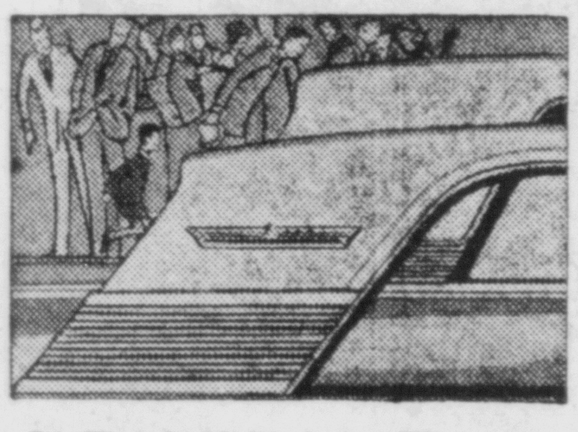
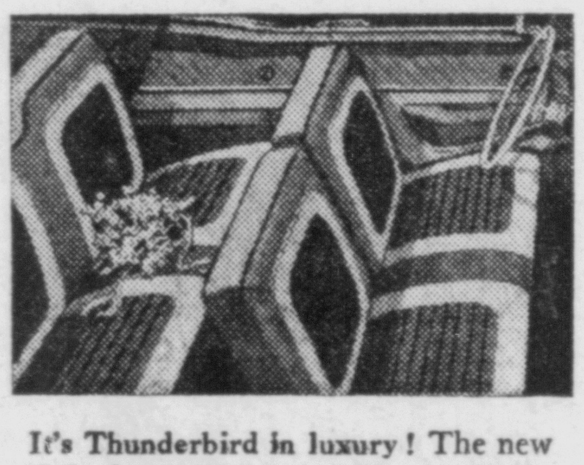
Announcing THE NEW FORD Galaxie



It's Thunderbird in looks! The smart, straight-line Galaxie roof and dramatic see-it-all rear window say Thunderbird unmistakably. So does the classic simplicity of its clean, low-swept body lines. Here is the most perfect match yet of the Thunderbird's own silhouette.



It's Thunderbird in luxury! The new Galaxie appointments—like the plush, deep-pile carpets—are so very Thunderbird in taste. There's Thunderbird V-8 power and performance, too. A surpassing luxury that tells you how superbly these Ford newlyweds "GO" together.

Just Married in Style to the Thunderbird!

It's the newest and most exciting of all the 59 Fords—the elegant new Galaxie. A bright new personality in cars—and more. The Galaxie is a full "fine car" 6-passenger expression of Thunderbird grace, spirit, style and luxury in an altogether new line of Fords. The Galaxie, as you'll quickly see, is as wonderfully all-the-way Thunderbird as a low-price Ford can be.

Reception now—you are invited. You are cordially invited to come and see the Galaxie and the very full measure of elegance it brings to the low-price field. True, Ford owners are accustomed to luxury—and at the low Ford price. But never in any Ford—nor in cars costing far more—have you seen anything as sweet, smart and glamorous as this! Come see Ford's new Galaxie today . . . and bring the entire family.

Service Award Is Given Heights Man

VAN CAPTAIN GERALD KOHN (right) receives Driver-of-the-Month plaque from George Thurlow, executive vice president of Iredale Storage and Moving company. The award is sponsored by the Allied Association of movers. (BB

Gerald L. Kohn of Arlington Heights, a long-distance Van Captain for Iredale Storage and Moving company, Evanston, recently distinguished himself in the Arizona desert by coming to the aid of a stranded mother and daughter.

Anyone who has stood alone in the darkness of the desert beside a stalled automobile can appreciate the jubilation of Mrs. Robert Armestead of Memphis, Tenn., and her eight-year-old daughter when, after hours, a pair of the occasional headlights that broke the darkness stopped to give a hand. The man behind those lights was Van Captain Gerald Kohn, a man on-the-job who, unlike many who left a worried woman and scared little girl behind, had a time schedule to meet. Kohn towed Mrs. Armestead's car the distance to Lordsburg, Ariz., and saw to it that their car was repaired before he left.

George Thurlow, executive vice president of Iredale said, "... this is indicative of the reasons Gerry Kohn has been advanced to our new Van Captain."

Mrs. Armestead said, "My husband will be the first to say that Mr. Kohn and his assistant moved his most precious possessions, his wife and daughter ... we are eternally grateful." Allied Van lines, the national association of which Iredale is a member, presented John with a plaque for outstanding public service and pegged him "Driver-of-the-Month."

Kohn's only remark was, "You couldn't expect less of any human being."

New Association to Provide Help for Lawn Enthusiasts

Thousands of power lawn mower owners who have been plagued with repair trouble in the past can now look forward to relief, thanks to a new organization of servicing dealers. Called the Chicagoland Lawn Equipment Servicing Dealers association, this group is dedicated to providing the finest service for lawn and garden equipment.

According to Charles B. Gray of Charles B. Gray Sales and service, Robert Haberkamp of Haberkamp and Wille Sales and service, and R. A. Kirsting, Kirstings Garden center, charter members of the organization in Mt. Prospect, the home owner will thereby be assured of fairly priced, reliable service for his equipment. Approximately 28 leading dealers in the Chicagoland area will subscribe to this new program of "certified service."

TO PUBLICIZE this program to the owners of lawn equipment, the association has retained the services of Wesley Aves & associates as advertising and public relations counsel. A distinctive emblem will be displayed by the members at their service centers.

As stated in the organization's charter, the members who display this emblem are carefully selected for their ability to provide the highest ethical standards in customer relations, factory trained personnel, genuine factory parts, and modern equipment for the servicing of all makes and types of lawn equipment.

To New RR Audit Post

Home Ownership Is Much Easier Today

Have you ever stopped to realize how much easier it is to own a home today than it was a couple of generations ago?

Let's say that in the "good old days" you were buying a house on which you borrowed $5,000 for a five-year period. This meant that you were required to meet the interest payments on the full principal for the term of the loan. If, at the end of the five years, you hadn't set aside the full $5,000 to pay the principal, you'd have to negotiate once more for another loan—with new service or extension charges and a fresh evaluation of your ability to handle the loan, based on general conditions at the moment.

Nowadays, if you must have a loan on your home (and who doesn't!), there are 9 key reasons why you'll be grateful if your loan is with Arlington Heights Federal.

Some of these advantages are available elsewhere, of course; but the distinctive thing about an Arlington Heights Federal loan is that it incorporates all the features a home-owner should seek. Here they are:

1. AMORTIZED LOANS. The amortized mortgage provides for regular monthly payments of both principal and interest on the debt, so that over the period of the loan you will have repaid all of the money borrowed, have no lump sum payment at the termination, and own your own home free and clear.

2. INTEREST ON unpaid balance only. One of your main advantages of this amortization of principal is that the interest reduces monthly. You pay only on the amount of the unpaid balance of principal from month to month. Since the amount of the payment going for interest decreases every month, the remainder which goes to reduce the principal increases correspondingly.

3. LUMP-SUM pre-payments. If a bonus or other windfall provides you with extra cash, you can apply it against your loan without penalty (up to 20% of the original loan in any one month). In the event such a substantial pre-payment is made, you may request a reduction in the required monthly payments or you may continue your payment schedule and thus shorten the term of the loan.

4. FLEXIBLE pre-payments. Any amount may be applied in pre-payment at Arlington Heights Federal—not just multiples of your regular monthly payment (as many institutions require). And $5 or $100 above your monthly payment means that the full $5 or $100 is credited against the principal.

Moreover, for each month that you get ahead of your monthly payment schedule, you may skip a month if necessary. If, for example, your loan payments are $60 a month and you pay $65 monthly for a year, you are thus one payment ahead and may miss the next month, without delinquency or penalty.

5. GRACE PERIOD. After your loan has been in force at Arlington Heights Federal for three years, you may defer up to 6 monthly payments without penalty and without being in default if unemployment, illness, accident or other reasons prevent you from meeting your obligations.

6. DECLINING interest rate. If you are seeking a maximum loan in relation to the value of the house, you may select a declining interest-rate loan for which you will be charged a higher rate of interest during the time when there is maximum risk on the loan and a lower rate when the outstanding principal—and the risk—have diminished.

7. OPEN-END mortgage. Your Arlington Heights Federal open-end mortgage provides that future borrowings after the original loan may be secured by the original mortgage. This makes possible future modernization or needed improvements without the expenses involved in making a new loan.

8. PROVISION FOR taxes, insurance. Included in the monthly payments on the loan are funds set aside for taxes and insurance, thus relieving you of the problem of scraping together the amounts needed to pay for them.

9. MORTGAGE-protection insurance. A low-cost life or health and accident insurance is available if desired at Arlington Heights Federal to provide a debt-free home for widow and children in the event of death.

Here, then are 9 key features that combine with friendly and efficient service, reasonable terms, and sympathetic counsel to prompt so many Northwest suburban families to turn to Arlington Heights Federal when in need of a home loan.

Stamp Club Meets

The Northwest Suburban Stamp club will meet December 8 at 7:30 p.m. at the Rand Park fieldhouse in Des Plaines. Through the courtesy of the Netherlands information bureau a film will be shown "It's Just a Postage Stamp." Guests are welcome.

Shopping Center Under Construction

Officials from leading Chicago retail firms participated in groundbreaking ceremonies at 11 a.m. Tuesday, November 25, for the 75-acre Golf Mill shopping center located at Golf and Milwaukee avenues in Maine township.

The center, scheduled for completion in May, 1960, will serve Chicago's rapidly growing northwest suburbs including Morton Grove, Niles, Skokie, Glenview, Park Ridge, Des Plaines, Northbrook, Mt. Prospect, Arlington Heights and Palatine.

THE CENTER will have parking space for more than 5200 cars and will contain approximately 75 sales and service establishments covering 650,000 square feet.

The largest store will be a Sears Roebuck and co. unit. The company will erect one of its largest and most complete postwar units.

F. B. McConnell, board chairman of Sears, said that construction of the department store is expected to begin next spring, with the opening scheduled for 1960.

Sears now operates nine large stores and 13 hard lines stores in its Chicago group which extends north to Highland Park, south to Gary and west to Glen Ellyn.

Among the retailers which have signed leases for stores at Golf Mill are: Hillman's Pure Food, Walgreen's, Woolworth, Kinny Shoe co., National Tea co., Maling Bros. shoes.

In addition, various independent tenants have signed leases for smaller areas.

Golf Mill is being developed by Milwaukee Golf Development corporation. Officers of the corporation are John F. Cuneo, Jr., president, J. Channon Bowes, vice president and Mr. Cuneo, Sr., treasurer.

THE CENTER WILL provide complete shopping facilities including national chain, variety and drug stores, department stores and specialty shops for residents of the northwest suburbs.

Cuneo said that a portion of the center's 75 acres are being set aside for construction of recreational facilities. They will include a 28-lane bowling alley, a 100-by-60 foot ice skating rink, snack bar and restaurant.

The center will also have a radio station, he said.

How Uncle Sam Protects Savings

The Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, established by Congress in 1934, plays a leading role in assuring the safety of your savings in savings and loan associations.

According to the United States Savings and Loan League, the F.S.L.I.C. not only makes possible the insurance of individual savings accounts in an amount up to $10,000, but it also performs other functions equally important in keeping your savings safe. While the insurance of accounts up to $10,000 is particularly important in cases of emergency, the Corporation's performance of a "watchdog" function may be even more important.

AMONG OTHER things, the F.S.L.I.C. requires each insured institution to follow safe and sound management and financial policies including the observance of proper safeguards to protect your savings and the making of low-cost quality home loans that will stand up over the years. In addition, the Corporation sets regulations for member institutions, many of which conform with laws passed by Congress.

Under the corporation's regulations, for instance, the books of insured associations are examined regularly by qualified civil service examiners. Association directors receive copies of examiners' reports to review, and must make prompt adjustments or corrections in their methods of operation if the need is so indicated. These examinations often aid the institution in improving its practices or strengthening its financial position or management.

The F.S.L.I.C. also sets regulations pertaining to the reserves of the institutions it insures. Reserves are required to meet any losses which may develop in the everyday course of business. Presently, F.S.L.I.C.-insured associations are required to build up a 5 per cent reserve within 20 years from the date of corporation membership.

OTHER FUNCTIONS of the F.S.L.I.C are fixing requirements for Corporation membership, setting minimum requirements for employee fidelity bonds, and establishing the areas in which member institutions may make home mortgages.

In its day-to-day operations, the Corporation works closely with the division of supervision of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, and various of the state supervisory authorities.

The Corporation's assets currently exceed $280 million. The original capital contributed by the federal government, has been repaid in the amount of roughly 50 per cent. The F.S.L.I.C. has the authority to borrow up to $750 million from the federal treasury, if additional funds become necessary. (SS

'Conventional' Home Loan To Become More Important

The "conventional" home loan is likely to become relatively more important in American home finance, and FHA and VA loans relatively less important, executives of the United States Savings and Loan League believe.

The recent stabilizing of mortgage interest rates suggests that the "peak interest" in FHA and VA loans on the part of institutional investors was probably reached in July and August.

"The percentage of mortgages financed by FHA and VA increased in every month from March through July, but in August, the percentage was the same as July—which suggests a levelling off now, leading to a tapering-off by the end of this year," Norman Strunk, executive vice president of the League, said.

HE DECLARED that despite the pick-up in FHA and VA loans last spring and summer, the showing of the "old workhorse" of American home finance—the conventional loan—deserves equal billing.

"In 1957, conventional loans accounted for 696,000 or 70 per cent of the 992,000 private housing starts," he said. "This year, even with the pickup in government insured and guaranteed mortgages, conventional loans should finance about 65 per cent or nearly 750,000 of the 1,150,000 units which the League anticipates will be started in 1958."

Ann Strunk indicated his belief that as economic activity improves, the importance of the "conventional" loan will grow.

"Whenever business conditions are generally bad and interest rates are softening, the government mortgage programs become more effective, and conversely, when business conditions appear favorable and the nation is prosperous and interest rates are strengthening, then these programs become progressively less effective," he added.

STRUNK SAID he had "no argument" with the FHA and VA programs being used in this way by the "managers of the economy in Washington," and added: "However, the use of the FHA and VA programs as vehicles to counteract prevailing business trends must make real estate and home building people who are dependent upon these programs sometimes feel that their position is precarious."

Strunk expressed the view that unless the nation returns to a general interest rate structure comparable to that of the late 1940s, the FHA and VA programs are limited to only "intermittent contributions of great consequence" to the flow of credit for residential real estate and home building.

"Frankly, I do not anticipate an early return to a low interest rate schedule," said Strunk. "On the contrary, I believe it is more likely that interest rates substantially above a year ago will become a more or less permanent part of American life, subject to easing only during a recession."

UNDER THESE circumstances, according to Strunk, FHA and VA are likely to become relatively less important in the mortgage field and the conventional loan relatively more important.

He said that this prospect could be altered if Congress put flexible interest rates on VA loans. "But I guess all of us would agree this is a pretty remote possibility," he said. (SS

New FM Station Is On the Air

Chicago area's latest entry in the broadcasting field is on the air! WFMQ, operating on an assigned frequency of 107.5 megacycles on the FM dial, is now in daily operation from 4 p.m. to midnight.

Some of the programming highlights of the new station include nightly editorials, gathered from leading national newspapers and magazines and discussed by popular Chicago columnist Jack Mabley. "Sound for the Sightless," a public service program beamed to the blind, will feature dramas, readings and poems delivered by leading theatre, screen and TV personalities and will include recordings of books and plays not currently available through associations for the blind.

Sure to be a popular feature is the full length operas to be broadcast each Saturday evening from 9 p.m., until the conclusion of the performance with commentary by Peter Jacobi, editor of Lyric Opera News.

Lester Vihon, owner and operator of WFMQ, is a resident of Mt. Prospect, Ill., and was the founder of the TV listing magazine, TV Forecast in May, 1948. In 1952 he sold the publication to Triangle Publications. He then became publisher of the national fan magazine "Recordland." More recently he has operated his own advertising agency.

Other members of the WFMQ staff include, Charles Kunzler, working engineer; Russell B. Butler, announcer; and Wayne Smith, chief engineer and announcer. Engineering counseling was performed by William Kusack, chief engineer of Chicago TV station WBKB.

Butler, a graduate of Northwestern university, was formerly with the National Broadcasting company in Chicago, Chicago educational station WTTW, and various other radio outlets around the country.

Smith, comes to WFMQ, from a position of program director and announcer at KFOR in Lincoln, Neb.

The new station promises a full schedule of music, news and variety programs. Using as its bywords, "entertainment and service," WFMQ will present "soft sell" commercials and will lean heavily on musical program fare. Pop, standard, and semi-classical music will be featured along with the familiar classical music so closely identified with FM broadcasting.

The WFMQ studios are located in the Bell Savings Building, 79 W. Monroe st., Chicago, with transmitters located atop the 1 North LaSalle building. (B8

How $500 Saved This Marriage!

"Why save?" is a question that reflects the inflationary trends everyone is concerned about these days. Nobody wants inflation. But few average persons realize what they can do to help stop it.

A young man some time ago drew $95 from one of two accounts he and his wife hold in the Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association.

The curious thing about the account from which he had drawn is that in four years it had stayed right at $500, except for periodic withdrawals. After each withdrawal it gradually returned, through dividends and deposits, to the $500 level.

"Let me tell you about that account," this young fellow said. "It's been our lifesaver. Not just financially. It's saved our marriage."

HE EXPLAINED that he and his wife were wed soon after the last war, upon his return from service. After several years, they were so deep in installment paying and so pinched for cash that the mere mention of money started a fight.

"I'd have the paycheck all cut up to pay this and that installment account and squeeze us through 'til I got the next check. Then she'd tell me that Johnny needed new shoes or jeans—and I'd blow my top. Just a few bucks were enough to keep me on the ropes."

It wasn't until they realized their marriage was in danger that they sat down one night and intelligently analyzed the situation.

"I don't do too badly as a wage earner—as well or better than the next guy, I guess. But that's not the problem. Everybody's doing fairly well these days.

"The trouble," he explained, "is that most of us are acting like babies. We cry for everything we see somebody else has. And we gotta have it right now. Can't wait. So we go in hock some more."

THEIR SOLUTION was not to buy another thing that they could possibly do without — until they had accumulated a savings account of $500. Then they would us this money for whatever they wanted—a new vacuum cleaner, a new television set— provided they brought the account back to $500 before they made the next purchase.

"You'd be amazed at what it's done for us," the young man said. "Oh, we hassle occasionally now about whether to get this thing rather than that. But there's none of the desperate sheriff-at-the-door situation that drives a man crazy. Now that we've cured ourselves of the hypnotic spell of 'nothing-down-nothing-to-pay-for-60-days,' we're not so stupid and childish about craving for everything we see.

"Once you get the cozy feeling of a savings account, it makes you more relaxed. You're not so ready to throw money around or put yourself in shackles for months and years ahead. You get more sensible about your dough. You get the saving instead of the spending habit. It's a wonderful feeling. It's the reason for our second account. We hope there won't be any limit on that one! That's our 'savings' account.

"Another thing that started us on this $500 idea was the realization that our old way of buying things was actually costing us 15 per cent to 20 per cent more — for carrying charges alone! This is aside from the extra dividend our money's earning for us when it's in a place like Arlington Heights Federal Savings." (SS

Green grass in Arctic

Flying over the barren lands near Bathurst Inlet at Coronation Gulf, well inside the Arctic Circle, two Toronto geologists recently discovered a lush green valley.

Dr. W. R. Newman and W. W. Moffat looked out of their plane window to see the treeless tundra, covered with glacial drift, turn suddenly to a bright green valley.

The plane made several passes over the valley, estimated at 10 miles long, two miles wide and about 500 feet deep.

It appeared to be a fault-block that has dropped away from the main level of the tundra plane. Sheltered from Arctic winds, the green grass grows there unimpeded.

Receives 45-Yr. Service Emblem

Joseph A. Wisersky, 229 S. Walnut st., Arlington Heights recently received a diamond service emblem in honor of his 45 years with Illinois Bell Telephone Co.

Wisersky, a switchboard installer, is a World war I veteran of both the army and navy and is a member of American Legion Bell post.

He and his wife, Mary, have a son, Thomas, and a daughter, Mrs. Leona Plant.

His hobbies are fishing, gardening and traveling.

Set Dec. 7 CD Day

December 7 will have a dual significance this year.

It will be declared "National Civil Denfense Day" by the President of the United States and through special proclamation named "Illinois Civil Defense Day" by Gov. William G. Stratton. It also will be the 17th anniversary of Pearl Harbor day.

Maj. Gen. Robert M. Woodward, state CD director, urged all Illinois communities to join in this observance which he termed: "A day to check our readiness to meet emergencies and to acknowledge the selfless devotion of government and CD workers in keeping our state more disaster-proof."

With the slogan "Peace Through Preparedness," the observance will emphasize the importance of everyone learning survival actions and incorporating CD preparedness in their daily lives.

Government, civil defense and civic organizations will join in staging exhibits, demonstrations, radio/TV broadcasts, parades, and rallies. (B8

CONSTRUCTION WORK ON LUTHERAN General hospital and school of nursing in Des Plaines is ahead of schedule. The $6,250,000 hospital is being erected on a 34-acre site. Completion next summer of Lutheran General and Northwest Community hospital in Arlington Heights will provide area suburbs with a total of 436 general hospital beds—although the federal government has said northwest suburbs need more than 1,000 hospital beds at the present time.

Voluntary Support Need for Hospital

by PAUL JOHNSON

When you reach for your checkbook to help build or maintain a voluntary hospital in your community, you are making available to yourself, family and friends a great reservoir of knowledge and skill in the art and science of healing. Tremendous progress in medicine has been made in the past 10 years. Given the help of a modern, fully equipped hospital, your family doctor can put the new knowledge to work to save your life or the life of someone close to you.

More than a million and a quarter Americans are alive today because of the discoveries in medicine made during the last 10 years. The average life expectancy has been increased about five years by these same discoveries.

DOCTORS generally agree that antibiotics have been the most effective of the new lifesavers. They have reduced deaths as much as 75 per cent in such common illnesses as influenza and pneumonia, appendicitis, acute rheumatic fever and kidney diseases.

The Salk polio vaccine, which came as the result of 25 years of intensive research, has gone a long way to rid mankind of one of its worst enemies.

Surgery has advanced to the point where literally no part of the human body is beyond the reach of the surgeon's healing knife. Open heart operations, together with the use of synthetic tubes to replace damaged arteries, have given hope to thousands who have serious heart defects.

THESE NEW operations would have been impossible without spectacular advances in anesthesiology. There are now literally dozens of diferent ways to make the patient comfortable and comparatively safe during surgery. More and more hospitals place their anesthetic responsibilities in the hands of a physician specialist who confers with the surgeon in advance to decide on the best method.

Since so many of the new methods call for expensive equipment and the most careful institutional care, hospitals have had to keep pace with the new demands of medicine. The last 10 years have brought a 10 per cent increase in hospital beds in this country, while the number of patients has increased by around 30 per cent.

According to the latest figures, 123 million Americans have some sort of hospital expense insurance and 111 million have some doctor bill insurance. The records do not bear out accusations that such insurance is being abused by patients being kept in hospitals longer than necessary. As a matter of fact, hospital stay has been drastically reduced for almost every type of ailment. There simply hasn't been room in hospitals for people who do not need to be there.

The world's current production of wheat totals more than 7,620,000,000 bushels.

Tell Ticket Refund Plan

The basis for refunds on the new monthly and semi-monthly "unimited ride" tickets for Chicago and North Western railway's commuters was announced by the railway last week. The flash-type tickets, requiring no punching, were put in use Monday.

Refunds will be based on the number of working days, excluding Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, in the period up to and including the postmark date on envelopes in which tickets are returned to the railway by mail. The number of such working days will be multiplied by the applicable round trip fares.

The full difference between this amount and the original purchase price of the monthly or semi-monthly ticket will be refunded by mail.

Refunds on unused portions of such tickets can be obtained by sending the tickets by mail to Auditor Passenger and Station Accounts, Chicago and North Western railway, 4809 N. Ravenswood ave., Chicago 40. Refunds must be applied for by mail, the railway explained, the postmark determining the final date of actual use.

The tickets cannot be accepted for refund at the railway's ticket offices. (B8

Way Back When

Gangland Fails in Attempt To Burn Arlington Park

30 YEARS AGO—An apparent attempt to burn the Arlington Park race track plant was made at 3 a.m. Wednesday when a big black limousine with both doors open and occupied by four gunmen made a futile attack on Arlington Park property. The watchman was met with a hail of bullets when he ordered the car to move and other watchmen were just in time to prevent the occupants from tearing down a section of fence in order to gain entrance to the property. The attack was made on the day that it was announced that John Hertz was about to take over Arlington Park. It probably was just one more step in the gangland warfare being waged against Hertz interests and which has caused the bombing of Yellow Cab garages and the burning of some of the Hertz stables at Cary where Reigh Count, winner of the Kentucky derby was led to safety.

November 27, 1908

Thanksgiving and no frost in the ground yet, but the extreme drought is broken.

Our petition is answered — the long desired rain came in small installments Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, yet we need much more to carry us through the winter.

If a boy wants to be spider-legged and weak-kneed; if he wants to be short-winded and sunken-chested; if he wants to be thin-jawed and dead on his feet; if he wants to develop into a scrub that no business man cares to employ, let him be a cigarette fiend.

Miss Caroline Popp, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Popp, was united in marriage to Mr. William Becker, the popular mail carrier, on RFD No. 1, Arlington Heights Nov. 17. Mr. Becker is building a new modern house for his parents and sister, and as soon as it is finished the newly married people will occupy the pleasant old homestead where their friends wish them loads of happiness and prosperity.

Palatine—Another one of Palatine's young men has wedded. The home, which was the scene of such a pretty wedding a short year ago, was again brightened with pretty decorations and housed a goodly number of wedding guests Nov. 26. The contracting parties were Mr. Dan Bergmann and Miss Mathilda Schaefer. Seldom if ever was there a Palatine bride more beautifully dressed. Robed in gown of embroidered chiffon on satin brought from Paris for this occasion, it was as if the work of some great artist has stepped out of a frame and was given life. An addition was built last summer to the Bergmann residence and the bridal couple will start life together in the upper flat. Dan will assist his father in caring for some of the responsibilities of a large farm.

William Stephens had the sad misfortune to contract what is known as malignant scarlet fever which when attacking a susceptible adult is very frequent rapidly fatal. He was born in 1884; 12 years ago he came to this vicinity with his parents who settled near Long Grove. He entered the employ of Mr. Bockelman, at the Quentin Corners Creamery. Ever since the Bowman Dairy opened their plant here two years ago, he has been one of their trusted employees.

A grand dance will be given at Haemker's Highland Grove, Thanksgiving night.

John Kreft has the highest windmill tower in the surrounding countryside, namely 70 feet, which was easily raised by Chas. Wente.

A little son arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Schweitzer Nov. 25th.

Thanksgiving Day and no football game in Palatine. What does it mean?

Herman Haemker and Miss Laura Othmer were married in Chicago, Nov. 25th. The celebration was held at Fred Haemker's, Highland Grove in the evening. The couple will live in one of the Dohile residences on Benton st.

Hanover — Henry Volmer, an old resident of Hanover died Friday in Elgin. He was an old soldier and pensioner of the war of 1862.

Fred Volkening has bought the 40 acres of Mrs. Christopher Tatdge and intends to build and make his later home there after some years.

Aug. Heine recently sold his farm of 60 acres in the woods to John Dorman for $4750.

Bartlett — Huntley Dairy Co. has engaged Walterman and Hothan to build and decorate the offices and tower at their factory. When finished, the buildings will be an ornament to the village and the finest along the line.

Deikeville — E. H. Deike is driving the best match team in Elk Grove. He surely feels proud. If he were only a single man!

Some people are getting so hightoned they haul milk in a 2-wheeled auto-go-better.

Harvey Cossman is taking a business course at Naperville college.

Arlington Heights — The Telephone operators at Arl. Hts. exchange are Misses Selma Windheim, Elizabeth Hostman, Alma Busse, Christine Kolling and Agnes Hiecokok.

Concordia Band, Prof. W. N. Sears, directing, will give a concert and four one act comedies in Arlington hall Thanksgiving evening and Saturday. Reserved seats 35 cents.

December 4, 1908

Winter arrived promptly on time, Dec. 1. The temperature dropped 40 degrees from 50 above Monday morning, to 10 degrees above zero, Tuesday. This is seasonable, healthy, business weather, stop the cracks, plug up the holes and pile on more fuel.

Franzel was laid up with toothache last week, but is all okay now so he can enjoy the fine sport stunning fish; ice clear as crystal.

Palatine —

Wm. Davermann, having sold his livery at suction, has moved to Barrington.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Garms, a daughter, Dec. 1st.

Many from here are attending the Fat Stock Show, but we doubt if any two know more about the show than Messrs. Albert Dahms and Herman Holste. They are not saying much, but from the time they left here to the time they got back home was long enough to see two shows. Some of their friends were afraid that they had bought the show out and were bringing it home with them.

Several representative farmers are advocating the organization of a branch of the Cook Co. Garden Truck and Farmers Association at Palatine. The farmers here have no organization to protect their interest and in the present period competition and action of the city of Chicago in regard to the milk, the farmers should organize to protect themselves.

Hanover —

H. W. Heine Jr. and wife visited Henry Flentge Sunday to hear the sweet music his new standard talking machine was playing.

Bartlett — The world will soon have the secrets of perpetual motion solved by two Bartlett young men. We wish them all kinds of success.

Bartlett Grove Camp, No. 1864 MWA will have over 100 members if the three applications at their last meeting pass muster. MWA is emblematical and stands for protection and friendship in time of trouble; as the Modern Woodmen of America with over one million members is the strongest fraternal organization in the world.

DuPage County—

Itasca — A new chute has been placed in the dam and the lake will be raised for a skating rink and later an ice pond.

Born to Wm. Wischstadt and wife a second daughter, Dec. 1. Grandpa Goeddeke is also happy, and she can ride in his new auto or have anything she wants.

Bensenville — It is safe now to burn all straw hats that are beyond cleaning.

Friedens Church property has been improved by a new barn.

Just a tip from Wheaton; cut out playing the friendly game of pitch with the usual nickel set up and 10 cents a game while passing through Du Page Co. on our suburban trains, or don't be surprised if a sheriff should get on the train and "pull you in."

Arlington Heights —

Mr. Henry L. Meyer Sr., a highly respected retired farmer who with his estimable wife enjoy themselves in their confortable village home surrounded by many relatives and friends, came in Dec. 2 and renewed his subscription for the Cook County Herald. This is the tenth year he has been one of the esteemed names on our Gilt-Edged List. His fur brothers, John Meyer, Will Meyer, Fred Meyer and George Meyer and fine sons, Henry, William, Fred, George and John Meyer, all successful farmers of whom any parents may well feel proud, also take the Herald and pay for it promptly — ten in all. The only larger family on our list that we know of is the Schoenbecks of whom we have 7 brothers and four sisters on our Gilt-Edged list.

The program for the Fourth Anniversary of the present pastorate of Arlington Heights Presbyterian Church was well filled, Gospel Measure being given by each speaker. Miss Harriet Beaumont showed that the Sunday School has made a constant gain in attendance, the 1908 average being a little over 112. She also reported for Mr. Davis that the financial condition was better than ever before, that the envelope system was working very satisfactorily and that the church had paid the pastor's salary up-to-date. Emil Sieburg spoke on behalf of the C. E. Society. When the 60 or 70 men engaged in laying gas mains were in Arlington Heights' Gospel meetings were held by the C. E. at their headquarters every Sunday evening for about two months.

Psychologist to Speak on 'Human Side of Science'

Dr. Arthur E. Hoover, consulting psychologist, will be the speaker next Sunday morning, 10:45, at the Countryside Universalist Fellowship. His topic will be, "The Human Side of Science," which will emphasize the idea that the genius of yesterday becomes the text-book of today. Following his address there will be a discussion period, affording the people in the congregation an opportunity to raise questions and to make their own contribution of ideas. The coffee hour will climax the morning.

The area center for liberal religion, Countryside Universalist Fellowship meets in the Parkside public school, Maple and Howard sts., Roselle. Albert F. Harkins, the Fellowship's minister, will be speaking at the Park Forest Unitarian Fellowship. Church school sessions for children will be held at the same 10:45 hour.

Well known and very active in liberal religious circles, Dr. Hoover is a newcomer to Hoffman Estates where he resides with his wife and three children. He received his Ph.D. degree from the Illinois Institute of Technology and taught in the University of Akron, Ohio. He now teaches courses in management with special emphasis on personnel and organization planning at Roosevelt university. Children's Play Attended by 686

A bubbling cauldron, a magic key and a spinning wheel that produced gold thread captured the attention of all who viewed Village Theatre's colorful portrayal of the delightful fairy tale "Rumplestiltskin" Sunday, Nov. 23.

An attendance of approximately 1,850 children and adults was reported for all three performances with the selling of 686 tickets credited to the Camp Fire Girls who sponsored the last performance of the play.

Congresswoman Represents U. S. At Inauguration

Representative Marguerite Stitt Church (R), Illinois, was notified last Friday by Speaker Rayburn of Texas that she had been appointed, with Representative J. L. Pilcher, Democrat of Georgia, to represent the House of Representatives at the Inauguration of the new President of Mexico, Adolfo Lopez Mateos, in Mexico City November 28 through December 4.

Mrs. Church will fly to Mexico City with the official delegation, headed by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, late Thanksgiving day and will fly back to Washington before returning to Evanston.

A Pusher Isn't A Good Leader

by LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

Pushers are people whom I seek studiously to avoid at all cost. They are annoying, make me most unhappy, and can be downright obnoxious.

Of course, there are legitimate pushers like executives of a company who have a quota to meet, and are in their turn being pushed by other pushers. For them I have more tolerance, since they are often not, in their own right, pushers. Many of these executives caught in the squeeze of employee resentment and the caustic, or polite, or belligerent bullying of their superiors, develop high blood pressure, heart trouble, ulcers, and by the time they are middle aged are burned out shells of men.

PUSHERS NEVER get as far in the world as leaders. I know successful executives who never have to push at all. Neither do they develop high blood pressure, and other neurotic physical impediments that bring their contemporaries with grey hair and sorrow or bitterness to an early grave. They are the tactful ones who can make people who are working under them feel that they are not just employees, but part of a team with a goal to make; that they are important, and needed. The ability to do this can not be learned from books. It is acquired, sometimes in the home, from parents who make working together with their children a pleasure for the whole family; or, it is an inborn trait, a humanitarian impulse, a "feeling" for other people that is akin to love. At the same time, they are not wishey-washey men, easily pushed around. Somehow, by their actions, their reserve, or some intangible personality traits not readily understood, they can win the respect and obedience of their employees. Perhaps it is a sort of fatherliness which the employee recognizes, and accepts, because with it is expressed love and understanding.

Such people are rare indeed. They are always masters of themselves. They are patient, kind, considerate, understanding; but they are also firm, sometimes stern, generally have a sense of humor, and always a deep compassion for their fellowmen. It is a shame that there are not more leaders like them. (B8

NEEDLE in the GROOVE

by PAUL LITTLE

This week we're beating the drum to summon jazz fans to enjoy some fine new 12-inch platters from Dick Bock's famed World Pacific studios. Dick brought us the disc debuts of jazz greats like Bob Brookmeyer, Bud Shank and Chet Baker, and he's just issued three lps you're going to be spinning a lot.

First there's "Pretty-Groovy" (WP-1249), featuring the Chet Baker Quartet and Quintet with pianist Russ Freeman, and those two jazz topnotchers Jimmy Guiffre and Bill Perkins. The platter's title refers to the two styles of the Baker combo, each of which is demonstrated on a side of the disc. You'll enjoy Freeman's own snappy "Band Aid" and "Batter Up," bassist Carson Smith's hardhitting "Carson City Stage," and the smooth treatments of "But Not for Me," "Time After Time," "The Lamp Is Low" and "Winter Wonderland." Fine sound, as on all WP discings.

"Let's Face the Music and Dance" (WP-1250) stars a very expert young vocalist David Allen with the Bill Holman orchestra. You've heard him on TV, and he's a first-rater when it comes to direct appeal, candor in putting over a song and choice of good material. Numbers are "Hooray for Love," "You Send Me," "Can't Help It," "Sittin' on Top of the World," "I've Got the Sun in the Morning," and the title tune. Holman's accompaniments are brilliantly styled.

Third WP platter we recommend is "I'll Take Romance" (WP-1251), with Bud Shank on flute and alto sax with the Len Mercer Strings, made in Milan last April during Bud's Italian tour. The rhythm combo comprises bassist Don Press and drummer Jimmy Pratt. Tunes are "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," "How Deep Is the Ocean," "These Foolish Things," "Deep Purple" and "Out of This World." Beautiful solo work by Shank, with a lush string setting to make it good background listening.

From Norm Granz' Verve label, a two-disc album, "Ella Fitzgerald Sings the Irving Berlin Song Book," with the Paul Weston Orchestra, that we acclaim with loud and long cheers. This is magnificent singing of some of the songs America cherishes, from the little-known but marvellously poignant "Sunday Evening Supper," to the jauntily buoyant "I've Got My Love to Keep Me Warm." An album that we personally rate as one of the best of the decade; listen and you'll agree.

From Victor, two magnificent stereo tape albums; first, the Tschaikowsky Piano Concerto with the phenomenal 23-year-old Van Cliburn as soloist; and the Stravinsky "Firebird" Suite with the Paris Conservatoire orchestra under Pierre Monteux. Musically, each album is a treasure; in stereo, the tiniest shading of sound is delineated with a breathtaking clarity.

Donald E. Jones Takes Libertyville Bride

Orange sherbet was the color chosen for the attire of the bridal attendants in the November 8 wedding of Audrey Brown and Donald E. Jones, which took place in St. Joseph church of Libertyville. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown of Libertyville, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Myrle H. Jones, 1440 W. Lincoln, Mt. Prospect.

All of the bridal attendants were gowned in orange sherbet satin dresses fashioned with a harem skirt, and all wore matching shoes. They carried baskets of autumn mums, wheat and cattails.

Maid of honor was Roberta Bernard of Libertyville, bridesmaids were Bonnie Brown of Libertyville and June Morgan of Lake Forest and junior bridesmaid was the bride's sister, Kathy Brown.

Father Frank Calkins united the couple at 12 noon in a double ring ceremony performed in a setting of white gladioli and mums.

GIVEN IN marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown which combined white lace and peau de soie. The bodice and sleeves were of lace and the full floor length skirt was peau de soie with a matching cap holding the bridal veil in place. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations, stephanotis and peach roses.

Richard Durland of Chicago was best man, and ushering guests to their seats were Antonio Moretti of Highwood, John Weidler of Niles and James Henry of Des Plaines. Both Mr. Moretti and Mr. Durland are formerly of Mt. Prospect.

A WEDDING reception was given in the Libertyville VFW hall for 400 guests. The bride's mother greeted in a royal blue silk sheath with matching hat and shoes. Mrs. Jones chose a pink lace sheath, and both mothers had white orchid corsages.

After a short honeymoon in Chicago the couple is now residing in Libertyville. The bridegroom is a graduate of Arlington high school and Missouri Valley college and is newly employed at the American Tobacco Co. The bride attended Northern Illinois university and is employed at the North Shore Gas Co. in Libertyville.

Margaret Schorr Is Bride of Robert Lea

Miss Margaret Schorr and Robert Lea were joined in marriage at a double ring ceremony in the First Methodist church, Arlington Heights, October 11. Dr. Hughes Morris and Rev. Hayes Fletcher officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schorr, Devon ave., Elk Grove Village, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lea of Villa Park.

The bride was given in marriage by her father in a setting of white chrysanthemums and gladiolis. Howard McEhlose, Arlington Heights, sang "I Love Thee" by Grieg and the wedding blessing.

THE WEDDING gown was floor length and the skirt was designed in alternating panels of lace and chiffon. The bride's fingertip veil was decorated with sequins and pearls and she carried a bouquet of white carnations with a white orchid in the center.

Mrs. Ralph Sykes Jr., Bensenville, was matron of honor and bridesmaids were Shirley Simmons, Chicago, and Dea Ashcraft, Arlington Heights. Susan Lea was flower girl. Edwin Lea was best man. The ushers were Ralph Sykes, and Art and James Lea, brothers of the groom, and Alfred Shield, Glen Ellyn.

Guests came from Prophetstown, Rockford and Chicago as well as Burlington, Wis., for the ceremony and reception afterwards at the Wood Dale firehouse. The couple honeymooned at the Wagon Wheel in Rockton.

'Pot Cover' Out of Style?

Some time ago a man, a big stupid man, wrote an article on the suburban woman and hats. He was very unkind to us. He said that we had no taste in headgear, that we had no courage in headgear and intimated that we hardly had heads. In fact, he was very snorty about our taste in clothing.

At the time I read the thing, I was mildly angry. However, I consoled myself with the thought that as he designed hats, he naturally was trying to whip up a little business with reverse psychology. Anyway, when we suburbanites get into our good little frocks, we look as snappy as the best of them. I kept saying.

At least, I considered that I could hold my own even with the sort of beanie I go in for. You can't really call my hats creations. But, they do put a covering on the top of my head which is my concession to the big city. So, the other day I went to the big city in my Sunday-go-to-meeting outfit complete with the pot cover I dignify by the name of hat.

For a while I felt just fine. It was early when I got there so the place was full of other suburb dwellers and we all nodded approvingly at each other. It was later on that I began to experience a vague feeling of unease. As I swept into the restaurant feeling on top of the world and sure that I could hold my own with, if not the duchess of Windsor, at least her secretary, it was suddenly borne upon me that I was just a wee bit out of style.

Why didn't someone tell me that this is the year of the monkey fur hat? That pheasant skull caps are the thing? That waistlines are up around the neckline and that hemlines are up around the kneeline? That coats are shaped like cocoons?

Fortunately it was pretty gloomy in the restaurant and was downright dark in the theater so my housedress and mopcap didn't attract too much attention. But, my ego certainly took a terrific beating. I must find that man and apologize for my unkind thoughts and tell him he can write about me anytime he wants.

Holiday Whirl Gets Underway

Dance Groups Herald Gala Season

Dance groups and organizations in the northwest suburbs are heralding the holiday season with colorful and festive dance parties this week. The gala holiday season was opened November 28 with the Thanksgiving ball in Elmhurst country club. This dance, sponsored by St. John Episcopal church in Mt. Prospect, is traditionally held the Friday after Thanksgiving and serves as the unofficial launching of the holiday festivities.

The Thanksgiving ball was followed Saturday night by the Coterie club's dance at Itasca country club with George Fannelli and his orchestra providing the dance music. This dance group has 100 couples and membership in the group includes lessons as well as four dances each year. Members come from all the suburbs, from Mt. Prospect and Wheeling to Palatine.

This Saturday, Dec. 6, has been chosen by at least six local groups for their holiday parties. George Allen's orchestra will provide dance music for the 100 member couples of the Continental club when they gather at the VFW hall in Arlington Heights for their Christmas dance. This group also receives instruction in the latest dance steps and enjoys four yearly dances. As in the Coterie club, Muriel Mills and Peter Lund, professional dancer, are the instructors.

DINNER DANCES are being held Saturday in local country clubs by the Quadrille dance group, Arlington Heights Cotillion club, Northwest Meadows association, the Saturka club and Palatine Lions club. Cotillion club members will dine and dance at Rolling Green country club with Del Rene and his orchestra providing the music.

Old Orchard country club will be the scene of the fourth annual Christmas dinner dance for the Northwest Meadows group, who will dance to the music of Tony Apolo, while the Saturka dance group will dine and dance to the music of Paul Meeker at Brookfield country club. Saturka, according to the club's members, is Indian for "night dancers." Palatine Lions club members and their guests will dine and dance December 6 at Glendale country club.

The following Saturday, Dec. 13, is the date chosen by the Guys and Dolls dance group, the One Hundred club and the Palatine Cotillion club. The Stardusters will play for the Guys and Dolls who are holding their dinner dance at Itasca country club. Members of this club are mostly from Prospect Heights. Glendale country club will be the scene of Arlington Heights' One Hundred club dance, while the Arlington country club will be host to the Palatine club. The Jacks of Rhythm will play for this group.

Although formal dress for the men is not the rule at most suburban dances, the women will be attired in their most festive dance gowns and all are looking forward to the many pre-dance affairs and the gala dance parties during the holiday whirl.

Just Around The Corner From Patty McArdle

Palm-Bedecked Bazaar

Dear Peg:

Imagine decorating a room for a Christmas bazaar with palm trees! There is no doubt that this year we had the most unusual and effective setting for our church guild's annual sale that we've ever had before. From the theme "Wise Men's Market," the decorating committee used the idea of an ancient market place, perhaps in Bethlehem, where, inside booths draped with swatches of bright material, could be bought anything from cakes to Christmas decorations. Besides the ten foot paper palm trees, huge glitter stars hung from the ceiling adding a touch of enchantment to the scene.

Many of the ideas for the booths are used from year to year such as the bakery booth. Here, as always, on the tables and shelves, you could find the delicious cakes, pies, cookies, coffee cakes and homemade jellies and jams that the best cooks in the parish provide every year.

Something new is added each year to the needlework booth. This time attractive little "Humpty-Dumpty" sleeper-keepers were the thing. Round, little, pillow-like "Humpty-Dumptys" with appliqued faces and a zipper in back had an opening inide for keeping children's nighties. The Christmas place mats and napkins and tablecloths sold very well.

In the middle of the "market place," surrounding a huge, gold, peg-board Christmas tree were the decorations. I've never seen such a large variety of beautiful ornaments, miniature trees, wreaths and centerpieces made of gilded pine cones at any bazaar or store for that matter! Also jeweled felt Christmas stockings and Christmas tree skirts were for sale there.

The apron booth is always a success, but I do think that this year it had the most attractive aprons it has ever had. You could buy pastel organdies with eyelet trim or Christmas aprons decorated with trees, etc. and, of course, the many styles of serviceable aprons too.

The doll booth was the new booth this year. A committee of women made beautiful clothes for a dozen dolls. Some were dressed as brides, some in formals with real fur stoles and some as little girls in full skirts and picture hats. All sold very quickly!

By popular demand we repeated the children's room again this year. Decorated in a carnival theme this room had booths for throwing balls at rubber milk bottles, throwing darts, being made up, throwing balls through a paper clown's mouth, etc. Hot dogs and Cokes were also available here.

For three months the women of the parish worked for this two day affair and through their efforts the Guild took in almost $4,000. Not only did this fact please everyone, but all of us, although very tired by Saturday evening, were very happy to have had a part in the successful event.

My love,
Patty.

Too Strict — Too Lenient; Discipline Check-List

—too little. Too often—too seldom.

And so goes the perpetual debate on child discipline.

Mrs. Margueritte B. Lynch, University of Illinois child development specialist, gives these seven points to help evaluate effective discipline.

Children need to have the chance to live, learn and play in a general atmosphere of approval. Things are usually right; they're not always wrong. When a child makes a mistake, discuss it with him and see that it is corrected. Then end the matter. Nagging and bickering encourage children to give a deaf ear to their parents.

Youngsters should know what is expected of them and how they are measuring up to these expectations. When Johnny is supposed to mow the lawn each week, first explain how he should do it and then comment on the way he has done the job.

If major changes are to be made in the family's pattern of living, the children should know about them well in advance. If father learns this summer that he will be transferred to another job in the fall, discuss it with the entire family so that everyone can start making plans. Numerous discussions and explanations are necessary when children are young.

Both rewards and punishments should be given in a dependable, mature manner. Basically the same principles should apply to all children. No roof can comfortably cover children raised under two different sets of rules. When a child does well, reward him with kind words at least. When he has willfully disobeyed, make the punishment fit the offense. "If home duties are done, we can watch TV and eat popcorn. If they aren't, no TV." Whatever the ruling, carry it out.

Each child should have a voice in helping to solve the family problems he can understand. When trying to decide how to save money for a vacation, let the children express their opinions. It will give them a feeling that they are helping to make decisions that concern the whole family.

As soon as he's ready, a child should have responsibility for home tasks. Preschoolers can learn to pick up their own things. As they become older, give them bigger responsibilities.

When a child makes a mistake, it should be corrected soon. Once the correction is made, do not remind the child of his mistakes, weaknesses or inabilities.

Music boosts output

Music while you work is increasing production in some companies 12 to 15 per cent, management claims.

Piping music to the job has its pitfalls, however.

The melody must be clear and definite, and for industry the rhythm chosen should be faster than the normal workiig speed of the operator, industrial psychologists contend. It is believed the music accelerates speed of the operator.

Experiments have shown that great care must be exercised in choosing the records.

Make Mexican Tamale Pie With Onion Soup Mixes

HERE'S A NORTH-OF-THE-BORDER version of a Mexican Tamale Pie, a favorite with our southern neighbors. Ground beef and a corn meal topping give substance and onion soup mix adds appetizing flavor to this easily prepared one-dish meal.

If you want to eat inexpensively but deliciously, you would do well to borrow a favorite one-dish meal from our neighbors south of the border. This Mexican Tamale pie, in a north of the border version, is indeed filling and nourishing.

Unlike the Mexican cooks of old who ground their own meal, the modern chef takes advantage of all sorts of short cuts. One is a convenient package of onion soup mix which lends a distinctive flavor but eliminates the troublesome chore of peeling and chopping onions. The corn meal topping, of course, is made from the packaged variety.

THIS IS A SIMPLE dish to make. Served with a salad and frosty glasses of iced tea, this makes an original and appealing meal for the family.

MEXICAN TAMALE PIE

1	cup chopped green pepper
1	tablespoon fat
1	pound ground beef
1	package onion soup mix
2	cups canned tomatoes
1½	cups whole kernel corn, drained
½	cup chopped ripe olives
1	cloved garlic, minced
1	tablespoon sugar
½	teaspoon salt
1	teaspoon chili powder Pepper
1	cup grated American cheese
1	recipe Corn-Meal topping

IN HEAVY SKILLET, saute green pepper in hot fat until soft. Add meat; brown. Stir in onion soup mix as it comes from the package, tomatoes, corn, olives, garlic, sugar and seasonings. Simmer slowly 30 minutes, or until slightly thick. Mix in cheese. Pour into a well-buttered 2½ quart casserole.

To Make Corn-Meal Topping: Stir ¾ cup corn meal and ½ teaspoon salt into 2 cups cold water. Cook and stir until thick; add 1 tablespoon butter. Pour over meat mixture. Bake in a moderate oven (375°F.) 40 minutes or until lightly browned. Makes 6 to 8 (Soc

Delicious Chocolate Pie Wins Fast Favor for Flavor

by LOIS SEILER

The word spread so fast regarding the delicious chocolate pie served recently by Mrs. J. W. Boeckh that it soon reached the ears of your food editor.

Asked about the pie, Mrs. Boeckh graciously replied that she only recently acquired the recipe from a friend in International Falls, Minn., but would be happy to share it with us.

It has been such a success each time she has served it that already it has become one of her favorites.

SIMPLE TO prepare, this pie has a graham cracker crust and a smooth, almond-flavored chocolate filling.

The filling simply consists of Almond Hershey Bars and marshmallows melted together in milk, cooled and combined with whipped cream.

The pie is served with blanched slivered almonds sprinkled over the top. It is so rich that the pieces should be cut small.

This milk chocolate pie makes a big hit with men, who usually love chocolate, and is excellent to serve as either a bridge or dinner dessert.

When Mrs. Boeckh served it to her sorority recently, everyone took home the recipe. We're sure you'll want to try this chocolate pie too; perhaps during the coming holidays.

THE BOECKHS live at 604 S. Belmont in Arlington Heights. They have a son, Robert, who lives with his wife and five children in nearby Rolling Meadows.

Mrs. Boeckh is an active member of the First Methodist church and is second vice-president of the WSCS.

Chocolate Pie

Crust

16 graham crackers, crushed
¼ pound butter, melted
½ cup sugar

Combine all ingredients. Press into a 9-inch pie tin.

Filling:

16 marshmallows
4 Almond Hershey Bars
½ cup milk
½ pint whipping cream
Pinch of salt
½ teaspoon vanilla

In a double boiler, melt the marshmallows and Hershey Bars in the milk. When melted, remove from fire and let cool.

Whip the cream with the salt and vanilla. Fold into the cooled chocolate mixture.

Pour into the graham cracker crust. Refrigerate.

Befre serving, sprinkle ¼ cup of blanched, slivered almonds over the top.

To Receive Aid From Alpha Phi's

Alpha Phi's of the Northwest Suburban Alumnae club are meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 4, in the home of Mrs. Wallace Wolf, 100 George st., Mt. Prospect, to make final arrangements for disposition of the group's Christmas gift check to Herrick House in Bartlett. Local Alpha Phi's sponsored a sell out performance of a children's movie at Mt. Prospect theatre November 28 and proceeds will go to Herrick House, a convalescent home for rheumatic fever victims.

At the home, with the aid of a complete hospital staff of doctors and nurses, children recuperate from the crippling disease in an atmosphere with a country setting.

MRS. MELVIN J. Thar, 11 S. Edward, Mt. Prospect, as philanthropy chairman, was in charge of the benefit. Members attending the December 4 meeting will also bring her personal Christmas gifts to be given to the patients at the home.

AAUW Party To Honor New Members

A party to honor new members will be the feature of the December branch meeting of the northwest suburban Illinois branch of the American Association of University Women Thursday, Dec. 11 at 8:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. J. S. Stroud, 1527 Hoffman ave., Park Ridge.

The choral group has prepared special music and all members are invited for an evening of relaxation. Those needing transportation may call Mrs. W. C. Potter TA 3-8011.

what to give Aunt Sue?

Every year the same problem . . . what should you give Aunt Sue? Or for that matter, what should you give Uncle Thaddeus?

You can always settle the Aunt Sue quandary as you have every other Christmas. A flowering plant . . . a book . . . a box of handkerchiefs.

Yet every year you say, "This time let's give her something DIFFERENT!"

Want to give it another try this Christmas? Maybe we can help . . .

If she's young and glamorous, we have a $10.95 mink collar in Silverblue or Natural Ranch mink for only $7.50 plus tax. (We have matching hair clip and earrings, too!) If she's a contract lover, there's the $4.95 Goren Bridge Book which we sell for only $3.60. And any Aunt Sue would be grateful for our $12.95 Massage and Heat Cushion (only $8.40 at Flagg's) . . . or our $16.95 G-E Telechron Musical Alarm Clock (only $11.95 plus tax).

And for Uncle Thaddeus there's the $7.95 Remington Charge-A-Lite flashlight for $5.17 . . . the $9.95 indoor 19th Hole Practice Putter for $5.98 . . . the $14.95 Regency pocket-size transistor radio for $9.97.

Unsulphured Molasses Flavors Cornmeal Desserts

Indian Pudding is a sophisticated dessert these days. There is a pride in serving a classic that has appealed to Americans over the generations.

This pudding's chief ingredients are cornmeal and milk, delicately flavored with unsulphured molasses and spices. Indian Pudding has a smooth, hot, cereal-like consistency, and is inviting of taste served warm with cream or ice cream.

UNSULPHURED molasses which gives the light golden color and taffy flavor to the pudding has been available since colonial days. This molasses is the juice of sugar cane produced principally in the Islands of the Caribbean. The juice, concentrated to a heavier consistency, contains the natural sugar and iron originally in the sugar cane.

INDIAN PUDDING

¼ cup cornmeal
3 cups milk
½ teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon soda
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1 tablespoon sugar
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
½ cup unsulphured molasses

Mix cornmeal and 2 cups of the milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened about 5 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in remaining ingredients. Turn into a greased 1-quart casserole. Bake in a very slow oven, (275°F.) 2 hours. Serve warm with cream or ice cream.

YIELD: 6 servings.

Some Sage Suggestions For the Sage Cook

Whoever eats sage, says an old bit of herb folklore, will have a keen memory as long as he lives. If he grows the herb in his garden, says another, every new plant will bring increased wealth to his family.

Whatever the truth of these legends, sage has been a centuries-old favorite for flavoring salads, sausage, pork, duck, geese, cheese and meat stuffings. If the pale green leaves are dried and brewed, sage even makes a mild astringent tea for soothing sore throats.

Sage takes to onion as sweet basil takes to tomato. With their natural affinity for each other, sage and onion reach a happy blend in a new readymade stuffing.

SERVED "AS IS" from the handy 8-ounce pack, these herb-flavored cubes of toasted Brownberry breads are just right for croutons in French onion and cream soups and salads. In creamed chicken, crabmeat and other dishes, they add a tangy texture to offset the blandness of the main ingredients.

Blended with melted butter, bouillon or other liquids, sage and onion stuffing opens up a new world of stuffing cookery. If you have been passing up some of these delectable specialties because there just isn't time in a busy day to dice up dried bread, brown it and blend in the right amount of herbs, this stuffing can cut your preparation time in half.

To name just a few dishes you can quickly make with sage and onion stuffing: stuffed squash, tomatoes and peppers; chicken and turkey croquettes; meat loaf, baked stuffed fish or flank steak. As a topping, toasted, seasoned Brownberry cubes are fine with spinach, broccoli or green beans—not to mention Caesar salad.

Semi-Sweet Surprise Pie Is Something Special for Yule

Next time you do some "special occasion" entertaining, plan to serve a festive Semi-Sweet Surprise pie. This delicious dessert will start your guests ooh-ing and ah-ing and asking how you did it.

"Simple" will be your reply, for this fabulous dessert really is a simple matter of combining luscious ingredients in a never-fail way. Best of all, it is made ahead and requires no last-minute preparations. At serving time, merely fetch it from the refrigerator and take your bows.

THE SEMI-SWEET Surprise pie has lots of surprises. It is reminiscent of old-fashioned puddings, for it contains good, old-fashioned ingredients such as rice — that all-round friend of culinary artists — and candied fruits. The rich chocolate flavor is achieved with semi-sweet chocolate morsels which do not even have to be melted separately. Just add the morsels to the warm rice mixture; they melt and blend right in.

The pie also boasts a marvelous chiffon texture, owing to the unflavored gelatine, egg whites and whipped cream that go into it. Altogether the Semi-Sweet Surprise pie is a delightful choice for your most delightful occasions.

SEMI-SWEET SURPRISE PIE

1 9" pie shell, baked and cooled
1 envelope unflavored gelatine
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup cold water, divided
2 cups cooked regular rice
2 eggs, separated
1 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
½ cup mixed candied fruit, coarsely chopped
½ teaspoon orange extract
¼ cup sugar
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

COMBINE unflavored gelatine, salt, ½ cup of the water, rice, and slightly beaten egg yolks. Bring just to boil over moderate heat, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Stir in semi-sweet chocolate morsels till melted. Gradually stir in remaining water. Add candied fruit and orange extract.

Beat egg whites till stiff but not dry; gradually beat in sugar till stiff and glossy. Fold in semi-sweet mixture and whipped cream. Chill, stirring occasionally, till mixture begins to hold its shape. Spoon in pie shell. Chill several hours or overnight.

How to Prepare For Retirement

If you are over 35 years of age, you're probably old enough to remember that old song-hit, "Silver Threads Among the Gold," and to even have a few "silver threads" of your own by now.

The song is probably considered "strictly square" by today's Rock 'N Roll set but its theme places emphasis on preparing for retirement. It makes one realize that, when the "gold in your hair has turned to silver," it's also very nice to have a good supply of gold and silver in the bank in the form of U.S. dollars.

BEST WAY to achieve this goal, of course, is to start saving early in life, even if it means putting as little as $1 a week in the bank. Getting the savings habit is more important than the amount you save, at least at first, say the family-finance experts who offer this advice:

First, figure out how much you can save out of every paycheck. The amount will vary according to your income, the number of dependents you have and your other responsibilities. But a good rule-of-thumb, they say, is to try to save between 10 and 20 per cent of your weekly income after all deductions have been made. Then, make it an iron-clad rule to deposit your savings in the bank every pay day.

Toastmistresses Plan Yule Party

Council 12, of the North Central Region, International Toastmistress clubs, will hold an executive committee meeting Friday, Dec. 5, in room 1039 of the Insurance Exchange Building, 175 W. Jackson boulevard.

In addition to the regular council business, club ideas and the annual speech contest will be discussed. Members of Arlington Heights Toastmistress club have been invited to the meeting. (S

An informal Christmas party has been planned for members and guests of Midtown Toastmistress club following the meeting Monday night, Dec. 8.

A novel program of fun and surprises is on the agenda for the meeting, with Mrs. Walter Kirchhoff of Mt. Prospect as toastmistress. The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in room 106 of Arlington high school. After the program, those present are invited to re-assemble at the Arlington Heights home of the club president, Mrs. Edward Raichert for the party.

ANY WOMAN interested in self-improvement via better communications with her fellowman is invited to attend the meeting as a guest. After attending one or two meetings, guests are eligible to become members if they so desire. Those interested in further information may call either the membership chairman, Mrs. Albert C. Peters, CL 3-2000; or Mrs. Maynard Docka, FL 9-0138.

Brazil Nuts Add Looks, Texture To Many Foods

Pearly onions boiled until tender and transparent in a small amount of water are more distinguished fare when glazed with butter and garnished with sliced or chopped Brazil nuts.

Sweet potatoes, cooked and peeled, become flavor heightened when baked a few minutes with Brazil nuts, spices and molasses.

To dramatize baked acorn squash halves, fill the centers before baking with Brazil nuts, brown sugar, butter and a little orange rind.

Thus garnished with Brazil nuts, vitamin-rich vegetables which are important in daily menus gain attractiveness and the factor of taste-enjoyment.

Sharp Knives Are Safer

Sharp knives not only make food preparation easier, but you're less likely to cut yourself with them, says O. L. Hogsett, extension safety specialist at the University of Illinois.

A dull knife takes more pressure, making it more likely to slip. If it does, it's still sharp enough to give you a nasty cut that will heal slowly.

To help keep knives sharp, wash them separately; then store them in a rack that will protect the cutting edge. Don't use your best knives to cut paper, string or other materials that will dull the edge.

A GOOD sharpening stone is your best tool to sharpen dull knives. It costs less than many "gadget" sharpeners and will not year the knife down so quickly. If you're not sure how to use a stone, it might be better to take your dull knives to an experienced professional sharpener.

Tri Delt Spouses Entertained At Dinner Party

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cooper, 209 S. George, Mt. Prospect, will be the scene of a festive Christmas party and potluck supper Saturday, Dec. 6, at 6:30 p.m. Each year the northwest suburban alumnae chapter of Delta Delta Delta has a dinner party for husbands during the holiday season.

All Tri Delta in the Park Ridge, Des Plaines, Mt. Prospect and Arlington Heights areas are invited to bring their husbands. Reservations should be made by Thursday, Dec. 4, by calling the hostess, Mrs. Clifford Cooper at CL 3-6610.

THE president, Mrs. Arthur R. Wetter of Des Plaines, will introduce Mrs. James L. Bradshaw, general chairman of the forthcoming Chicago area Tri Delta benefit for the Cleft Lip and Palate institute of Northwestern university. She will tell of plans for the February 27 "Pearl Whirl," a dinner dance to raise money for research and equipment to aid children afflicted with physical and emotional deformities resulting from cleft lips and palates at birth. This is the sixth year Chicago area Tri Deltas have helped the institute.

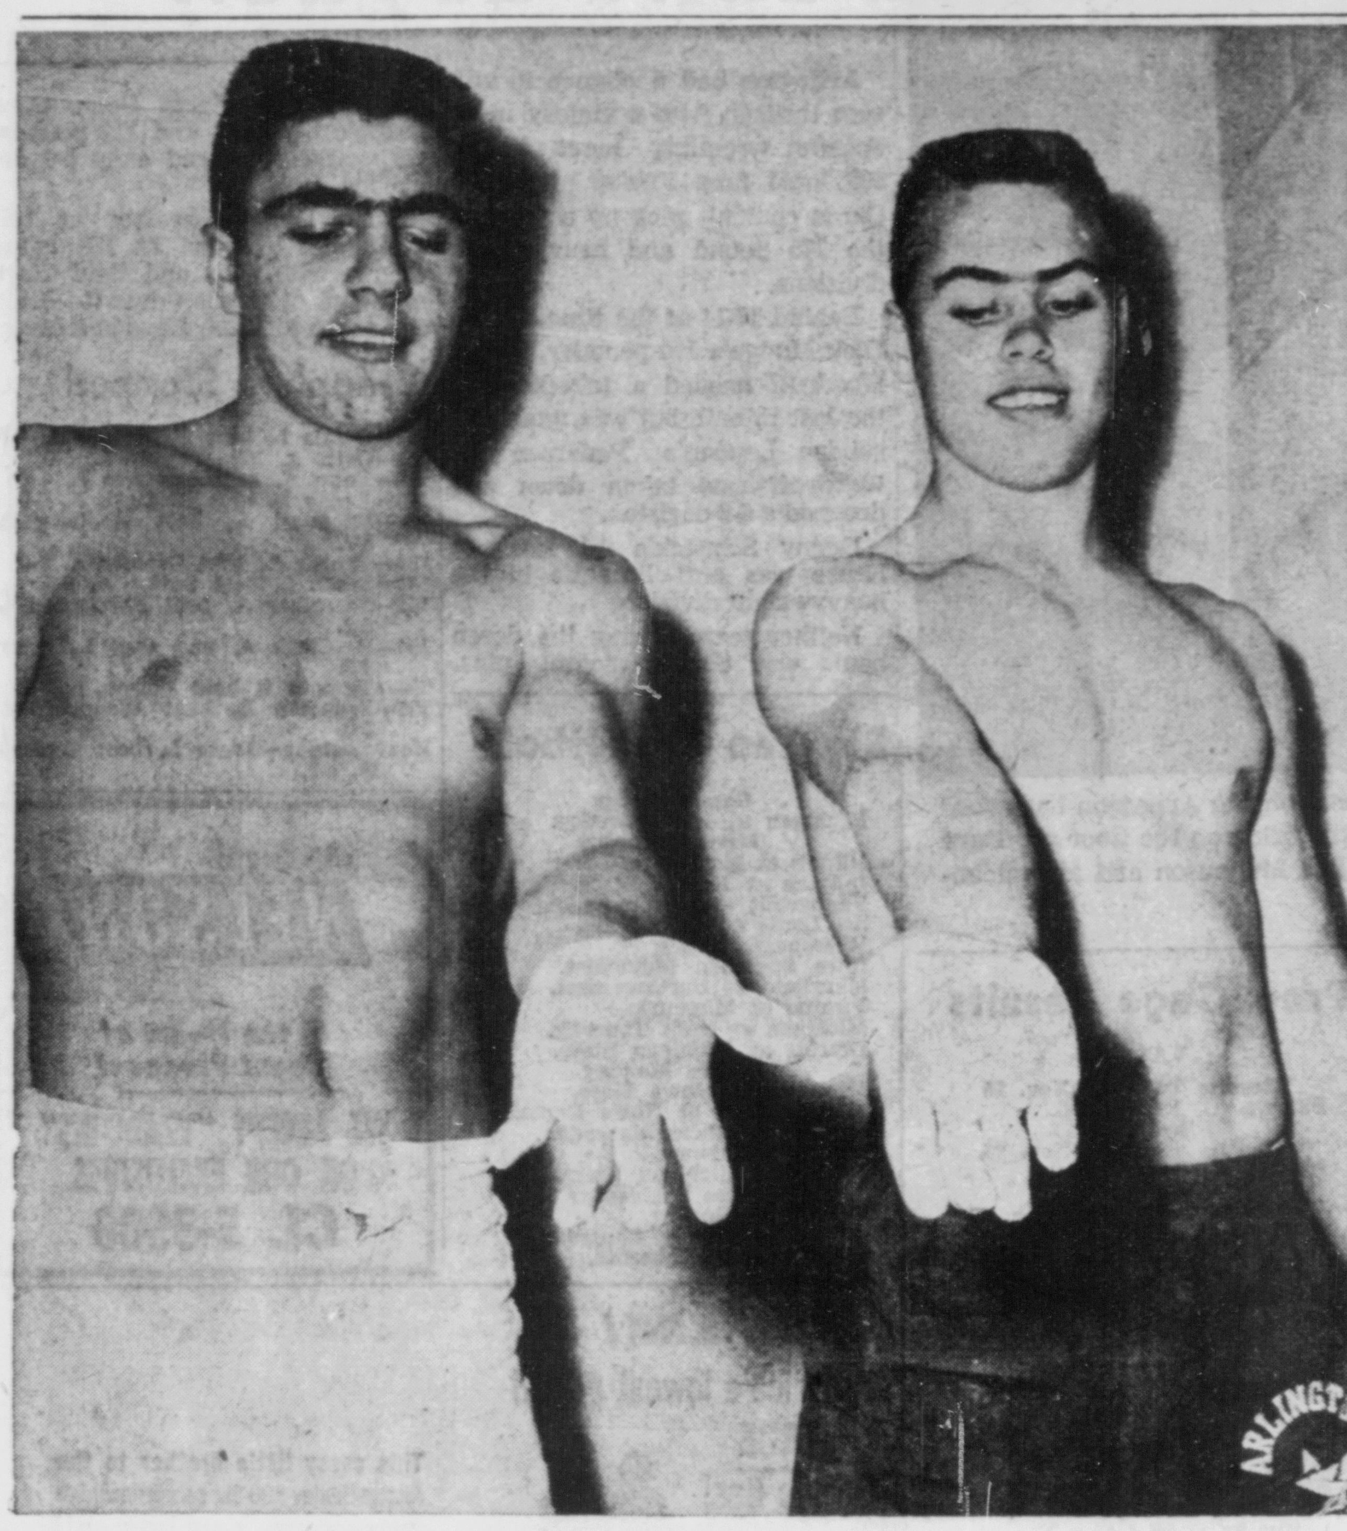
Cardinals Host Glenbard in WSC Opener Friday



IT'S HARD TO TELL but the poor hand belongs to Tom Geocaris on the left and the good hand to John Henning on the right. Chalk covers up a goodly portion of the defects. Hands are to a gymnast what feet are to a trackman.

'You Gotta Have Hands!'

by BOB BUCHANAN

You gotta have hands!

"There's no doubt about that" quipped Arlington gymnastics Coach Gay Hughes. "They're to a gymnast what legs are to a trackman. A gymnast has been known to perform in nearly top form with a sprained ankle, but not with a pair of poorly conditioned hands.

"I better make one thing straight," Hughes noted. "When I refer to hands, they're necessary for apparatus stunts such as high bar, rings, parallel bar and side horse.

"ANYBODY WHO comes out and says their hands are in top shape because they've been digging ditches," the Cardinal gymnastic coach continued, "doesn't know what he's talking about.

"They've got calluses all right, but they're not in the right place. A new gymnast has got what we call baby hands. It'll take him two months to get his hands in shape.

"I'd venture to say if any other athlete got on the high bar and swung for 15 seconds every two minutes, he'd have a pair of raw meat in a half hour to 45 minutes.

"THE SECRET OF hands is to build up a set of calluses which are soft and pliable. Because of the friction created on the high bar, ridges tend to build up on the calluses.

"These must be taken down either by pummice stone, sand paper or a razor blade — preferably in the order noted. When ridges build up, the hand no longer is pliable. It becomes hard and rips develop.

"Rips," Hughes remarked, "is a gymnastic coach's nemesis. A rip, I should point out, is a portion of the first or second layers of skin which rip away in either large or small portions.

"DURING THE FIRST week of practice our squad averages about three rips a day. After two weeks, there's only about three or four a week. And after a month we shouldn't have one a week. That's why it takes gymnasts two months to get in shape.

"I've ripped away the entire palms of my hands, but I've seen worse. A crack, which goes deep in the lines of the hand, is worse. Because of movement, they never tend to heal.

"A ripped hand should be immediately washed and then alcohol applied. It has a two-fold purpose, to toughen the skin and to prevent infection. In eight years here at Arlington we've had only one infected hand and that was because the boy didn't follow instructions.

"BECAUSE WE WANT a pliable hand and alcohol tends to toughen it, we also use glycerine and rose water as a softener.

"As a boxer does road work, gymnasts also can work out during the summer by soaking the palms of their hands in salt water brine to toughen them and by rubbing their hands through a dowel to toughen them.

"WHEN OUR gymnasts apply chalk to their hands, it isn't to make them slip around the bar easier. It's just the opposite. Chalk causes more friction. Hands naturally perspire. If we used grease, our gymnasts would go flying. Chalk keeps us on the bar.

"But without those hands, man, we're lost!"

Maroon Guards Ruin Arlington

A pair of sharpshooting Elgin guards ruined a holiday weekend for Arlington's Cardinals, handing the locals a 68-56 setback in the Cards' home opener.

Flynn Robinson and Jay Graening sparked the Elgin quintet to a comparatively easy win, building up a 33-19 halftime lead. Then they doggedly held on as Arlington pressed with vigor in the final half.

Robinson, who led the winners to a sectional championship in 1958, found the scene of last year's conquest much to his liking, sinking eight field goals and netting eight of nine free throw attempts for 24 points. Graening's 18 points was easily second best for the Watchmakers.

Cardinal Coach Frank Bohac said after the game that few teams in Illinois will present such an outstanding pair of guards as Elgin has in Robinson and Graening.

The lanky Maroons moved to a 14-9 first quarter lead. Graening's eight points paced a second quarter splurged which gave the Maroons as many points as Arlington could manage in the first half.

The Cards' two guards, Lee Magnuson and Dave Varnado, were also in a scoring mood, tallying 20 points apiece. However, they received little offensive help from the forward wall, who were constantly guarded by Elgin's lanky defenders.

Pat Corteen's three field goals were the only two-pointers contributed from outside the guard positions, George Bork's four goals rounding out the total of 21.

Arlington, using a pressing defense, outscored Elgin in the second half, 37-35, but fell short of the needed total.

Arlington Defense Stops Palatine Cold, 68 to 25

Employing an air-tight defense, Coach Frank Bohac's Arlington Cardinal basketball team ran roughshod over an outclassed Palatine five, 68-25, Wednesday, Nov. 26, on the Palatine floor.

The Cards won the Sleighbells trophy by the largest margin ever piled up in the 47-game Palatine-Arlington cage history. The triumph, which was only rivaled by a 39-point 74-35 Cardinal win in 1955, gave Arlington a 28-19 edge in the series.

The first quarter was almost unbelievable to the 3,500 fans who witnessed the slaughter. The Cards white-washed the Pirates without so much as a point while they ran their side of the scoreboard up to 19.

ARLINGTON's defense was so air-tight that Palatine made just one basket in the first three periods and failed to get even one field goal when the first team was used in the first and third periods.

With Card Guards Lee Magnuson and Dave Varnado out front hounding Pirate guards like a hawk, Palatine failed to set up anything which resembled an offense. Most of the shots were taken off balance and out of position. Then Arlington controlled the rebounds without question.

Palatine was dead cold in the first period, missing all nine field goal attempts and all six free throws. In the second quarter, the Pirates made just one of nine field goal shots and in the third quarter it was zero for eight. This gave Palatine just one basket in 26 attempts.

IN THE LAST quarter against second and third teams, Palatine got three field goals. Free throws accounted for 17 Palatine points.

Arlington itself wasn't too hot at the hoop early in the ball game. Pat Corteen's 15-footer was the only Card basket in the first five minutes. Bohac's quint ended the first half by making good on one of every three attempts. The second half found the tempo being stepped up as Arlington sank half of its field goal attempts, getting 17 for 34.

Corteen was the fire-ball for Arlington in the first period as he controlled the offensive boards. It wasn't until the last three minutes of the quarter that Arlington sank five baskets for a 19-0 lead.

AFTER NINE minutes and 20 seconds of play and Arlington ahead, 23-0, Palatine finally scored when Bill DePue sank a pair of free throws. It was at that point Bohac pulled his guards, Magnuson and Corteen, and started substituting.

The first team, with Don Gerken at one forward and Ed Whitelaw at center, started the second half and shot a 29-10 halftime lead to 42-10 before Tom Meyer hit a free throw ending a six minute, 40 second drought for the Pirates. Before the quarter was over, Palatine had three more gifters, but nary a basket.

In the final quarter, six Cardinal reserves hit the scoring columns as Arlington piled up 20 points.

CARDINAL scoring was quite evenly divided with five cagers hitting the double figures. Corteen was tops with 14, followed by Magnuson with a dozen. Varnado as well as reserves Mike Tierney and George Bork had 10 each.

The win gave Arlington its 28th win in 47 games during the long-time rivalry.

Wrestlers at Glenbrook

Mudge May Miss Meet; Back Injured

Arlington's wrestlers, three teams strong, will travel to Glenbrook Saturday to meet the tough Spartans at 2 p.m.

However, the Cardinals may be without the services of their varsity mat coach, Dick Mudge. Sunday while tying a shoe lace, Mudge wrenched his back and through Tuesday has been unable to move out of the house.

IN HIS ABSENCE, student teacher Tom Meyer put the varsity through its practice sessions Monday. Tuesday frosh-soph Coach Hal Henson was in charge.

Mudge, though sidelined, expects Glenbrook, Tri-County conference champions, to be just as tough as Leyden was last week. Coach Walt Sherman's matmen beat the Cardinals, 23-17, last year, and has added a championship frosh-soph team.

Mudge has two positions, 120 and 175, in which competition is wide open. Tom Clark wrestled last week at 120 but he is being given a lot of competition by Lee Wintz and Jerry Pinkham. Then at 175 Frank Woodruff, who was called upon last week, is battling with Denny Schneck, down from heavyweight, and Dave Buren.

MOVING INTO the heavyweight spot is Darrell Phillips who moved up from the sophomore team where he pinned his opponent last week Junior Bob Hacker, Mudge said, is giving Phillips a run for his money.

Other expected starters are Harry Krause or Wally Friker at 95 pounds, Jose Ortiz at 103, Jerry Bonn at 112, Dale Hedberg at 127, Ed Gerrard at 133, Al Seyler at 138, Dave Schreiber at 145, Paul Clark at 154 and John Torrens at 165.

Mudge singled out Seyler for his outstanding work in defeat last week against Lyden. Seyler lost to Saenz by one point and Saenz was district and sectional champion. Others rated high by the Cardinal coach were Ortiz, Schrieber and Co-Capts. Torrens and Tom Clark.

GLENBROOK HAS several good boys in their six returning lettermen. Two Tri-County champions, Bill Schmadebeck at 103 and Jim Brannan at 112 are back, but may move up a classification or two due to added weight. They also have Ed Weber, district and sectional title holder at 95 pounds.

Wrestling in addition to the varsity will be the sophomore team and the freshman will make up a third team.

Arlington Sports

Friday — Basketball: Glenbard at Arlington, frosh-soph game, 7 p.m.; varsity, 8:15 p.m.

Saturday — Basketball: Arlington at Glenbrook, junior-varsity game, 10:30 a.m.; freshman "A" and "B" teams, 9:30 a.m.

Saturday — Wrestling: Arlington at Glenbrook, varsity, frosh-soph and freshman, 2 p.m.

Monday — Basketball: Palatine at Arlington, freshman game, 4 at Arlington, freshman game, "A" and "B" teams, Prospect high gym, 4 p.m.

KICKIN' IT AROUND

by BOB BUCHANAN

A lot has been said why America's youth is "going to the dogs" physically and why President Eisenhower has set up a group to cope with what is becoming a major deficiency in our nation's stockpile of young men. Whether this is so can be debated long and loud. A good indication, if not one of the better, is what the physical condition is of America's adults. Are they prepared physically to meet the demands that another international conflict would bring? The answer has to be a solid, "No!"

Arlington Heights is a typical suburban community. The number of adult men, and women, for that matter, that are keeping their body as sound as their mind, is a pittance. Arlington park district officials estimate it to be one adult in 80. In all, only about 125 Arlington Heights citizens take part in adult recreation activities.

Slimnastics Classes for Women

ARLINGTON'S PARK BOARD and its director, Tom Thornton, have outlined a program for adults as well as their offspring. The program, now in its second year, came into being when Pioneer Park and its fieldhouse were completed in August 1957. This permitted the park district to shift its offices from Recreation Park to Pioneer and use the 62 by 45 foot fieldhouse at Recreation as a gymnasium. Last year the program got off to a slow start with volleyball, badminton and a gym class, all for men, and golf instruction for both men and women. Less than 100 adults took advantage of the program.

This year women were not forgotten. The district instituted a slimnastics class. Though classes won't begin until Feb. 10, more than 40 local women have registered. The aim of the course is to develop muscle tone and trim figures. Those who have registered are glad to be able to do something to keep them active.

Instructors Among the Best

EVEN WITH WOMEN in the program, the figure of participating adults stands at 125. The park district has published a program which was sent to every home owner in the community. Yet, few register. Why? The classes and recreation periods are free except for golf instruction. Instructors are among the best. Recreation Director Dick Ault, a hurdler for the American Olympic team in London in 1952, is a physical education instructor in Highland Park. Dick, a resident of Wheeling, handles the volleyball, badminton, men's gym and now the women's slimnastic classes. Sam Rauworth, who runs a private golf school, has had excellent results in the park district's golf school.

"Why the lack of interest in recreational sports?" Thornton was asked. Tom had no "ready-made" answer. He thought the lack of awareness on the part of most townspeople was one of the program's great handicaps. He pointed out that prior to the winter recreation program, his office called local firms and municipal groups trying to get them to enter volleyball teams. Results were nil. Most of the volleyball teams, Thornton said, came from home owner groups or new subdivisions. Most of the men were in their twenties or thirties. He couldn't recall of a man 40 or over participating.

Competition Not the Object

PARTICIPATION NEEDN'T BE on a team level, where though there is competition, the object is not to win but to participate. That's why Thursday night the men's gym class is on an informal basis. Men can work out doing whatever they wish, lifting weights, playing badminton, working on different pieces of apparatus. They can come and go when they choose. It's an opportunity for men to maintain physical fitness at their own speed.

Using bowling as an example, Tom said, "Here is a sport which has mushroomed in recent years for all age groups, including those over 40. People pay out several dollars for a night of bowling. Here we charge nothing, and they don't come. I think television and the press has done a lot to popularize bowling. Maybe we could stand some of it ourselves.

"We've got an open night," he continued. "We could put any recreational sport desired in the Tuesday night slot if there were the demand. So far, we haven't had it. We'd certainly like it. That's what we're here for—to serve the people of Arlington Heights, including the adults."

Skating Thrives; Swimming Nil

YOUNG ADULTS ARE TAKING to skating more and more. "I'd say 25 per cent of those skating are young adults," Thornton said. "I've had many a southern person come out skating and they enjoy it. Winter sports aren't the only ones conducted by the park district. In the summer time, 16-inch softball has been gaining popularity. Adult swimming instruction classes are offered, but, as usual, no more than 10 adults take advantage each year.

GOLF INSTRUCTION has been one sport where interest has thrived. Many a husband and wife gladly pay the $7 fee for eight lessons. Last year the park district had four classes of 15 each completely filled. There's no problem here. Where the problem exists is in the other adult recreation sports. Two teams are still needed to complete an eight-team volleyball league. Six or eight or a few more men can form one. They play just one hour a night, one night a week.

"Just give us a call," Thornton reminded. "We're here to help and there's no better way than to be physically fit. Businessmen pay good sized membership dues to belong to an athletic club in Chicago. Here your taxes are your dues. Why not take advantage of your membership?"

Basketball Turnabout

Arlington's basketball game with Glenbrook Saturday night will be a turnabout. The varsity will open play at 7 p.m. in the Cardinal gymnasium with the frosh-soph game to follow at about 8:15 p.m.

Reason for the turnabout, requested by Glenbrook, is a conflict in schedules. Glenbrook's annual junior-senior dance is scheduled for Saturday night and in order to give the upper classmen and cheerleaders a chance to attend, Spartan officials requested the change.

Sophs Start WSC Season Friday Night

Coach Ken Schaller's Arlington sophomore basketball team will carry an unbeaten 3-game record into its opening West Suburban basketball game Friday night against Glenbard.

Schaller is expected to start the same lineup that has carried the Cards through their first three games. Bill Zadel at 6-3 and Fred Empke at 5-10 will be at the forwards, Dick Palmer at 6-3 at center, and Fred Lussow at 5-8 and Keith Grams at 5-9 at guards.

Starting time Friday is 7 p.m. in the Arlington gym. Saturday, the little Cards will return to the Arlington gym to play Glenbrook in the wind-up game at about 8:15 p.m.

Sophs Still Unbeaten; Top Elgin

Arlington's frosh-soph hasketeers remained unbeaten, claiming a 48-45 win over Elgin Friday night.

Like Wednesday's game against Palatine, Coach Ken Schaller's Card sophs overcame a halftime deficit to win.

Behind 23-16 at halftime, the Cards hit the nets for 18 points in the third period to take a 34-3 leads. They advanced it to seven points. With four minutes left, Arlington began to stall and Elgin cut the final advantage to just three points.

Scoring for Arlington was very evenly divided with four boys dividing top points honors with 11 each. Sharing the crown were Bill Zadel, Fred Empke, Fred Lussow and Keith Gram.

Receipts Set Record

Football receipts hit an all-time high at Arlington, Athletic Director Wally Grace announced this week.

Receipts for four home games totaled $10,359.55, far eclipsing the old record of $7,403.65 set in 1956. The all-time high receipts for all sports, also set in 1956, is $12,800.15. Receipts are less than $2,500 below this figure with basketball and wrestling still uncounted.

Receipts for individual games were: Leyden, $1,459.25; Glenbard, $1,730.85; York, $2,910.65; and Maine $3,474.80. Season reserved seats were $784.

Either Bork Or Tierney May Start

With great hopes and expectations of improving on their sixth place, 5-9 finish of last year in the West Suburban, Arlington's cagers take to the hardwoods Friday night against the defending co-champion, Glenbard.

TIME

Frosh-soph game, 7 p.m.; varsity, 8:15 p.m., Friday, Dec. 5.

PLACE

Arlington high school, N. Ridge, north of Euclid, Arlington Heights.

OFFICIALS

Al Zimmerman, Lyons; H. J. Milss, Palatine.

Coach Robert Metcalf's Glenbard quintet is unbeaten in two games and should give Coach Frank Bohac's Cardinals a good test Friday night on the Arlington floor. Game time is 8:15 p.m.

HOWEVER, Metcalf has a problem. He has no regular back from last year's team which compiled a 11-3 mark in WSC play. But he does have a trio of juniors up from the sophomore team which had a 12-2 mark, good for second place.

Metcalf is undecided about which five of six boys will start. Two juniors, 6-6 Dennis Hanson and 6-3 Bob Early, are expected to go at forwards.

He'll use one of two 6-3 boys at center, either Senior Joe Kelly or Junior Bob Finch. Jim Lewis, a 5-10 senior, is the one guard and Dennis Achilles, a 5-9 senior who transferred from Miami, Fla., is at the other.

NO. 6 man for Glenbard is a junior, 6-2 Sy Nelson. Another boy whom Metcalf would like to call upon is 5-10 junior Guard Dick Chandler, who broke an ankle in football this fall. Even so, Chandler started working out Monday.

Four of five who started last week impressed Cardinal Coach Bohac enough that they'll probably retain their starting posts. The only unsure spot is at forward where Don Gerken held forth against Palatine and Elgin.

Gerken's failure to score at the hoop may give either Mike Tierney or George Bork a chance to enter the starting lineup.

PAT CORTEEN seems likely at one forward and Lee Magnuson and Dave Varnado at the guards.

If Bohac uses Bork, he'll shove the 6-1 junior into a forward slot. Then Ed Whitelaw, a 6-5 senior, will go at center.

If Tierney, a 6-6 junior, is used, he'll be the center with Whitelaw shifting to forward.

BOHAC HAS BEEN very happy about the way the reserves have performed lately. He said that they have kept the pressure on the regulars and because of it have made the Cards a stronger and sounder ball club.

The coach had praise for Bork for his work against Palatine and Elgin. Bohac remarked that he felt Bork was beginning to find himself and is coming into his own. He quickly noted that Bork is finding a lot of difference between frosh-soph and varsity ball.

Metcalf thinks Arlington is a very sound team defensively on the floor but he wonders about their defense up in the air under the board.

HE THINKS his team will be able to give Arlington a good test with a 6-6 lad and two 6-3 boys in the front court.

To date, Glenbard has beaten Dundee, 54-50, in overtime, and Wheaton, 53-44.

At Arlington

Glenbrook (2-1)		Arlington (1-2)

6-3 Mead	F	Bork or 6-0 Whitelaw 6-5
6-5 Holder	C	Whitelaw or 6-5 Tierney 6-6
5-11 Crawford	G	Varnado 5-10

TIME

Varsity game, 7 p.m.; frosh-soph, 8:15 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 6.

PLACE

Arlington high school, N. Ridge, north of Euclid, Arlington Heights.

OFFICIALS

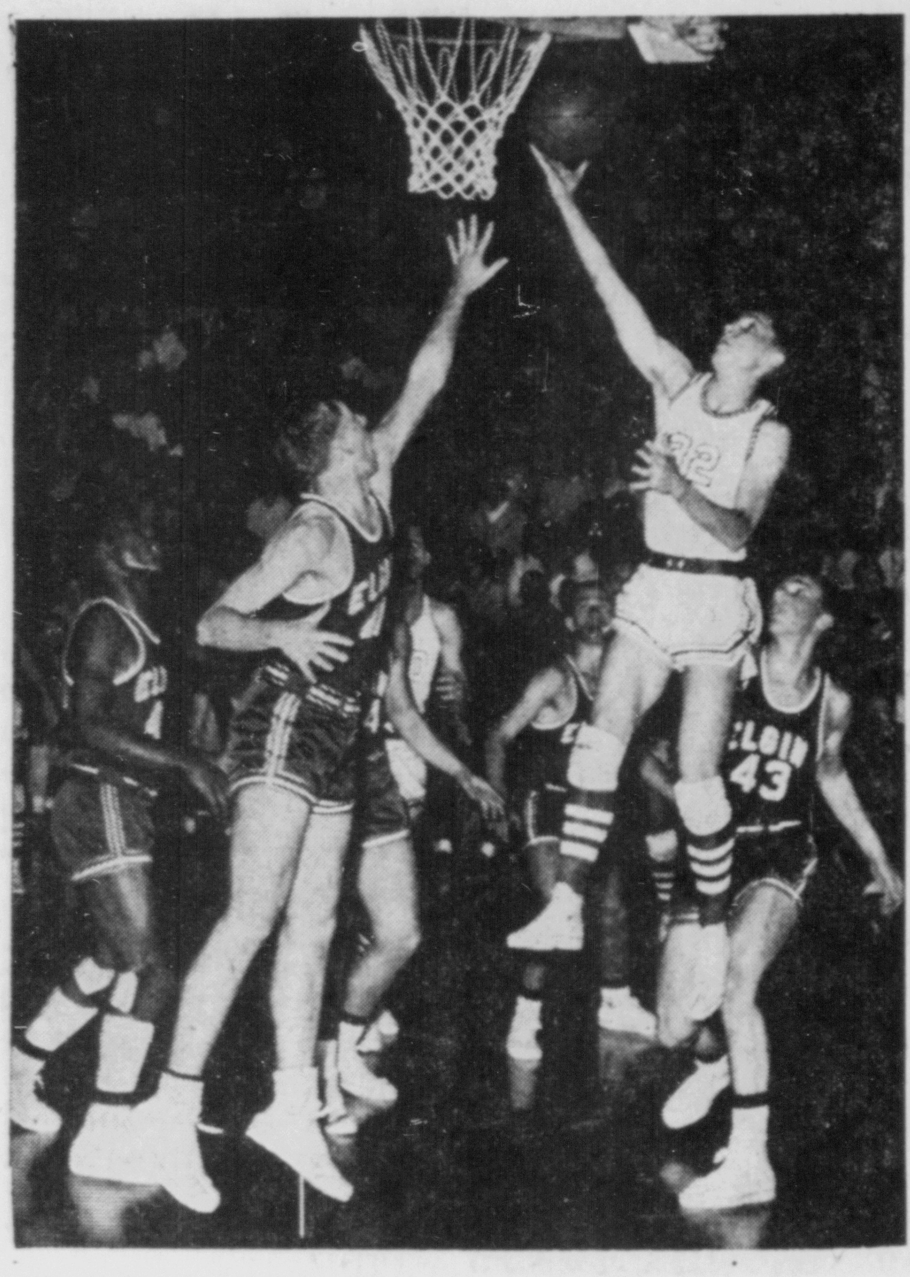
Harvey Sanders, Libertyville; Clarence Blubaum, Aurora.

Glenbrook's tall Spartans will invade Arlington's gym Saturday night in a non-conference game. The varsity contest has been set for 7 p.m. with the frosh-soph to follow at 8:15 p.m.

Coach Howie Helfrich's Spartans average 6-1, but in the forward wall average better than 6-3. However, Helfrich does not think his team has used the height to advantage in winning two of three games.

After an opening game loss to a strong Highland Park team, 49-39, the Spartans have come back to beat Ela-Vernon, 55-53, and Zion-Benton, 56-52.

Reserve Guard Dick Lutz has been sidelined with an ankle injury to say nothing of regular Guard John Fuller who has been out the entire season due to a football injury. Fuller, Helfrich noted, may not see action the entire basketball season.



DRIVING GUARD Lee Magnuson goes up for two points between a host of Elgin Maroons in the Cardinal gymnasium. Even so, Elgin won its opening game, beating Arlington, 68-56.

MAC SAYS

by G. A. McELROY

THIS PAST WEEK HIGH SCHOOLS of the state of Illinois were asked by their state association to vote on a proposition to determine whether there is sufficient sentiment in favor of having more than one state champ in basketball through the holding of tournaments based on enrollment classification. There has been considerable sentiment expressed in some areas for a change in the tournament plan. There is a good possibility that a change will come about since there are many small schools in the state who would stand to gain by such a move. Propositions submitted for approval call for a vote for the present single state champ plan, a plan for two tournament series with the enrollment division at 350 students, and a three tournament plan based on enrollment by divisions of up to 250, 250 to 650, and over 650.

Personally, we believe in one state champion and voted to retain the present plan. We like the Iowa plan where small schools have separate tournaments up to the state and there lose their enrollment identity. We think that this plan would be unwise in Illinois due to the number of large schools but would like to see the small schools separated up to the sectionals rather than the state tourney. The purpose of the tournaments is to determine a state champion. The present plan does a good job of making this selection. Al Willis as state secretary will deserve a good boost in pay and more assistants if the state votes to have three state series of basketball tournaments. If a two tournament arrangement is voted there will be 416 schools under 350 enrollment and 216 over that figure. If a three tournament plan should be adopted the number of schools would be 403 under 250, 161 from 250 to 650, and 118 schools over 650. Considering the number of small schools outranking the large ones by more than 2 to 1 do not be surprised if the tournament plan is changed.

Local Boys Abound at Yale

DICK WISNER who is one of Palatine's all-time great football players, won special honors as a freshman at Yale university this past season. Wisner was selected by his teammates as the most valuable freshman player of the year and awarded a plaque at the Yale football banquet. Wisner, who played quarterback and did the passing and punting for the Palatine Pirates, played left half for the Yale yearlings as they won five of six games in the Ivy League last fall.

At this same Yale football banquet Mike Pyle, former New Trier player, was voted the most valuable varsity player, though only a sophomore. Pyle played center and was Illinois state champ in wrestling two years ago. Richard Winkler of Hinsdale was elected captain of next year's Yale team. Playing on the freshman team with Wisner were Jim Pappas of Oak Park at end, Paul Bursiek of Maine Township High at guard, and Norm Shimenti of New Trier at guard.

Second School Problems

LIBERTYVILLE IS CONSIDERING a second high school for the Mundelein area. If they establish a four-year high in Mundelein the survey enrollments of the two schools in 1964-65, according to the Libertyville Independent Register, would be 1,098 at Libertyville and 1,365 at Mundelein. If a frosh-soph school is built at Mundelein and the school district remains with one unit the enrollment by 1964-65 will be 2,500.

Palatine faces the same problem. A second school must be built by the fall of 1960 or have a staggered session school day. The second school will start out with frosh-sophs and the 2 schools will operate as one as far as athletic competition is concerned. Later the two schools may be changed to 4 year institutions after enrollment has increased so that both will have at least 1,000 enrollment. The advantage of having several four-year highs as compared with frosh-soph feeder schools is that more boys get a chance to compete on varsity teams. From the standpoint of community unity and cooperation, quality of activities, quality of education on the junior-senior level, and cost of operation, the frosh-soph feeder system is the best.

Dividing District Touchy Matter

IF PALATINE GOES for several four-year high schools what will be the division line for the various schools? When the time comes to have a high school in Schaumburg the toll road which separates Palatine and Schaumburg Townships is a natural dividing line but what about the division for the present school and the one planned on Quentin Road? The only natural boundary is the North Western Railroad. The problem is that there may in the future be more high school students north of this line than the present Wood st. building can handle. In our opinion it is a pretty tough proposition to say that a boy on one side of the street will go to one school and the boy across the street attend another, particularly if both are good athletes and had played together. Shifting boundaries to keep enrollments even in numbers can result in very poor public relations. Arlington Heights is facing this problem and it will be worse when they have to change again with the opening of a third high school and later a fourth.

It is very early to suggest that any team will go to the state tournament but Elgin with its experience and terrific height headed by 6-10 George Clark will be a real threat. West Aurora, winner of fourth in the state last year, has 6-6 center John Schwenk, 6-3 forward Larry Secor, and 6-2 Capt. Bill Small at guard. Marshall of Chicago still has 6-7 all stater George Wilson at center and M. C. Thompson, a 6-5 lad who is a rugged rebounder, from its undefeated 1957-58 club. Coach "Spin" Salerio states that his first eight boys will be stronger than last year but the starting five not as good.

Card Sophs Trim Palatine, 46-37

Arlington's sophomore Cardinals pulled away from arch-rival Palatine early in the fourth period behind the jump shooting of Fred Empke and Fred Lussow to register a 46-37 victory Wednesday, Nov. 26, on the Palatine court.

Empke's two baskets and Lussow's field goal helped shoot the Cards to a commanding 40-33 lead after they had held a three-point advantage at the end of the third period.

WITH THREE minutes left, Arlington Coach Ken Schaller sent the Cards into a stall. They moved the ball for a minute and a half before Palatine fouled. From that point on, the Pirates fouled so often that the Cards racked up the last six points via free throws.

For the first three periods, the game was a see-saw struggle as they tied at the quarter, found Palatine a point up at halftime, and Arlington three points in front at the three-quarter mark. The biggest lead any team had in the first half was three points by Coach Carl Van Cleave's Pirates.

On the strength of two baskets each by Curt Marker and Alan Helms, the Pirates moved four points ahead, only to see the Cards, behind Empke and Lussow, kill the Pirate lead with their out-shooting.

OFFENSIVE rebounding was the key as the Cards did a better than average job on the Pirate boards. Palatine sorely missed regular forward Wayland Campbell, who sat out the game with an infected foot. Campbell and Dennis Christensen had been the Pirates' two main rebounders.

Arlington's scoring was evenly divided with every starter getting five points and three 10 points or more. Center Dick Palmer, who sank six of eight charity tosses, led with a dozen. Empke and Lussow with five baskets each had an even 10.

Pepper-pot Guard Helms of Palatine tied Palmer for point honors with 12. The next Pirate, Christensen, had eight.

The varsity team maintained the lead throughout the game to win 80-11. Joe Mueller was high point man, scoring 26 points.

The undefeated junior varsity team scored 28 points to St. Peter and St. Paul's 9. Jim Murray scored 12 points. At 2 p.m. Saturday Crystal Lake's St. Thomas school and Wayside will clash at the Dryden and Miner junior high school gym in Arlington.

The Varsity team opens the Notre Dame high school grade school tournament Sundayy noon when they challenge St. Lambert's of Skokie.

Bob Creviston Wins Frosh Grid Numeral

Freshman Bob Creviston, 1958 Arlington high school graduate, was one of 58 freshmen to be awarded football numerals at the University of Illinois this fall.

Twelve of the numerals went to out-of-state boys, including Capt. Stanley Yukevich of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio. Illini numeral winners came from as far away as New York and Texas.

Frosh Squad Member

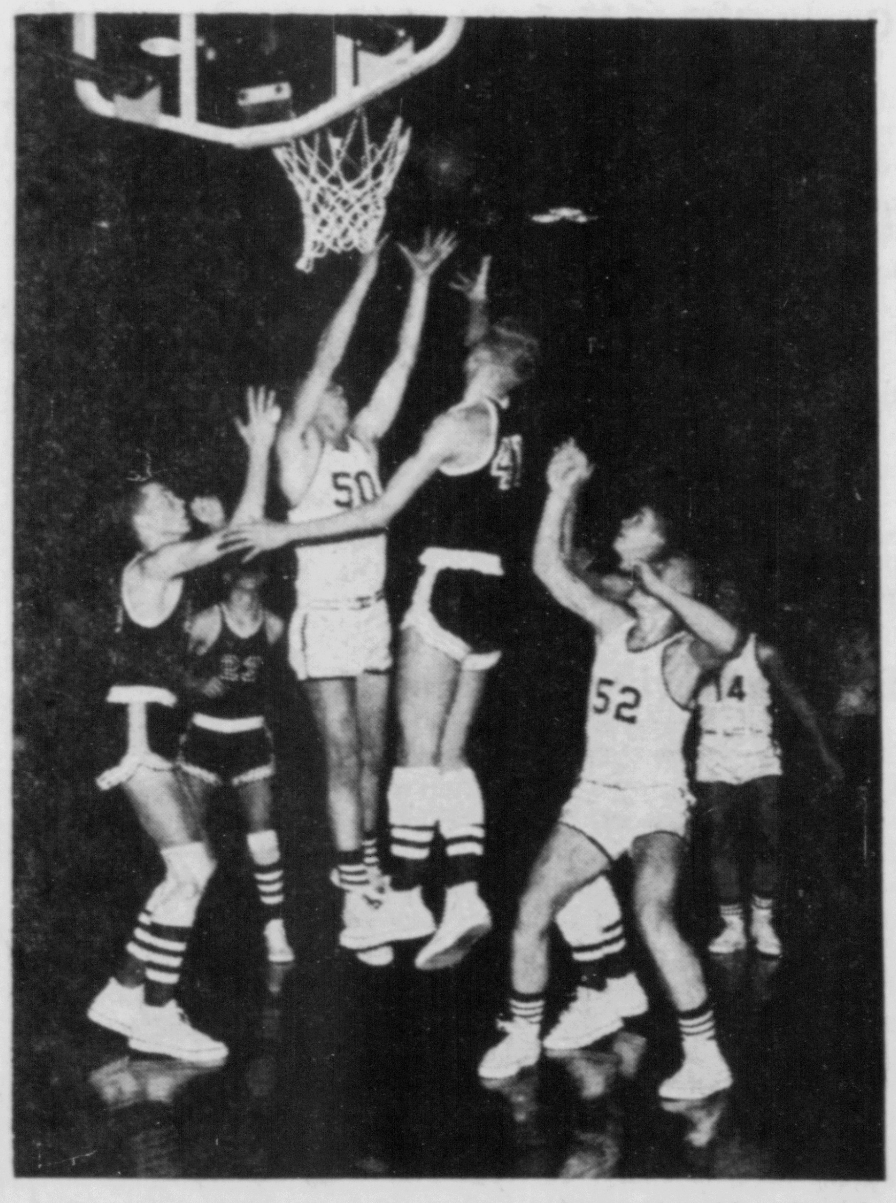
Bob Michielutte, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milo Michielutte, Rte. 53, Addison, is on the freshman basketball squad at Knox college under the coaching of Dean Trevor, Knox athletic director.

Duffy Speaks

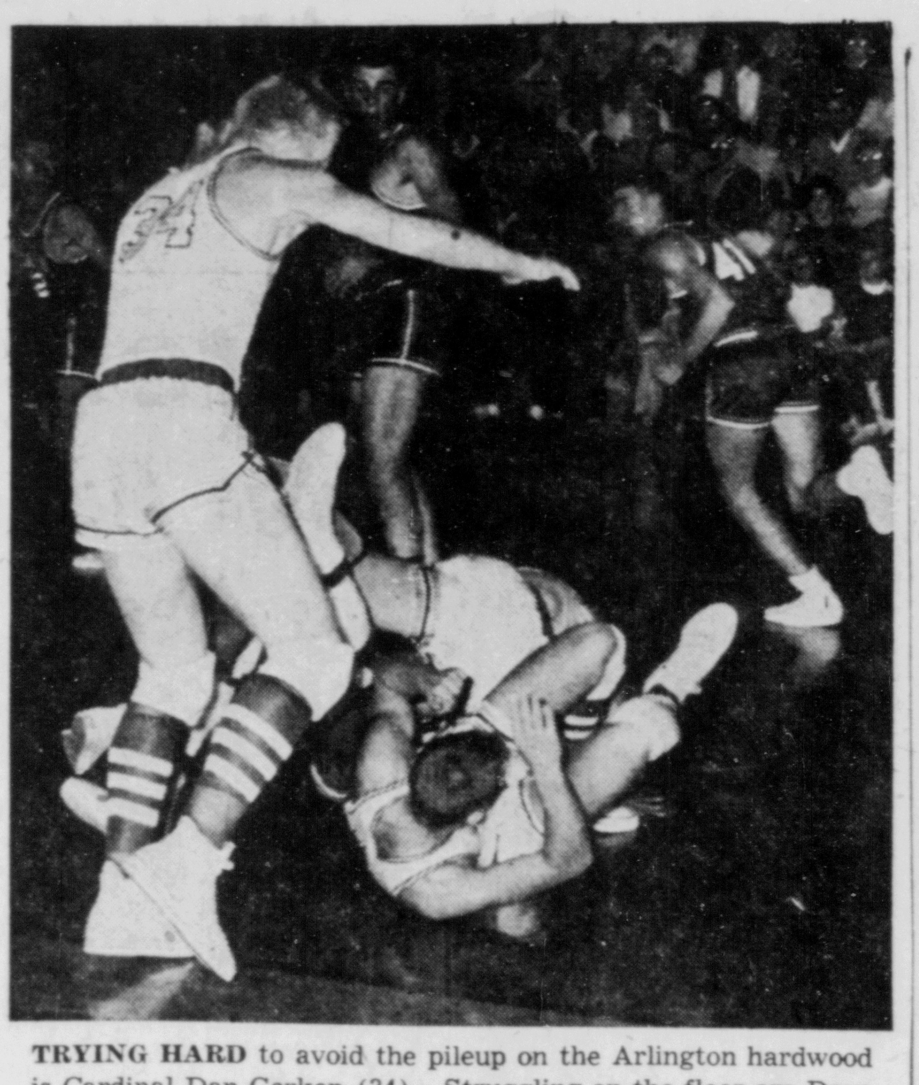
Said Duffy Daugherty, Michigan State head football coach, at a grid bust after the losing 1958 season in which the Spartans finished last in the Big Ten:

"They tell me some of our freshmen look awfully good. But just remember, they haven't had the benefit of my coaching yet."

THURSDAY, DEC. 4, 1958



ONLY TWO MEN got up in the air to battle for this rebound in the Arlington-Palatine game. They are Bob Schneble (50) of Palatine and Jon Benrud (41) of Arlington. On the floor are Mike Tierney (left), Mike Warnecke (23), of Arlington and Jim Bicknase (52) and Bill Baumrucker (14) of Palatine. Arlington won, 68-25.



TRYING HARD to avoid the pileup on the Arlington hardwood is Cardinal Dan Gerken (34). Struggling on the floor are Dave Varnado (head to camera) and Lee Magnuson and an unidentified Elgin player.

Sophomore Wrestlers Lose, 35-15

Arlington's sophomore wrestlers were able to win only three of 12 bouts Friday as they succumbed, 35-15, to Leyden township.

Bob Trausch at 103 made quick work of Dent of Leyden in 58 seconds for Coach Hal Henson's grapplers. Heavyweight Darrell Phillips finished the day by pinning Szymanski of Leyden in 3:20.

In between, George Dilley won by forfeit over Richardi. Three Cardinals suffered pins in the opening match of the season for both teams.

Card Wrestlers Fall to Leyden

Arlington had a chance to still com through with a victory in its opening wrestling meet before 600 local fans Friday but the Cards couldn't pick up a point in the 175 pound and heavyweight divisions.

Behind 17-14 at the time, Coach Dick Mudge's 175 pounder, Frank Woodruff needed a takedown in the last minute but was unable to subdue Leyden's Pedersen as Woodruff was taken down and dropped a 6-3 decision.

Denny Schneck's 4-1 loss to Kruse was anti-climactic in the heavyweight division.

Neither team during the dozen bouts was able to score pins.

Joe Ortiz and Jerry Bonn, Card grapplers at 103 and 112 pounds, respectively, scored easy 5-0 decisions.

Then Dave Schreiber at 145, and John Torrens at 165 came though with wins and Paul Clark and Gull of Leyden drew to bring the score to 17-14, Leyden's favor.

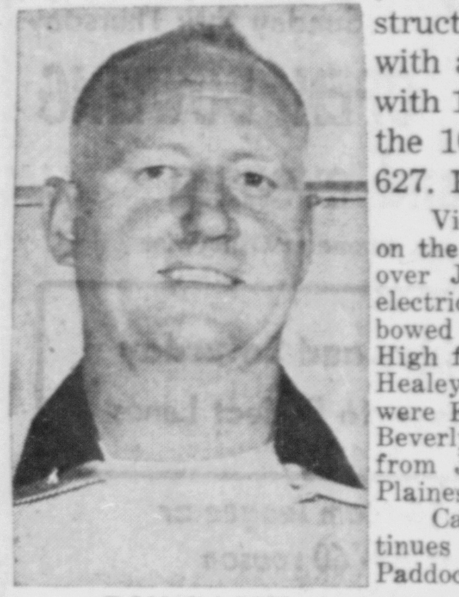
Flood Drops Pair; Victor Picks Up Game in Classic

J. T. Flood Engineering maintained a two game margin in the Paddock Classic Traveling League Saturday night though winning just one tilt from N. R. G. Construction at Ten Pin in Barrington with a 972. The Palatine five won with 1045 and 909. High kegler for the 10 men was Don Bacon with 627. Bucky Walter shot 603.



DON BACON

Victor Electric gained a little ground on the leaders with a two game victory over James Stavros at Gunnell's. The electricians won with 985 and 954, but bowed before the Stavros 993 onslaught. High for the Wheeling keglers was Hec Healey with 648 and 244. Tops for Victor were Ed Duff 635 and Bob Howley 608. Beverly Lanes won two of three games from Johnson's Sporting Goods at Des Plaines with 937 and 935.

Casper Dewitz of Barrington continues to lead individual averages in the Paddock Classic with an even 200. Other leaders include Leroy Papineau, Algonquin, 196; Irv Hahnfeldt, Palatine, 196; Tom Kouros, Barrington Woods, 195, and Edward Duff, Niles, 195.

This week it will be Victor Electric meeting Johnson's Sporting Goods at Des Plaines, Flood Engineering traveling to Beverly in Arlington, and N.R.G. Construction opposing James Stavros at Jeffery in Wheeling.

Notre Dame Rallies for 58-57 Win

by JIM McCABE

The Dons of Notre Dame, coming from behind, nosed out Grant, 58-57, on a free throw made after the game ended Friday night.

The soph team at Notre Dame took the Bulldogs with considerably less trouble, 47-26.

With the score tied, John Bordes, Don guard, attempted the final shot of the game. Bordes was fouled by George Pomey, leading scorer for both squads, with 21 points. Bordes, upon sinking the winning point, was carried off the court by his teammates.

Jay Busscher, senior forward, led the Dons in the scoring department with 16 points. The first three quarters of the game found the Dons unable to get any sort of sustained attack mounted against the Bulldogs. But in the final quarter of play, the Dons with the aid of Bordes' winning free throw overtook Grant to maintain a spotless record in the first three games.

This weekend the Dons are away for two games. They will go against Taft of Chicago on Friday, and will travel to Marmion Military on Saturday.

Gets Grid Letter

Lee Askelof, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Askelof, 1019 Chestnut, Arlington Heights, received a varsity football letter at Lake Forest college this fall. Lee was a graduate of Arlington high school.

Euclid st., Arlington Heights, was one of 16 Denison university soccer players to receive a letter and was presented a medal as "Most Valuable Offensive Player of the Year" at the team dinner last week. Reinke, winning his third soccer letter as a junior, played wing on the Big Red team which rolled up a 6-2-1 record this year, the best season in Denison soccer history. Reinke is a 1955 graduate of Arlington high school.

Basketball Coaches Meet In Champaign Dec. 14-15

William Strannigan of Iowa State College and Leroy "Stix" Morley of Western Illinois State College will feature the annual Illinois High School Basketball Coaches' clinic in Champaign Sunday and Monday, Dec. 14-15.

Isadore "Spin" Salario, coach of Chicago Marshall's 1958 state high school champions, Richard Haselton of Normal's university high school, who coached runner-up Rock Falls last season, and Vergil Fletcher, coach of perennially strong Collinsville high school, also will appear.

Bob Nicolette, University of Illinois trainer, will present a question and answer session on training and taping. He also plans a 2-day short course in techniques for student or staff personnel from the state's high schools. This course will be concurrent with the basketball clinic and coaches will be unable to attend both.

The annual fried chicken dinner will be held at 6 p.m. Sunday at the athletic association cafeteria in Memorial Stadium.

Coaches also will be guests at the Illinois-Iowa State basketball game in Huff Gym at 8 p.m. Monday.

Coaches have been asked to make their own housing reservations. Since school still will be in session at the University, housing will not be available in school facilities.

The basketball clinic is sponsored jointly by the Illinois High School Coaches' Association and the University of Illinois Athletic Association. University of Illinois Basketball Coach Harry Combes is general chairman.

Pony Loops Go Up, Says Local Man

Pony baseball is the new tab placed on the two national boys' baseball programs now embraced under the administration of Pony League, Inc., Washington, Pa.

Pony for boys 13-14 was established in 1952 and now has more than 700 leagues in 43 states, Canada, Hawaii, Mexico, and Alaska. Pony grads, a followup program for boys 15-16, was started this past season, and already has close to 100 leagues.

Mort Leve, 947 Longaker, Northbrook, Pony Region 4 director, has returned from an annual meeting held last Saturday in Washington, Pa., and reports a steady increase in number of leagues in both programs in this area.

Several rule changes have been passed in the Pony program for next season . . . the pitching distance in the 13-14 age bracket will be moved back from 52 feet to 54 feet. One adult coach in uniform will be allowed on either the first or third base coaching lines. And, teams will be limited to 15 players, from the previous limit of 16.

There is an anticipated raise in insurance rates because of a high paid claim ratio that is expected to reach 115 per cent when all 1958 settlements are made. One of the main reasons for this is the number of ankle injuries caused by faulty sliding into bases. A program will be instigated, outlining methods of teaching proper sliding in an effort to cut down such accidents.

Bowling Prizes May Hit $1,000

Prize list for the approaching Paddock bowling tournaments may gross $1,000, it was learned this week after auditors completed their study of last year's awards, then extended the total to this season's events.

Last year 67 men's leagues were represented in the big event with prize total reaching $500. This time the men's tourney scheduled for the second weekend in January at Hi-Way Recreation in Palatine may have as many as 80 leagues represented.

This would increase the prize fund to about $600. First place money would be about $190, almost $40 per man. Second place money would be around $120.

THE WOMEN bowlers will have their chance to get at the cash, too. Last year 36 teams competed, bringing in $270 total prizes. This time there is a possibility of 50 leagues sending leading squads, meaning a prize fund of $400.

First place money for the gals would then be almost $120 with second place $80. Thus, each winning gal could take home $24.

Women's tournament is slated for Pioneer Lanes at Addison the third Sunday in January.

ELIGIBILITY DATE for the two tourneys is fast approaching. First place teams of all local men's leagues as of Dec. 20 will be eligible to compete in the Paddock tourney Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 10 and 11, with deadline for entries Dec. 27.

Leading teams of all local women's leagues as of Dec. 27 will be eligible for the ladies' event Jan. 18. Deadline for this event is Jan. 3. Secretaries of all local leagues have entry blanks and posters telling of the tournaments.

LOCAL ALLEYS cooperating in the Paddock Publications Inter-League Handicap bowling tournaments include Hi-Way at Palatine, Arlington and Beverly at Arlington, Mt. Prospect and Gunnell's at Mt. Prospect, Wheeling and Jeffery at Wheeling, Pioneer at Addison, Bowlwood at Wood Dale and Bensenville Bowl.

Men's and women's leagues competing at other houses who may wish to enter the tournament are urged to contact tourney promoter Bob Paddock as soon as possible for details. Only leagues having at least two-thirds membership living within "the direct Paddock area" would be eligible.

Name Wisner Yale Frosh Grid Star

Richard Wisner of 322 E. Colfax, Palatine, was named outstanding player on the Yale freshman football team last week by Old Eli football coaches.

Wisner, who sparked the Pirate football team of 1957, was honored at a banquet Tuesday night, Nov. 26, in New Haven, Conn.

Dick said he considered himself lucky to win the honor and thought it was due mainly to the line up front, one of whom was Paul Bursiek of Maine township.

The Yale freshman football team won five of six games, losing only to Harvard. Time magazine said of the Yale frosh, "Yale came forth with a freshman squad exceptionally well-fixed at end, quarterback and fullback, precisely the weak spots on the current varsity.

Wisner, a quarterback at Palatine, was converted to halfback at Yale from where he scored 30 points on four touchdowns and three extra points.

Dick, who nearly made the Dean's List scholastically in the first quarter, said competition at Yale probably isn't as rough as in the Big Ten "but they certainly look as big when they get in front of you."

Farm program costly

U. S. taxpayers will pay $4 billion for support loans on surplus crops this year, says Business Week, and quotes officials as predicting the cost will rise another $1.5 billion in 1959.

About 17,000,000 acres that have been taken out of cultivation in the last two years, as part of the farm program, will go back into cultivation next year.

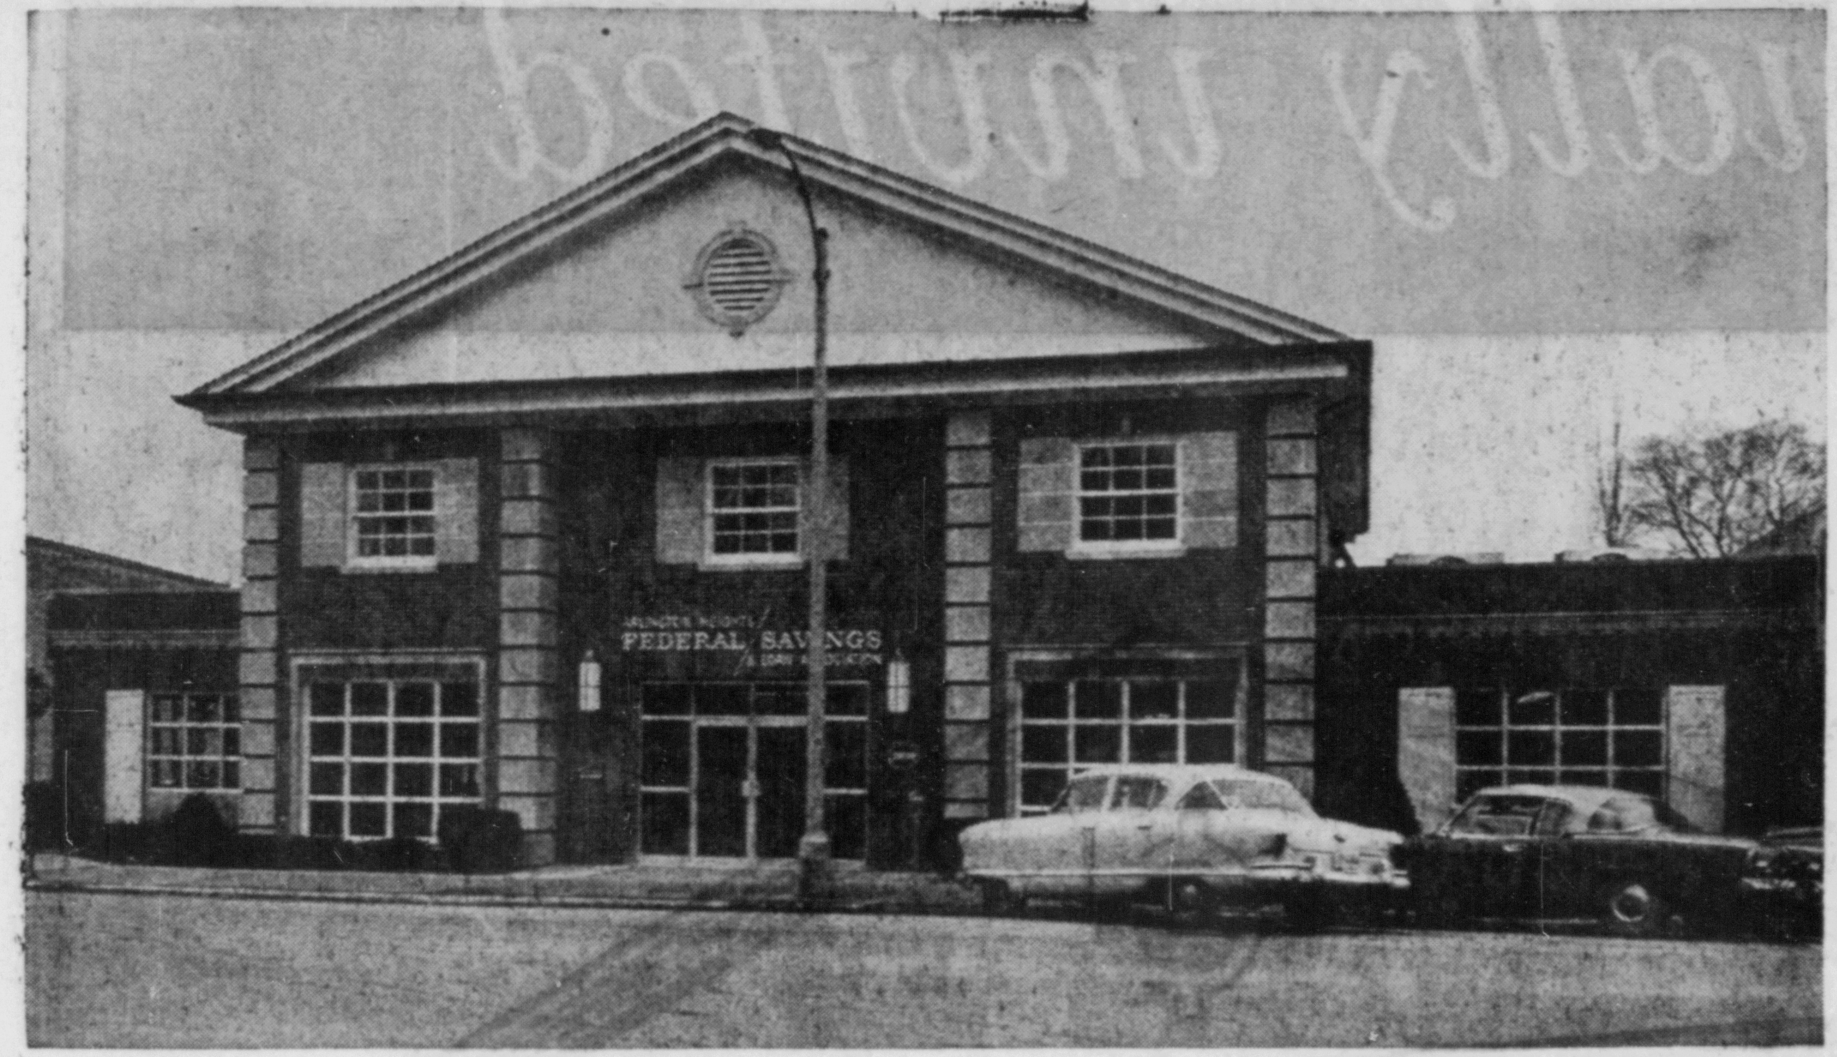
Colonial Charm Is Building Feature



AN OUTSTANDING ADDITION to downtown Arlington Heights is the new Federal Savings and Loan building at Campbell and Evergreen sts. A functional, efficient business establishment in a charming Williamsburg colonial setting, the building was designed by Walter Kroeber, A.I.A.

A thing of beauty is a joy forever, said the poet Keats—a statement which probably accounts for the perennial charm of Williamsburg colonial architecture and furnishings.

That's what you'll find when you visit Arlington Heights Federal Savings' new home—a functional, efficient business establishment in a charming Williamsburg colonial setting.

The building, designed by Walter Kroeber, A.I.A., has an exterior of stone and the red brick customarily associated with colonial-style buildings.

THE TWO-STORY structure with one-story wings has four ornamental quoins or pillars of stone that seem to make the building taller. They are surmounted by a white stucco entablature, whose cornice and eaves have the characteristic colonial dentils or blocks.

Two suspended lanterns of colonial design frame the main entrance to the building. Further lighting of the entrance, which is recessed three feet from the front of the building, is achieved by down lights concealed in the soffit or underside of the entablature.

Aluminum glass doors open to a terrazo-floored foyer. Inner doors, also of aluminum and glass, afford an open, friendly view into the building's interior. A staircase leads to the below-level floor.

SIMILAR double-door arrangements at the rear entrance to the building permit after-hours use of both second-floor and lower level rooms.

The first-floor interior, planned by Countryside Interiors (formerly Home and Garden shop), presents a tasteful effect in Williamsburg colors and furnishings. The walls have panelled oak wainscoting, dark-stained to conform with desks and other furnishings. Walls are done in Williamsburg green, with draperies of cotton taffeta iridescent in green and gold.

Brass Williamsburg chandeliers provide a friendly, homelike effect. Further lighting is afforded by recessed fluorescent lights.

Terrazo flooring in tones of white, aqua, and green is found in the general public area of the main floor. The general office areas are carpeted in a grospoint mixture of gold, brown, and eggshell.

THE OFFICE of the Association president is decorated in soft greens, blues, and gold. Draperies feature Ford Museum reproduction prints. The vice president's office is done in colors of brown, eggshell, and light buff. Furnishings of both offices are Williamsburg reproductions by Kittinger.

Both offices have glass partitions looking into the interior general office, with bow windows to the exterior.

Furnishings in the general office include traditional desks by Haeger. The tellers' counters are faced with stained panelled oak that matches the wainscoting. A texolite surface on the counters captures the wood-grain effect of the natural oak.

Below stairs are the community room with service kitchen, employees' lounge, a fireproof safe for record-keeping, public washrooms, a storage room, and the boiler and equipment room.

The second floor has been finished except for partitions that will be installed later as needed. Men's and women's washrooms are also found on this floor.

Why Has Youthful Savings Association Grown Fast?

Certain key factors are thought to be principally responsible for the unusual success Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association has enjoyed in its young career.

For one thing, the Federal Savings Association is a mutual operation. This means the people who invest their savings there are more than just customers. They actually own the Association. All profits, aside from required reserves and money set aside for capital improvements, go back to them in dividends.

They have a sense of proprietorship in the Association. They have to be satisfied that every phase of the Federal Savings operations is being competently handled.

THEY HAVE confidence in the Association for several reasons:

—Its conservative policies in lending money for home mortgages.

—Its regular examination, as a Federal institution, by Federal Home Loan Bank examiners.

—Insurance of every account up to $10,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, an agency of the U.S. Government.

Customers like the convenience of saving at Federal Savings — a convenience which is a matter of services as much as of location. Of course, the new site, with such additional features as drive-up window, night depository and safe deposit vault, will further accentuate the convenience that has been a feature of the Federal Savings operation.

MOST OF ALL, customers like friendly service. This is borne out by a Carnegie Foundation survey showing that 89 of every 100 people said they did business with one financial institution rather than another because of someone who was pleasant, thoughtful, and considerate or gave them the kind of service they wanted.

This point was underscored recently by a long-time Arlington Heights resident, commenting on the friendly atmosphere that prevailed at the Federal Savings establishment on State rd.

"I hope they don't forget to bring it with 'em when they move to their new place," he added.

Put Down as Much as You Can, Home Buyers Advised

When you buy a home, you should put as much money down as you can and pay off the remainder in as few years as possible, advises the United States Savings and Loan League.

Otherwise, says the League, substantial "hidden" costs may accrue that will result in financial hardship at a later date and may even take much of the joy out of home ownership.

In general, recommends the League, you should pay as much down as you can, after making provisions for the cost of appliances and furnishings, and pay off your loan in as short a period as possible. By so doing, you'll save a significant sum that would otherwise go for interest, and you'll achieve full title more quickly.

THE LEAGUE is the nationwide trade organization for the multi-billion dollar savings and loan business. It represents 4,400 savings associations which hold 90 per cent of total United States savings and loan assets. The nation's savings and loan associations finance nearly 40 per cent of all homes built or sold annually.

In urging home buyers to beware of so-called "super-easy" home financing terms, the League cites the following example showing the "hidden costs" that may lie in making an exceedingly low down payment and taking out a mortgage over an unusually long period.

For instance, say you buy a $15,000 house. If you put down a minimum down payment of $1,050 and financed the balance over 20 years at 5 per cent, you would pay out a total of $8,147 in interest.

But, if you put down $3,000 and financed the balance on the same terms as above, you would pay out $7,008 in interest, or $1,139 less than with the lower minimum down payment.

Thus it is in the interest of a home buyer to put as large a down payment on his house as he can.

AT THE SAME time, you can save significantly by shortening the length of your mortgage. That this is so is indicated by the fact that a $15,000 mortgage carrying an interest rate of 5 per cent will cost you $13,998 over a 30-year period; $11,325 over a 25-year period; $8,760 over a 20-year period; $6,357 over a 15-year period; and $4,980 over a 12-year period.

The difference between the cost of a $15,000 5 per cent mortgage over a 30-year period and the same mortgage over a 12-year period is $9,000, a significant sum for a man to keep in his own pocket in these days of high living costs.

Ideal Weather All Year-Round

Year-round "ideal weather" is guaranteed patrons and employees of Arlington Heights Federal Savings.

The latest devices in heating and air-conditioning provide "zoned" temperatures that insure proper climate for every part of the new building.

The installation made by Heatmasters, with headquarters at 5257 Irving Park rd., Chicago, provides an efficient system for summer cooling and winter heating, according to H. Gersten, owner and founder.

HEATED BY oil-fired boilers, the building has radiation on its outer walls with free-standing convector radiators.

Air-condition ducts have coils for heating and cooling so that fresh air is brought in continually and heated or cooled according to need. Air-cooled condensers have been installed on the roof of the Federal Savings building.

To regulate the fresh air for heating, according to Gersten, sensing bulbs determine how much fresh outside air is to be allowed through dampers to mix with returned air for proper balance.

Zoning on each of the three floors of the Federal Savings building insures that each area will be heated or cooled to the proper degree, regardless of what other areas require.

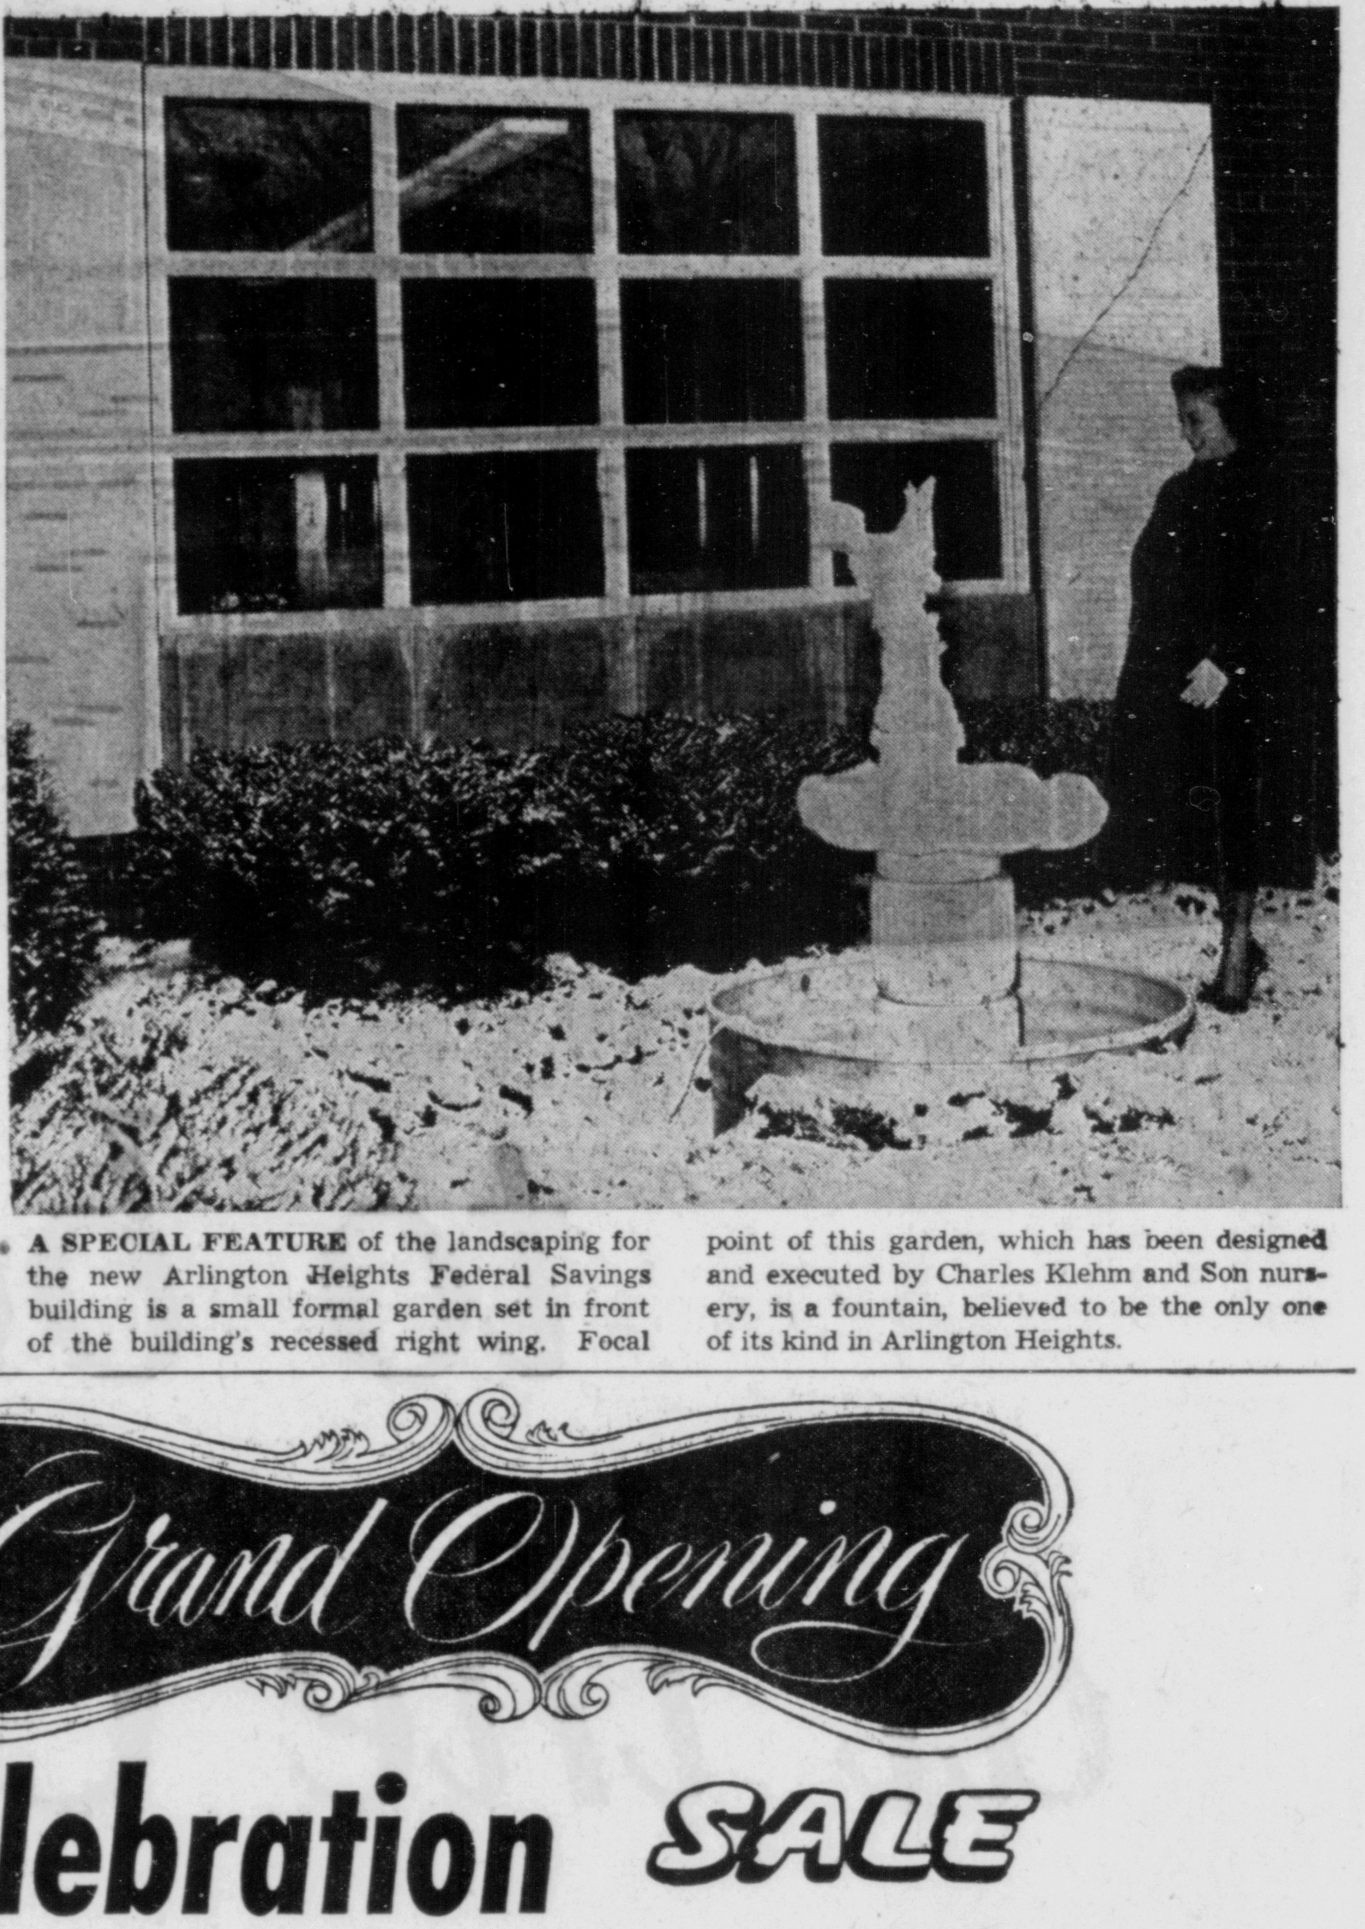
THE HEATMASTERS firm was founded in 1934. Its work encompasses heating, piping, ventilating and air-conditioning. Among its recent installations in commercial, institutional, and residential buildings has been the Belmont Central Savings and Loan Association, High Lo Food Stores, Wilmette Fire Station, and various schools in the north and northwest suburban areas.

Duct work and grills for the distribution of air for the heating and cooling systems were the product of Bunge's of Elgin, Ill. Operating in Elgin for the past half-century, the Bunge firm has recently moved into a new building at 603 E. Chicago st. Its heating and air-conditioning department employs 20 people.



A SPECIAL FEATURE of the landscaping for the new Arlington Heights Federal Savings building is a small formal garden set in front of the building's recessed right wing. Focal point of this garden, which has been designed and executed by Charles Klehm and Son nursery, is a fountain, believed to be the only one of its kind in Arlington Heights.

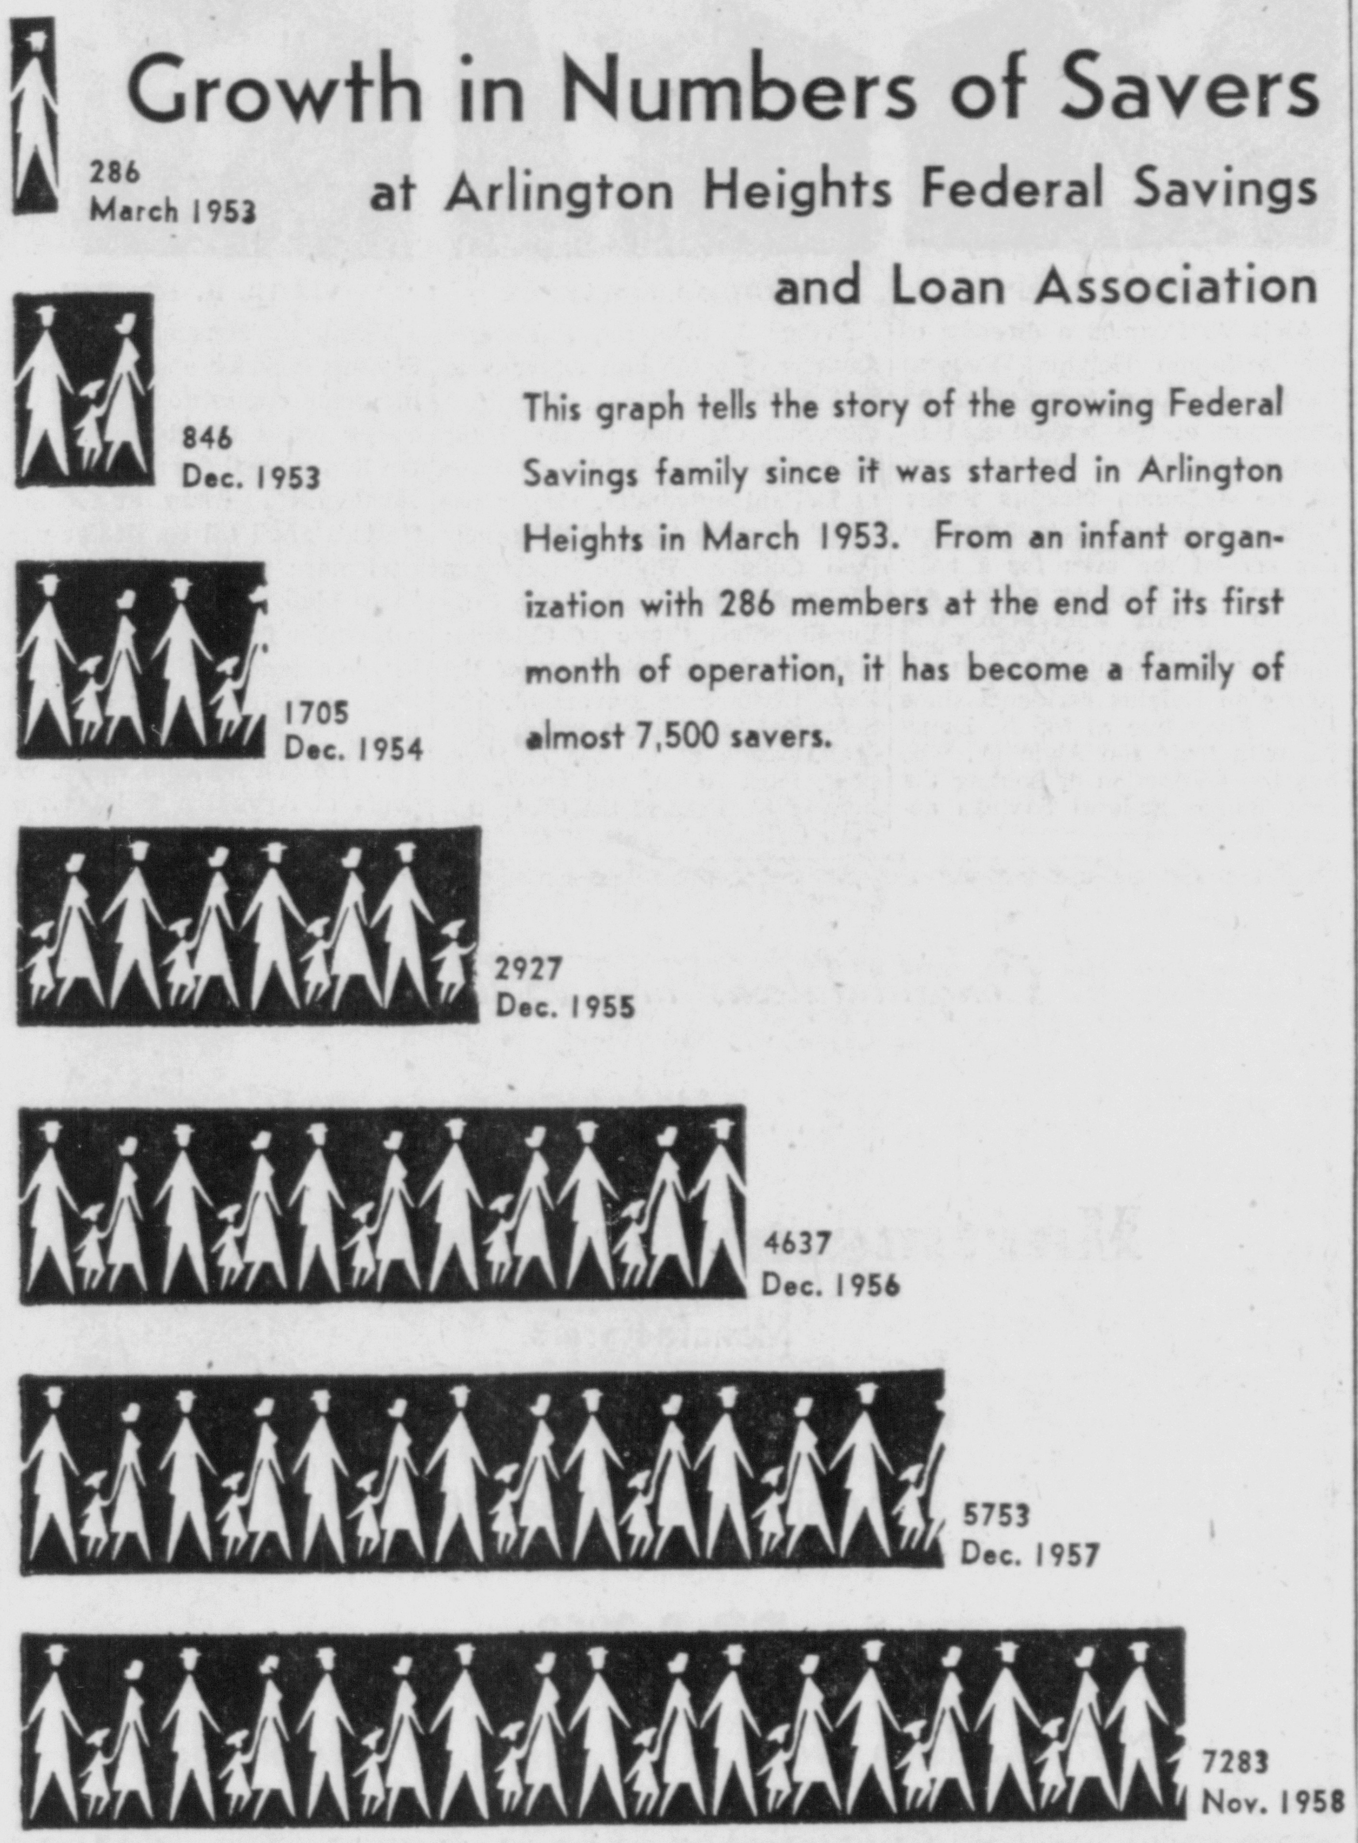
Growth in Numbers of Savers

at Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association

This graph tells the story of the growing Federal Savings family since it was started in Arlington Heights in March 1953. From an infant organization with 286 members at the end of its first month of operation, it has become a family of almost 7,500 savers.



$2.1 Million Home Loans For Four-Month Period

Arlington Heights Federal Savings' home loans for the four-month period from July through October reached $2.1 million, Donald F. Morton, Federal Savings vice president, reported.

Morton, who is the officer in charge of mortgage lending, said that Arlington Heights Federal Savings had its biggest home lending month in July, when almost $894,000 were made available to qualifying borrowers.

HE ALSO REPORTED that the Cook Council of Insured Savings Associations, which has 206 members loaned a total of $633,234,000 on homes within a 50-mile radius of Chicago during the first nine months of this year. The amount is up $85,215,000, or 15 per cent, from the 1957 nine-month total.

The mortgage funds were paid out to finance the construction of new houses, the purchase of existing homes, the refinancing of mortgages, and the repair, expansion and modernization of older residences.

The nine-month total indicates the amount that will be made available for residential mortgages in 1958 will be well over the $730,000,000 predicted earlier this year, Morton said.

THURSDAY, DEC. 4, 1958

THE JANUARY - through-September total of mortgages on new construction was $203,530,000, an increase of $14,457,000, or 7 per cent, from a year ago.

Mortgages on existing homes added up to $304,455,000, up $7,998,000, or 2 per cent, from the first nine months of 1957.

Other mortgages in the period totaled $125,249,000, a hike of $62,762,000, or 100 per cent above the year-ago figure.

The latter category of mortgages (refinancing, home improvement and commercial real estate loans) made the big jump mainly in the early part of this year when there was relatively little activity in new-construction lending. When home building perked up in the spring, the volume of mortgages on new houses swelled rapidly.

Morton noted that mortgage interest rates, which climbed last year and then dropped about ½ per cent by mid-1958, have firmed, and are up slightly on some loans.

"The downtrend in these rates has definitely stopped," he said. "The trend may be starting upward again."

MOST MORTGAGES made by insured savings and loan associations in the Chicago area now carry an interest rate of about 5½ per cent, although the range is from 5 to 6.

Required down payments on these mortgages now run 25 to 35 per cent, Morton said. He pointed out that as a general rule, the higher your down payment, the lower the rate of interest you are required to pay for the mortgage loan.

He stated that home buyers now will find more favorable financing terms than are expected to exist in the anticipated boom of the 1960s.

"Financing opportunities may never again be as good as they are today," Morton warned. "The smart home seeker will buy now.

"To get a mortgage on the home you want to buy, first discuss the matter with a loan officer of a savings and loan association. Then make a loan application.

"The lending institution will determine whether you are a good credit risk. It will appraise the building you want to buy. The association's mortgage loan committee will study your application and recommend the loan it can make. Title to the property is checked.

"If you make the down payment required, the mortgage money is paid upon your direction to the builder or seller."

YOU'LL FOLLOW these steps in getting a loan backed by the Federal Housing Administration or Veterans Administration, in addition to complying with the regulations of the federal agency.

You may want an "open-end" provision that permits you to borrow additional amounts at a later date under the same mortgage.

For example, you may receive a $10,000 mortgage originally. When a substantial portion has been repaid, you may want to add a garage or extra room to your house. You can go back to the association and borrow an additional sum on your present mortgage without being burdened with the extra costs involved in refinancing the original loan.

As a home owner, you'll find, too, that a savings and loan association will be of service in providing a loan for remodeling.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS Federal Savings and Loan is offering a galaxy of prizes during its grand opening celebration. Top prize is a Magnavox Stereophonic high fidelity instrument with a companion speaker done in mahogany with tasteful styling that blends gracefully with any room. This new Continental model brings the full orchestral value of recorded music into your home with the fidelity of a personal performance.

Savings and Loan In Record Growth

The nation's savings and loan business is heading toward the largest growth for any year in its history during 1953, according to Joseph Holzka, president of the United States Savings and Loan League.

Holzka estimates that total assets of the savings and loan business will show an increase of approximately $6.2 billion in 1958. The previous record growth occurred in 1955, when there was an increase of $6 billion.

The League official, who is president of the Northfield Savings and Loan Association, Staten Island, N. Y., attributed the record gain to the "resolute" pursuit of a policy of expansion by savings and loan institutions in the face of the recession in early 1958.

"When the year opened our institutions had the choice of retrenching, or of taking the positive course of expanding our operations in order to help combat the recession," said Holzka. "Fortunately, our institutions made the right and courageous choice."

HOLZKA SAID THAT, as an indication of this expansion, it now appears likely that home lending by savings and loan associations in 1958 will reach an all-time peak of between $11.5 billion and $12 billion, as compared to the previous yearly record of $11.4 billion, established in 1955.

The 1958 mortgage total figure will be an increase in excess of 10 per cent over the 1957 home loan total of $10.5 billion.

The savings and loan executive said that the big step-up in home lending has been made possible by the large volume of savings receipts — which, according to Holzka, will establish a new record in 1958 along with peak gains in assets and home loans.

College Savings Become Popular

Among the many reasons that prompt people to save is a college education for their youngsters.

That's not a simple matter in the days of tremendous bulges that are coming in our college-age population. It's a fact that the numbers of college-age men and women will be doubled in the late 1960's over what they have been in recent years.

Add to this the problem of rising college costs and you can understand why thoughtful parents are concerned about having the necessary funds for a college education.

AWARE THAT the single "all-purpose" savings account for the family is often directed to other family needs before college days arrive, Arlington Heights Federal Savings has recommended a special Go-to-College Account.

A chart shows how much is needed in a monthly savings program, depending on your youngster's age, to accumulate the required sum for college at age 18. Moreover, the chart reveals how an early start at saving for college enables Arlington Heights Federal Savings actually to pay for one year of your youngster's education through accumulated earnings.

The secret of this Go-to-College Account, as in any successful savings program, is a habit of regularity and a firmness against letting the funds be put to any other use.

Now cars use it!

Aviation gasoline (then 100 octane) was first produced commercially by the Socony-Vacuum Oil Co. at Paulsboro, N. J. in 1936.

Insured Savings: What This Means

"What does 'insured savings' actually mean?"

"In the event of any defalcation, what do I get—and how promptly do I get it?"

These are questions occasionally asked by persons who know that their savings are insured up to $10,000 but are curious as to how payment is made.

LET'S TAKE the example a few years ago of the eastern savings institution in which a lady officer embezzled almost $3,000,000. Now, this is an example of serious misappropriation of money—yet not a single saver was delayed in getting access to his funds nor did anyone lose a penny.

In such an instance, the saver at his option gets cash or, if he prefers, another account at an insured savings institution.

THIS PROTECTION to the saver is provided by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, a permanent government agency. It was created almost a quarter-century ago with an investment by the U. S. Treasury of $100,000,000 in stock of the corporation.

Over a third of this investment has been returned through yearly payments. During the years the government has received approximately $40,000,000 in dividends on this stock.

Although the corporation has had no need to date to seek any additional funds from the government, it is empowered to borrow up to three-quarters of a billion dollars from the Treasury if need should arise.

Not all savings and loan associations have this insurance protection. It is required of all associations operating under a Federal charter and therefore having the word "Federal" in their names (like Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association. But it is optional for state-chartered institutions.

Another point that many persons do not realize is that this insured protection need not stop at $10,000. Actually, a family of three can have up to $70,000 in fully insured savings in a savings and loan association.

SUPPOSE WE USE John Jones, his wife Mary, and their daughter Nancy to illustrate. Let's say each has an account in his own name. Then there can be three joint accounts—for John and Mary, John and Nancy, and Mary and Nancy. And, finally, a joint account in the name of all three.

Each individual account is insured against loss up to $10,000, making a total of $70,000 fully protected for the Jones family by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation.

Like the Joneses, organizations such as churches or corporations may have funds insured in quantities in excess of $10,000. This is done by having $10,000 in an account in the name of the organization and $10,000 in any number of valid trust accounts with the organization as beneficiary of each. Customarily, an officer of the organization is made trustee.

WHILE THE insurance feature is important, this is by no means the only protection afforded a person who places his savings in an institution like Arlington Heights Federal Savings. He also has these safeguards:

1) A savings and loan association's funds are invested in the most inherently secure avenue possible — first-mortgage loans on homes, with surplus funds in U.S. Government bonds.

2) An institution with conservative policies like Arlington Heights Federal's confines its loans to carefully selected mortgagors and within limits substantially below the fully appraised values of the homes.

3) A Federally chartered institution like Arlington Heights Federal receives regular Federal examinations and audits, as required by insurance regulations and charter.

There is no safer place for savings than a Federal savings and loan association. (SS

FEDERAL SAVINGS AND LOAN INSURANCE CORPORATION
SAFETY OF YOUR SAVINGS INSURED
UP TO $10,000

THESE YOUNGSTERS display the emblem which is key to Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan's boast that there is no safer place for savings! A Federally-chartered institution like Arlington receives regular Federal examinations and audits, as required by insurance regulations and charter. Each individual account is insured against loss up to $10,000.

Savings Association Has Wide Variety of Accounts

You can set up a savings program to meet your every need at Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Savings accounts are available to provide "cradle to the grave" security. For instance, you can open up a savings account for a new baby, complete with pass book, and with regular earning of dividends. Or, you can open up special retirement accounts planned to provide you with sufficient funds to make your last years on earth comfortable and pleasant.

In between these two extremes are a variety of accounts to meet almost every human need.

FOR INSTANCE many families open up Christmas savings funds at Arlington Heights Federal Savings at the beginning of each year to do away with the strain on the family budget that generally arises at Christmas time. Whether your goal is $50 or $500, you will find these clubs helpful in building up a nice spending fund for use the following December.

Still another widely used thrift plan is that for meeting the expenses of a planned vacation. This adds to the enjoyment of a family vacation by taking the strain off the budget that usually arises when adequate funds have not been saved.

Special college savings plans are available to accumulate funds for paying for a full four year college course.

Some prospective home buyers set up their own "Save for a Down Payment" programs, whereby they save a specified sum each month in order to have a certain-sized down payment when they are ready to buy.

Most savings accounts are of three basic types: regular savings accounts, which permit you to put in or take as much out as you wish whenever you desire; bonus accounts for saving certain amounts regularly and leaving them untouched over a specified period; and investment accounts, where you purchase paid up shares in specified amounts.

AVAILABLE ARE joint savings accounts which can be opened by husband and wife or any two persons and trustee accounts to provide for the future security of children, wife, parents, or any other beneficiaries.

All accounts are insured by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation in an amount up to $10,000.

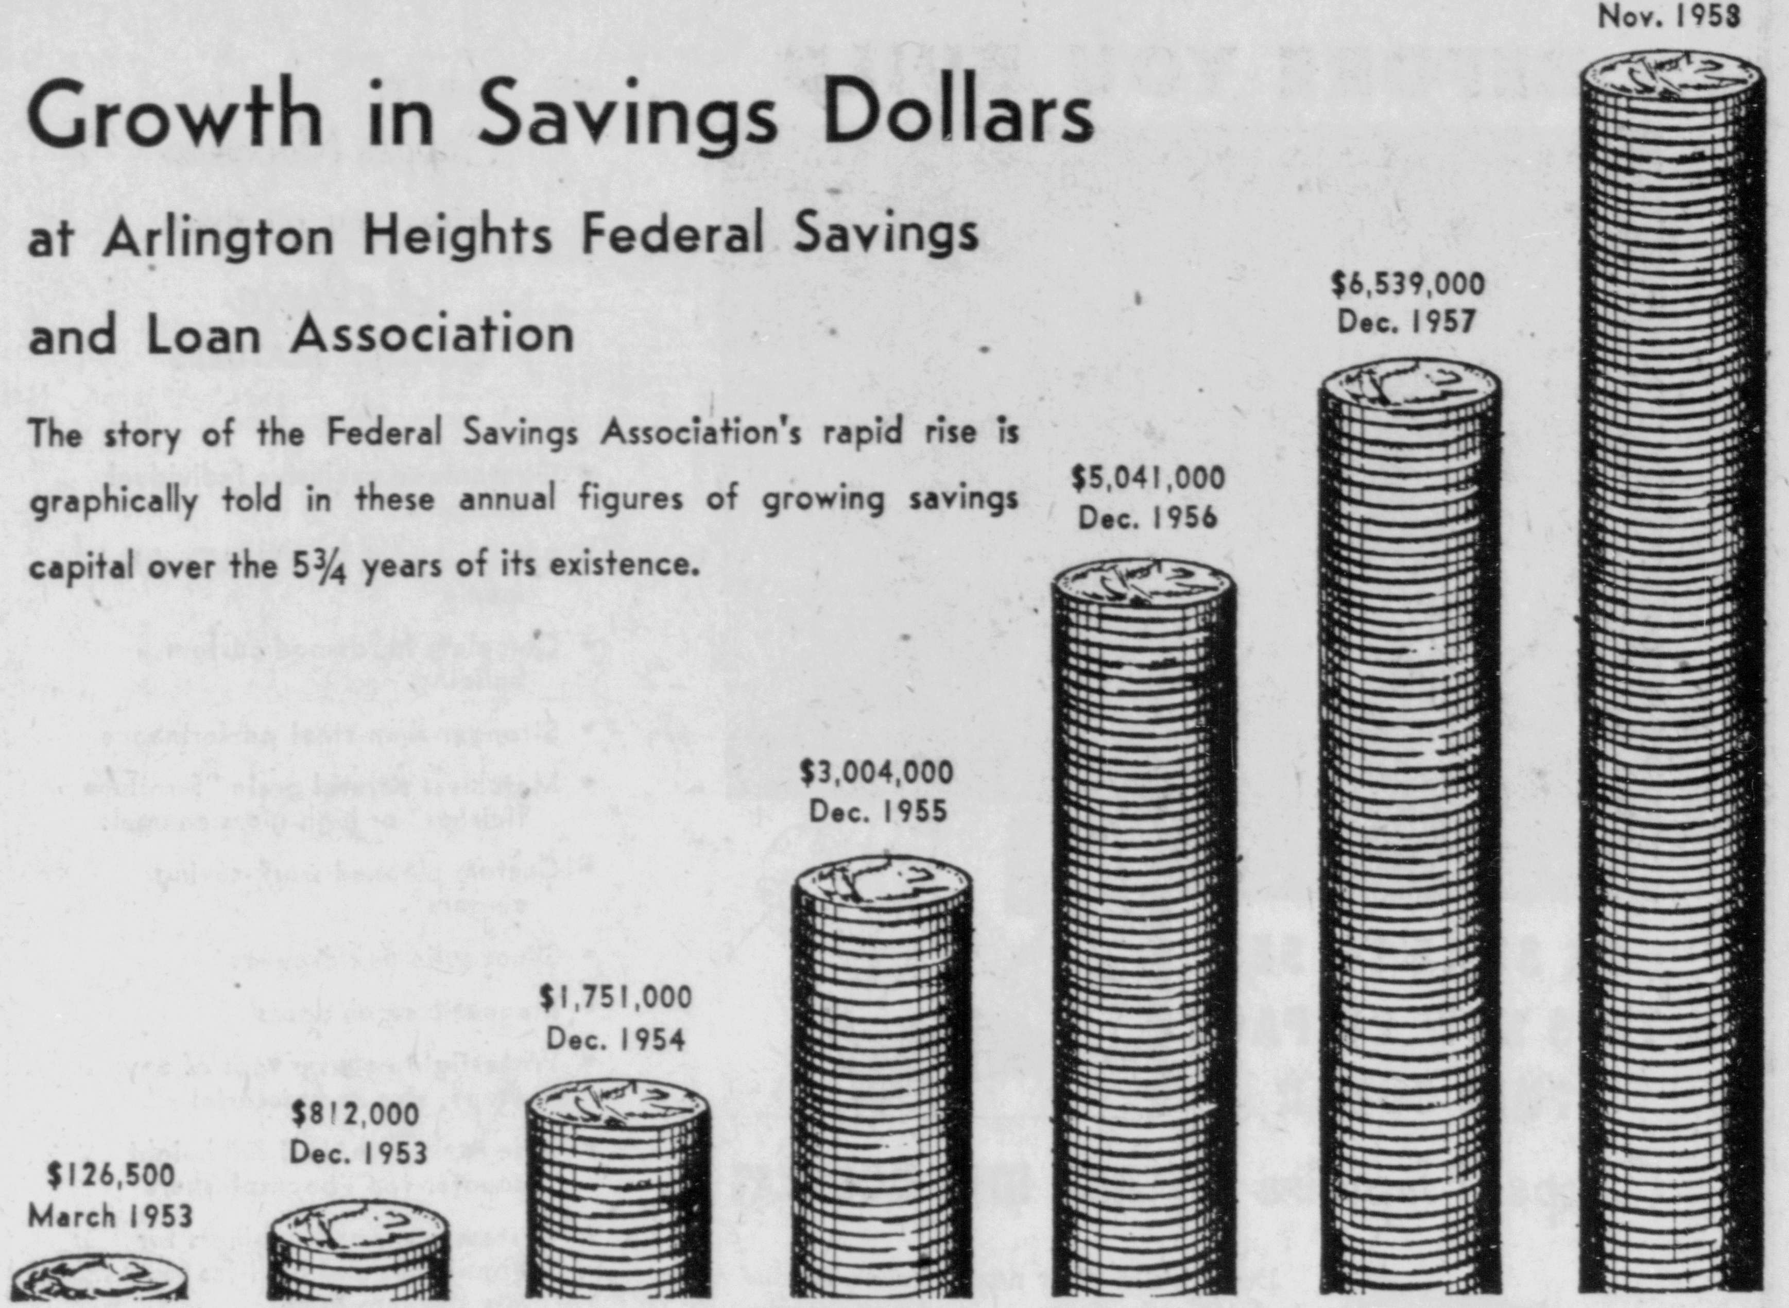
Saving regularly at savings associations not only enables you to build up substantial funds to meet special needs in the future, but also enables you to make a profit through the regular payment of dividends by the association for use of your funds.

At the same time, having money gives a person or family a sense of security, often eliminates a feeling of inferiority, and strengthen confidence to face life and make important decisions.

Growth in Savings Dollars

at Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association

The story of the Federal Savings Association's rapid rise is graphically told in these annual figures of growing savings capital over the 5¾ years of its existence.



New Arlington Federal Offers Safe Deposit Vault

You can put away the old coffee grinder, Grandma!

Now that Arlington Heights Federal Savings is offering a new safe deposit vault in its Campbell street home, you won't have to hide your stocks and other valuable papers in the old grinder any more.

THE VAULT THAT has been installed in the new Federal Savings building is a beauty—a Herring-Hall-Marvin Five Star Constellation that has such features as —push-button control that withdraws the locking bolts and swings the door open over an arc of 180 degrees.

—floor-level entrance, eliminating the old-fashioned foot bridges typical of earlier vault styles.

—burglar-proof protection by a combination of torch-and drill-resisting metal and a solid plate of 99 per cent pure electrolytic copper that protects the combination lock and time lock against the oxy-acetylene torch.

THE NEW VAULT is located on the street-level floor to make it more convenient to customers.

Another advantage of the Federal Savings vault is the fact that it offers 49-hour-a-week availability to customers.

Annual rental ranges from $6.60 to $24.75, depending on which of six sizes is chosen.

If you store securities or other papers connected with income-producing property, the rent is deductible on your tax return—provided, of course, that you itemize deductions.

The stories you read every now and then in the newspapers tell a sad story of important papers and valuables lost because they were kept in totally inadequate places in the home—like Grandma's coffee grinder, for example.

HERE IS A check list of some items you should keep in a safe deposit box:

—Stocks and bonds.
—Deeds and valuable leases.
—Valuable jewelry.
—Important bills of sale and receipts.
—Cancelled checks and cancelled notes.
—Life insurance policies.
—Title abstracts.
—Auto titles.
—An inventory of your assets.
—An inventory of household goods covered by fire insurance.
—Family records such as birth, marriage, or citizenship papers.
—Discharge papers.

Keep a written, up-to-date inventory of the contents—one copy in the box and one at home.

Put jewelry or other small items in containers or envelopes before storing them. Don't keep in the box items that you are likely to need frequently and at odd times.

TWO KEYS AND double locks on every box provide maximum security. On the face of the little steel safe that holds your box are two keyholes. One is for the association's "guard key" or "preparatory key" which fits all boxes. The other is for your key.

After the guard key is turned, yours will unlock the little safe. The guard key does not unlock your box, but just fixes the lock so that your key will work.

Ads sell diamonds

The power of suggestion through advertising is being credited with the rise in diamond sales in the past 20 years.

The world's largest diamond producer, a large advertiser since 1939, reports that 20 years ago the average imports of diamonds averaged one-quarter carat per marriage. The latest figure is seven-tenths carat per marriage.

Savings and Loan Was Born With an Idea…

By LIZ ALANNE

How do you start a savings and loan association?

It isn't easy, this reporter learned the other night. And, if you're the "what's-in-it-for-me" type, it's a downright waste of time!

We caught up with a group of the Arlington Heights Federal Savings directors about 11 p. m., just as they were ending a planning session on moving from 11 N. State rd. to their new Campbell st. home.

"How do you start a savings association?" we asked Charles H. Wilson. Charley is chairman of the Federal Savings board.

"Usually, you start with an idea in the mind of one person—in this case, that fellow there." He pointed to Paul E. Collins, now president of the savings and loan association.

"This man begins to sound out other persons in the community. Naturally, he has to have a background in the business and an ability to sell others on the values of such a financial institution to the community."

COLLINS, I learned, had lived in Arlington Heights since 1937 and had served as the executive officer of two savings and loan associations.

"What's the attraction for a person to get involved in an operation like this?" I asked him.

"Primarily, a desire to see your home community grow," Collins said. "You recognize that it will profit from something of this kind and then you get excited about seeing it happen."

"But isn't there any personal gain?" I asked.

"Not in a mutual institution like a Federal savings and loan association," Collins pointed out. "There are no preferred stockholders, no owners. All profits from operation, except for reserves set aside as required by law, go to the savers as dividends."

I asked if the directors got the customary stipend for attendance at meetings.

"Yes," he replied, "and for this they are expected not only to be present at these meetings and give their counsel but also to participate actively on one or more standing committees. At the end of a year, what they earn from this service wouldn't come near buying a Hi-Fi set like the one we are giving away as a Grand Opening prize."

Probably wasn't easy, I suggested, to recruit the seven directors needed to get the savings and loan association under way.

"Actually, only two of those we approached turned us down—couldn't see anything in it for themselves. But if you start out looking for men who are civic-minded, representative of the community, unselfish, and honorable—and if your judgment is any good—you don't have too much trouble finding them. "This came from Irving T. Rinker, a long-time Scarsdale resident, who was another of the founding directors.

"Our problems" didn't really begin until we had our first meeting of organizers in the fall of 1951 — six months after we had begun talking about an association in Arlington Heights," Collins remarked.

"The fact that we didn't start business until March 1953 — a year and a half later—indicates a number of things had to be done."

"First of all," Collins said, "you have to prove to the Federal Home Loan Board, among other things, that there is a genuine need in the community for a savings and loan association, that there is a probability that the association will be a success, and that no harm will be done thereby to any other thrift organization in the community."

This sort of thing requires statistical data in quantity on the communities involved.

"After it is satisfied on all this", Charles Wilson interposed, "the FHLB makes its own inquiry into the character and purpose of the individual directors of the proposed organization.

"THEN IT GIVES public notice locally and throughout the industry of a public hearing, inviting all who oppose to step forward and make themselves heard."

"With no objections, you were then in business," I suggested.

"Not by a long sight," Collins laughed. "Then the FHLB said, 'Go out into the community and get at least 75 persons who are willing to subscribe at least $100,000 in savings. When you have these and can show a full-time office operation, with a competent manager, then come back to us and apply for a charter.'"

All of this has to be done without subsequent cost to the association, he added.

"But does this mean the directors have to dig down and come up with the necessary funds?" I asked.

"Yes, the directors individually pledged substantial sums of money for a period of three years to guarantee savers against any loss through operations," Wilson said.

"In addition to pledging their own money, they had to guarantee permanent quarters for the proposed association. This meant our leasing of our present State rd. location on Dec. 15, 1952, involving a 5-year lease three months before we received our permission to do business!

"In other words, we were personally 'on the hook' for $30,000 before we had any assurance of getting our charter."

"After the 75 savers and $100,000 were subscribed, NOW at last were you in business?" I asked.

"Now we were faced with the hurdle of getting Federal insurance of shares," Collins said. "For this we had to file a petition with the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, assuring them we had met all conditions — our subscriptions were collected, the association was not obligated in any way for expenses thus far contracted, and money pledged by the directors was in escrow for three years to provide against future operational losses.

"Only then were we permitted to hold an organizational meeting, elect officers, and adopt our by-laws.

"ON MARCH 9, 1953, we received our certificate of insurance, and on Saturday, March 14, 1953, we opened for business."

"That's a day I'll never forget," laughed Alvin A. Popp, another of the directors. My young son, Al Jr. (he's now a student at Elmhurst College), was bound and determined he'd be the first saver in the new association. Got us all up 'way before breakfast so he'd be first in line.

"He's still proud of the fact that he holds Savings Account No. 1 at Arlington Heights Federal Savings."

Quite a job, we agreed, getting a savings and loan association started. Was it all worthwhile?

"Well, back in '53 we started with 135 savers and $103,000 in total assets," Collins said. "Our first month's transactions involved $26,000.

"Now we have over 7,500 savers, total assets of $11 million, and our monthly transactions range from $750,000 to $1 million.

"We still have five of our seven founding directors. In addition to Wilson, Rinker, Popp and myself, they include Carl Klehm, one of our real stalwarts in those difficult days. The other two men had to drop out early for business reasons. Virgil Horath [illegible] one of them, joining us just as we opened.

"But I'm getting away from your question.

"When you think of the thousands of homes made happier and more secure through savings programs and the hundreds of homes made possible through the thrift of others, I'd say it was worthwhile. Wouldn't you?" Collins asked.

I said I guessed it was!

New Savings and Loan Has Modern Drive-Up Service

Speedy service without leaving your car is assured Arlington Heights Federal Savings patrons when the new Williamsburg Colonial home on Campbell street is opened next week.

A Herring-Hall-Marvin Drive-Up Window has been installed on the south side of the new building, facing the parking lot.

It has a depository drawer which slides forward to the customer as he remains seated at the wheel of his car. The drawer's wedge-shaped front lowers, providing ample reach-in space.

The top of the drawer is covered with glass so that the contents are completely sheltered from wind and rain.

PRESENT PLANS call for the Drive-Up Window to be in service during the regular office hours of the Association—daily, including Wednesday and Saturday from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., Fridays from 8:30 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Night Depository

For the convenience of customers wishing to deposit business transactions at the Association during after-hour periods, a Night Envelope Depository has been installed in the new Federal Savings building.

It is located at the main entrance, to the left of the main doors.

Downtown Arlington Hts. Now Sports Formal Garden

A formal garden reminiscent of 18th century Williamsburg — located right in the heart of downtown Arlington Heights!

A special feature of the landscaping for the new Arlington Heights Federal Savings building is a small formal garden set in front of the building's recessed right wing.

Focal point of this garden, which has been designed and executed by the Charles Klehm & Son nursery, is a fountain believed to be the only one of its kind in Arlington Heights.

In the style of 18th century formal gardens, the landscaping features yews trimmed in the style of the boxwoods of colonial days, according to Carl G. Klehm, owner of the nursery firm.

WALKS OF BLUE stone laid in concrete form a Y shape with the fountain within the arms of the Y. White wrought-iron benches sit at the ends of the Y.

Plantings include specimen pyramidal yews in the far corners, spreading yews beneath the windows, and columnar yews along the walls. Outstanding wide globe yews accentuate the entrance to the garden.

The fountain figures, titled "Girl with Goose," are copies of the famous French bronze statue of a beautiful child holding in her arms a goose which shoots water upward from its mouth.

The base and figure are of Carrara stone (marble mixture) of fine texture.

THE LOVELY sunken pool with surrounding stone walk and formal shrubbery adds a colorful and picturesque touch to the Arlington Heights business district.

Two broad-based Hatfield yews frame the main entrance to the Federal Savings building.

The outstanding landscaping feature of the south facade of the building, which overlooks the parking lot and the driveway to the porte-cochere, is a triangular-shaped garden at the west end of the building.

Background for this garden is a row of narrow pyramidal Washington hawthornes, which feature beautiful foliage and bright red berries in winter.

THE CENTRAL figure is a six-foot Moerheim blue spruce.

In the remaining areas of this triangle are low-growing cotoneaster. Also planted for spring bloom are Darwin hybrid tulips.

The Darwins, according to Klehm, are six inches in diameter when in bloom. It will be the first massive display, he says, of these flowers in Arlington Heights.

The Klehm nursery, located at Algonquin and State roads, was founded by Carl Klehm's late father, Charles. It has been serving the northwest suburban area since 1902.

Beautify Your Home With Low-Cost Improvement Loan

Did you know you can put wall-to-wall carpeting in your home with a low-cost home improvement loan from Arlington Heights Federal Savings?

The carpeting is just one example of the hundreds of ways you can improve or repair your home by borrowing amounts up to $3,500 and taking as long as 60 months to repay.

"THERE'S NO FINER or more essential spending a homeowner can undertake," says Charles P. Wendt, assistant secretary of the Federal Savings institution, "than to make key repairs or improvements on his home for more gracious living."

No down payment is required, points out Wendt, the association's home improvement department head.

"You're the boss of the entire project," he says. "You select your own contractor to do the work, and you pick the terms on which to repay your loan. No service charges, title searches, or additional endorsers are required."

HERE ARE A FEW home improvements that suggest the many ways you can take advantage of the Federal Savings' home improvement loan services:

New roof, chimney flashing, tuckpointing, house insulation, new gutters and downspouts, garage, modernized kitchen or bathroom, combination doors, storms, screens.

Landscaping, house painting, electrical re-wiring, room or porch addition, basement recreation room, new heating system, weatherproofing.

And, of course, wall-to-wall carpeting.

When you have the best proposal for your home improvement and are ready to get started, all you have to do, says Wendt, is fill out a home improvement credit application, obtainable from the Federal Savings home improvement department. The entire transaction can be handled, if you wish, by mail.

Savings & Loan Employees Are Students of Business

One of the secrets of Arlington Heights Federal Savings' success lies in this behind-the-scenes fact:

Its employees rank among the most avid students of the savings and loan business to be found in the Chicago area.

THEY HAVE the highest percentage of enrollment in the Chicago Chapter of the American Savings and Loan Institute.

The purpose of this organization is to further the educational and professional development of savings association men and women.

The Chicago Chapter conducts evening classes Mondays through Fridays in downtown Chicago.

CURRENTLY, 11 Arlington Heights Federal Savings employees are taking 25 courses at the Institute.

Past achievements of Federal Savings employees, who take these programs on their own time, include the following:

—Thirty-five certificates of award for satisfactorily completed courses.

—Two standard diplomas, awarded to Miss Marlene Kucera, 934 S. Vail, Arlington Heights and Donald F. Morton, 16 S. William st., Mount Prospect, for satisfactory completion of a program of ten courses.

—One graduate diploma, awarded to Donald F. Morton, for successful completion of a 16-course program.

Subjects are taught by specialists in the savings and loan and allied fields. They include accountants, attorneys, investment and mortgage experts.

In addition to this program, the American Savings and Loan Institute, in cooperation with the University of Indiana, offers a three-year graduate summer course on the Bloomington, Indiana, campus.

Kenneth Becker, 529 North ave., Barrington, a Federal Savings staff member, holds a graduate key for this program. Donald F. Morton has completed his first year of summer study.

"THIS UNUSUAL record of Federal Savings employees reflects a special enthusiasm for their work and their Association," said Paul E. Collins, president. Attendance at the Savings and Loan Institute courses is purely voluntary.

"The fact that they are willing to give up their evenings in favor of attending classes in Chicago's Loop indicates the interest our employees are taking in their own and the Association's development."

Collins cited the benefits associations derive from the American Savings and Loan Institute training. He named the assets of a well-educated and well-trained staff, improved customer relations, development of personnel to greater responsibilities, more devoted and interested employees, and provision for future leadership needs.

Employes in turn, he said, have an opportunity for formal training in the savings and loan field, instead of merely serving apprenticeships. They derive a sense of pride from the knowledge and skills they acquire and from increased awareness of the importance of the field of business in which they are engaged.

Installs New Floor Tiles

Floor tile installations in the new Arlington Heights Federal Savings building have been made by the Peko Tile firm, specialists in vinyl, rubber and asphalt floors and plastic wall tile for kitchens and bathrooms.

The Palatine firm, which serves the northwest suburban area, has installed Armstrong Textolite linoleum in the behind-the-counter working area.

This heavyyweight flooring is extremely durable and easy to maintain, according to Jim Koffend, Peko Tile owner. "It has a luxurious built-in cushioning effect that is appreciated by people who have to stand on their feet many hours," he said.

KENTILE'S NEWEST and most fashionable asphalt tile, the wood grain pattern that comes in two colors, maple and cherry, is being used in lower level and second-floor areas.

Koffend, who resides at 849 Mt. Prospect rd., Des Plaines, complimented the officers of the Federal Savings institution on the workmanship throughout the entire building. The Peko Tile firm is located at 29 S. Northwest hwy., Palatine. (SS

Credit Savings Increase To Recovery in Economy

The heavy inflow of savings into the nation's 6,100 savings and loan associations in the first nine months of this year was a major factor in the current economic recovery, a top savings and loan leader declared.

Norman Strunk, executive vice president of the United States Savings and Loan League, in reporting that savings associations had added a record $4 billion to net savings in the first nine months of 1958, said that "now that many Americans have built themselves sizeable cushions to hedge against possible financial distress, they are re-entering the market for goods and services to a greater extent than earlier in the year."

THE NINE-MONTH savings figure represented a gain of 28 per cent over the $3.1 billion added to net savings during the same period of last year. With the exception of July, net savings have jumped substantially over the comparable period of last year in every month of 1958, ranging from 12 per cent in May and June to 37 per cent in March.

In tracing the pattern of savings over the last year, Strunk noted that Americans did not really start stepping up their savings programs until January of 1958, and by that time the recession was quite advanced.

In the hectic free-for-all spending days of the earlier postwar period, Strunk explained, many families felt it unnecessary to build an emergency nest-egg. "The result was that when economic uncertainties arose, they reassessed their liquidity positions and decided to curtail their buying" he explained.

"But now, with many families having accumulated savings equal to three to six months of their annual salary—and some even a greater amount, they feel more disposed to step up their buying of important durable goods."

Strunk predicted that savings associations will gain an estimated $6 billion in savings this year, a new record which greatly surpasses the previous record of $5.1 billion attracted in 1958. The gain would bring total savings held by these specialized thrift and home financing institutions at year's end to $48 billion, also an all-time peak. (SS

Here Are Q's-A's On Savings & Loan

Here are answers to questions most frequently asked of Arlington Heights Federal Savings staff members concerning savings and loan associations:

Q—Exactly what is a savings and loan association?

A—It is a locally owned and privately managed thrift and home - financing institution. It gathers together the savings of the people, uses these savings to make long-term amortized loans to other people for the construction, repair, purchase, or refinancing of homes, and secures the repayment of these loans.

Q—Are there many such institutions in this country?

A—Over 6,000. More than 26 million people save their money in institutions like ours.

Q—Where do you receive your authority to do business?

A—Our Association is legally authorized by the United States Government, which investigates our operations and officially examines our books and records, usually once a year. As a Federal Savings and Loan Association, we are a fiscal agent of the United States.

Q—What guarantees do I have of the safety of my money?

A—Sound, conservative management policies, first of all, control reinvestment of savers' funds. Keep in mind that these funds go into one of the safest of all investments — first mortgage loans, principally, on the security of residential property.

These are loans on homes—and practically every home owner makes a determined effort to keep his home by paying off his debt.

Further insurance is the Association's thorough appraisal of the property securing the loan and careful check of the financial status of the borrower and his capacity to meet the obligation.

Q—Are savings Federally insured?

A—Yes, every savings account is automatically insured up to $10,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, a permanent agency of the United States Government.

Q—HOW MUCH is needed to open an account?

A—There is no minimum amount at Arlington Heights Federal Savings. Dividends are paid on any amount in the account, according to the regular dividend payment schedule.

Q—Must fixed sums be saved regularly?

A—No. There is no commitment to any pattern of saving. You are free to add as much and as often as you can to your account.

Q—Are fixed savings plans available?

A—Yes. A Bonus Plan offers even higher dividends to accounts that follow a regular, systematic program of saving over a prescribed period. In addition, there are such services as Christmas Clubs to assist in systematic saving.

Q—Can funds be withdrawn readily?

A—Yes, they are available promptly and cheerfully on request. No notice of withdrawal has ever been required.

Q—WHAT IS the current dividend and how is it paid?

A—The current dividend rate is 3½%. Dividends are calculated on monthly balances. (Money invested on or before the tenth of any month qualifies for a full month's dividends.) Earnings are declared semi-annually — on June 30 and December 31 — and are based on funds on deposit for at least one month at that time.

Q—Can youngsters start an account?

A—Yes, youngsters may open accounts, add to them, and withdraw from them in their own right and upon their own signature. If you wish, withdrawals can be made only on your signature.

Q—Can you accept accounts of organizations?

A—Yes, trustees and custodians of such accounts are authorized to invest funds without court order. Among such accounts are those of churches, schools, lodges, unions, and fraternal societies.

Q—CAN I HAVE several accounts for special purposes?

A—You may open several accounts to budget your funds for special purposes — taxes, insurance, retirement, a new car, or a special vacation.

Moreover, a family of three can have up to $70,000 of insured protection on these accounts if they are issued in different names or combinations of names.

Q—Do you have "save-by-mail" arrangements?

A—Yes, postage-paid envelopes make it easy to save by mail, with Arlington Heights Federal Savings paying the postage both ways. (SS

Five Men Laid Foundation For Huge Savings Industry

Five men who gathered in a hostelry near Philadelphia over 125 years ago laid the foundations for the multi-billion-dollar savings and loan industry.

These men — a manufacturer, doctor, surveyor, school teacher, and lawyer — were motivated by a common ambition. They desired the funds to purchase their own homes.

Meeting in January, 1831, in a Frankford, Pa., inn, they discussed how they could encourage thrift and spur home ownership among the working classes. What was needed, they decided, was a specialized institution patterned after the building societies of England.

THEY FORMED the Oxford Provident Building Association, with an original membership of 37 persons.

Each committed himself to a regular savings pattern on a weekly basis. When enough funds had been accumulated for a home to be started, the members were given the opportunity to bid, paying a slight premium for use of the money.

The first loan granted by Oxford Provident was granted on April 1, 1831, to the village lamplighter, a man with the high-sounding name of Comly Rich.

Rich borrowed $500, paying a $10 premium in addition to his 6 per cent interest. The home he bought is still standing in what is now Philadelphia, at 4276 Orchard st. In 1947, the Federal savings and loan associations of the Philadelphia area purchased the home and placed a bronze plaque upon it, to commemorate the birthplace of the American savings and loan idea.

MANY OF THE pioneer associations had limited funds to lend. They were largely a part-time operation for the officers, who were engaged in other businesses. The officers would meet only once or twice a week and then decide whom to lend money to.

Few associations had permanent quarters of their own. Many were sponsored by neighborhood churches and operated in the church hall or rectory.

Throughout the tremendous growth of savings and loan associations, the basic notion of its five originators has persisted: Encouragement of thrift among neighbors so that neighbors can become home owners. (SS

Savings Growth Is Phenomenon

A five-year record of growth that has drawn the attention and admiration of the entire savings and loan industry—this is the story of Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association.

One of the fastest growing savings and loan institutions in the nation's fastest growing business, Arlington Heights Federal Savings, in less than six years since it was founded by a small group of civic-minded citizens, has become an association of over 7,000 members whose savings assets are almost $8,500,000.

A GLANCE at the records since the first month-end report of March 31, 1953, when the young association had savings capital of $126,479 and only 286 savers, reveals these telltale figures of growth: (as of December 31 for each year):

	Savings Capital	Savers
1953	$ 811,986	846
1954	1,751,443	1,705
1955	3,003,673	2,927
1956	5,040,612	4,637
1957	6,539,119	5,753

As usual, savings increases at Arlington Heights Federal Savings ran ahead of averages for the 206 savings and loan associations of Cook county during the first nine months of 1958.

Throughout Cook county total savings in these institutions reached a record $3 billion at the three-quartr point in 1958.

THE NEW HIGH was attained with a net increase in savings of an estimated $324,100,000 during the first nine months of the year. The money is held in some 1,500,000 accounts.

A 21 per cent rate of increase for Arlington Heights Federal Savings during this nine-month period (from $6,539,000 to $7,930,000) was double the rate of increase for all 206 associations.

Savings throughout Cook county zoomed to the new peak despite the fact that the early part of the nine-month period was marked by a general business recession and increased unemployment.

The growing totals in savings accounts are attributed to an increasing awareness of the wisdom of thrift by people in the Chicago area.

PAUL COLLINS, president of Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan, pauses at the entrance to the new safe deposit vault in its new Campbell st. home. The safe provides burglar-proof protection by a combination of torch and drill-resisting metal and a solid plate of 99 per cent pure electrolytic copper that protects the combination lock and time lock against the oxy-acetylene torch.

Dividends to Hit Over $250,000!

Dividends in excess of a quarter-million dollars will be paid to Arlington Heights Federal Savings customers in 1958.

That's the prediction Paul E. Collins, president, made on the eve of the Federal Savings institution's move into its new Campbell street home.

Second-half dividends will be close to $140,000, he indicated. Coupled with first-half dividends of $114,000 paid to savers, annual earnings on savings capital will pass the quarter-million mark for the first time in the history of the young association.

COOK COUNTY'S 206 insured savings and loan associations expect to pay a record $50,000,000 in dividends for the last six months of this year, according to Frank T. Sedlacek, president of the Cook County Council of Insured Savings Associations.

The expected record six-month total tops the amount paid during the first half of this year by $2,000,000. It will exceed the total of the last half of 1957 by $8,000,000 and last year's first half total by $12,000,000.

THE 4 PER CENT average anticipated increase in dividends for the 206 insured associations in the last half of 1958 is far behind the Arlington Heights Federal Savings increase during this period of approximately 20 per cent.

The Cook county associations, Sedlacek said, protect the savers' money not only with insurance on each account up to $10,000, but with sound management that means mortgage loans are made with careful consideration and new houses on which mortgages are made are inspected carefully to verify that sound construction methods are used.

U of I Schedules Meet To Discuss Industries

The University of Illinois department of agricultural economics this week revealed plans for the first Agricultural Industries Forum, a new type of conference for all businesses and industries serving agriculture. Harold G. Halcrow, head of the department, announced the dates as January 27-28, 1959, on the University campus at Urbana.

Following the theme, "Tomorrow's Farm Challenge to Food and Agricultural Service Industries," the conference will emphasize new techniques, new developments and new markets. An industry advisory committee representing all agricultural industries is assisting in planning the program, selecting speakers and encouraging participation.

HALCROW LISTED these three conference purposes: to present a picture of changes in food and agricultural service industries, to show the trend and size of changes in markets served by these groups and to encourage more cooperation between agricultural industries and the College of Agriculture.

The 1½-day conference will be divided between general sessions considering the over-all economic picture for food and agricultural industry and separate group sessions for those interested in grain, livestock, dairy, poultry, farm supplies and equipment and food processing and distribution. Several nationally known speakers will appear on the program.

Members of the industry advisory committee include Zenas H. Beers, National Plant Food Institute, Chicago; Harold Goodwin, Funk Brothers Seed Company, Bloomington; I. Frank Green, vice president, Illinois Bankers Association, Peoria; I. E. Harrod, regional manager, Allied Mills, Decatur; J. Russell Ives, American Meat Institute, Chicago; W. B. Peterson, Illinois Agricultural Association, Chicago; Charles Snavely, executive secretary, Illinois Retail Farm Equipment Association, Peoria; Ralph J. Thomas, poultry division, DeKalb Agricultural Association, Sycamore; W. D. Walker, Illinois Retail Grocers Association, Mattoon; and Virgil A. Wiese, Illinois Grain Dealers Association, Champaign.

Since the forum will be held between semesters, the newest groups of University men's residence halls will be available for use at the conference. Dining facilities, rooms and auditoriums will be adequate to accommodate up to 2,000 people.

U.S. Can Feed Billion People

We should be able to produce enough food in this country to feed a billion people and to feed them well reports NATIONAL LIVE STOCK PRODUCER, the nation's leading live stock magazine.

The present curve of population increase suggests over 500 million people by the year 2050 and 1 billion by the year 2100.

Feeding our increasing population will have to be done without any great increase in cropland.

As of now, the most dependable and least expensive means of increasing food and forage supplies is by way of breeding much better plants, building up soil fertility and protecting against weeds, insects and diseases. Then there is the possibility of developing much better methods of protecting the final products against spoilage.

In addition to growing higher acre yields on the land now being farmed, there are highly important possibilities of making what we grow go farther as human food. This country now operates on a live stock economy that provides us with an abundance of meat, eggs and milk. We have this luxury diet because we can afford it. And our live stock system serves a highly useful purpose in getting rid of what would otherwise be much larger surpluses of grain that would keep selling-prices of farm produce at ruinously low levels.

Many other possibilities for increasing the supplies of food remain to be more fully explored. Wood wastes can be converted into edible proteins by yeasts in tank culture. Blue-green algae can also be grown for food by similar procedures.

Much greater use can be made of the food-producing potentialities of oceans, rivers, lakes, reservoirs and farm ponds. Chemical fertilizers can be used for increasing the yield of fish in inland waters.

Finally, we have not given up hope of uncovering the secret of the green chlorophyll in the leaves of plants. This chlorophyll manufactures sugar out of the water taken in by the roots of plants and the carbon dioxide that is absorbed through the leaves. Once this secret is known, we should be able to put sugar production on a belt-line factory basis. With an abundance of factory-made sugar at our disposal, proteins and fats could be synthesized at will by microbial-factory procedures. (Fm

Corn Draws Most Revenue

Corn is the most profitable crop for central Illinois farmers. That's what is shown by the 1957 cost records of 36 farmers cooperating with University of Illinois agricultural economics research workers.

A. G. MUELLER, in charge of detailed cost research, reported this week that in 1957 corn raised on medium-grade land in central Illinois returned $24.86 an acre for management and profits. This amount was left after these farmers paid all production costs. These costs included land charge and taxes, labor, power and machinery, fertilizers, seed and crop expenses, buildings, farm overhead expenses, interest on stored crop and charge for manure. Corn yielded about 79 bushels an acre and was valued at $1.10 a bushel.

Soybeans, running a close second, returned $23.78 an acre. The beans averaged 33 bushels an acre and were valued at $2.15 a bushel.

Oats showed a loss of $20.87 an acre. Yields averaged only 25 bushels in 1957 and were valued at 61 cents a bushel. To break even, oats would have needed to yield 59 bushels an acre.

Hay and pasture lost $10.79 an acre. The forage used included 89 days of pasture and .9 ton of hay. No allowance was made for unused forage, fertility benefits or other possible values of meadow in the rotation.

Mueller emphasizes that these figures are averages, and returns of individual farmers will vary above or below. But these figures clearly point out the importance of using high-profit crops like corn and soybeans in the rotation, he concludes. (FM

Safety Flags Are Available

Plans are available for making a retractable safety flag for your farm tractor.

A red flag attached to a tractor several feet above the ground can serve as an early warning, particularly in hilly country, points out Carl F. Mees, Cook County Farm Adviser.

However, Mees emphasizes that a red safety flag is good for daytime use only. A tractor must be well lighted both front and rear before it is driven on the highway at night.

For complete information, write to the Department of Agricultural Engineering, Urbana, Illinois and ask for a copy of "Safety Flags for Farm Tractors."

Dairymen Win Awards

Registered Guernsey cows owned by area dairymen made high records of milk production in the Advanced Registry division of the American Guernsey Cattle club.

Rosewood Proud Shirley, a junior 3-year-old, was milked twice daily for 365 days while on test. She is owned by W. H. Odlum, Roselle. Her official record was 13,636 pounds of milk and 656 pounds of fat.

E. B. HENSLEE, Arlington Heights, owns two cows which recently completed their official production records. Western Glow Fames Virtue, a 5-year-old, produced 14,427 pounds of milk and 712 pounds of fat in 304 days. She was milked twice daily.

Henslee Farms O Indian Maid, a junior 2-year-old, produced 9,486 pounds of milk and 516 pounds of fat in 365 days. She was also milked twice a day.

These official production records were supervised by the University of Illinois. (Fm

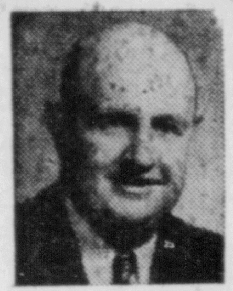
'Holiday Foods' For Home Bureau

"Holiday Foods" will be the lesson at the December 10 meeting of Arlington Heights-Wheeling unit of Cook county Home Bureau when members meet at 10 a.m. in the Farm Bureau building, Arlington Heights.

The lesson will be given by local leaders, Mrs. Donna Drake and Mrs. Laura Fritz.

Officers will be elected and luncheon will then be served by the board members, followed by a Christmas party. Each member is requested to bring a $1 gift for the grab bag. (Fm

Down on the Farm



CARL F. MEES

with Your Farm Adviser

By Carl F. Mees

If your child is to get an electric toy this Christmas, be sure—really sure—he can operate it safely before letting him handle it alone. Shock and fire are two very real dangers with electric toys. For your child's protection, help him avoid a fatal or disabling mistake with his new toy.

HERE'S AN important safety tip about your Christmas tree: Before you set up the tree, saw the bottom of the trunk diagonally and keep this cut under water at all times. Keep the tree away from any sources of heat which could dry it out. Be sure that every string of lights is in perfect condition with no frayed cords or loose sockets. Don't let your holiday go up in smoke.

Effective July 1, 1959, Illinois retail stores can sell only graded eggs to consumers. It will be illegal for retailers to continue to sell ungraded eggs. Retail stores should find reliable sources of graded eggs now.

Thanksgiving dinners did not use up all of the turkey in the United States. There are still large supplies for the Christmas holidays. And prices will be low in relation to prices of other meats. Don't forget the turkey when planning your holiday meals.

It pays to keep good farm records and to study your business. Farming without knowing what results you are getting is like taking medicine without consulting your doctor. You may know that you need something, but not what kind or how much.

THE FARMER has become a different man. The successful farmer is now a brain-worker rather than a muscle-worker. Muscle power commands a poor return because the electric motor and the internal-combustion engine can furnish this power at a fraction of the cost of human labor. Mechanized farming means more cash investments. Careful study of good farm records will help you make wise investments. (Fm

Artificial Cover Protects Fields

Spots in contoured and terraced fields that are subject to heavy winter erosion can often be protected with an artificial mulch cover of straw or corn stover.

Carl F. Mees, County farm adviser, says a mulch cover gives at least three major benefits. It breaks the fall of winter raindrops, expending the energy they build up in falling. The leaves, stems and roots act as obstacles to check surface water flow and control surface erosion. The mulches also help to maintain an open soil structure, allowing more water to percolate down into the soil.

John Replogle, soil and water conservation engineer at the University of Illinois, College of Agriculture, says soil splash from falling raindrops is a good indicator of total erosion within a field. Less soil splash means lower erosion losses.

Soil loosened by erosion on contoured and terraced slopes often does not leave the area, but excessive soil and water movement does occur within the field. Mulches can help to stop this effect.

Special hand-applied mulches have a use in orchards, gardens, and specialty crops. Straw, hay, leaves and other organic materials are often used for this purpose. Sometimes paper, plastics and even aluminum foil serve as artificial mulches.

While none of these special mulches can be justified for use on an entire field, spot coverings of organic mulches on problem areas can often prevent excessive erosion during the winter.

Defective Heating Systems Cause Farm Fires

A faulty home heating system can put you out in the cold instead of keeping you warm this winter, warns O. L. Hogsett, extension safety specialist at the University of Illinois, College of Agriculture.

Much of the tremendous farm fire loss—over 90 million dollars each year—is due to defective equipment and careless people. You can make a good start at preventing home fires by observing these rules:

Never use petroleum products to start or hasten a fire.

Place coal at one side of the firebox to prevent smothering the fire.

Be sure that dampers are never closed enough to force carbon monoxide or other gases out into the room.

If you have mastered these rules, here are some simple repairs your heating system may need:

Repair rusted-out stove and furnace pipes.

Fix cracks or other defects in the chimney.

Be sure there's a fireproof covering on the floor under heating stoves.

A spark arrestor made from welded wire hardware cloth will lessen the chances of a roof fire.

Trick or Treat Report Given By 4-H Group

Collections from the Tricks and Treats fund drive for the Northwest hospital were reported to be nearly $50, according to a report made November 4 at a meeting of the Stitch and Mix 4-H club. The group met in the home of its leader, Mrs. Maxwell for a business and recreational meeting.

Nancy Milliken, secretary, was instructed to send thank you notes to the Arlington Milk Co. for their donations of paper cartons for the fund drive banks; to William B. Lee for painting the 4-H fair booth sign; and to Keefers Drug store for the pictures of the club's 4-H booth.

MEMBERS DECIDED to hold their Christmas party in the home of Karen Wiener, the valentine party in the home of Nancy Milliken and the April party in the home of Christine Linder. The group also decided to visit the Barrington Old folks home in December to sing carols and take small gifts for the residents.

Next meeting of the group will be held December 9. This will be a work meeting and first year girls are to bring materials for scarves; second and third year girls, patterns for jumpers; and the others to bring their own handicrafts. (4-H

Cloverdale 4-H Holds 1st Meet

The first meeting of the 4-H club in Cloverdale was held in the home of member Michael Steiner November 21, with 10 members present.

Leaders are John McCaslin D.V.M., and Kenneth Steiner. Daniel Nagel was elected president.

Next meeting, which will be the Christmas party, will be held December 12, in the home of Dr. McCaslin.

Stockmen To Face Squeeze

Economic trends will put a tremendous squeeze on live stock producers and feeders during the next six months says National Live Stock Producer, the nation's leading live stock magazine.

Abundant feed supplies are resulting in a sharp increase in red meat production—and less favorable consumer demand for meat is in prospect.

This year's fall pig crop was 17 per cent larger than last year and the number of cattle on feed in the Corn Belt was up 12 per cent. Supplies of lambs and poultry are also larger.

Meat from all species of live stock will have to share existing consumer demand and lower prices can be expected.

Fast Growth Shown By Treated Soybean

Soybeans treated with gibberellin in 1958 tests emerged sooner, flowered earlier, and grew more rapidly during the first month, R. W. Howell, plant pathologist at the U.S. Regional Soybean Laboratory reported this week.

However, this fast response to the gibberellin treatment may have unbalanced the plant's development so that yields on the treated plots were no greater and sometimes less than on untreated plots.

IN ILLINOIS TESTS, untreated soybeans averaged 37.2 bushels an acre when harvested with a regular commercial combine. Beans growing in gibberellin-treated soil averaged about the same. Plots receiving both foliage and soil treatments and the foliage treatment alone applied about five days after emergence also showed no effect.

But on plots given soil, foliage, and seed treatments, yields dropped 13 to 17 bushels an acre below the untreated soybeans. Plants in the treated plots also broke over more and bean losses during harvest were higher. Lodging was even more serious in Minnesota and Manitoba tests.

When the gibberellin treated soybeans emerged from the ground sooner and also formed the lower pods higher above the ground, research workers hoped that they would be able to save more beans when harvesting with a combine. But tests this year showed higher harvest losses on the treated plots.

However, Howell is not ready to completely abandon gibberellin tests. Next year he plans to use slower acting formulations of gibberellin with various application methods.

Gibberellin is a plant hormone produced by a fungus that grows on rice and other crops. It has produced unusual growth stimulation on various crops.

Social Security Well Liked

Social Security 1-30 kabel

Slightly more than half of a sample of farmers surveyed recently by University of Illinois agricultural economists favored the social security program. These farmers in a township in east-central Illinois also expressed some other opinions about the program.

Among the 207 farm owners and operators surveyed, about three out of five believed that social security would result in earlier retirement.

But even though a majority believed that farmers would retire earlier, slightly less than half thought that young men would have a chance to make an earlier start in farming.

Slightly less than half believed that retiring farmers would move to town because they now have social security.

Slightly more than half of those surveyed believed that the program would make it harder for young farmers to save money and retire their debts.

A small majority expect that farmers will carry less life insurance and depend more on the insurance features of the social security program.

Most of those interviewed believed that landlords would not use their benefit payments to improve their farms. Less than half believed the program would make it harder for farmers to buy land.

TV, Aid or Orge?

Are we, as parents, taking the easy way out? Do we depend too much on keeping our kids occupied and out of the way by turning them to the television set? Certainly it is easy to have them from under-foot during meal preparation, or upstairs in front of the set while doing the washing or house hold chores.

Yet, while we do this, is much consideration given as to what they are watching? And if we do notice, isn't it true that we are sometimes lax, and depend somewhat on the person or persons promoting these programs that they'll do right by our kids and present a program of value? Then too, just how many programs do we as adults switch off because we find it so much easier to watch a program that is strictly easy relaxation, rather than concentration, consideration, and learning. How can young people be expected to do otherwise if left to their own means?

How often have you seen a program on the educational channel? And our kids? If you do use this channel regularly you are one of the few fortunates who have discovered just how good . . . how refreshing this type of education can be! Many families have tried this channel and have found many programs that to them are boring and uninteresting . . . "above my head." Yet, if you will but get a TV guide and choose the programs that would best suit your needs I'm sure the programs will be of value.

How much physical exercise do your children get? I'd venture to guess Mr. Average Parent will say, "Plenty!" "They're always rushing around the house with too much vigor." This rushing around, however, isn't going to produce a finely proportioned, healthy adult. Only intense physical exercise tempered with enough short periods of rest in-between, a good night's sleep, and plenty of nourishing food, is going to accomplish this end. How often do our kids come in "bushed" after over-doing it, to sit in front of the TV until supper, and then view more TV after, until bedtime. Why is it they're so tired? Could it be they are getting too little physical activity around home and are just not strong physically? Physical education directors in this country are extremely concerned about the weakness of our kids as compared to those of other leading nations in the world. Many studies have been made, and will continue to be made about the seriousness of the situation, and yet little can be done unless parents allow the kids the opportunity of staying out and playing hard together. You can "allow" this only by requiring that they watch television a prescribed amount of time. They'll then have to get out and be active, for this is their nature.

Most of us were pretty inventive in our childhood. If we wished to play something we "made-up" a game or improvised our fun. Sandlot games of all kinds were so common that the Phil and Jill that did not join in was considered the "odd-ball." Now-a-days many children not only have to be led into a game, but do not enjoy it while participating because it requires too much effort and imagination . . . and these same children have their parents to thank for this attitude because their parents have unknowingly taught them that the easy, effortless way of doing things is the best. This push-button world we're now living in could produce a nation of softies, and this same softness could, and may now, lead to our downfall as the leading nation of the world.

Teachers hear every day from their students that they didn't have time to do something assigned. How many of you ask your kids if they "don't have some homework to do tonight?" And then get the reply, "Yeah, a little . . . and I'll do it as soon as this program is over." (Maybe!) The qualities of family conversation . . . discussions of home, school, community, and nation, is at a new low since the advent of TV. Such important conversations have to take place over the supper table or during commercials. How often do we discuss what the future brings or what plans we have as a family? Are your child's problems (and they are bound to be many in this complex world) given the proper consideration? Do you know their plans for the future? . . . In fact do you know if they are giving the future any consideration at all? Do they like school? Are they learning anything while they are there?

Your children's teachers ponder these questions all of the time. None would be so pessimistic that they'd state that TV serves no useful purpose education-wise. The values are immense . . . if controlled.

Last year, while teaching a fifth grade of 35 children, I took a "raise hands" survey of TV viewing. Some boys and girls had very strict control on what could be watched and how much time was to be spent using the television. The majority, however, had few controls if any. Let's face it . . . these are children; individuals not yet mature enough to wholly guide themselves, and too easily lured into a lazy, pleasureful means of using their leisure time. Education begins in the home, and should continue in the home. Without their parents' help, guidance, and push, these kids will take the easy way out and TV will become a child development crusher instead of a worthwhile educational and recreational crutch!

Three Letter Word

The recent diatribe by school officials, and the Norma Lee Browning of Rolling Meadows on the teaching of sex to our school children, is pure pedagoic balderdash, and over the back fence hokum.

The fancy terminology, meaningless references and vague statements circumvent the issue. Essentially, our public employees wish to assume some or all of the responsibilities of explaining to our children the functions and mechanics of their bodies. Once again the state assumes the responsibilities of the individual.

From the elementary three "R's," is it necessary, because of student adjustment, social conditions, group togetherness, etc., to interject the three "M's?" Is it unfair to assume from this initial usurpation of a parental right and duty, that at some future date the supervision of the marital act will be deemed a necessity by the state, because the attitudes of the parents at the time will do much to govern the actions of the embryo in its future student adjustment, adaptability to social conditions, and group togetherness?

To deny that in many instances parents have failed to exercise this right and duty would be folly on my part. But, if the parents of today's school children did not receive the information they needed as children, then all the more reason why these same parents should pass the necessary information on to their children. If parents claim ignorance, then they shouldn't be married, and should seek a competent doctor and clergyman, not a teacher or "guidance expert."

The topic has been bungled for centuries, yet we have come along in good fashion. If the "state" feels that corrective measures are in order, let them be geared at the parents, not taken away from them. When the "state" wishes to inform me—the parent—of the importance of proper explanation of the functions and mechanisms of the body to my child . . . all well and good. As the parent, I can assimilate this information to pass on to my child as I know and understand him, not as an outsider does.

Yes, indeed, as a local literati boasted "sex is here to stay" . . . in its place in the home. Educators, give the children the fundamentals of education they so often fail to obtain! Parents, take charge of the moral development of your children!

Incorporation Issue

In my previous letter I voiced my concern over the insult paid to myself and all 1,750 home owners who voted in the Nov. 1 poll. I said also that those who are working so diligently for incorporation are, by their methods, completely destroying whatever confidence they seek from us. I said also that I would interject some more thoughts on the incorporation issue, some of which follow.

First about the proposed boundaries of incorporation. Is it generally known that the extension of the sewage system to such unrealistic boundaries entails a much higher cost than would be necessary with immediately tangent property? Who will pay this cost? New residents? I think that would be unrealistic and unfair. And do you know that as an incorporation we are bound to provide the water supply? It is probably true that the Citizens Utility Co. is making good profits but are we prepared to purchase the utility, and if not what gain in this respect, would be accomplished by incorporation?

Secondly, who stands to profit the most by incorporation? It has been said that we need some "light industry" in the area to "broaden" the tax structure and increase our take. Why? In the first place it is unlikely that without railroad sidings and without the capital needed to compete with other communities for industry that we would, indeed, be able to attract anyone to Hoffman Estates City. And why did you move to this area. I for one bought my home because of its location, price, and lack of industry. I am inclined to think that I prefer a strictly residential area, with good commercial development, of course. I believe that the commercial aspect will be satisfied with the completion of the shopping center.

There is, south of Chicago, another area which is almost identical to the position we have. The area is now incorporated and has been developed by a Mr. Merrion and he too would like the zoning requirements reduced so as to increase his profits and he too controls property adjacent to a proposed expressway and he too is using a "club" to "blackmail" the city council of this area to bend to his wishes. He has even threatened to take property which he owns out of the corporate limits unless his wishes are condescended to. The glaring difference of our two communities seems to lie in the fact that Mr. Hoffman is somewhat more open about his purpose. We at least know that it is worth a minimum of $25,000 for the zoning requirements to be reduced and we at least know of the value that will be attached to the property adjacent to the proposed expressway. Frankly, I would prefer the minimum requirements to be maintained as they are, for our mutual benefit, without the concern of being "sold out" by a potentially ignorant city council. Without incorporation we are protected, both by the County zoning, whose governing body I must give more and more credence to, and by the Village of Schaumburg, whom I do not view as a "vulturous insatiable beast," but as a neighbor whose experience and influence could be made an asset if we would only take the time to be a friendly neighbor.

Let there be no mistake either that we have anything to fear from Mr. Hoffman in the quality or number of homes he intends to build in this area. I believe that he has offered us good value for our money and it is for this reason we now live here. This is no reason to view him as a benefactor. Rather, it is what should be expected of all contractors just as is expected of us in whatever endeavor we follow as a vocation. Should he reduce the quality of his future homes they will not sell as people will buy elsewhere. Should he pack up and move the value our our property will go up and our homes will become much more salable, should we for one reason or another find it necessary to sell.

No we will not advance ourselves by bringing in industry, reducing our zoning requirements or providing Mr. Hoffman a way to increase his profits. Can you guess who the sole beneficiary of this will be?

There are, of course, many other reasons I do not favor incorporation at this time, and I hope to expand on this at a later date. As a parting thought, however, should we not take into consideration the methods by which this coming referendum was set up. Were we, as property owners advised of the conditions to be included in the petition for a referendum? Were we asked to consider a suitable framework from which to build a solid community? One which will not deteriorate into a slum area by the haphazard, outspoken, inconsiderate actions by a few? For those who honestly believe incorporation is worthwhile I would suggest a renunciation at the coming referendum to be followed by intelligent planning for the future, for a strong house is dependent on a strong and reliable foundation.

Church Uses Government To Enforce Her Position

By WILLIAM McGILL

The Roman Catholic bishops of the United States have recently issued a statement defending that church's "right to teach."

Despite some of the implied contentions in this statement, I think there is no other religious objection to the church's right to teach or to legislate for the consciences of her children.

"It was not by virtue of any imperial permission that the apostles began the evangelization of the Roman world, nor has the church in all the succeeding centuries ever sought the sanction of any dynasty or government as conferring upon her the right to engage in her universal mission. Her claim is that she holds her authority from the Author of truth Himself . . ."

WITH THIS I wholeheartedly agree, not only for the Roman Catholic church, but for any church. I would add that in view of the specific examples cited the church in the United States has seemed too often to seek to use government to enforce her position.

The examples are these, with some comments: (1) vehement opposition when the church states her principles on contraception. Such opposition as I know anything about is toward that statement of principles when it used politically to enact a law which prohibits medical advice regarding planned parenthood to the entire population of a given state. There is opposition to the statement of principles when a Jewish doctor in a public hospital is prevented from giving birth control advice to a non-Catholic.

(2) Questioning of the church's insistence on the inviolability of the marriage bond. I doubt that this upsets anyone but Roman Catholics who may wish to take advantage of the same divorce laws which their non-Catholic neighbors use. And that's their problem. No serious consideration of marital problems would lead any conscientious person to recommend divorce as an easy or general practice.

(3) Opposition to measures to protect the faith of the church's children in a mixed society. I'm with the bishops on the matter of marriages with a mixed religious base. I just wish every Protestant clearly understood it before he entered into any of the measures which the church adopts.

ON THE OTHER hand, I would feel that the church has a right, given her teaching and her standards, to legislate for Roman Catholics against movies which are injurious to faith or morals. But I think she has no right to legislate for me or my congregation. What often seems to happen on this basis is that a searching study of a "delicate" theme may be proscribed while a mediocrity which teaches nothing may have no "objectionable" features. I do not mean to imply that it is all right for me or my congregation to view some movies which might be injurious to faith or morals.

(4) 'Parochial schools are often denounced as divisive but the church feels they are a moral necessity. Divisiveness is not the problem. The problem is whether a parochial school is or is not a private school; the problem is whether or not a private school supported by a religious institution is qualified to receive public moneys for the support of the educational enterprise. The choices which one makes for moral necessity always involve consequences; moral choice is not, as such, a one-way ticket to peace of mind, or gracious living, or Christian education.

THE QUESTION is not the right to teach—this is a responsibility which cannot be ignored—laid upon the Roman Catholic bishops, as well as (I would add) Presbyterian teaching elders, by God Himself. The question is largely, the right to teach—whom? and under what conditions?

I would not like to think that this sounds anti-Catholic in any way. I do not intend it. But I am trying to clarify the issue as a serious Christian who thinks the issue is not clearly drawn.

Needy Children

Youth Gangs Fill a Void

By TED SMART

The mental image of a street urchin, hungry and terrified, is one most suburbanites associate with poster appeals of CARE and UNICEF.

But one does not have to visit the post-war caves of Rome or a village in India to see the child of privation and neglect. Every city in America has its needy children, its third-class citizens.

Chicago is no exception.

Too often the communities take little notice of these needy children. That is, until the kids band together and commit "anti-social" acts.

THE GANG seems to fill a certain void in the life of the lonely boy or girl, a void that should be filled with another kind of security. Perhaps it is an oversimplification to cite any one thing as a cause for juvenile crime, but if there is any one major cause for delinquency, it is this basic need for the comfort of security.

Russell W. Ballard, director of Chicago's famed Hull House, said:

"This is the bloodiest half-century in history. The uncertainty, the insecurity, the instability, and tensions are certainly a factor" in the rate of delinquency.

G. Lewis Penner, executive director of the Juvenile Protective association, echoed this opinion in saying:

"Family life today has gone through many stresses — two major wars, industry with its upheavals, urbanization. The world is changing so rapidly people can't adjust—kids don't know what a buggy is and parents don't know what nuclear fission is."

JOSEPH N. CLEMENS, associate executive director of the Chicago Boys Clubs, summed up the problem of juvenile gangs by saying:

"We're just beginning to understand alcoholism and we haven't even begun to understand the dope problem."

Delinquency, especially at the gang level, he said, is a greater problem and is not so easily understood as these two.

Dealing with the individual delinquent is difficult, but not impossible. But dealing with a delinquent gang approaches the impossible.

Just how does one go about convincing a gang of delinquents to become a social good instead of anti-social? You don't. You get them to convince themselves. At least that is the tactic of the Chicago Boys Club.

"Our way of handling the situation is to contact the core gang," said Clemens.

A CORE GANG, he explained, is that group in a neighborhood which influences the others, provides the leadership for other gangs in the area. This is the gang which can exert the force of good or bad among other youngsters.

The method most extensively used is to have a social worker infiltrate the gang and gain their confidence. This is done in many ways, but it requires a skilled person whose approach will not scare the gang off.

Gangs for the most part reject the YMCA, Boys Club, and other social agencies, but there has been limited success with this individual contact.

The social worker is a "right guy," one who would never betray them. He doesn't preach, and he doesn't attempt to persuade them from gang fights.

If gang members have weapons he is their friend for tipping them off that the police are wise. He offers to keep the weapons until "the heat cools off." But whenever they want them back, he gives them to the gang members. This is playing with fire, but it pays off.

IN THE Henry Horner housing project, in the 1800 block on W. Washington st., a core gang was penetrated.

This was a Negro gang, and the social worker was a Negro.

Delinquency in the area had risen to a point that alarmed neighborhood police. Long inured to hooliganism, vandalism, and crimes against property, they became increasingly aware of more violent crimes —brutal, senseless attacks on area residents.

The social worker, after befriending the boys in the core gang, set up a clubroom and got the gang interested in healthful activities. He reported.

"Most of the gang are new arrivals to the city with little education. Many are from broken homes, and there were little or no playground facilities in their neighborhood."

AFTER THE GANG formed, the members started to collect weapons for holdup and defense purposes. Many of these weapons were home-made and designed to leave marks and scars which would identify the gang to others.

The problem was to persuade the gang to give up its weapons voluntarily and permanently. By storing the weapons for the gang "for a rainy day," the case worker could keep an eye on them and keep the youths out of trouble. Gradually, as the gang became interested in club activities, their dependence on the weapons diminished until they gave them up permanently.

In the offices of the Chicago Boys club, 123 W. Madison st., there is a large assortment of weapons taken from the Henry Horner project and other areas. Most of them are horrifying in their simplicity and shocking in revealing the twisted thinking of their juvenile inventors.

There are "zip" guns, fashioned from toy cowboy pistols. A narrow steel shaft is inserted into the barrel, and a .22 caliber bullet is fired by pulling back and releasing a rubber-band-activated hammer.

There are bent forks—regular table forks — with the handle twisted so as to make a grip with the tines wrapped around the knuckles. The sharp prongs are bent in such a manner that they would rip and tear when a blow is struck.

Serving spoons are bent in a similar manner. They are tightly wound with adhesive tape and have large tacks protruding through the tape.

IN THE collection there is a wide assortment of lead-filled iron pipes, ball-peen hammers, billies, and truncheons.

Files are ground down to a sharp point and keen edge. Files are popular because their brittle metal breaks off easily and wounds are hard to find.

While many sociologists agree there is little evidence that juvenile delinquency is on the increase, the nature of juvenile weapons suggests that the trend is toward more violence in their delinquency.

While progress in combatting juvenile crime is slow, there is hope that much can be accomplished. It is the few, but startling, cases of success that nourish this hope.

The case worker with the Henry Horner core gang got the boys to organize a drill team. He supplied them with surplus army uniforms and helmets, which the boys redesigned in a colorful and eye-catching manner. They practiced at the clubhouse, inventing their own steps and close order drill.

Last year this drill team won second place in a state-wide contest.

Clemens, Boys club associate director says:

"Ninety-eight per cent of young people are solid. We've achieved some success in penetrating the core gangs. The trick is to hold onto that which is good and not forsake it for something untried."

The Real Meaning of Life Transcends Obvious Things

by WILLIAM McGILL

People are inclined to be concerned with the obvious things. "How well will I do in the job at hand?" "What impression am I making on people?" "Will the Bears (or some team in which we are interested) win?" These are the kind of questions which trouble us quite often.

We assume that anyone can handle one of the most important tasks given to men and women here on earth — raising a child to a responsible mature estate. In the words of the Gershwin song, "It ain't necessarily so."

THE REAL meaning of your life is a great deal more involved than how long you keep breathing, how many dollars you can spend or save in a year, what dress you wear to what party, or how successful you are at staying out of jail.

The real task of fulfilling a promise to raise a child in the nurture and admonition of the Lord (which is what we usually promise at baptismal services) is a good bit more involved than keeping that child fed and clothed — which is involved enough. Raising a son to man's estate is much more complicated than keeping him out of brushes with the law or run-ins with the principal — although these too are sufficiently complicated.

Fortunately, we are not left without help in this complicated business of raising children. In Baptism, many of us make promises to raise our children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord, to pray with them and for them. In the service with which I am most familiar, as soon as the promise is made we begin to do it. The memorable words ask that these children may be brought safely through the perils of childhood, delivered from the temptations of youth, led to witness a good confession and to persevere therein . . .

THIS IS REALISM which faces the facts of life's trials and problems. It depends on the person at the center how his life and the life of his children are affected by stress and strain. What are your moral values? What ends do you prize?

Answer these questions and you begin to understand the help which is ready for us when we consider the perils of childhood, the temptations of youth, and the trials inherent in persevering to witness a good confession. In all manner of situations and conditions, we could be driven to despair were it not that we have support which helps us to see these situations and conditions in perspective.

By faithfulness, we may live through — often, may grow because of them.

Giant Centers Set For Northwest Area

Two Plazas Are Planned For Mount Prospect Sites

As the building boom in the northwest suburbs continues unabated, plans have been announced for three regional shopping centers to serve the burgeoning population.

If all are constructed, there will be seven major department stores, more than there are in Chicago's loop, hundreds of specialty shops, food stores, restaurants, offices and even community facilities, with parking lots for a combined total of nearly 20,000 cars, easily accessible to automobile driving suburbanites.

TWO OF THE proposed centers are being annexed to Mt. Prospect. The third is in a new Palatine subdivision.

First to reveal specific plans was Dan Serafine, Mt. Prospect builder, who is selling a 60-acre tract at the northeast corner of Rand and Central rds. to National Shopping Centers, Inc. of New York for development.

Before details could be presented to the zoning board of appeals at a public hearing August 29, announcement was made that Carson, Pirie Scott and Company had contracted to purchase the 80-acre Burmeister farm at the northeast corner of Rand and rte. 83 Main st.) for a regional center. Carsons have since acquired an additional 30 acres.

Three weeks ago, an architect's sketch of Winston Park Northwest shopping plaza on a 100-acre tract at Northwest hwy. and Rohlwing rd. in Palatine was published.

BACKERS OF ALL three projects have independently employed experts to make surveys of population density shopping habits, traffic patterns and other economic and planning factors to determine the need and feasibility of their particular center. Since the area each expects to serve extends roughly from the Des Plaines river to the Fox river between the toll roads, there is an apparent overlap in the experts' statistics.

Bounded by major highways, any of the three regional centers will be only a few minutes drive from any place in the densely populated northwest area.

As architects work on engineering studies and the hundreds of pages of blueprints for each of the centers, rental agents are negotiating for leases and backers are arranging financing for the multimillion dollar projects.

WINSTON PARK Northwest corp. has set a value of $18 million on their plaza; the others have not named a figure.

Both Carsons and Baird and Warner, rental agents for the Serafine center, report this week their plans are progressing on schedule. All three slate construction to start in 1959.

The seemingly long delay between announcement of the proposed centers and start of construction is unavoidable, since plans can only be general in scope until major tenants are signed up and have determined the particular facilities they require. Only then can working drawings within the confines of the broad concept be prepared.

Construction of centers of this magnitude are expected to require 13 to 15 months for completion. If they are open for Christmas season in 1960, they will be a boon to shoppers and provide a real Christmas present to Mt. Prospect and Palatine in the way of sales tax.

AT THE PUBLIC hearing for rezoning, David Berman, developer of the Serafine center, estimated annual sales potential of that center would be $48,700,000. A similar sales potential is predicted by developers of the Palatine center,

On this basis, the villages would net nearly a quarter million dollars annually in sales tax revenue from each of the centers.

A plus value is the additional assessed valuation which broadens the real estate and personal property tax base.

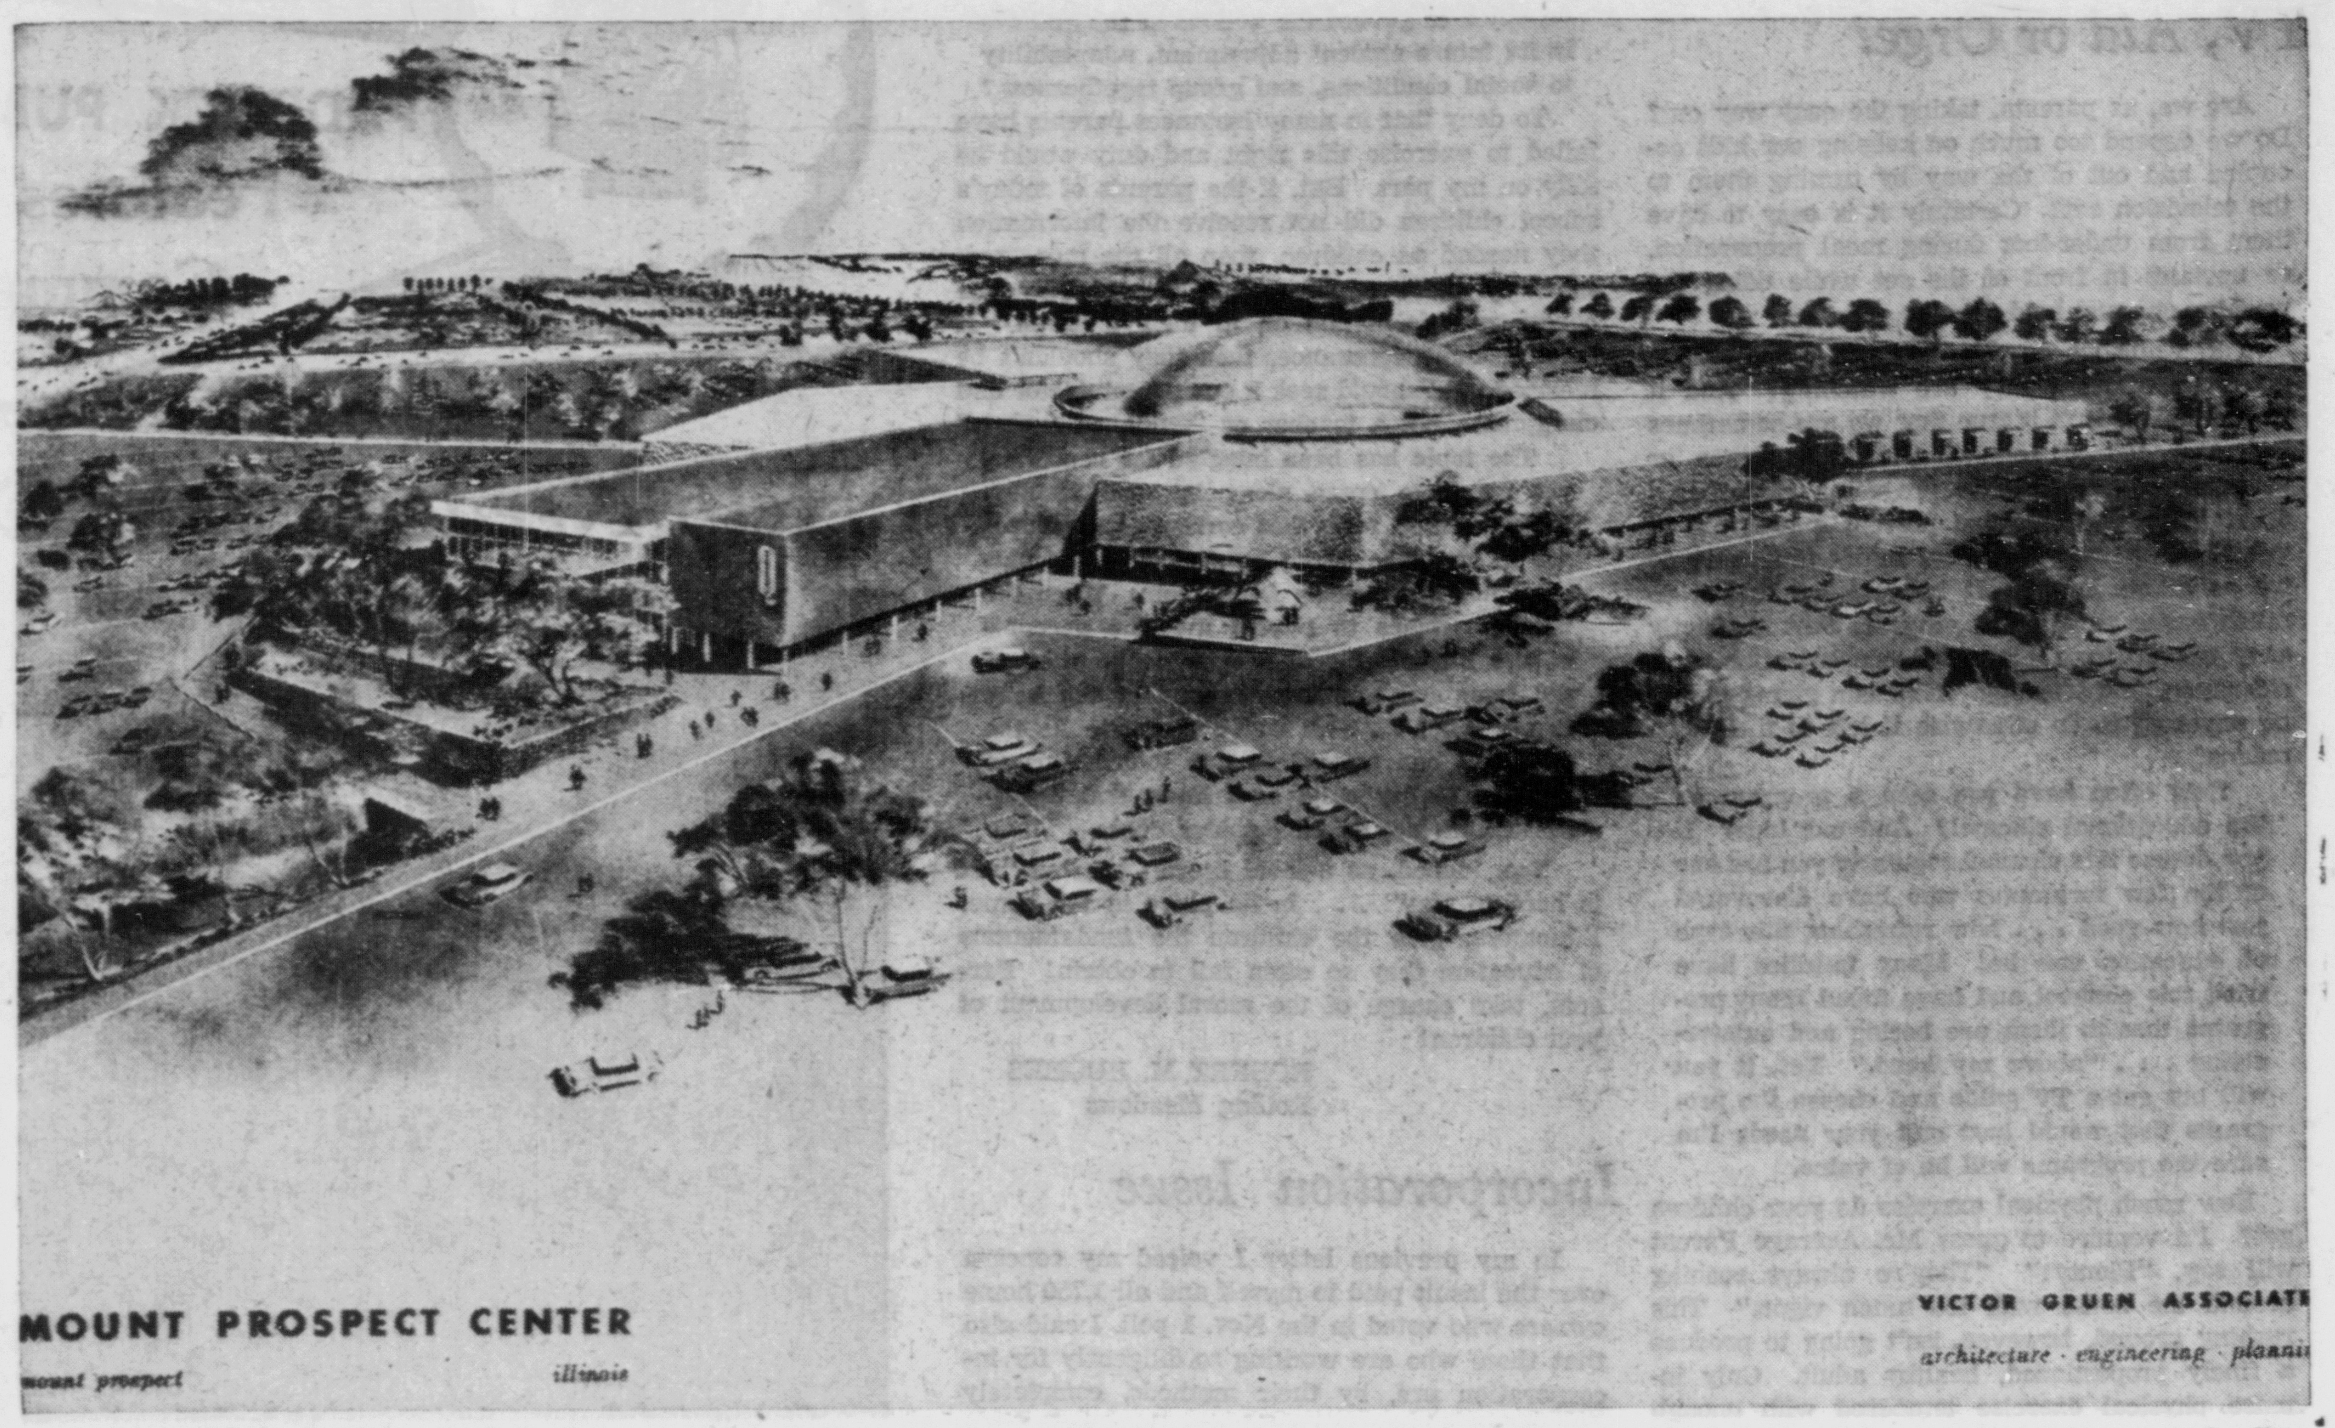
THURSDAY, DEC. 4, 1958



CARSON PIRIE SCOTT and Company will invite two additional major department stores to share with them the regional shopping center the 104-year-old Chicago mercantile firm plans for the northeast corner of Rand rd. and route 83 (Main st.) in Mt. Prospect.

Carsons announced this week they have acquired an additional 30 acres of land, so that after deducting road areas they will have available for development slightly more than 100 net acres.

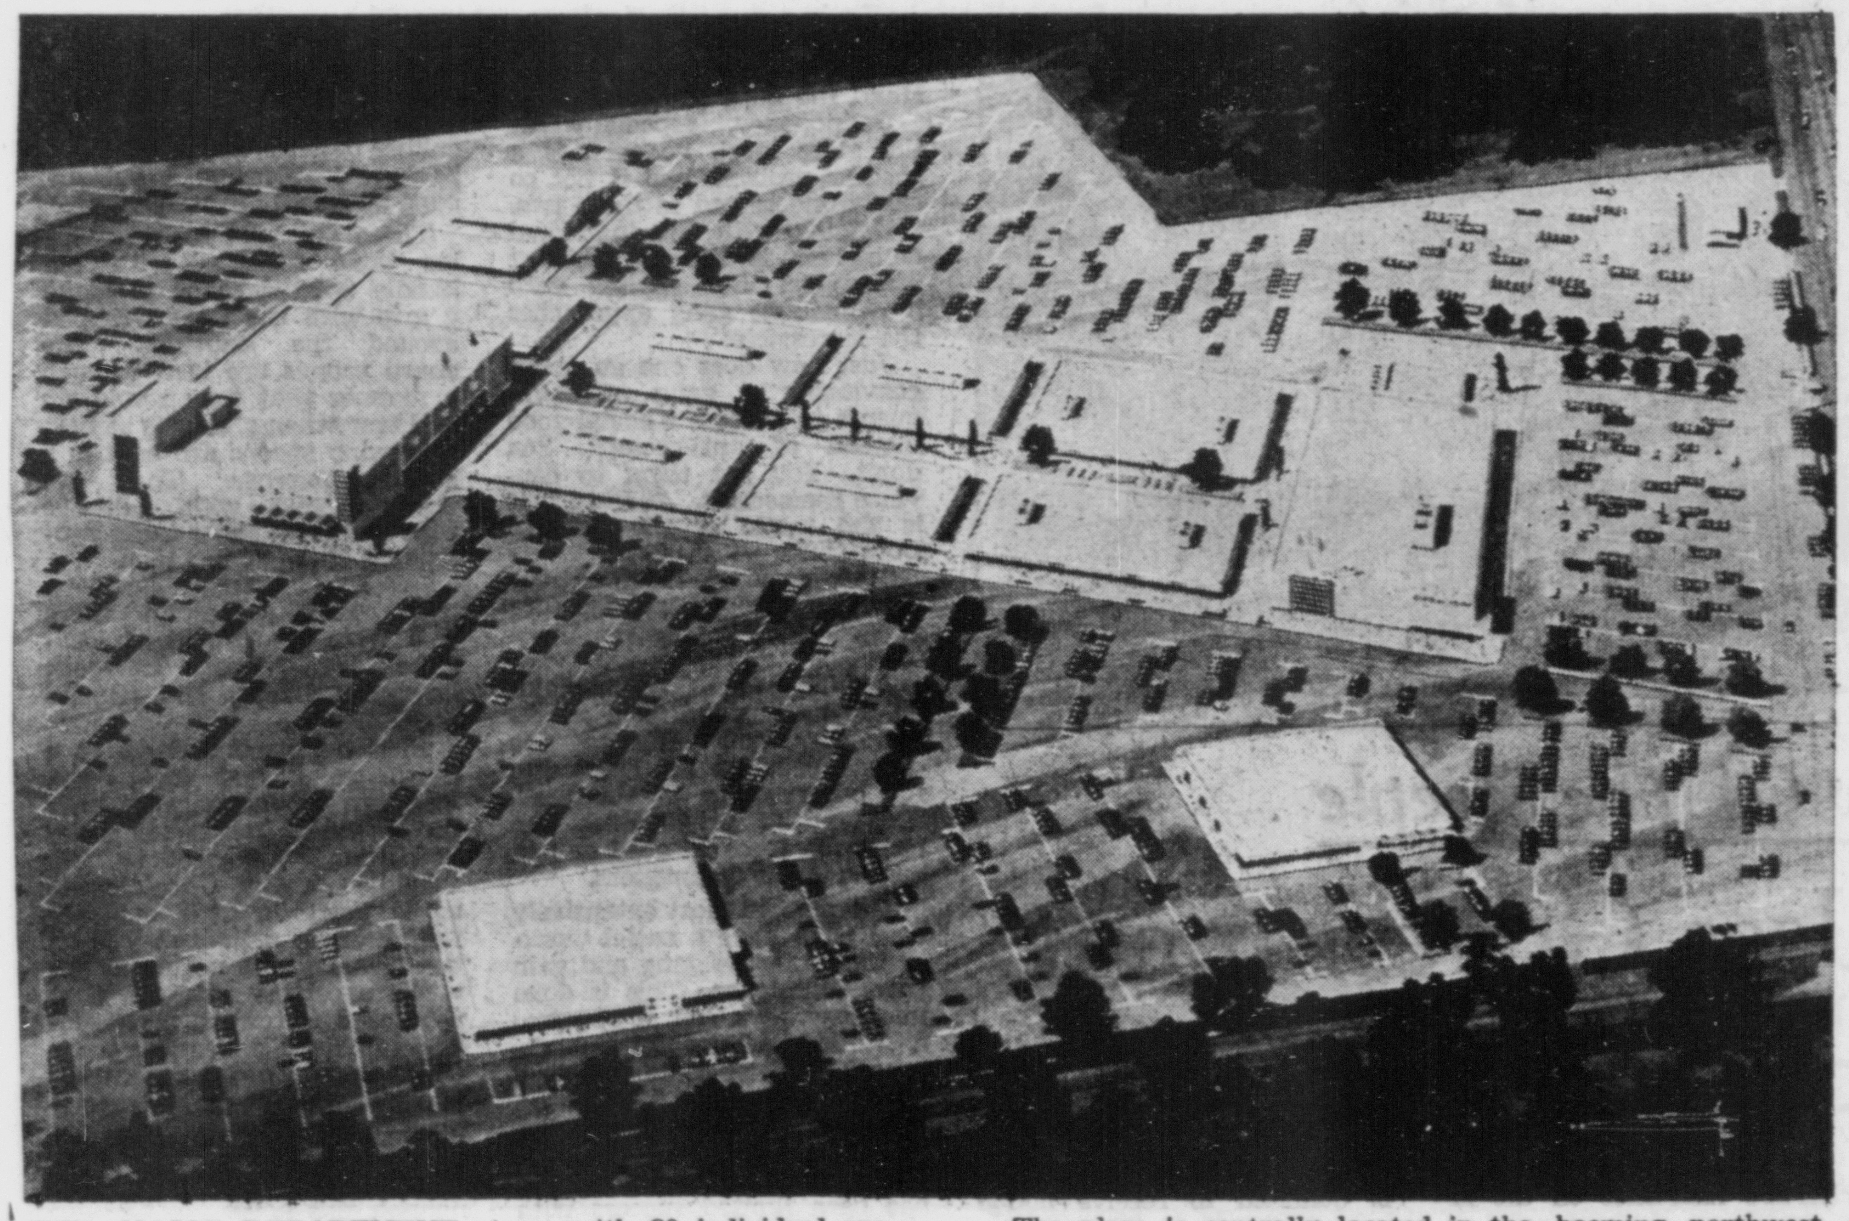
With legal hurdles of annexation to the village and rezoning accomplished, engineering studies are under way at the site and downtown the real estate organization is being set up. Negotiations with major tenants are proceeding on schedule.

The three department stores will radiate as spokes on a wheel from the hub of the two-story center, and air conditioned mall enclosed with a clear dome. Groups of smaller shops would be spaced between the spokes. Victor Gruen Associates, Detroit, are architects.

Parking would be on two levels to evenly distribute flow of traffic, and service activities would be separated by going underground through a truck tunnel.

Construction is expected to start in the fall of 1959.

Bounded on three sides by four major highways, Rand, route 83, Euclid and Foundry, traffic experts said this center would attract shoppers from all directions, eliminating congestion at any point.



TWO MAJOR DEPARTMENT stores with 80 individual specialty retail and service shops are planned for Winston Park Northwest shopping plaza, to be built on a 100-acre tract at Northwest hwy. and Rohlwing rd. in Palatine.

The $18 million regional shopping center was designed by Erwin Gerber and James Pancani, of Newark, N. J., in a T-shape with a covered, all weather landscaped mall with air conditioning linking twin blocks of stores. Parking will be provided for 6,000 automobiles.

The plaze is centrally located in the booming northwest suburban area and is readily accessible from all directions. It is two miles north of the Northwest Tollway, and future plans are that Rohlwing road will be a limited access highway, making the shopping area only a few minutes traveling time distant from a wide surrounding area.

Leases are now being negotiated, with William W. Kamm and H. H. Berkson, New York, rental agents. Construction is expected to begin in the summer of 1959.

Grand Opening

THE RAYMOND LOEWY Corporation designed the shopping center proposed for the northeast corner of Rand and Central rds. The 60-acre tract is being annexed to Mt. Prospect and rezoned for use as a regional shopping center.

Dan Serafine, Mt. Prospect builder, will sell the land to National Shopping Centers, Inc. for development. Plans call for two major department stores, two food stores, and other retail and service shops. It is understood leases are now being negotiated with Hillman's and Walgreen Drugs for two of the stores, and discussions with other major tenants have reached an advanced stage, according to a report of Baird & Warner, rental agents.

Central and Rand would provide the main arteries bringing traffic to the center, where parking will be provided for 5,000 cars. Rand would form a buffer between the huge commercial development and east side residential areas of Mt. Prospect. Construction is slated to start in 1959.

FLORIDA CALLS! WHY NOT ANSWER?

Are you a contractor? Real estate man? Investor? Home seeker? IF you would like to LIVE, WORK and PROSPER in the best year round climate known under the blue skies of Florida, IF you have some worth while assets and are not trying to run away from bills accumulated by trying to "keep up with the Jones," I would like to hear from you. (In confidence, of course.) Why? Because right now I can use one or two associates with ambition and courage seeking wider horizons for their activity. I possess two wonderful tracts of land ripe for development in a region surpassing in appeal ANYTHING my nearly forty years in this business has ever produced. I am about to open two offices in a region which I believe has BIG and IMMEDIATE possibilities. Imagine a piece of land selling in February of this year for $70,000 and that same piece being re-sold in September for $500,000. Or a nice brick veneer 4 bedroom, 2 bath ranch home with a car port on a half acre lot for $10,500 or a modern 2 bedroom retirement home with small orchard, garden or berry patch for $6,000. Isn't this the kind of section to consider if as "a smart person you may expect to buy or build before a boom?" My property has about EVERYTHING a person with vision could want. So if you feel you are big enough for this opportunity—no matter HOW or WHERE you think you would like to fit into either the real estate or building angle —WHY not WRITE to me. I have an office here in Chicago and will gladly interview you if your answer appeals. Gladly take you down to Florida at my expense and PROVE the goodness of my opportunity. Your confidence will be respected.

Tell Bonus Plan For Regular Saving

The story is told that the British Commons roared with laughter and a Russian bigwig was nonplused at their reaction to a remark in his speech. He had simply said to them:

"In Russia we have an old saying that Moscow wasn't built in a day!"

Actually, this wasn't one more Russian claim upon a Western heritage. It happens to be one of those proverbs found among all nations. It suggests a common wisdom which people passed along to their children in ages before they knew how to write.

Much of the wisdom in the old proverbs is centered around the idea of saving for a rainy day. It also abounds in the patient awareness that good things don't come all at once:

"One grain fills not a sack, but it helps its fellows."

"Ye get nothing out of the basket but what was in it."

It was to encourage in us what our ancestors knew so well that Federal savings and loan associations are empowered to offer as much as 1% extra over regular dividends.

THIS IS DONE through a Bonus Plan (approved for all Federal associations) which pays a premium to those who adopt a program of regular savings and then proceed to carry it out. Here is how it works:

1. You decide how much money you want to save and the amount of time you'll need to reach this goal.

2. You start a regular monthly savings program at a Federal savings institution like Arlington Heights Federal and consistently follow the monthly payment schedule for the prescribed period.

As your premium for this program, ¼ of 1% per year is added to the balance in your account each time it equals 50 times, 100 times, 150 times, and 200 times the amount saved monthly in your program.

When you have reached the last level, you thus receive one full per cent on the total amount — above the regular dividends, enjoyed by your savings in our Association.

UNDER THE BONUS Plan, therefore, you are not only paid for saving . . . but paid an extra amount for saving regularly.

You are free to decide how much you'll save each month. In the event you cannot carry on for the minimal period required to earn extra dividends, you are not penalized in any way. Your money continues to receive regular semi-annual earnings.

At the time you withdraw, your account is credited with regular earnings and also with the Bonus Awards you have earned up to the time you stop the plan.

The Bonus Plan is particularly favored by those looking ahead to college for their children, retirement, home down payment, and other long-range objectives.

IT ENCOURAGES the special and separate savings program—apart from the single "all-purpose" family account, which is usually kept so busy handling current needs that it can't look to the future.

A special "Go-to-College" account, for example, is a convenient way to have the funds when college days arrive. You may not realize it, but Arlington Heights Federal Savings can show you how it will actually pay the fourth year of your youngster's college education!

The fact that $15 saved monthly for 204 months will add $1,308.21 to your Bonus Plan savings of $3,060 illustrates how effective this regular savings program is.

As the Russians say, "One kopek doesn't fill a sack, but it helps its fellows!" (SS

N. Y. death checks pay

Some 25,000 deaths, of the more than 100,000 each year in New York City, are referred to the medical examiner's office for routine investigation.

About 3,000 are examined because cremation has been requested; a like number are judged outside the examiner's jurisdiction and are referred to private doctors for certification.

Some 8,000 of the deaths are due to violence, and 350 of these are homicides. The thorough investigation is paying big dividends. An average of 50 examinations each year disclose violent death in cases that might otherwise have gone undetected.

Ela Women To Meet On Project

A public meeting to discuss whether a huge real estate development plan will be a boon or a booby trap is being sponsored by Ela Township Women's Civic Association December 10 at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Ela-Vernon high school, Lake Zurich.

Facts behind Joseph M. Brickman's "Blueprint" will be presented by John Graham, state senator from Barrington, and Robert Coffin, president of Kildeer Countryside school board of education. A period of open discussion and questions will follow.

THE CIVIC group has issued an open invitation to attend to all residents and neighbors of Ela township.

As a further service to inform all residents of the predominantly rural community of the impact which will be made by a city of some 80,000 people, as Brickman projects, reprints of recent talks by school and municipal officials have been mailed.

Square Dance Club News

by DOROTHY MEYER
CL 3-2298

Holiday plans and party preparations are at the top of everyone's December list of things to do and area square dance clubs are right in the swing. A committee of the Arlington Heights Square Dance club met Tuesday to put the capper on plans for its December 12 Christmas party that will be restricted to members, and guests who make reservations in advance. Bob Rodig, CL 3-3829, will take reservations which must be made on or before the Monday prior to the dance. "Doc" Heimbach of Blue Island, considered one of the top ten callers in the area, will sub for a fellow "top tenner," Bill Clarke of Westchester, regular caller of the club.

PALATINE Square Dance clubbers are looking forward to dancing the old year out at a gala New Years Eve party. The club's regular caller, Horace Hall, will be spelled by Lou LaBelle, at the party that will start at 9:30 p.m., December 31, 1958 and end sometime the next year. Admission for this special event will be by ticket only. Tickets may be purchased December 13 at the club's regularly scheduled open dance at Paddock school in Palatine. Further information about the New Years Eve party may be had by calling CL 3-4483.

THE PALATINE club's November 22 dance at Paddock school boasted one of the longest guest lists and livliest dances of the season. Regular members welcomed fellow dance enthusiasts from Crystal Lake, Wheaton, Glen Ellyn, Wilmette, Highland Park, Woodstock, Chicago, DesPlaines, Palatine, Mt. Prospect and Arlington Heights. Coming a long way to dance were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stethan of Indianapolis, Ind., special guests of the club's caller and his wife, Bill and Alyce Johnson of Downers Grove. Newcomers to the club and to the area, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stolorski, formerly of Birmingham, Ala., were accorded special mention. So was their determined search for a local square dance club, a search they began almost before they were completely settled in their new home in Des Plaines.

The first half hour of the Saturday night dance was devoted to round dance instruction and demonstrations by the Johnsons who also conduct classes in "roundamentals," the fundamentals of round dancing at Pleasant Hill school in Palatine. Another highlight of the evening for the dancers as well as their hardworking caller came when another guest, Lou LaBelle, took a busman's holiday and called a dance that the Johnsons could join.

THE INTERNATIONAL Livestock exposition did not temporarily move to Arlington Heights last Friday night although the barnyard noises coming from the South Junior high school might have led passersby to wonder. The heartfelt imitations of animals, domestic and otherwise, were part of a game through which squares were formed by the Arlington Heights Square Dance clubbers at their regular fourth Friday closed dance.

Each was given a picture of an animal and instructions to imitate that animal, then seek out and identify others making the same noise. There were eight people, all presumably sounding alike, all wandering around listening for their mates so that they could form a square and start swinging out. Some said wolf calls seemed to predominate but there were only four admitted wolves and wolverines. Six guest couples joined in the noisy fun and after mooing, roaring and barking with the rest, everyone heeded the calls of Woodie Long. (A-13

- What's Michigan Got Against Us?
- Project Genuine, Need Is Critical
- Last Time Water Was Too High

We can recall many pleasant summers spent during our childhood and youth naar Ludington, Mich., and seldom a day passed that didn't find at least an hour or two used to frolic in Lake Michigan—a 10-minute skip away.

Although a number of years have gone by now, we can recall that even during the later part of those care-free times we began to suspicion that for some unknown reason the state of Michigan seemed to have a tendency to set up a blockade out in the lake pointed at the Chicago area.

This, as we said, was strictly a suspicion and a young one at that, but as the years have passed and we look back and piece certain episodes and events together the likelihood of the truth in such suspicions has seemingly grown stronger and stronger.

It may be that Michigan has felt a little "sour-graped" or envious of Chicago, Illinois, or other parts of the midwest. If that's the case, we wouldn't be able to hazard the wildest guess as to why. At any rate, there seems to be something troubling them.

The latest instance, as most people know by now, deals with Michigan's complaint about the project to use lake water as a permanent supply for the suburbs via the Elmhurst-Villa Park-Lombard water commission. They have set up what amounts to a blockade.

We grant that the water in the lake is just as much a part of Michigan as it is of the other states which border it, but we just can't go along with their claim that the subtraction of water from the lake will interfere with or damage Michigan.

This time they seem to feel that the water level will drop to an injurious stage and create all sorts of havoc. No matter how many towns start plans for lake water usage or join the local commission, however, we cannot envision a drought or desert resulting.

In getting back to our younger days we remember the reasons for our first suspicions that Michigan has some uncertain feelings about neighbors. This was about the time that Chicago was increasing its lakefront section for both recreational and transportation purposes.

During these years at Ludington in the summer we watched what had been a spacious beach stretching out a half block to the water shrink to a distance of less than a 100 feet at many points. Lakefront cottages were damaged in the area and two were washed away one night in a storm.

Michigan murmurings blamed the disappearing beach and rising water on Chicago's filling-in work. It was estimated by some that damage might reach the billions if the Windy City didn't abolish its wild plan that was pushing the lake eastward directly at Michigan.

Truth of such ravings, of course, never came about and the Windy City was able to complete a program that has since given enjoyment to millions of people every year. What would Chicago lakefront travel be like without the Outer dr.? Can you imagine the snarls?

And now comes Michigan again, but with exactly the opposite approach. First they said we were pushing the lake at them and now they contend we'll be taking it away. Such changing ideas all make it seem quite silly. We hope they'll begin realizing it pretty quick too!

Both times the reasons for such dabbling with Lake Michigan have been good and necessary and this time particularly the need is critical and there should be no thought by anyone of delaying the process that will be needed as soon as it can possibly be ready.

Presents Own Painting Of Christ to St. Bede's

Presentation of a painting of Christ, as heart touching as it was reverent, was made at Sunday's St. Bede's Episcopal mission service in Bensenville.

The Rev. Howard Rudisill, vicar of the Mission which has been meeting Sundays at 10 a.m. in the choral room at Fenton high school, accepted with warm appreciation on behalf of the entire congregation her artistic work from a young handicapped woman.

During her five years of hospitalization Mrs. Jeanne Smith has taken to painting to relieve her mind periodically from the fight she is waging against paralysis. She is currently confined in Oak Forest hospital in that south suburban community.

MRS. SMITH is paralyzed from the waist down. Her desire was so strong that she was given permission to make the tiring trip to Bensenville Sunday so that she could make the presentation herself to the church.

Township Lady Is Hurt In Accident

An Addison township woman was taken to Memorial hospital, Elmhurst, with facial cuts and a possible concussion Friday following a two-car collision at Grove st. and Church rd., Bensenville. She is Genevieve Parrish, 46, 4N400 Ridgewood, south of the village.

She was heading north on Church, Bensenville police stated, when her car collided with that of Eldon Skodachek, 24, 19 E. Lake st., Addison, who eluded injury. Skodachek was eastbound on Grove, according to the police report.

Langguth Dance Is Saturday

The benefit dance to aid the therapy and medical needs of Leon Langguth will be held Saturday from 8:30 p.m. on at the Bensenville fire hall.

He is the gallant Itasca youth and former Fenton athletic star who has been paralyzed since August when he dove into shallow water in a Wisconsin lake and severed five vertebrae in his neck.

Leon has since been and will continue to be undergoing considerable treatment. Tickets will be available at the door Saturday. All proceeds will be contributed to offset the mounting costs of his treatment.

Bowers Beats Bauer

Jack E. Bowers, Downers Grove, a former assistant for parts of two years, is the new DuPage state's attorney — at least until April.

He was appointed by the county board in a special session for that purpose Monday afternoon at Wheaton after a secret vote was taken among the 23 supervisors present and 15 voted in his favor. Such strong support came as a surprise to many.

His rival for the job was William J. Bauer, Elmhurst, an assistant state's attorney since 1952. At least until Monday, Bauer had served as first assistant state's attorney and was thought to be the favorite for the top prosecuting post.

TO WORK TOGETHER ON MELQUIST CASE

The two men involved in the county board balloting for the post of interim state's attorney Monday have pledged "100 per cent" cooperation with each other in the prosecution of Charles Melquist for the murder of 15-year-old Bonnie Scott of Addison.

Jack Bowers, the man who has become state's attorney, made this announcement Wednesday afternoon following a conference with William Bauer, former chief assistant state's attorney, who had been working on the case before Bowers' appointment.

Bowers has also disclosed that he has offered an assistant's job to Bauer? The latter will reportedly make his decision known Monday.

He, however, received only eight votes. The assistant state's attorney who had been working most closely on the case, it had been presumed by many that Bauer would be the prosecutor in the Charles Melquist case involving the murder of Bonnie Leigh Scott, 15, Addison.

IT WAS ASSUMED by some Monday that the appointment of Bowers will carry through for the balance of the unexpired term of William Guild who had to vacate the job upon his induction as new county judge. That's until the 1962 county election.

There are numerous others, however, who are backing the plan to call a special election in April to fill the balance of the term by a vote of the people. Cost of such a special election for the county (and the taxpayers) would be about $80,000, it is estimated.

Bowers served as an assistant state's attorney in 1953 and '54 at Wheaton before going into private practice. He is village attorney for Bloomingdale, Downers Grove and Oak Brook and is also attorney for Downers Grove township.

Federal Men Nab 2 Boys As Bootleg Wine Makers

The amazing bootleg activities of two Keeneyville youths, both 15, came to an abrupt end Monday afternoon in a surprise raid by federal men.

Investigators from the Alcohol Tax division of the U.S. Treasury department, working closely on the case for two weeks with Roselle police, found and destroyed a 50-gallon keg containing a substantial amount of home-made wine in the home of one of the teenagers.

They signed warrants charging Henry Alfred, 6N163 Wheaton rd., and James Guthrie, 6N221 Virginia rd., with manufacturing intoxicating wine with no license. Two of the parents of the boys were charged by the federal men with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

SCHEDULED to appear January 13 with their sons before Justice of the Peace Kenneth Winters in his Bloomingdale township court are Edward Alfred and Mrs. Helen Guthrie. All concerned are now at liberty under bonds of $1,000 each.

Guthrie was picked up by the investigators and Roselle police Monday and, under questioning, implicated Alfred in whose basement he said the "home brew" could be found. A search warrant was hurriedly secured from Judge Winters and the raid was staged on the home.

There, with a state police squad of Corp. Tom Walk and trooper Robert Navickey joining them, the investigators and Roselle police met an upset Mrs. Alfred who directed them to the keg perched in the corner of the basement on cement blocks.

The federal investigators took a sample of the contents from the spigot at the lower end of the barrel. They reported that it seemed like a weak cider, but fermented contents that had risen to the top of the keg were reportedly found to be more powerful.

Contents of the barrel were dumped out by the investigators and the vessel itself was then destroyed. It was found to be charcoal-lined or burned out—a step used to hasten and improve the fermentation, they reported.

ROSELLE POLICE initiated the investigation in mid-November when open liquor was found in a car involved in a sideswiping incident. The liquor was in an unmarked jug-type bottle. The alcohol tax men were called in on the matter.

PROHIBITION ENDED 25 YEARS AGO

Twenty-five years ago tomorrow — December 5, 1933 — the prohibition amendment was repealed to end 14 "dry" years in the United States.

The two occupants of that car were recently sentenced to jail by Judge Winters . . . the driver, Keith Griffin, 22, Schaumburg, for six months, and his companion, Charles Creighbaum, said to be using an auto to live in near Roselle, for 90 days.

Both are at the county jail in Wheaton. Griffin was jailed for having open liquor in the car and Creighbaum drew his sentence for disorderly conduct. Both have records of previous trouble with police, according to Judge Winters. Griffin also has two charges pending in county court—reckless driving pressed by Roselle police and driving while intoxicated pressed by the motorist whose auto his sideswiped, Robert Moeller, Roselle.

The sample of the "home brew" taken from their car was checked out in a laboratory and found to contain 33 per cent alcohol, police state. They say it came from the same supply the two Keeneyville boys are charged with making.

MR. AND MRS. Don Smith accept the congratulations of a well wisher following his induction as new county treaurer at Wheaton. Chief deputy the past two years, he succeeds John Kelly, formerly Addison township supervisor and county board chairman for many years.

A VETERAN, but youthful legislator for this county, John Erlenborn (right), extends his best wishes to Lawrence J. Springborn upon his induction Monday as new county sheriff in the ceremonies at Wheaton. Erlenborn will launch his third term as a state representative in January.

JACK E. BOWERS (left) became new DuPage state's attorney Monday afternoon when he was appointed by the county board after his predecessor, William Guild, was inducted as county judge in the morning. Bowers is shown after accepting the post with "Bud" Waterfall, county board chief.

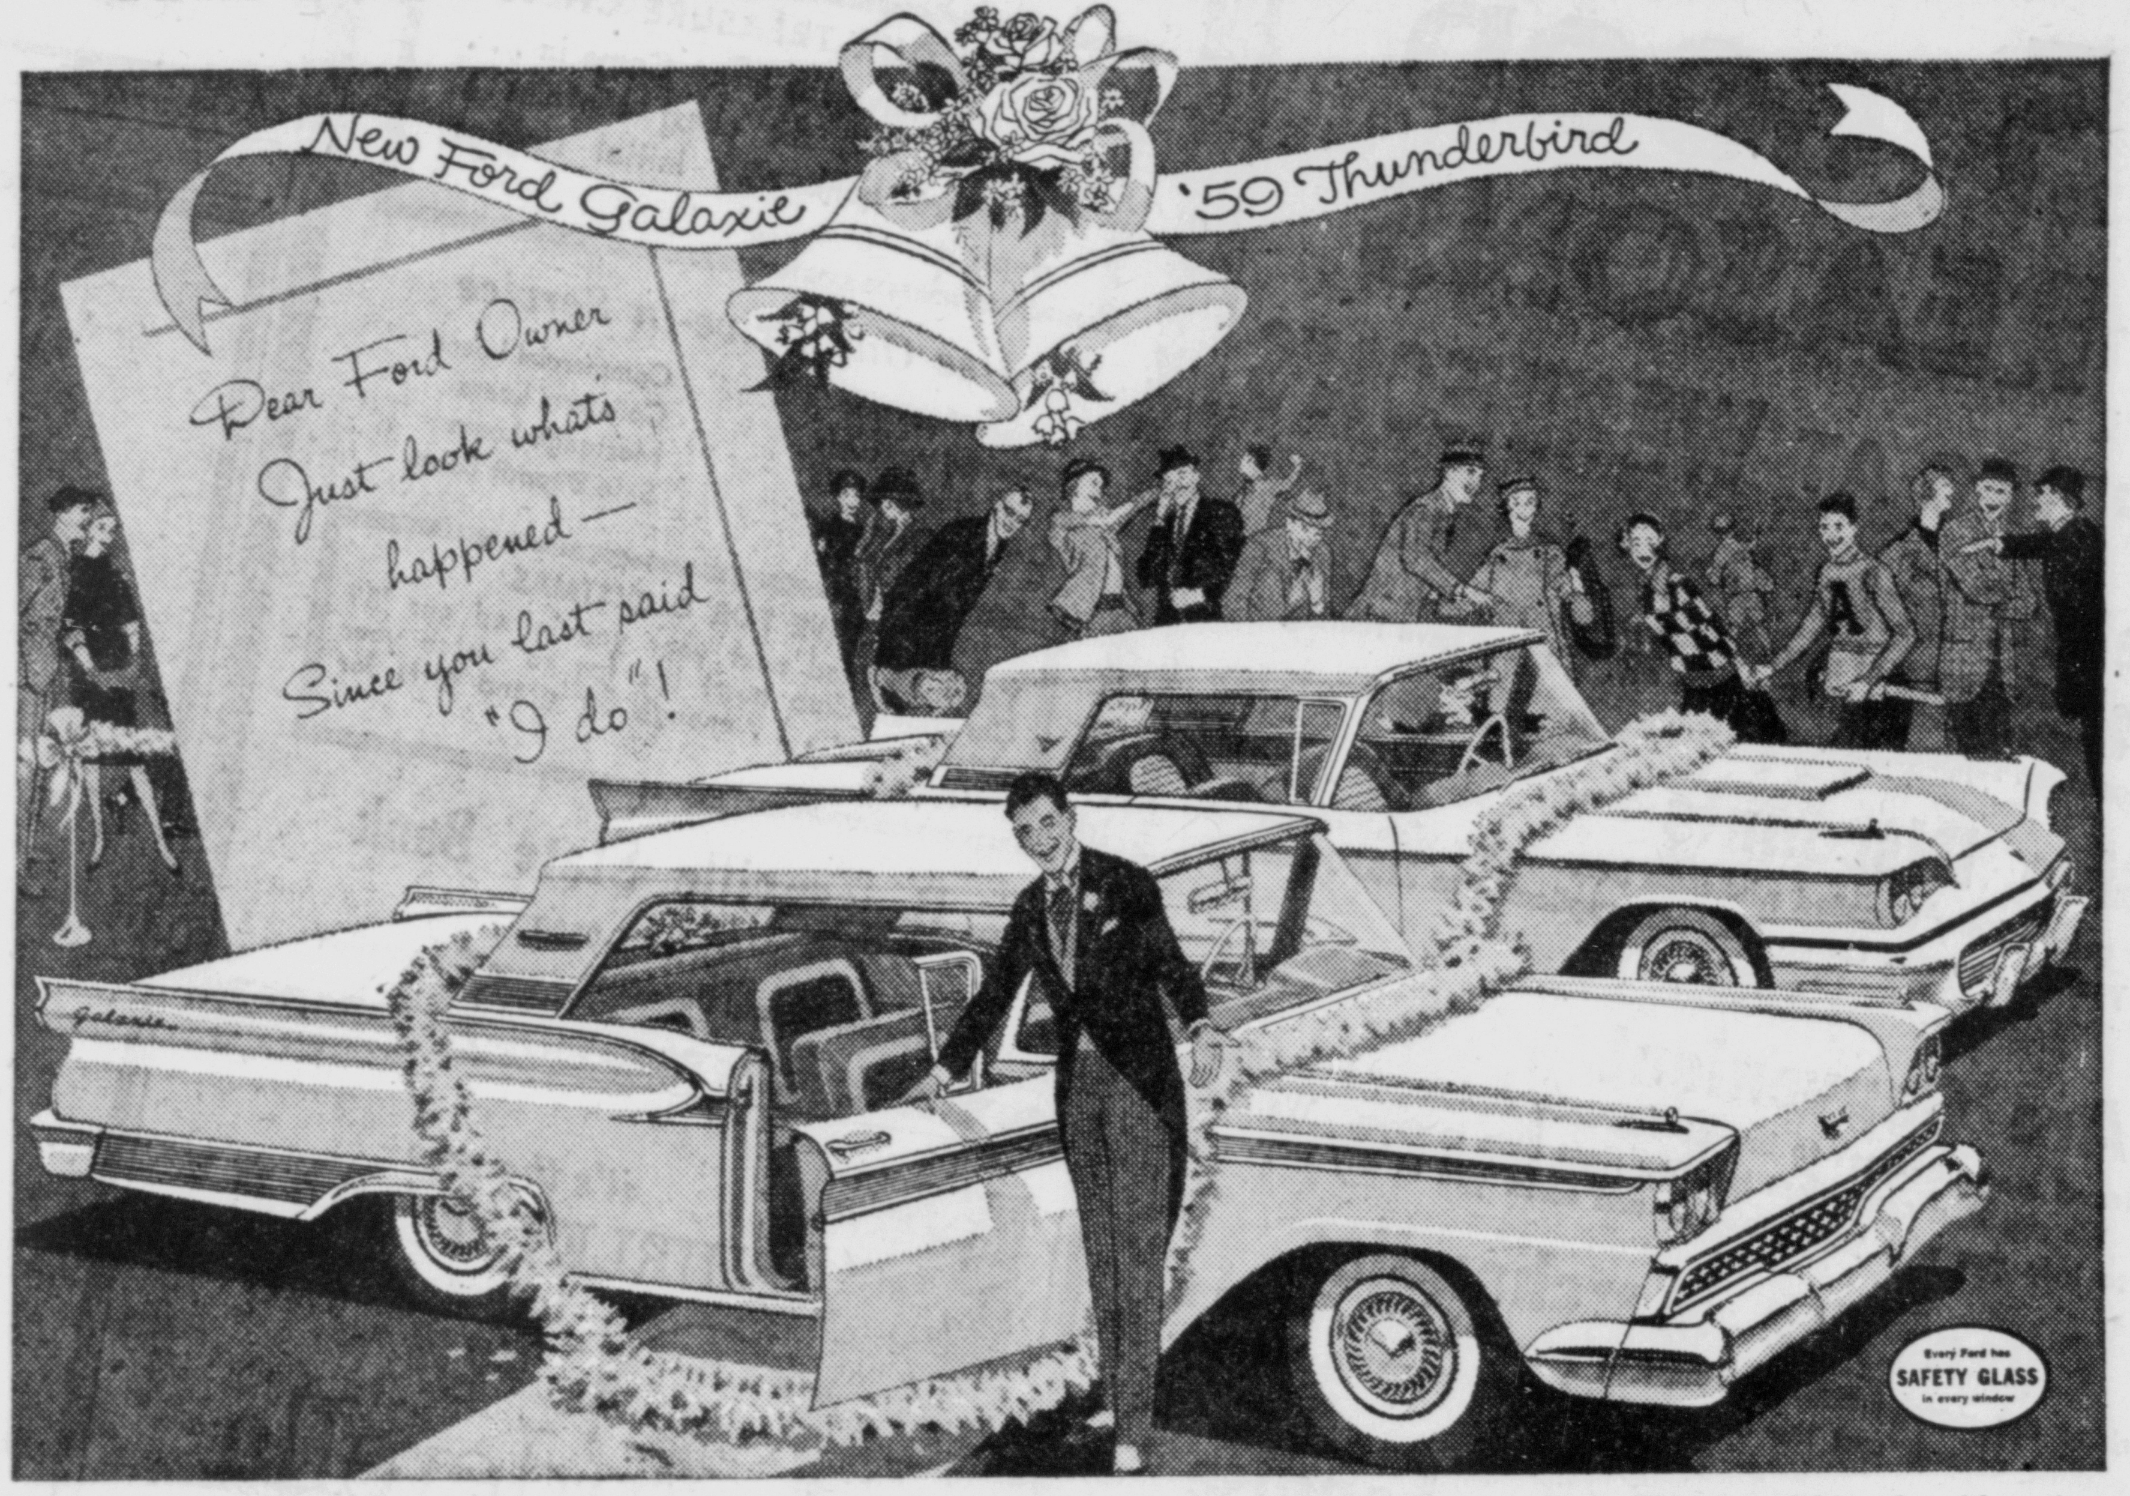
THE MOST BEAUTIFUL WEDDING OF THE YEAR



They're married in style and luxury!
The Thunderbird and the new Ford Galaxie.

Announcing

THE NEW FORD Galaxie

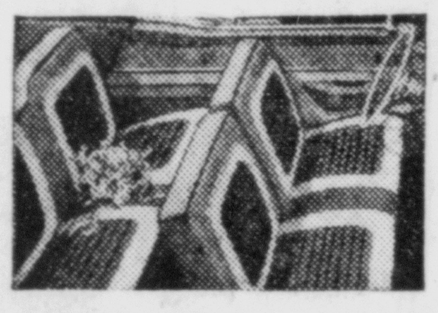
It's Thunderbird in looks! The straight-line Galaxie roof and dramatic see-it-all rear window say Thunderbird unmistakably. Here is the most perfect match yet of the Thunderbird's clean, low-swept silhouette!



It's Thunderbird in luxury! New Galaxie appointments—like the plush, deep-pile carpets—are so very Thunderbird in taste. There's Thunderbird V-8 power and performance, too, in the new Ford Galaxie!

Just Married in style to the Thunderbird!

It's the newest and most exciting of all the 59 Fords – the elegant new Galaxie. A bright new personality in cars—and more. The Galaxie is a full "fine car" 6-passenger expression of Thunderbird grace, spirit, style and luxury in an altogether new line of Fords. The Galaxie, as you'll quickly see, is as wonderfully all-the-way Thunderbird as a low-price Ford can be.

Reception now—you are invited. Come and see the Galaxie and the very full measure of elegance it brings to the low-price field. True, Ford owners are accustomed to luxury—and at the low Ford price. But never in any Ford—nor in cars costing far more—have you seen anything as sweet, smart and glamorous as this! Come today . . . and bring the family.

You'll want to honeymoon again in a 59 FORD

Boy Scouts in North DuPage

Itasca

Twenty-seven active boy scouts of troop 56 met at the Washington Street school November 25. The evening's activities were centered around first aid and aluminum foil cooking instructions. The cooking lesson will be put to practical use December 6 when the scouts will hike to the Elk Grove forest preserves.

Scheduled plans for the campout have been changed because of weather. They will meet at the North Side school Saturday at 7:30 a.m. with their hiking gear and the necessary food.

Various patrols are competing for the year's highest attendance records. Shoshone patrol, of which Henry Kalmus is leader, had the best attendance at the last meeting.

Boys of Explorer post 56 have been takiig orders this week for Christmas wreaths. If any homeowner has been missed and is interested in purchasing a wreath, he may call Itasca 502, and a boy will call to show a sample and take an order.

Cub Scout pack 49 will meet Friday, Dec. 5, at 7:30 p.m., in the North school gym. During this meeting the pack charter will be presented and several boys will receive awards. The annual Cub Scout Christmas party will close the meeting.

Family and friends of all scouts are cordially invited.

Medinah

Cubscout pack 11 committee and den mothers will meet Thursday December 4 at 8 p.m. in Medinah school.

North Elmhurst

Cub scout pack 92 met for its regular meeting last Friday evening at Churchville school. The boys are busy working on Christmas projects under the guidance of their cub master, Donald King.

Boy scout troop 88, held its first court of honor, November 24 at Churchville school. Troop leader Bernard Ruskin officiated at the candle lighting ceremony representing the Spirit of Scouting, also the Scout Oath and Scout Laws. He presented tenderfoot badges to Scouts Charles Forman, Jim Wachsning, Kenneth Cwodzinski, Russell Brandt, Jim Schultz, Cordell Price, Alfred Figueroa and Bill Andrew. Also a tenderfoot, Christy Smatas, who was absent.

SECOND CLASS badges were awarded to Ray Swan, and Dennis Grabenhofer. Jack Ruskin received first class scout badge and also his merit badge for canoeing. In the absence of the Troop Committeeman Roy Kern, Ray Schultz, troop treasurer, received the national charter for the troop from Herman Patz of Du Page council.

After the ceremony parents and visitors met new friends and renewed old acquaintances over coffee and donuts. Mrs. Dorothy Lessner was hostess. Beides Kern and Schultz the troop 88 committeemen are Ray Lessner, John Grabenhofer, Henry Wachsning, Al Figueroa and Ralph Lowe.

Troop 88 is planning a paper drive for January. Boys will try and pick up each week, old papers or magazines. If no one calls and residents have paper, they may call one of the scouts or their leaders.

Addison

Members of boy scout troop 67 are preparing for the Klondike Derby, a Sauk district event that will match troops from the entire district, competing in first aid, signaling, rope tying, sled races and other activities.

In preparation, competition will be held between patrols of troop 67. A grein bar meeting was held December 2 at Scoutmaster Olson's home. A plan for making additional money for the troop was presented to the patrol leaders at this time. To keep pace with the needs of the increasing number of boys in the troop, it was decided to have each scout save papers and magazines from three homes and have a pickup once a month. This will encourage more people to save paper and thus help the scouts with their program. (D

Waterfall Says He's Retiring

To at least his associates, Seymour "Bud" Waterfall, Westmont, dropped quite a bombshell at the county board meeting Monday in Wheaton.

As the session was about to adjourn following the appointment of Jack E. Bowers by the group as interim state's attorney succeeding William Guild, now county judge, Waterfall announced quietly that he will not seek re-election to the county board come April.

"I would like to state at this time that when my present term ends in April I do not plan to seek re-election as eigher county board chairman or Downers Grove township supervisor." He has been on the board for 24 years, the last four as chairman.

Reviews Airport Expansion

Within a few years DuPage county airport will be the third largest in the state, according to county board chairman Seymour Waterfall.

Waterfall made the prediction last week when preliminary plans for a new $200,000 airport control tower were presented to the county board by Wesley Kidd of Glen Ellyn, airport committee chairman. He said the federal government will pay half the cost.

KIDD REPORTED that the operation of the airport will net the county a $20,000 profit this year, compared to a $6,000 profit in 1957.

The board authorized Flight Service inc. to construct 3 new hangars on the airport which after 15 years will become county property. The firm previously built two hangars.

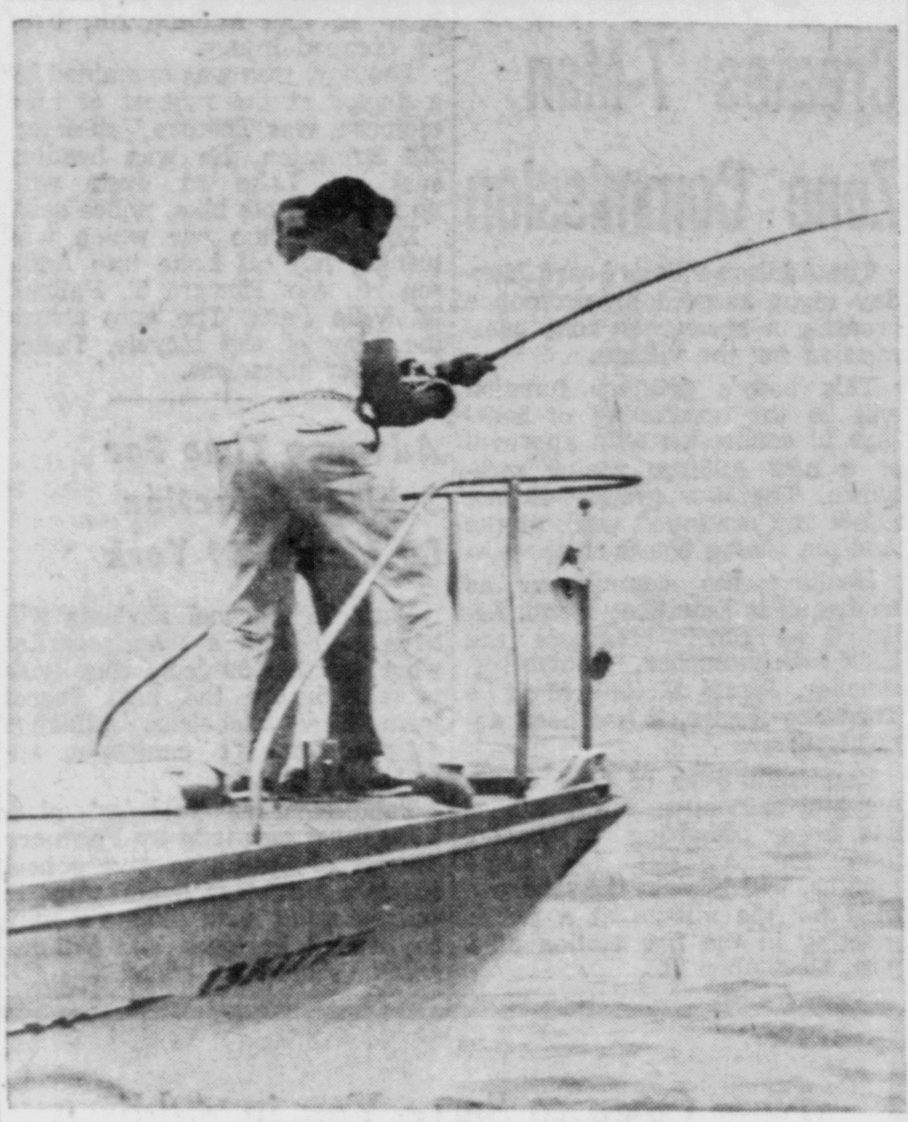
"Old Blue"

by ROY E. PETHERBRIDGE

(Petherbridge, a patent attorney who lives in Itasca, wrote this personal account of his big (fish) story just after it happened—June 28, 1958.)

Copyrighted 1958



"I leaped onto the second boat"

Suddenly I became aware that the rudder of the ship had broken down completely and we were immobilized and the run Old Blue had started on, which I thought was routine and like so many others, suddenly became the probable end of the battle.

Since the fish was running from the bow, the mate ordered me out of my chair and, with pole in hand, I crawled along the side of the boat to reach the bow and sat on the deck without the benefit of the swivel seat and sturdy socket into which the bottom of the pole is fitted.

I realized again what a real giant Old Blue was and as I watched the line peel away and reduce on the spool all the more, I was certain that Old Blue had won.

SUDDENLY, I WAS completely startled to see the bow of another boat just 20 or 25 feet away from our boat. As the boat approached it dawned on me what a ridiculous thing they wanted me to do.

They wanted me to jump from one boat to another with 15-foot swells tossing the boats up and down like opposite ends of a seesaw. As in a trance, I leaped onto the second boat. The pole was immediately steadied in my hands by young George A. Purnell, the mate of the second boat.

Old Blue continued his run against the ever reducing supply of line. I felt certain it was impossible to get from the bow of this ship back to the swivel seat at the stern in the rough seas but with George pushing I inched my way back against the starboard side with one hand grasping the handrail, the other hand holding the pole and my body dangling over the sea.

I then looked down and was given a tremendous shock. The metal of the reel spool was showing through the line and Old Blue was under 10 yards from freedom.

Whether Captain Cal Lilliston knew this or not I never learned, but he brought his boat, The Terrapin III, around in the tightest turn I have ever seen and ran full throttle for at least 20 minutes straight down the line allowing me to pick up valuable yard by yard, minute after minute.

Within half an hour we had recovered the line and had Old Blue within 50 yards of the boat and for the first time I could be told what had happened.

When the CATHERINE's rudder had broken down completely, Captain Willis had raced for the shortwave radio and called Captain Lilliston of the nearby TERRAPIN and asked him to take off the fish and fishermen. Without hesitation, the TERRAPIN III, which had come to witness the battle, pulled in lines and made directly for the CATHERINE.

BY NOW I more lay than sat in the chair and felt waves of fatigue pass over me. Noting this, mate George went to the locker and brought out a leather harness that had a loop which slipped over each shoulder and a catch that hooked on to the rail. This enabled me, for the first time, to take my left hand off the pole and yet allowed holding the pole up by merely leaning back in the chair.

Old Blue had been on the line for three hours by this time and, as near as we could tell hadn't lost enough strength. He broke water twice well away from the ship in long, violent fights and then rested, during which time we were able to work him and the boat together by continually pumping the line and backing the boat toward the fish.

Captain Cal, by slowly backing, eventually got the fish within 30 to 35 feet of the boat. The first time this happened, he let us know in no uncertain terms that this was not to his liking. He suddenly came straight up out of the water, stood on his tail and tugged against the line with all of his might in one of the most spectacular displays of the day. I actually gaped at his proportions.

After standing out of the water for what seemed like a long time, he gracefully arched his back, fell into a side dive and ran out line so fast that it burnt my finger through my glove where it chanced to touch the line.

AFTER RUNNING 100 yards or more I could feel him slow down from the constant drag of the line in a manner I had not heretofore experienced. For the first time I felt that the round had perceptibly taken a toll of him.

Within 15 minutes, the cooperative efforts of the Captain and I had worked the fish to within 25 feet of the boat and, for the first time, the swivel that connects the metal leader to the line lay an inch or two above the water.

I then became aware that mate Al, who had left the CATHERINE with me, had prepared and laid out the gaff hook at the stern, which comprised a 15-foot wooden handle having a tremendous hook on the end. Tied to the hook and secured to the boat was a rope that would certainly hold any fish in this or any ocean.

A complete silence had fallen over the ship as Al prepared to swing the gaff hook. Each time he would throw it into the water, Old Blue would sense it and swim away and it would be a nerve tingling experience to bring him back to the boat.

Finally Al could reach the fish with the gaff hook and, with every muscle in his body hunched, he swung the gaff into the fish just as Old Blue decided that he wanted no more of these shenanigans. The gaff penetrated his right side and hooked into his flesh in an area about as big as a man's thigh.

The instant the hook hit Old Blue took off and the 30 odd feet of gaff rope paid out from the boat. All eyes were on the gaff rope to see if the gaff hook would hold. When the rope went taut the fish never even slowed down and tore the gaff hook completely through his flesh.

IF... I Hadn't Compared Financing Costs I WOULD HAVE PAID $200.00 TOO MUCH FOR MY CAR
"The unpaid balance on a new automobile I bought would have cost me $200.00 more for financing and insurance, through a large finance company, than it actually did through my State Farm agent and a local bank." (One of many actual cases.)
Many People Assume Financing Rates Are Standard
THEY ARE NOT!
The Bank Plan offers you two proven money-saving methods for car buying: Low-cost financing through a nearby bank and low-cost preferred-risk insurance rates. Get your own figures on the car you want and COMPARE them with Bank Plan costs FIRST! Call or see your State Farm agent BEFORE you buy.

This Week with PTA

Bartlett

Recently, Bartlett PTA held a potluck dinner in the gym preceding a short meeting. It was a huge success of 600 servings thanks to Mrs. Irene Saperstein, Mrs. Marilyn Davis, Mrs. Julie McNeil, Mrs. Pauline Brolin and Mrs. Shirley Rabe of the ways and means committee. Mrs. Pat Bartow, hospitality chairman, supported by the serving committee: Mrs. Ed Rauhut, Mrs. Fred Missele, Mrs. Wesley Hendrickson, Mrs. Jack Shibona, Mrs. Byron Schuett, Mrs. Harold Holmes, Mrs. Shirley Mayer and Mrs. Grace Weck.

At the diner, Otto Rozmijstowski of Chicago, Mrs. N. Schwanke, of Bartlett, F. Simpson of Chicago, Alice Lewis of Streamwood and Jean Dittmer of Bartlett received turkeys. Miss Margaret Feltz of Woodland Heights and R. Hardy of Bartlett received hams.

RALPH GORDON called the meeting to order at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Mary Hecht read the minutes of the last meeting and the treasurer's report. Mr. DuBois and Gus Jensen read new articles for the constitution which were seconded and Gordon thanked the committee on the wonderful job for the evening. Next meeting will be held in January when Harold Holmes of Bartlett is scheduled to speak on safety.

Churchville

Due to the retirement of PTA President Mrs. Daryl Miller, who recently moved to Elmhurst, Wayne Hamilton was chosen by the PTA board and unanimously voted in at the last PTA meeting as the new PTA president at Churchville school.

Next PTA meeting will be at 8 p.m. December 16. The evening will be mainly given to the Christmas program by the children of Churchville school, under the direction of Miss Ginger Walsh.

Wood Dale

Final plans were formulated for the production "The Green Door" at the home of Mrs. John Sotiras, Central ave., Wednesday evening. This is a musical comedy written and produced by Mrs. Sotiras to be sponsored by the Wood Dale PTA with proceeds to benefit the school band. It will be held in the gym Tuesday, January 20 with the curtain going up at 8 p.m.

The production has now been completely cast, using local talent exclusively. An exacting search for stage props has begun in earnest. Rehearsals will be a bit unusual as until opening night "one's right hand will be unaware of the doings of one's left hand." All parts are secret and will be put together only on the final performance.

MRS. LAWRENCE Oomens will be the vocalist, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Reynolds Hungerford. Dancers in the cast are from the Zaki Labovsky school of dancing. Other cast members include: Mesdames Raymond Anderson, Alex Arndt, Hermna Cook, Edward Gerrity, John Gorajczyk, L. H. Graeser, John Lowden, Martin Ludwig, John Medema, Robert Mittel, Howard Nelson, Orion Nesseler, Ernest Olson, Raymond Richert, James Sistak, Edward Tiffany, Arthur Triebes, Robert True, Constance Flesor Sotiras, Orion Nesseler and Arthur Triebes.

Mrs. Robert Keith is stage manager and publicity chairman; Mrs. Peter Petros, entertainment; Reynolds Hungerford in charge of PA system; and Mrs. Robert Newman, ticket chairman. She can be reached by calling PO 6-4455. (D boss as to their assignments. Springborn went to work immediately and most situations were settled within two hours.

He waited only until he had taken his own oath of office in the installation ceremonies at the adjacent courthouse to name his No. 1 assistant. DuPage's new chief deputy sheriff is 42-year old Herbert Mertes, West Chicago.

The solidly built and well regarded veteran of 11 years in police work was an investigator under the outgoing sheriff, Stanley Lynch, the past several years. He has been in the sheriff's office for over seven years and before that was West Chicago chief of police.

MERTES SPENT eight years in the marines during World War II and was wounded twice in South Pacific action. Like Springborn, he was sworn in by Federal Judge Win G. Knoch during the ceremonies before a record crowd in the courthouse.

In organization then undertaken in his office, Sheriff Springborn named Deputies Melvin Lowe, Warrenville, and Gerald Mentink, Elmhurst, to the bureau of investigation. Both were formerly assigned to routine highway duty.

Sgt. John Albrecht, Wheaton, continues as head of the bureau. James Smith, Wheaton, is the new fingerprint man and photographer for the office. He had been assisting Marlyn Fessler, Bloomingdale, the past two years in such duties.

Advanced to the rank of sargeant and assigned to duty in the jail is John Vitek, Westmont. Retaining similiar chores with the same rank are Orville Topel, Wheaton; William Holzkopf, Westmont, and John Devaney, Warrenville.

VITEK REPLACES John Eyer, Lombard, who is slated for patrol work. Continuing as chief jailer is the veteran Lawrence Murphy, Elmhurst. Springborn indicates he will retain virtually the same clerical staff kept by Lynch.

This department includes Chief Clerk A. E. Nelson who, with 32 years, has more service behind him than any other member of the sheriff's department. Springborn reportedly talked to virtually all of the men he has retained during the two-hour period Monday.

He has yet to make any announcements concerning appointments to posts from which he fired nine persons two weeks ago. In this group were Investigator Fessler and Deputy Sheriff John Giannini, Bensenville.

The DuPage county board later Monday okayed severance compensation for eight in the dismissed group based on length of service. Six will receive six days' salary while the other two, employed less than a year in the office, will receive two days pay.

A PHILOSOPHER FINDS RELIGION

Dr. E. S. Ames once headed the philosophy department of the University of Chicago, and was pastor of University Church of the Disciples. He announced: "This church practices unity; has no creed but Christ; seeks to make religion as intelligent as science, as appealing as art, as vital as the day's work, as intimate as the home, and as inspiring as love."

Community Center Barn Gutted in Mystery Blaze

The Hoffman Community center barn burst into flames last (Wednesday) night shortly after 6 p.m., and, in a 2½-hour inferno, was destroyed.

The fire followed a similar blaze last week, when a near-by barn was also destroyed. The origin of the fire was not determined immediately, as the structure was still burning fiercely as this paper went to press.

Firemen from five communities joined the Hoffman fire department in fighting the fire, which by a one-in-a-million shot occurred in the Hoffman department's headquarters. Hoffman fire equipment, including a new $20,000 La France fire engine, is (or was) housed in the barn, but was saved. The fire department building, one wing of the near-century old building, oddly enough was the only part that was not damaged.

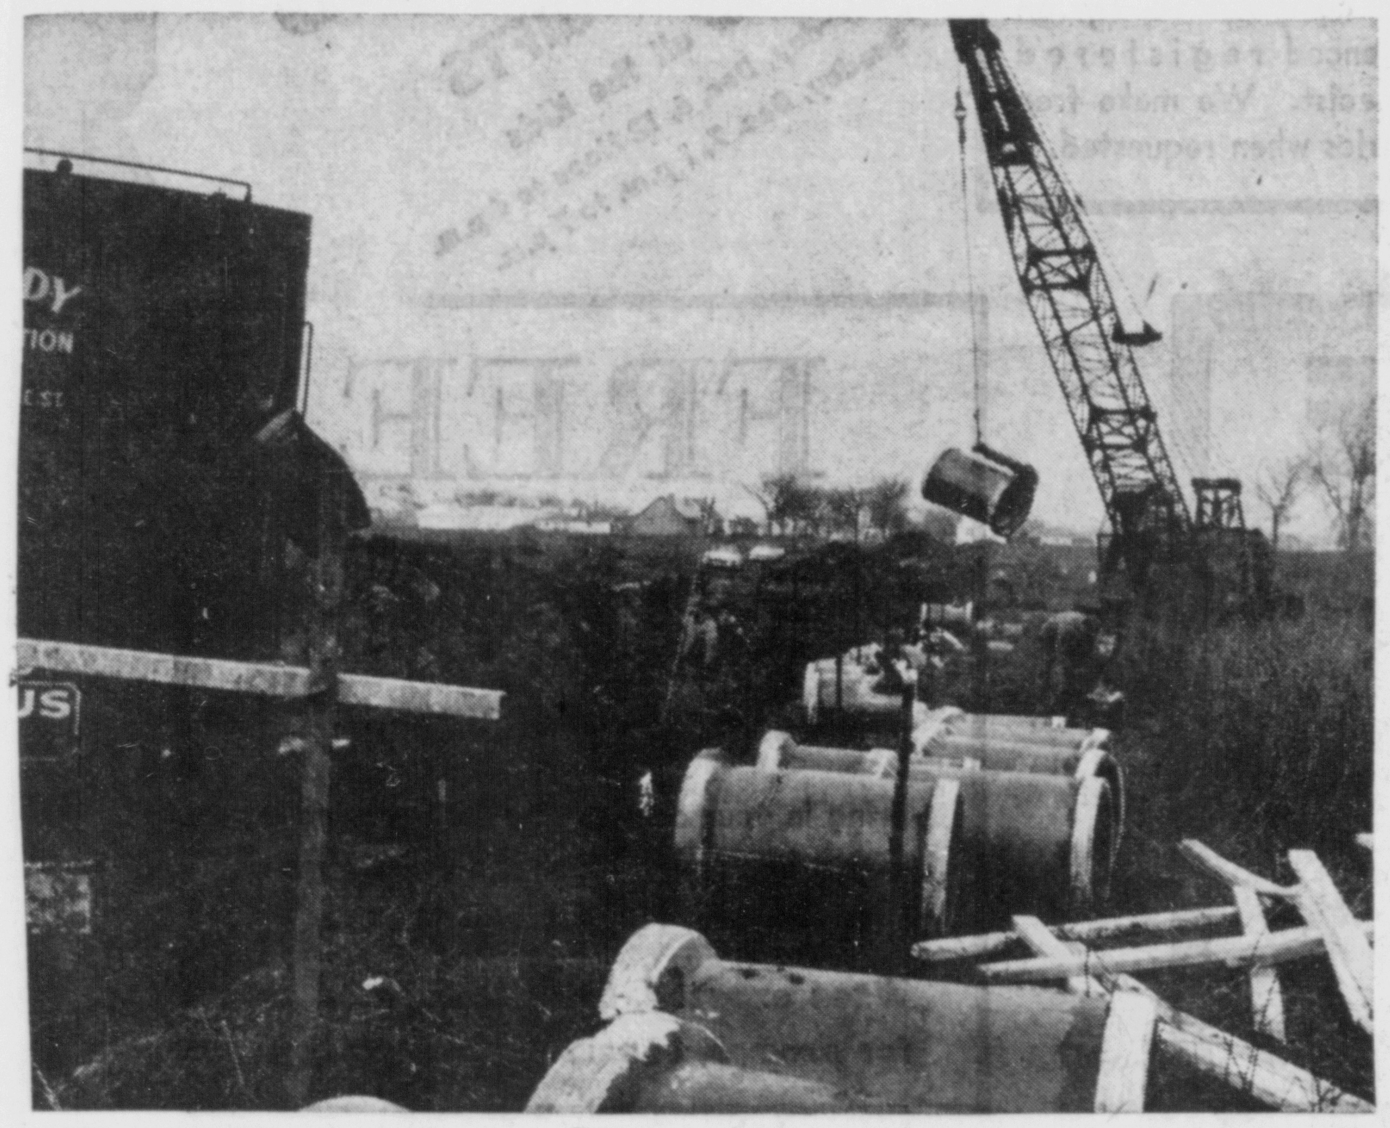
Over 70 firemen, regulars and volunteers, joined in combatting the blaze, while local housewives served up steaming cups of hot, strong coffee to the firefighters.

THE NIGHT SKY over Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg was red for more than two hours from the glow. Engines, companies and firemen were hampered initially by the heavy fog that rolled in shortly after dark.

The nearest hydrants were more than 500 feet distant, which required extra lengths of hose, and the rain that fell in the afternoon and the streams of water from the many hoses, made footing slippery and access to the ancient structure difficult.

(Pictures will be available in next week's issue).

"V" IS FOR VICTORY and "V" is for Valparaiso as cheered by Corinne Grotheer (right), the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. K. V. Grotheer, 200 S. Walnut, Itasca. Corinne is an English major at the Indiana school.



THE CASSIDY construction co., Chicago, wasted little time after the recent opening of the enlarged Addison disposal plant facilities in getting started on the sewer line to serve the industrial district. Starting from the disposal site on Villa ave., Cassidy workers have been proceeding westward and Tuesday had reached this point about two blocks south of Fullerton ave. and three blocks west of Addison rd. and the edge of the sizeable factory area. DISTRICT 108's Lake Park high school in Medinah is shown in two versions in this architect's sketch. The shaded portion is the school as it looks today. The white sections represent the enlargement proposed by the board of education and school administrators on which the public in the district will vote Saturday in a $876,000 bond issue proposal.

Way Back When

30 YEARS AGO—An apparent attempt to burn the Arlington Park race track plant was made at 3 a.m. Wednesday when a big black limousine with both doors open and occupied by four gunmen made a futile attack on Arlington Park property. The watchman was met with a hail of bullets when he ordered the car to move and other watchmen were just in time to prevent the occupants from tearing down a section of fence in order to gain entrance to the property. The attack was made on the day that it was announced that John Hertz was about to take over Arlington Park. It probably was just one more step in the gangland warfare being waged against Hertz interests and which has caused the bombing of Yellow Cab garages and the burning of some of the Hertz stables at Cary where Reigh Count, winner of the Kentucky derby was led to safety.

County Officers Inducted Before Overflow Turnout

A record crowd of over 400 relatives and friends jammed the DuPage circuit courtroom in Wheaton to overflowing Monday morning for the induction of seven Republicans elected to county offices last month.

Serving as master of ceremonies was Elmer J. Hoffman, congressman-elect, outgoing state treasurer and chairman of the DuPage GOP central committee. Judge Win G. Knoch of the U.S. Appellate court administered the oaths to the following:

William L. Guild, county judge.

Clarence V. Wagemann, county clerk.

Philip F. Locke, probate judge.

Rollin M. Hall, probate clerk.

Donald R. Smith, county treasurer.

Lawrence Springborn, sheriff.

Roy DeShane, superintendent of schools.

Judge Knoch stressed humility as the most important ingredient as he spoke at length to the inductees about the importance of their duties. Following the program, the county treasurer's office hosted a buffet luncheon.

The appointment of Dr. E. E. Byerrum of Warrenville as a member of the advisory board to the state department of conservation has been made by Gov. William G. Stratton, it was announced this week.

The bride wore a chantilly lace over nylon tulle gown and wore a sequin crown to hold her illusion veiling. White orchids and white carnations with pink stephanotis formed the bridal bouquet.

'Pot Cover' Out of Style?

Some time ago a man, a big stupid man, wrote an article on the suburban woman and hats. He was very unkind to us. He said that we had no taste in headgear, that we had no courage in headgear and intimated that we hardly had heads. In fact, he was very snorty about our taste in clothing.

At the time I read the thing, I was mildly angry. However, I consoled myself with the thought that as he designed hats, he naturally was trying to whip up a little business with reverse psychology. Anyway, when we suburbanites get into our good little frocks, we look as snappy as the best of them. I kept saying.

At least, I considered that I could hold my own even with the sort of beanie I go in for. You can't really call my hats creations. But, they do put a covering on the top of my head which is my concession to the big city. So, the other day I went to the big city in my Sunday-go-to-meeting outfit complete with the pot cover I dignify by the name of hat.

For a while I felt just fine. It was early when I got there so the place was full of other suburb dwellers and we all nodded approvingly at each other. It was later on that I began to experience a vague feeling of unease. As I swept into the restaurant feeling on top of the world and sure that I could hold my own with, if not the duchess of Windsor, at least her secretary, it was suddenly borne upon me that I was just a wee bit out of style.

Why didn't someone tell me that this is the year of the monkey fur hat? That pheasant skull caps are the thing? That waistlines are up around the neckline and that hemlines are up around the kneeline? That coats are shaped like cocoons?

Fortunately it was pretty gloomy in the restaurant and was downright dark in the theater so my housedress and mopcap didn't attract too much attention. But, my ego certainly took a terrific beating. I must find that man and apologize for my unkind thoughts and tell him he can write about me anytime he wants.

Holiday Whirl Gets Underway Dance Groups Herald Gala Season

Dance groups and organizations in the northwest suburbs are heralding the holiday season with colorful and festive dance parties this week. The gala holiday season was opened November 28 with the Thanksgiving ball in Elmhurst country club. This dance, sponsored by St. John Episcopal church in Mt. Prospect, is traditionally held the Friday after Thanksgiving and serves as the unofficial launching of the holiday festivities.

The Thanksgiving ball was followed Saturday night by the Coterie club's dance at Itasca country club with George Fannelli and his orchestra providing the dance music. This dance group has 100 couples and membership in the group includes lessons as well as four dances each year. Members come from all the suburbs, from Mt. Prospect and Wheeling to Palatine.

This Saturday, Dec. 6, has been chosen by at least six local groups for their holiday parties. George Allen's orchestra will provide dance music for the 100 member couples of the Continental club when they gather at the VFW hall in Arlington Heights for their Christmas dance. This group also receives instruction in the latest dance steps and enjoy four yearly dances. As in the Coterie club, Muriel Mills and Peter Lund, professional dancer, are the instructors.

DINNER DANCES are being held Saturday in local country clubs by the Quadrille dance group, Arlington Heights Cotillion club, Northwest Meadows association, the Saturka club and Palatine Lions club. Cotillion club members will dine and dance at Rolling Green country club with Del Rene and his orchestra providing the music.

Old Orchard country club will be the scene of the fourth annual Christmas dinner dance for the Northwest Meadows group, who will dance to the music of Tony Apolo, while the Saturka dance group will dine and dance to the music of Paul Meeker at Brookfield country club. Saturka, according to the club's members, is Indian for "night dancers." Palatine Lions club members and their guests will dine and dance December 6 at Glendale country club.

The following Saturday, Dec. 13, is the date chosen by the Guys and Dolls dance group, the One Hundred club and the Palatine Cotillion club. The Stardusters will play for the Guys and Dolls who are holding their dinner dance at Itasca country club. Members of this club are mostly from Prospect Heights. Glendale country club will be the scene of Arlington Heights' One Hundred club dance, while the Arlington country club will be host to the Palatine club. The Jacks of Rhythm will play for this group.

Although formal dress for the men is not the rule at most suburban dances, the women will be attired in their most festive dance gowns and all are looking forward to the many pre-dance affairs and the gala dance parties during the holiday whirl.

Just Around The Corner From Patty McArdle

Palm-Bedecked Bazaar

Dear Peg:

Imagine decorating a room for a Christmas bazaar with palm trees! There is no doubt that this year we had the most unusual and effective setting for our church guild's annual sale that we've ever had before. From the theme "Wise Men's Market," the decorating committee used the idea of an ancient market place, perhaps in Bethlehem, where, inside booths draped with swatches of bright material, could be bought anything from cakes to Christmas decorations. Besides the ten foot paper palm trees, huge glitter stars hung from the ceiling adding a touch of enchantment to the scene.

Many of the ideas for the booths are used from year to year such as the bakery booth. Here, as always, on the tables and shelves, you could find the delicious cakes, pies, cookies, coffee cakes and homemade jellies and jams that the best cooks in the parish provide every year.

Something new is added each year to the needlework booth. This time attractive little "Humpty-Dumpty" sleeper-keepers were the thing. Round, little, pillow-like "Humpty-Dumptys" with appliqued faces and a zipper in back had an opening inide for keeping children's nighties. The Christmas place mats and napkins and tablecloths sold very well.

In the middle of the "market place," surrounding a huge, gold, peg-board Christmas tree were the decorations. I've never seen such a large variety of beautiful ornaments, miniature trees, wreaths and centerpieces made of gilded pine cones at any bazaar or store for that matter! Also jeweled felt Christmas stockings and Christmas tree skirts were for sale there.

The apron booth is always a success, but I do think that this year it had the most attractive aprons it has ever had. You could buy pastel organdies with eyelet trim or Christmas aprons decorated with trees, etc. and, of course, the many styles of serviceable aprons too.

The doll booth was the new booth this year. A committee of women made beautiful clothes for a dozen dolls. Some were dressed as brides, some in formals with real fur stoles and some as little girls in full skirts and picture hats. All sold very quickly!

By popular demand we repeated the children's room again this year. Decorated in a carnival theme this room had booths for throwing balls at rubber milk bottles, throwing darts, being made up, throwing balls through a paper clown's mouth, etc. Hot dogs and Cokes were also available here.

For three months the women of the parish worked for this two day affair and through their efforts the Guild took in almost $4,000. Not only did this fact please everyone, but all of us, although very tired by Saturday evening, were very happy to have had a part in the successful event.

My love,
Patty.

A perfect example of busy teenagers is senior troop 151. Among other recent activities members have been making tray favors for the Busch nursing home in Wood Dale for Thanksgiving and for Christmas.

Cheryl Bentley reporting for troop 476 reports that their troop had a wonderful time skating at the Elm roller rink in South Elmhurst on a recent Sunday afternoon.

MEMBERS OF troop 91 have been skating at the Elm every Tuesday fro 4 to 5 p.m. taking skating lessons to earn their skaters' badges. The Elm has been wonderful to these girls and very courteous to the leaders too, serving them free hot coffee and sweet rolls while they wait for their girls.

Gloria Ormerod's troop of third grade brownies enjoyed a recent outing as they hiked through town, stopped and played at the playground near St. Alexis and then continued on to Deer Park where they cooked a lunch of barbecues and hot cocoa.

Now that the cold weather is really here everyone is getting ready for winter activities, incuding sleigh rides, ice skating partise and plans for Christmas. Don't forget to plan those parties ahead as well as the carol singing, distribution of presents and visits to homes, hospitals and other similar institutions. Let us know just what you are doing. Call Mrs. Zingraf at POrter 6-0656 with your news items.

TROOP 107 didn't exactly say what they were planning but with all that Christmas ribbon, sparkle, glitter and beads it sounds all very Christmasy and mysterious. Leader is Mrs. Jack Tong assisted by Mrs. Gourlie and Mrs. Freitag and the girls meet on Tuesdays at Mrs. Tong's home.

Itasca

Girl scouts of troop 250 met at the home of their leader, Mrs. Ray Christensen, Monday afternoon. The meeting started with a relay race. The girls then had their troop meeting and discussed new and old business. The troop meeting was adjourned and the girls went to their patrols where they passed badge requirements and sewed on the stuffed animals they are making to give to hospitalized children at Christmas.

The girls would like to thank the people of the Ranchettes for their co-operation in the recent Girl Scout paper drive. The paper drive was very successful.

INVESTITURE of the second grade brownie troop of Washington school was held November 25 at the school. The troop presented the brownie story and repeated the pledge around the "magic mirror." Each girl's pin was put on upside down and may be changed only after they have done a good deed.

LANCER CENTER Dale Hacke (30) rises from the side in front of Round Lake Center Jeff Henning to pot a two-handed jump shot. Looking for possible rebounds are Wally Zilke (24), Len Johnson (21) and Glen Sherman (12) of Round Lake. Lake Park dropped this one, 52-50.

Lancers Seek Win No. 1 Against Carl Sandburg

Lake Park's basketball team, hoping to register win No. 1, Saturday night will host a winless Carl Sandburg quintet in the final non-conference game before Tri-County conference play opens a week hence.

After Friday night's resounding 83-33 loss to Dundee, Coach Jerry Carpenter has his boys working on rebounds this week.

"THE DUNDEE players were taking 'em off over the top of us even though we had position," Carpenter remarked. "Then when we'd try to get rebounds against the taller boys, we'd foul them," he said. Carpenter was so right. Dundee made 29 of 41 foul shots.

However, the Lancers may get some needed help under the boards as 6-3 Dennis Hanson, mainstay on the sophomore team last year, began working out following recovery from a football injury.

Carpenter was happy with the Lancers progress despite the loss. "The boys did everything we asked them to do," he said.

THE entire Lake Park squad saw action against the Cardinals and Jay Kelly, Bob Hall and Don Pohlman came out of the game with prospects of seeing much action in the future.

Carpenter is expected to start the same five he's used in the first two games. He hopes his lads will have their eye and not miss seven shots from within the free throw circle as they did in the first few minutes at Dundee.

Coach Bill Adams has one of the shortest teams he's had in years at Carl Sandburg. The Eagles average 5-11½. A pair of senior forwards, Bob Schnider and Phil Yurtis, are expected to be in the starting lineup. Don Arnold, a 6-1 junior is at center. Juniors Jerry McBride, 5-9, and Dick Barry, 5-10, are at guard.

ADAMS HAS two sophomores, but one, Dave Bush, is out with a bad knee suffered during the football season. The one ready for duty is Duane Erickson, a 6-0 forward.

Carl Sandburg lost its opener to Blue Island by four points and then to Riverside-Brookfield.

Round Lake Tops Lancer Sophomores

Round Lake's frosh-soph Panthers gave coach Larry Stees and his Lake Park Lancers a Thanksgiving present the previous night in the form of a 41-28 defeat.

The Lancers played on even terms in the first, third and fourth quarters as both teams dumped in 23 points in these quarters. The second period told the story as Round Lake poured in 18 points to the Lancers meager five. This 13 points was the difference in the ball game.

Both teams shot fairly well from the floor. Round Lake hit tavia soph club by a final tally of 58-43.

16 of 42 shot for a .381 average. The Lancers put in 12 of 37 shots for a .324 average.

Fenton Faces Wheaton Friday Night

Wrestlers At Grant Tonight

Coaches Gene Hoffman and Don Johnson were still optimistic about this year's Fenton mat squad as they prepared for tonight's match with the Grant Bulldogs at Fox Lake. In the face of last week's 40-6 defeat at the hands of Naperville, the Bisons will go into the match as the underdogs but even though his boys "have a long way to go" Coach Hoffman feels that his squad will make a much improved showing against the lake city boys.

The Bisons took the lead in the Grant series last year as they clobbered the Bulldogs twice in a home and home arrangement. Gone from last year's fine squad, however, are such sure winners as Dennis Harvey, Dic McCann and Hugh Wilson.

Dundee Thumps Lancers, 82-33

The red and white Cardinals from Dundee smothered the Lake Park Lancers last Saturday, 82-53. The contest, played at Dundee, developed into a rout as Lake Park missed several easy shots at the opening. The Cardinals jumped jumped on this chance to build up a comfortable lead.

A big first quarter put Dundee in front, 17-8. During this period the Lancers could not get one offensive rebound, and they didn't get too many defensive rebounds.

The Lancers could not stop the surge in the second quarter either. Led by George Struck and Dick Calbow, the Dundee squad stuffed through 23 points. The disheartened Lancers could only dump in nine points. The first half ended with Dundee in front 0-17.

The second half was the same story. Dundee could not miss, and Lake Park could not hit. Lake Park managed to stem the tide momentarily as Dundee only out-scored them, 16-14, in the fourth frame.

Both coaches cleared their benches in the fourth quarter. Lake Park's lack of reserve The red and white put 26 points through the hoop while LP could only manage one lone bucket.

This was one of the coldest nights a Lake Park squad has had. They hit 13 shots on 57 attempts for a meager .227 percentage. The free throw results were evn more discouraging. The Lancers negotiated only seven of 20 tosses for a .350 average.

Only three Lancers secured baskets. Dale Hacke tossed in even of 14 shots. His one free throw gave him the scoring leadership for the night with 15 points. Steve Whipple was next in line with three buckets and a like number of charity tosses for nine points.

The Dundee scoring was well-balanced, as five players dialed double figures. Calbow led the way with 21 points. Dennis Nelson, the junior center, was next with 13 points. Struck, who graduates in January, contributed 10 and played very well on defense.

Sophs Cool At Fenton

The Fenton high school soph cagers roared out of the starting blocks and onto a 21 point first quarter scoring splurge but then cooled off to the extent they could score but 16 more points the rest of the game and so dropped their second start of the young season to Leyden's sophs, 44-37.

Coach Bill Jonkheer's boys looked like world beaters the first half as they compiled a 28-22 edge mainly on the shooting of Tom Semper and John Hennig who popped in 10 and nine points, respectively. When they could muster only three field goals in the second half, however, Leyden was able to go ahead and cop a hard earned win.

MAC SAYS

by G. A. McELROY

THIS PAST WEEK HIGH SCHOOLS of the state of Illinois were asked by their state association to vote on a proposition to determine whether there is sufficient sentiment in favor of having more than one state champ in basketball through the holding of tournaments based on enrollment classification. There has been considerable sentiment expressed in some areas for a change in the tournament plan. There is a good possibility that a change will come about since there are many small schools in the state who would stand to gain by such a move. Propositions submitted for approval call for a vote for the present single state champ plan, a plan for two tournament series with the enrollment division at 350 students, and a three tournament plan based on enrollment by divisions of up to 250, 250 to 650, and over 650.

Personally, we believe in one state champion and voted to retain the present plan. We like the Iowa plan where small schools have separate tournaments up to the state and there lose their enrollment identity. We think that this plan would be unwise in Illinois due to the number of large schools but would like to see the small schools separated up to the sectionals rather than the state tourney. The purpose of the tournaments is to determine a state champion. The present plan does a good job of making this selection. Al Willis as state secretary will deserve a good boost in pay and more assistants if the state votes to have three state series of basketball tournaments. If a two tournament arrangement is voted there will be 416 schools under 350 enrollment and 216 over that figure. If a three tournament plan should be adopted the number of schools would be 403 under 250, 161 from 250 to 650, and 118 schools over 650. Considering the number of small schools outranking the large ones by more than 2 to 1 do not be surprised if the tournament plan is changed.

Second School Problems

LIBERTYVILLE IS CONSIDERING a second high school for the Mundelein area. If they establish a four-year high in Mundelein the survey enrollments of the two schools in 1964-65, according to the Libertyville Independent Register, would be 1,098 at Libertyville and 1,365 at Mundelein. If a frosh-soph school is built at Mundelein and the school district remains with one unit the enrollment by 1964-65 will be 2,500.

Palatine faces the same problem. A second school must be built by the fall of 1960 or have a staggered session school day. The second school will start out with frosh-sophs and the 2 schools will operate as one as far as athletic competition is concerned. Later the two schools may be changed to 4 year institutions after enrollment has increased so that both will have at least 1,000 enrollment. The advantage of having several four-year highs as compared with frosh-soph feeder schools is that more boys get a chance to compete on varsity teams. From the standpoint of community unity and cooperation, quality of activities, quality of education on the junior-senior level, and cost of operation, the frosh-soph feeder system is the best.

Dividing District Touchy Matter

IF PALATINE GOES for several four-year high schools what will be the division line for the various schools? When the time comes to have a high school in Schaumburg the toll road which separates Palatine and Schaumburg Townships is a natural dividing line but what about the division for the present school and the one planned on Quentin Road? The only natural boundary is the North Western Railroad. The problem is that there may in the future be more high school students north of this line than the present Wood st. building can handle. In our opinion it is a pretty tough proposition to say that a boy on one side of the street will go to one school and the boy across the street attend another, particularly if both are good athletes and had played together. Shifting boundaries to keep enrollments even in numbers can result in very poor public relations. Arlington Heights is facing this problem and it will be worse when they have to change again with the opening of a third high school and later a fourth.

It is very early to suggest that any team will go to the state tournament but Elgin with its experience and terrific height headed by 6-10 George Clark will be a real threat. West Aurora, winner of fourth in the state last year, has 6-6 center John Schwenk, 6-3 forward Larry Secor, and 6-2 Capt. Bill Small at guard. Marshall of Chicago still has 6-7 all stater George Wilson at center and M. C. Thompson, a 6-5 lad who is a rugged rebounder, from its undefeated 1957-58 club. Coach "Spin" Salerio states that his first eight boys will be stronger than last year but the starting five not as good.

Local Boys Abound at Yale

DICK WISNER who is one of Palatine's all-time great football players, won special honors as a freshman at Yale university this past season. Wisner was selected by his teammates as the most valuable freshman player of the year and awarded a plaque at the Yale football banquet. Wisner, who played quarterback and did the passing and punting for the Palatine Pirates, played left half for the Yale yearlings as they won five of six games in the Ivy League last fall.

Bisons Have Heart! Says Coach Cole

Fenton's surprising Bison cagers hope to continue making history in Bensenville Friday night when they meet winless Wheaton community.

Coach Jim Longacre's Wheaton quintent, despite dropping both games, had looked quite good in losses to West Suburban conference schools. They lost the opener to Glenbard, 53-44, and then succumbed to Downers Grove, 64-63.

FENTON COACH Charles Cole is feeling quite good about his team. "A lot of heart!" that's what Cole says about the Bisons.

"Our boys are small, but they're scrappy and anybody who plays us will know they've been in a game.

"When we came back after getting just two first period free throws against Leyden, it was an indication to me that our boys are willing to put out," Cole remarked.

"THE BOYS responded to whatever we asked. When we told them to press, they did a wonderful job," the coach said. Guards Fred Hohman and Dom DiOrio did a specially good job hounding Leyden players while not fouling.

Greg Dierking, expected to start at forward last week, sat on the bench due to scholastic ineligibility. Cole, however, expects Dierking back.

WHETHER DIERKING will be able to push any of the starters out is the question. Larry Bostrom and Ken Spiroff seem fairly well entrenched at forward. Dierking's only chance is at center where Tom Cheze is now holding forth.

Cole's scouting reports described Wheaton as not a big club, but certainly a fast one. Longacre agrees that his team has speed and points out that although the team is not tall it has no small men either.

Lake Park Sophs Fall At Dundee

Lake Park's sophomore Lancers traveled to Dundee last Saturday and received a sound beating, instead of a welcome. The Cardunals administered a 57-32 defeat to bring the Lancer record to 0-2.

George Stump hit a short jump shot to put Lake Park in a short-lived lead. The Red and White roared back to finish the first quarter with a 13-4 lead.

The second quarter was much the same. Dick Raney provided four points on a basket and two free throws, but the Cardunals were viciously trying to fill up their basket. The half ended with Dundee leading, 29-8.

In the first half the Lancers hit only three baskets out of 17 shots for a .176 average. Lake Park connected on two of five free tosses.

The Lancers were charged up to open the third frame. Dundee started their second five, and the Lancer press quickly cut the lead down to 10 points. The Cardunal starters were inserted, and they ran the lead up to 23 points as the third stanza ended.

Travelers Unbeaten in 12 Games

The Elmhurst Travelers closed their most successful season in history last Sunday when they defeated the City of Cudahy, at Cudahy, Wis.

It marked their 12th straight win in the Bi-State League this season, and gave them their first undefeated and untied season since 1941, when they rolled to 11 wins and no losses.

Three other records were also broken by the Travelers. Never before has a Bi-State League team been able to complete a perfect schedule with no losses or ties. Elmhurst also established a new scoring record when they rolled up 279 points in 12 games The previous record was made i 1957 by the Travelers when the scored 187 points in eight games.

PAT ALBANESE, who is playing his second year with the team, cracked the individual scoring record by one point when he scored his 12th touchdown in the ourth quarter of the Cudahy game. This gave him a total of 73 points. The previous record was held by a former Traveler, Frank Morris, who ran up 72 points in the 1957 season.

The game against Cudahy was played in 10 degree weather but this didn't stop the Travelers from showing the fans why they are the Bi-State champs again this year.

NORM NISSEN scored the first touchdown in the first quarter on a pass interception. He ran 43 yards. Grady missed the extra point. In the second quarter, a 45 yard pass from "Buzz" Grady to Tom Nagle, made it 12-0. Grady kicked the extra point.

Just before halftime, Grady passed to Pat Albanese for 7 yards and a T.D. Grady kicked the extra point. Score 20-0.

In the third quarter, Grady rolled out and went over from the 5-yard line. He also kicked the extra point making it 27-0.

With the game drawing to a close Elmhurst put on a concentrated drive going 70 yards for their last score. Albanese needed this one to tie the record and he smashed it over from the 3-yard line. Grady passed to Albanese for the extra point and thus made it possible for him to break the scoring record. Final score 34-0. (Sp

by BOB BUCHANAN

A lot has been said why America's youth is "going to the dogs" physically and why President Eisenhower has set up a group to cope with what is becoming a major deficiency in our nation's stockpile of young men. Whether this is so can be debated long and loud. A good indication, if not one of the better, is what the physical condition is of America's adults. Are they prepared physically to meet the demands that another international conflict would bring? The answer has to be a solid, "No!"

Arlington Heights is a typical suburban community. The number of adult men, and women, for that matter, that are keeping their body as sound as their mind, is a pittance. Arlington park district officials estimate it to be one adult in 80. In all, only about 125 Arlington Heights citizens take part in adult recreation activities.

Slimnastics Classes for Women

ARLINGTON'S PARK BOARD and its director, Tom Thornton, have outlined a program for adults as well as their offspring. The program, now in its second year, came into being when Pioneer Park and its fieldhouse were completed in August 1957. This permitted the park district to shift its offices from Recreation Park to Pioneer and use the 62 by 45 foot fieldhouse at Recreation as a gymnasium. Last year the program got off to a slow start with volleyball, badminton and a gym class, all for men, and golf instruction for both men and women. Less than 100 adults took advantage of the program.

This year women were not forgotten. The district instituted a slimnastics class. Though classes won't begin until Feb. 10, more than 40 local women have registered. The aim of the course is to develop muscle tone and trim figures. Those who have registered are glad to be able to do something to keep them active.

Instructors Among the Best

EVEN WITH WOMEN in the program, the figure of participating adults stands at 125. The park district has published a program which was sent to every home owner in the community. Yet, few register. Why? The classes and recreation periods are free except for golf instruction. Instructors are among the best. Recreation Director Dick Ault, a hurdler for the American Olympic team in London in 1952, is a physical education instructor in Highland Park. Dick, a resident of Wheeling, handles the volleyball, badminton, men's gym and now the women's slimnastic classes. Sam Rauworth, who runs a private golf school, has had excellent results in the park district's golf school.

"Why the lack of interest in recreational sports?" Thornton was asked. Tom had no "ready-made" answer. He thought the lack of awareness on the part of most townspeople was one of the program's great handicaps. He pointed out that prior to the winter recreation program, his office called local firms and municipal groups trying to get them to enter volleyball teams. Results were nil. Most of the volleyball teams, Thornton said, came from home owner groups or new subdivisions. Most of the men were in their twenties or thirties. He couldn't recall of a man 40 or over participating.

Competition Not the Object

PARTICIPATION NEEDN'T BE on a team level, where though there is competition, the object is not to win but to participate. That's why Thursday night the men's gym class is on an informal basis. Men can work out doing whatever they wish, lifting weights, playing badminton, working on different pieces of apparatus. They can come and go when they choose. It's an opportunity for men to maintain physical fitness at their own speed.

Using bowling as an example, Tom said, "Here is a sport which has mushroomed in recent years for all age groups, including those over 40. People pay out several dollars for a night of bowling. Here we charge nothing, and they don't come. I think television and the press has done a lot to popularize bowling. Maybe we could stand some of it ourselves.

"We've got an open night," he continued. "We could put any recreational sport desired in the Tuesday night slot if there were the demand. So far, we haven't had it. We'd certainly like it. That's what we're here for—to serve the people of Arlington Heights, including the adults."

Skating Thrives; Swimming Nil

YOUNG ADULTS ARE TAKING to skating more and more. "I'd say 25 per cent of those skating are young adults," Thornton said. "I've had many a southern person come out skating and they enjoy it. Winter sports aren't the only ones conducted by the park district. In the summer time, 16-inch softball has been gaining popularity. Adult swimming instruction classes are offered, but, as usual, no more than 10 adults take advantage each year.

GOLF INSTRUCTION has been one sport where interest has thrived. Many a husband and wife gladly pay the $7 fee for eight lessons. Last year the park district had four classes of 15 each completely filled. There's no problem here. Where the problem exists is in the other adult recreation sports. Two teams are still needed to complete an eight-team volleyball league. Six or eight or a few more men can form one. They play just one hour a night, one night a week.

"Just give us a call," Thornton reminded. "We're here to help and there's no better way than to be physically fit. Businessmen pay good sized membership dues to belong to an athletic club in Chicago. Here your taxes are your dues. Why not take advantage of your membership?"
